A MASSIVE RAIL DERAILMENT

Eighteen of 75 freight cars of a Burlington-Northern train are strung out on the track and along each side as the result of a crash with an earth-moving machine. Killed yesterday in the accident was Russell Antijunti, 39, of Longview, Wash. Train spokesmen said the driver apparently didn't see the train. The tracks, near Woodland, Wash., parallel new highway construction along Interstate 5. (UPI Telephoto)

Tiburon Police Unit Proposed In Report

Key Ideas: No Subunit, Contract To Belvedere

By GEORGE NEVIN

Police protection on the Tiburon Peninsula, now woefully inadequate, could be greatly improved if Tiburon forms its own police department and Belvedere contracts with it for police protection.

This is the conclusion of a two-month study of consolidation of police services in the two cities. It was conducted by former Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins, now police chief in Pleasant Hill.

If his recommendations are adopted, the entire peninsula will be served by a single police station in Tiburon and no substation would be built in Strawberry, where Tiburon officials have pledged to build such a station if annexation of the area is successful.

Under Kreins's proposal, the cost of police protection in Belvedere would drop from this year's $92,285 to $65,984. Tiburon's cost, however, would jump from $130,805 to $262,807.

Whether or not Kreins's plan is adopted, however, Tiburon faces a major increase in its police department costs beginning next year, because all parties to Tiburon's present contract for police service with the Marin County Sheriff's Department have announced the contract will not be renewed when it expires July 1.

Tiburon, therefore, would be faced with the establishment of its own police force anyway, a proposition Kreins estimates would cost $328,791 to provide protection to the entire peninsula.

"The City of Tiburon," Kreins says, "has been paying a lot less than would normally be paid for police service."

Krein's 99-page report gives choice of several variations on his primary recommendation but maintains that changes are necessary in the present setup, in which Belvedere operates its own police department and Tiburon contracts with the Marin County Sheriff's Department.

The Tiburon City Council will consider the report when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Consolidation of police services in the two communities was raised last December by Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood. A joint Belvedere-Tiburon citizens committee studied the idea and agreed it should be investigated by a consultant.

Kreins was hired to make the study. He received $2,500, with Tiburon contributing $2,000 and Belvedere $500.

Kreins says the present Belvedere force, consisting of a chief, a sergeant and three patrolmen, provides at best "only a watchman type service."

Although Kreins recognizes the importance to a small community such as Belvedere maintaining an autonomous police force, he states that "the disadvantages far outweigh the advantages of Belvedere maintaining its own police department . . . " But, of larger municipalities such as Tiburon, Kreins said, "I have never seen a contract situation that can provide a level of municipal service demanded by a municipality."

Since officials of both Marin County and Tiburon have declared the present contract for police protection by Tiburon dead after next July 1, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer has included in the current budget $61,000 in reserves to help pay for establishment of a police department for Tiburon next years.

The study recommends a department consisting of a police chief, lieutenant, three sergeants, 11 patrolmen, four dispatchers and a parking officer. Under this plan, the Belvedere City Council would decide what level of patrol service it desires and then pay Tiburon for that service.

Kreins estimates it would cost Tiburon $293,651 to run its own department beginning July 1, 1972, and $328,791 to operate a force capable of patrolling Belvedere as well.

But he recommends Belve-

Angela's Big Court Week Over

By JEFF GREER

Complicated legal wrangling over the indictment against Angela Davis droned on in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

The dry technical arguments finished out Miss Davis's most eventful week in court during the seven months she has spent thus far in Marin County Jail.

She stands charged in a Marin County Grand Jury indictment with kidnap, murder and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, "insurrection" in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were shot to death.

Howard Moore Jr., Miss Davis's chief counsel, and Albert W. Harris, the chief prosecutor, sparred in legal terminology yesterday over Moore's claims that at least the first two charges should be dismissed, if not all counts against her.

Moore argued, among other things, that Miss Davis might be placed in unconstitutional double jeopardy if a jury were unable to agree on any one specific charge and the case were retried.

Harris replied to the defense attorney from Atlanta that California's penal code made the framing of indictments and pleadings to charges much less tricky than in other states. Harris denied Moore's claims of "duplicity" in the three counts.

Judge Richard E. Arnason said he would rule later on the arguments. He ordered Miss Davis to return to court at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday for further hearings.

Only a few minor technicalities remain to be argued; if Judge Arnason rules on the matters heard this week, Miss Davis might finally reach the crucial time for entering a plea next week or in early August.

Arnason is considering a request that Miss Davis be allowed to serve as co-counsel in her own defense, a challenge claiming bias of the grand jury that indicted her, a claim that the case cannot be tried because of prejudicial publicity, and the attack on the indictment itself.

Additional press clippings involved in the publicity arguments are not expected to be ready for Arnason to read until next week, possibly delaying that ruling.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Clifford Thompson handled the rebuttal to the publicity arguments yesterday.

He said that while Miss Davis's attorneys were seeking her release on bail they presented petitions bearing signatures they claimed were "a substantial part of the community" on her behalf. "Where is that support now," Thompson asked, if the defense now claims publicity has made it impossible for Miss Davis to receive a fair trial anywhere in the U.S.

The prosecutor also read a fistful of letters and cards, some urging fair play for Miss Davis and others heaping invective on the prosecution. These, Thompson said, showed that sentiment was not all against the woman defendant. One letter branded Harris a "blood-sucking Dracula from Hell."

"On that note," Judge Arnason dryly commented, "I'm going to order a recess for lunch."

This week's hearings followed quickly on the heels of the decision Monday in which Judge Arnason granted a request separating Miss Davis's trial from that of codefendant Ruchell Magee.

Magee's strategy of attempting to have the trial moved out of Marin County and into state or federal courts had delayed for months, hearings on any of the motions submitted by Miss Davis's legal team.

Magee, a San Quentin convict serving a life term on what he claims is a fraudulent charge, told Miss Davis's attorneys Monday that they could not argue their requests while his own maneuvers waited. However, he suggested, the woman's counsels could ask separation of the cases. They quickly did so.

Magee himself will be back in Marin County Superior Court Wednesday morning. His attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, prosecutor Harris and Judge Arnason are expected to set hearings on some of the seven pretrial requests and challenges so far raised by Magee and his counsel.

The convict faces the same counts as Miss Davis and like her could face a death penalty if found guilty of any of the three.

Magee has two other arguments awaiting action in the U.S. Supreme Court. He may file more documents in Marin Superior Court that could delay the hearings before Judge Arnason, his attorney indicated this week.

Rail Shipments Halted To Gird For Threatened Strike At SP

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Southern Pacific stopped accepting shipments of perishables and livestock today in preparation for a possible strike tomorrow by the United Transportation Union.

A spokesman for the 13,000 member Council of California Growers said the shipment halt would cost the state $11.1 million daily.

He calculated from government and grower-shipper traffic figures that a "conservative" estimate of the average shippage from California has been 672 rail carloads a day of 13 highly perishable commodities.

"Since the Southern Pacific is not accepting any perishable shipments," said spokesman Richard Freeland, "that means the transportation is effectively denied Eastern consumers and California growers. While trucks can take up some of the slack, there is fierce competition for them —trucking companies are rapidly hiking prices."

The rail stoppage means a loss of more than $2.8 million per day and the loss to dependent business (such as manufacturers of containers) was estimated at $8.3 million each day the freight cars are idle, he said.

SP has announced it plans to "take" the strike scheduled for 6 a.m. Saturday by the United Transportation Union.

The railroad announced AMTRAK passenger trains operating over its lines would not leave unless scheduled to reach destinations prior to the strike.

The only exceptions were the Los Angeles-Oakland coast route trains in each direction. Southern Pacific's own commute service on the San Francisco Peninsula will stop running Saturday if there is a walkout.

SP said AMTRAK will halt its northbound trains from Oakland to Portland starting tonight and it will stop its southbound run from Portland on Saturday.

In the UTU related strike against Union Pacific, the railroad announced today it had lost $4.5 million revenue in Oregon and Washington out of a total loss of $14 million on the entire system in the 13 Western states.

Officials of the strikebound Unioc Pacific railroad say in Omaha almost every locality served by the line has felt the economic effects of the strike.

The railroad said Thursday its 30,000 employes have lost more than $7 million in wages while the railroad itself has lost nearly $14 million in revenues.

In Washington, the government's top labor trouble-shooter worked with railroad and union negotiators today in an effort to keep a week-old strike against two lines from spreading to four on Saturday.

Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. said he "charged both of them with their responsibility" during separate sessions with management and union teams this morning, then arranged a joint meeting for later in the day.

Settlement between the United Transportation Union (UTU) and the Chicago & North Western railway Thursday was not expected to break the deadlock that could shut down 10 railroads by next weekend.

The selective strike was scheduled to spread at 6 a.m. Saturday to the Southern Pacific and the Norfolk & Western, which account for 71,200 employes and nearly 27,000 miles of track in 17 states.

The N&W, a major coal carrier which ranks second among U.S. railroads in net earnings, made no plans to refuse shipments.

Work rules changes sought by rail management for increased efficiency and lower operating costs are at the heart of the UTU dispute, but negotiators for both sides offered little hope that the work rules formula in the tentative C&NW contract would form the basis for a national settlement.

In other labor develpments:

—United Steel Workers president I.W. Abel called a meeting of local presidents next Friday, two days before steel industry contracts expire, to determine whether to accept any tentative settlements reached by then, to recommend a strike or to extend the contract while talks continue.

Contract talks between the USW and the "big nine" producers continued under a news blackout today at the Shorham Hotel.

— In Helena, Mont., a three-week steelworkers strike against copper manufacturers appeared near settlement, with agreement reported imminent between the Union and Anaconda Copper Co.

Inflation Hike Biggest In 14 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The cost of living to Americans spurted up by 0.6 per cent in June, the sharpest increase in 14 months, the government reported today.

The rise was slightly more than the 0.5 per cent jump recorded in May and the largest since April, 1970.

Because prices usually increase fractionally from May to June, the increase on a seasonally adjusted basis was 0.5 per cent, down slightly from May's adjusted rate of 0.6 per cent.

The Labor Department figures showed that despite the Nixon administration's claims of gradual victory over inflation, rising prices continue to plague the nation.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called the report "devastating" and added: "The failure of President Nixon to respond to this clear economic danger signal can only play further havoc with the livelihoods of millions of American families."

Taking May and June together, prices rose during the two months at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 6.6 per cent, comparable to the pace in 1969 and early 1970 when the nation was in the grip of the worst inflation in 20 years.

The cost of living rose at an annual rate of 4 per cent in the first half of the year. The pace in January through April was much slower than the rate for the May and June. The rate for the full six months was down from the 4.9 per cent pace in the last half of 1970 and 6 per cent in the first half of last year.

The consumer price index in June stood at 121.5 per cent of the 1967 average. That meant it cost $12.15 last month to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $12.08 May, for $11.63 a year ago and for $10 in 1967.

The June increase was led by a 0.9 per cent advance in prices for groceries. The price for a market basket of food that cost $10 in 1967 was $11.74 in June. That was 11 cents more than May, 23 cents higher than March and 34 cents more than June, 1970.

Prices for beef, poultry, fruits, vegetables, and dairy products increased in June more than normal for this time of year.

The price of all types of food —groceries and meals in restaurants—increased 0.8 per cent in June. Housing prices advanced 0.6 per cent and the cost of transportation rose 0.7 per cent. Clothing prices declined 0.1 per cent.

The sharp increase in the living cost rate in May and June is a setback for President Nixon's economic policy.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, the administration's chief economic spokesman, said last week that inflation had leveled off and that prices would soon stabilize.

Connally dismissed the 0.5 per cent increase in May as a one-month aberration. But the 0.6 jump last month adds new evidence that inflation has not been stopped.

Report Says U.S. Asked Missile Halt

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department indicated Friday that the United States has proposed to the Soviet Union a mutual freeze on land-based missile and missile submarines.

The New York Times published a story to that effect in its Friday editions. Asked about it, a State Department spokesman, Charles W. Bray III, said:

"We regard that as a most unfortunate breach of security and a violation of the understanding with the Soviet Union that neither side discuss the negotiations while the talks are in progress." He referred to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Helsinki.

Bray said his statement was not an acknowledgement of the validity of the report, but he did not deny it.

The department's strong reaction indicated that the Times report had embarrassed the Nixon administration and that it was anxious to reassure the Soviet Union.

According to the Times, the United States' SALT negotiators made two proposals aimed at limiting strategic missile strength while working towards limitations on antiballistic missile systems of both nations.

The Times said the United States had proposed that the two nations agree to halt construction of land-based missiles and missile submarines, and permit each nation to maintain 300 ABMs.

Assembly Nod To Bill On Davis Trial Cost

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly today passed a bill requiring the state to pay approximately $850,000 in costs of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee murder trial in Marin County.

The bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, received only one vote more than it needed for passage to the Senate. It was approved 55-4.

GOP Committee Recommends San Diego For Parley

DENVER (UPI) — Republicans will hold their 1972 nominating convention in San Diego, Calif., authoritative sources said Friday.

The Site Selection Committee met Friday morning—apparently in the suite of the GOP National Committee chairman Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas—and decided to recommend the California city Friday afternoon.

The full committee is expected to approve the recommendation almost automatically.

One source did not completely close the door on possible selection of Miami Beach, Fla., the only other city competing for the convention, but said San Diego was at least a 95 per cent bet.

Switch Regarded As A Promotion

MOSCOW (UPI)—Gennadi I. Voronov has been transferred from the premiership of the Russian Soviet republic to inspector-general of the U.S.S.R., the Tass news agency announced today.

The formal title is chairman of the State Committee of People's Control of the Soviet Union. The switch is regarded as a promotion for Voronov, 61.

Voronov's predecessors in the job have included former Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Alexander Shelepin, president of the Soviet Trade Union Federation.

Telephone Strike Pact Reached In Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced today it reached agreement with 13,000 striking women telephone operators in Los Angeles.

A PT&T spokesman said the contract with the Federation of Women Telephone Workers calls for an $18.50 increase for top operators which would boost their present $118 weekly salary to $136.50.

The federation has been on strike for a week.

The contract would be retroactive to May 5.

Meanwhile in San Francisco, about 300 Pacific Telephone Co. yellow pages directory workers remained off the job and their picket lines prevented about 10 per cent of the city's 700 operators from reporting to work.

Supervisory personnel kept the information and the long distance operators going as they had during the week-long strike by the Communications Workers of America.

Those striking now belong to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers which has rejected contracts terms similar to those offered the CWA.

Pickets appeared at 12 telephone offices in San Francisco Thursday.

The CWA has ordered its members back to work pending a national vote on whether to ratify a contract offer from American Telephone & Telegraph Co., of which PT&T is a subsidiary.

The CWA has been offered a pact that includes a first year pay increase of 13.4 per cent.

Newton Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The slugs which killed an Oakland policeman in a 1967 shootout came from his own revolver, an expert testified Thursday at Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton's manslaughter trial.

John Davis, chief criminalist for the Oakland Police Department, said bullets from a .38 caliber police special killed officer John Frey and wounded policeman Herbert Heanes.

The prosecution contends Newton first used his own gun in a shootout with the police and, when it jammed, snatched Frey's revolver to fire the death shots. Neither gun was ever found.

Davis testified that a slug taken from Frey and one taken from Heanes were identical. He said he knew they were from Frey's service revolver because the bullets matched ones the patrolman had in pouches on his belt. They were of a special type used by only a few Oakland policemen, Davis said.

A 'Slip' Denied

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., was preparing to start a news conference Thursday when his secretary handed him a note. Murphy looked at it and read it aloud.

The note said New York Mayor John V. Lindsay would resign Aug. 14 to seek the presidency.

No, no, cried his secretary. That was to be confidential.

Murphy said no more about the note, continued his tour of Miramar Naval Air Station and flew on to San Francisco. A spokesman for Lindsay said in New York the mayor had no plans to resign.

"Reports to that effect are simply silly," he said.

Another Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A congressman who accused Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu of trafficking in heroin has charged the South Vietnamese corps commander with looting two abandoned American military bases.

Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., Thursday identified the bases as the former U.S. 4th Division headquarters at An Khe, and Tuy Hoa Air Base. Both bases are in the Central Highlands region, where Dzu serves as commander.

Steele, however, refused to disclose the "hard intelligence" which he said implicates Dzu in the narcotics trade. Dzu has denied the charges, claiming they were circulated in an effort to get him removed from his command.

S. African Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., says he will introduce legislation next week to require that 65 per cent of all U.S. business holdings in South Africa be turned over to black South Africans.

Dellums said the bill would set up a reparations committee that would begin an investigation within 90 days of all American business holdings in the apartheid nation.

Under the proposed legislation, he said in a speech to a black community developers training event, the American-owned companies would have one year to give black Africans control of 65 to 75 per cent of their concerns.

Dellums said black Americans can no longer allow U.S. firms to invest in a system that enslaves blacks.

All-White Vote

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, saying exclusion of blacks is a constitutional right, voted in national convention Thursday to keep its whites-only membership requirement.

"The right of private assembly and the people with whom we associate is largely a matter of personal choice," said E. Gene Fournace of Canton, Ohio, the new grand exalted ruler of the fraternal organization.

The Madison, Wis., Elks Lodge brought the issue to a vote, asking that the word "white" be removed from the membership requirements.

But the 3,000 delegates voted by a show of hands, and outgoing ruler Glenn L. Miller said there was not a necessary two-thirds vote.

Boy, 4, Injured

Glenn Filshie, 4, of 1141 Ramona Lane, Petaluma, was reported in fair condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with head injuries suffered when he fell from a bicycle at his home yesterday at 7 p.m.

7 Hotel Deaths

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Seven persons died today in a fire at the 18-story Howard Johnson's downtown motor hotel and other guests escaped by climbing out of 12th story windows with ropes fashioned out of bedsheets.

The manager of the hotel said eight persons overcome by smoke were rescued from the building. One of the smoke victims was a young boy taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Assistant fire chief William McClausen said the fire was confined to one room on the 12th floor but toxic gases caused the fire to spread to other floors.

The identities of the victims were not released but one was apparently a hotel security guard. The others were guests.

Aide To Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The former chief administrative assistant to House Speaker John McCormack entered Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary here Thursday to begin serving a 2 1-2-year sentence for perjury.

Warden Noah Alldredge said Dr. Martn Sweig, 47, would begin processing today and then be transferred next week to the minimum security prison camp at Allenwood, 18 miles from Lewisburg, where he will serve his term.

Sweig was convicted July 9, 1970, on charges of lying to a grand jury investigating the misuse of influence in McCormack's office. He was acquitted on a conspiracy count and five other perjury charges.

23rd Rail Death

MUELLHEIM, Germany (UPI)—The number of fatalities from the derailment Wednesday of the Switzerland Express has risen to 23 with the death in hospital of a 90-year-old man, police said today.

The spokesman said 70 of the 122 persons injured in the accident remained in hospitals.

At least 10 foreigners were among the dead, including three Americans. Twenty-four of the 122 injured were Americans.

Moyers To Anchor Weekly News Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill D. Moyers, former presidential press secretary and one-time publisher of the Long Island newspaper Newsday, will become anchorman for a new weekly public affairs program on the National Educational Network.

The new half-hour show, called "This Week," will premier at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday Oct. 6. It will concentrate on the single most important news story of each week, no matter what field it is in, Thursday's announcement said.

JORDAN HIT FOR GUERRILLA MOVE

Cairo Editor: Hussein Made 'Deal' With Israel, No Longer In Conflict

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

The editor of Cairo's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said today Jordanian King Hussein's defeat of the Palestinian guerrillas indicates Jordan has dropped out of the Arab-Israeli conflict. He suggested Hussein made "some sort of deal" with Israel.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, the paper's editor and a confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, said the elimination of the guerrillas in Jordan during a five-day battle ended Saturday "means that the Jordanian government does not want to have partners in the struggle (against Israel) because it has decided to opt out of its arena.

"Worse than that," Heikal wrote in his regular weekly column, "the meaning of what happened is that the eastern front has ended. Even worse, the eastern front will turn into a safety line for Israel from which it can expect no trouble."

About 3,000 guerrillas were based in Jordan, most of them in the north where they were attacked by Jordanian troops July 13, and had used that country and southern Lebanon as staging areas for attacks into Israel or Israeli-held territory.

Meanwhile, Egyptian Prosecutor-General Moustapha Abou Zeid formally charged 23 persons, including a group of ex-cabinet ministers, with treason Thursday night for their part in an attempt to overthrow Sadat in May. Conviction before the three-man revolutionary court set up by Sadat is punishable by death.

Egypt, in an atmosphere of Arab coup fever and with treason trials also looming in Rabat and Khartoum, marked the 19th anniversary today of its own coup d'etat —the revolution which toppled King Farouk.

Sadat, the late Gamal Abdel Nasser and other young army officers seized Cairo Radio July 23, 1952 and broadcast an announcement establishing the republic. Farouk was allowed to sail to exile in Europe.

Heikal labeled Hussein's move against the guerrillas a "fierce and unprecedented attack" and said, "Can the logical explanation for what happened be that some sort of deal, or perhaps agreement, has been reached between the king and Israel?"

First Big Fight In New Cambodia Push

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese Command reported today a "small-sized" armored unit crossed the border into Cambodia where 37 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in the first major fighting of the Saigon government's new operation against Communist sanctuaries.

Supported by artillery and American strikes which killed 30 of the guerrillas Thursday, the South Vietnamese lost two wounded in fighting which lasted several hours along Highway 7, spokesmen said.

A ranged battalion and a battalion of armored cavalry were involved in the battle in Kampong Chan Province nine miles northeast of Krek they said.

Two members of a six-man Communist commando team backed by mortar fire infiltrated the barbed wire of a U.S. helicopter base outside Tay Ninh city, about 40 miles south of the Cambodian operation, spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said two commandos were killed and five satchel charges were captured.

U.S. B52 bombers continued hammering at Communist positions northwest of Firebase Fuller on the northwest corner of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). There was scattered ground contact with Communists on the slopes of Dong Ha Mountain below the base, spokesmen said.

Communist troops in the Mekong Delta struck a militia outpost about 75 miles southwest of Saigon in troubled Vinh Binh Province, killing seven and wounding 10 in the camp, military spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the government's Cambodian operation is being conducted "generally north of Route 7" and that part of the objective was to provide security in the Saigon area during the impending National Assembly and presidential elections, scheduled Aug. 29 and Oct. 3, respectively.

On the nonwar front, official U.S. figures showed today the South Vietnamese government has made 2,785 narcotics arrests since January, but a system of giving tax-free rewards for information on drug users has been ineffective.

The statistics report also showed that the South Vietnamese government has seized 78 pounds of heroin, 40 pounds of opium and 782 pounds of marijuana during the first six months of 1971.

The figures were released in conjunction with a massive U.S.-South Vietnamese crackdown on drug distribution.

Goldwater: GOP Must Back Visit

DENVER, Colo. (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., asked fellow Republicans today to refrain from complaining about President Nixon's visit to China and to await the results.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee for president, made his comments in a speech prepared for the Republican National Committee.

Goldwater's comment on the administration's China venture came in a speech saying he was frightened by Democratic alternatives to the re-election of Nixon.

The President's announcement, he said, made no immediate changes in U.S. policy and no new commitments about China. Goldwater said he still is opposed to admitting Peking to the United Nations and to China's "brutal" policies.

"But I do not oppose efforts by the Nixon administration to improve the dialogue and the channels of communication through which some of our ideas can be placed realistically before Peking's rulers," he said.

"In other words, if there is any chance that our President can persuade Peking to mend its ways and to stop exporting aggression and violence and war, I say more power to him. I have never opposed negotiations and discussion with our Cold War enemies . . .

Goldwater found nothing good to say about past Democratic administrations or its prospective future leaders. He said its "top leaders have led the parade in bringing a new and dishonorable brand of isolationism to the American people."

Death For Coup Leaders In Sudan

BEIRUT (UPI)—A military court sentenced three officers involved in the Sudan's four-day coup to death today and the official Omdurman radio said they will go before a firing squad tonight.

President Jaafar Numeiry, restored to power Thursday after four days in prison, ordered a curfew and proclaimed a state of emergency in a crackdown against pro-Communist army officers who overthrew him Monday.

Four military tribunals went to work to prepare trials for the rebels and the first three were sentenced to death later in the day.

(In London, the British foreign office announced it had reports of further firing around the presidential palace in Sudan's capital, Khartoum, this morning.)

The Sudanese government radio in Omdurman, Khartoum's twin city at the confluence of the White Nile and the Blue Nile, identified the condemned men as Lt. Col. Abdel Moneim Mohammed Ahmed, Lt. Col. Osman Hussein and Maj. Muaweyah Abdel Hai.

The first indications that people were killed during the counter-coup Thursday by Numeiry's loyalist military forces came today when Radio Omdurman broadcast excerpts from the Koran, the bible of the Moslem religion, "in mourning for the martyrs who died yesterday fighting to destroy the rebel movement."

The sudden political switch for this predominantly Arab nation of 15 million persons geographically Africa's largest, occurred within hours after a Khartoum-bound British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) Vc10 jetliner was forced by Libyan authorities to land at Benghazi's Benina Airport where leaders of Monday's coup were taken off the plane.

BOAC spokesmen in London said Lt. Col. Babakr Al Nour, president of the seven-man Revolutionary Command Council which seized power in the Sudan Monday, and council member Maj. Mohammed Ahmed Mahjoub were detained.

About the same time, the Iraq agency said a special plane carrying Iraqi Baath party leaders to Khartoum to congratulate the new regime, which Iraq had recognized diplomatically shortly after it took power Monday, had crashed during a landing approach at Saudi Arabia's Jeddah Airport, killing 10 persons, including three high-ranking Babhdad officials.

Klan Leader In Fight For Job

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—The Grand Dragon of the North Carolina Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Harold Murray, has begun a federal court fight to regain his city job.

George S. Daily Jr., a North Carolina Civil Liberties Union lawyer, filed suit in federal district court Thursday on Murray's behalf after city officials refused to reinstate the Klan leader.

Murray, who lost both legs as a medic in the Korean War, was dismissed early this month from his "Clerk II" job after only three weeks because of his Klan affiliation.

BOAT RUNS AGROUND ON HIGHWAY

After detouring 600 miles from a 300-mile route due to highway restrictions, the hauler of the Echo IV (top) failed to negotiate a small rise in the road five miles from his destination and 'ran aground.' The 61-foot, 106 passenger aluminum craft was being hauled from San Diego to Lake Mead near Las Vegas for tourist service to Hoover Dam. The boat was freed and launched (bottom) after three hours Wednesday without damage. (UPI Telephotos)

Veto To Measures On Oil Drilling Rein

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Two bills that would have restricted oil drilling on state-owned tidelands yesterday were killed by the Senate Governmental Organization Committee.

The two bills, proposed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, were killed by a 5-2 vote after the committee heard arguments from the State Lands Commission and a lobbyist for nine major oil companies.

One measure would have imposed a total moratorium on any drilling in state tidelands in the Santa Barbara channel. The bill was killed, however, when the lands commission said the state would lose about $258 million in revenue if the bill became law.

The second proposal would have removed the authority to issue permits for core drilling and the extraction of gas and oil from state tidelands the length of the California coast from the lands commission and given it to the state legislature.

A. J. Shultz, oil company lobbyist, argued, however, that if drilling were curtailed there would be more chance for oil spills along the coast since more foreign tankers would have to traverse coastal waters.

The two bills were supported by Lois Sidenberg of the Get Oil Out organization from Santa Barbara.

Plea Date Set In Marijuana Case

David Ray Anderson, 20, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor charges of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia. He is to plead to the charges Aug. 4.

Anderson was arrested Wednesday when Novato police stopped his car on South Novato Boulevard on a routine traffic violation. Suspected marijuana was found in the car, police said.

Cycle-Car Crash, Fatal To Marinite

I-J Special Report

GUERNEVILLE — A 22-year-old Mill Valley man was killed in a motorcycle-car accident near Guerneville Wednesday night.

Daniel C. Schroeder of 80 Olive Street was pronounced dead at the scene at 6:25 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol said he had been a passenger on a motorcycle driven by George R. Arndt, 33, of Sausalito, which collided with a car driven by Frank P. Vitelli, 45, of San Gabriel.

Schroeder was a native of Missouri. He had been employed for the summer as a clerk at the Materials Service Co-Op near Guerneville.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Schroeder of Lynn, Mo.

Funeral will be held Monday at the Morton Funeral Home in Lynn, Missouri, followed by burial at St. George Cemetery.

Tideland Fill Plea Rejected

The Marin County Fill Committee yesterday turned down a request to fill 11.5 acres of tidelands on the west shore of Bolinas Lagoon.

The committee's recommendation for denial of fill will go to the Marin County Planning Commission for its decision.

Henry H. Wilkins owns the property along Bolinas-Olema Road, directly across the street from Bolinas School. Irving L. Schwartz, executive officer of the fill committee, said Wilkins did not indicate what development he planned on the filled land.

The fill committee also: denied a request by Bolinas Community Public Utility District to build a sewage pumping station adjacent to the seawall at the south end of Wharf Road in Bolinas. Committee members objected to an eight foot fence that would be built around the pumping station.

Motorcyclist Hurts Foot In Car Crash

Edward C. Crawford, 21, of 301 Price Street, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a broken left foot suffered at 1:45 p.m. yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car on Petaluma Boulevard North near Payran Street.

Police said his motorcycle collided with a car driven by John V. Brenner, 50, of Santa Rosa.

Approval To Bill For North Coast Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation to create a North Coast Area Planning and Development Commission.

The measure by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, was sent to the full Senate on a voice vote without opposition.

The commission would have the power to review planning in the area, coordinate federal planning, and prepare and maintain an overall comprehensive development program for the North Coast.

Boundaries for the area that would be under the commission's jurisdiction would be set by the Council of Intergovernmental Relations after a public hearing in the area, with the provision that no county would be divided and the region would encompass at least three counties.

The proposed agency would be financed by each county in the area according to a ratio of the valuation of the taxable property in the single county to the total valuation of taxable property in the entire area.

Reds To Publish Book Based On Pentagon Papers

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has published a book based on the Pentagon papers to "expose the lies, deceptions and hypocrisy" of U.S. policymakers, the Soviet news agency Tas said today.

"The Publishing House of Political Literature issued a great number of copies of the book, Escalation of the War and Deception," Tass said.

"Using the secret Pentagon materials about the Vietnam war that were published in the United States, Soviet journalists show how the United States aggression in Indochina was prepared and launched.

"They expose the lies, deceptions and cynical hypocrisy to which the U.S. rulers have resorted and are resorting to cover up their aggressive policy," the agency said.

Tass did not explain precisely what use would be made of the materials from the Pentagon study of the Vietnam War, which the Soviet authors presumably extracted from the excerpts and commentaries published in the U.S. newspapers that broke the story.

ACLU To Introduce Bill To Legalize Pot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The American Civil Liberties Union will sponsor a bill legalizing the sale and use of marijuana in the next session of the California Legislature, the ACLU's local executive director said Thursday.

Jay A. Miller said the organization also is considering whether to bring a constitutional challenge in the courts to present marijuana laws on grounds of invasion of privacy and equal protection.

23 Suspected Mafia Members Arrested

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Police arrested 23 suspected Mafia members today in a coordinated predawn swoop in several parts of Italy, Palermo police headquarters announced.

It was the second such raid on the underworld society in nine days.

Sculptress Dies; Was Member Of '20s Arts Circle

OAKLAND (UPI) —Annette Rosenshine, sculptress who introduced Gertrude Stein to Alice B. Toklas, died Thursday in a nursing home. She was 91.

While studying in Paris she introduced Miss Toklas to Miss Stein, starting a lifelong friendship often discussed in literary circles.

Miss Rosenshine was a student of both Henri Matisse in Paris and psychologist Dr. Carl Gustave Jung in Zurich.

Ted Fio Rito Dies —Big Band Leader

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)— Ted Fio Rito, famed big band leader of the 1930s and a composer of many popular tunes, died Thursday night at Baptist Memorial Hospital. He was 70.

Death was due to an apparent heart attack. Fio Rito, long a familiar figure in San Francisco and Los Angeles, had a home here where he lived with his second wife and two sons.

His song hits included "Toot Toot Tootsie," "No, No, Nora," "Charlie My Boy," "Laugh Clown Laugh," "Sometime," "King For A Day," "Now That You're Gone," "Boogie Woogie Lullaby," "I Never Knew," and "Three On A Match."

He was born in Newark, N.J., Dec. 20, 1900, and at an early age showed talent as a pianist. He wrote his first song at the age of 14. During the heyday of the big band era, he was on the Hollywood Hotel radio program.

He and his band were popular favorites at the "Frantic Room" in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco during the early 1930s. One of his vocalists was a young blonde named Betty Grable, later to star in movies and a familiar figure as a pinup girl in World War II. His baritone was Leif Ericson, later television and movie actor of note. He gave June Haver, another star to be, her first singing job. Comedienne Lucille Ball also was one of his singers. His pianist was David Rose, later a famed composer and arranger.

He also played at the Aragon Ballroom, a favorite dance spot at Venice in the Los Angeles area, and at the Cocoanut Grove in the Ambassador Hotel. He and his band worked in numerous movies.

His first wife was Madelyn La Salle, a onetime Powers model. They had a son, Ted Jr., a Los Angeles resident. Their marriage ended in a 1946 divorce marked by a battle over a thoroughbred horse ranch valued at half a million dollars. She got the ranch but a court ruled he would share in the proceeds if it were sold. Acrimony over this dissipated in later years.

"He was a great man and a great composer," the first Mrs. Fio Rito said at his death.

Ferry Liked, But Not TV Film Report

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A Mill Valley attorney, enjoying a ride on the Sausalito Fery, did not enjoy watching it later on television and has filed a $1 million claim against the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Directors today routinely rejected the claim of attorney Ronald Lovitt of 337 Magee Avenue, a member of the San Francisco law firm of Lovitt and Hannan.

Lovitt alleges that his reputation was damaged and his privacy invaded when he was filmed aboard the ferryboat on or about April 20 by KGO, Channel 7 in San Francisco. The film later was shown on the air. This, Lovitt claims, "appropriated his reputation."

Although the bridge district regularly is sued by persons involved in accidents on the Golden Gate, Thomas Jenkins, the district's attorney, saw Lovitt's suit as an unusual one.

Tamalpais LSD Budget Is Set

The Tamalpais Community Services District board last night set its budget for 1971-72 fiscal year at $125,000, a $5,000 increase over last year's figure of $86,000, plus $34,000 capital outlay.

Board president Glenn H. Lambacher said no tax rate has been set, but the rate would probably amount to 44 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a 17-cent increase.

The board also set sewer service charges at $45, a $15 increase over last year. Lambacher attributed this raise to the higher cost of waste treatment. The charge is made to home or apartment owners for a year of service.

A public hearing to discuss the sewer charge will be held Aug. 10 at 8 p.m. at 305 Bell Lane.

Burglary Case Transferred To Juvenile Court

The case of Craig Robert Anderson, 18, of Mill Valley, was transferred to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday.

Anderson is charged, along with two other men, with two counts of burglary and one count of possessing stolen property.

They were arrested July 11 leaving the Tamalpais Valley home of Marin Grand Jury Foreman Milen C. Dempster. Sheriff's deputies said the house had been ransacked.

A preliminary hearing for Anderson's two codefendants — James McGovern, 20, and James Floyd Angle, 23, both of San Francisco — has been set for Tuesday.

Horseman Still On Critical List

Leonard Strikker, a 19-year-old Mill Valley horseman, remains in critical condition at Queen of the Valley Hospital, Napa, contrary to a report in the Independent-Journal Wednesday.

Hospital officials today said they erred in their report that he had been taken off the critical list and that, in fact, he is still in a coma although he has shown signs of improvement.

Strikker, of 302 Bell Lane, was injured June 19 while he was horseback riding with friends on a Napa Valley ranch.

Hospital Nod To Hillcrest Training Aid

The Petaluma Hospital District board last night approved the purchase of a portable classroom for in-service training classes at Hillcrest Hospital.

Hillcrest administrator Joseph Horner said the building will be purchased from the Petaluma School District and will be moved from McNear School where it is no longer needed.

Horner said the building will cost $7,000 with another $2,000 to place it on a permanent foundation. In addition to classes, the building will also be used as an auditorium for meetings and special programs.

The hospital board also asked Horner to make further studies into the possibility of computerizing the hospital business office, and accepted a gift of $1,000 from the Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary to buy new furniture for the lobby.

It adjourned to Aug. 4 at noon to review growth plans for the district.

Zoners Approve Several Permits For Sonomans

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved two new businesses and four mobile homes for the Petaluma area.

The board granted the request of Herold Mahoney for an auto repair shop at 2004 Bodega Avenue and the application of Timothy R. Talamantes for a plant nursery at 1900 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Mobile homes were approved for Joe Gomes, 1274 Ely Road South; K. R. and C. A. Barrell, 5001 Lichau Road; Eugene Lemos, 2815 Skillman Lane; and Frank Conway Jr., 750 Liberty Road. The Petaluma Planning Commission had urged denials of the requests, saying it strongly opposed the placement of single mobile homes near Petaluma.

Two Boys Cited For Probation In Sun Valley Fire

Two 14-year-old San Rafael boys have been cited to the Marin County Probation Department by San Rafael Police for incendiarism in connection with a fire in Sun Valley Park Tuesday night.

According to police, Gary Lee Suhrke, of 149 Humbold Avenue and Donald Neil Pieri, 315 California Street, said they set the blaze by leaving a delayed action device composed of two taped match books and a lit cigarette in a field of grass. The blaze destroyed 10 square feet, before firemen extinguished it.

Police said they arrested the boys after receiving a tip.

Police said it did not appear that the two boys had anything to do with recent fires set near the park on Indian Trail Road.

Fund Voted For Ferry, Bus Points

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Golden Gate Bridge District directors today voted $1.6 million to buy the main ferry and bus terminals in Marin.

The ferry terminal, on 25.4 acres in Larkspur near the mouth of the Corte Madera creek, will cost $1,250,000.

The 10-acre bus maintenance facility east of the San Rafael pot office on Highway 17 will cost $350,000.

The Bridge directors had previously authorized negotiations to make the two purchases but the price had not been disclosed.

The district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, reported that the option for the ferry terminal property will cost $25,000. That option, however, will expire Sept. 30, and a 90-day extension to the end of the year would cost an additional $25,000.

The directors voted unanimously to make both purchases, but to first take the short option on the ferry terminal pending federal action on the district's application for a grant for the ferry system.

The district already has qualified for a $6.1 million grant toward the bus system, thus the bus terminal cost will be reimbursed if the grant is funded.

Today's action on the terminal came after a one hour closed session to discuss Jenkins' negotiations with the property owners.

3 Militant Jews Sentended In Bomb Conspiracy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rabbi Meir Kahane and two members of his Jewish Defense League received suspended prison sentences and were placed on probation today on Federal charges of conspiring to manufacture bombs. Kahane was fined $5,000.

Judge Jack B. Weinstein gave Kahane a five-year suspended sentence and placed him on probation for five years.

Stewart Cohen, 18, was placed on probation for three years and fined $500. Chaim Bieber, 41, received a three-year suspended term and was fined $2,500. He was also placed on probation for three years.

All three pleaded guilty to the charges two weeks ago.

Weinstein ordered the three men to cease all involvement with violence, bombs and guns. He said any violation of those terms would result in imposition of the prison terms.

Plea Set On Spree At Center

Steven Gale Lockett, 19, of Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor charge of failing to leave a public building after it was closed.

He is to plead to the charge next Friday.

Lockett and three juvenile companions were arrested Tuesday night on a Marin Civic Center balcony. Sheriff's deputies said the four had climbed onto the balcony and apparently had gotten onto the roof of the Hall of Justice before security alarms were triggered.

2 Rabies Clinics Set Next Week

Rabies vaccination for dogs will continue next week with two clinics sponsored by the Marin County Department of Health Services.

Here is next week's schedule:

Tuesday, July 27 — Ross School on Lagunitas Road, 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Thursday, July 29 — Woodacre Firehouse, end of Railroad Avenue. 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

State law requires that all dogs in Marin four months old and over must be vaccinated against rabies. A fee of $2 per dog is charged.

POLICE

dere pay $65,984 to Tiburon for a protection contract, reducing Tiburon's share to $262,807, or $31,844 less than the cost of establishing its own department.

Such new service, however, is absolutely necessary in both cities, Kreins says. To support his argument, he cites the following inadequacies:

Belvedere — "There is no direct contract with Tiburon by radio . . . no one in the office at night . . . no training, schooling, attendance at meetings . . . the city will serve only as a training ground for other departments."

Tiburon — "Very little equipment . . . all (radio) calls must be routed through the sheriff's department . . . only one man on duty between 2 and 8 a.m." He also cites a general lack of personnel (seven) for a city the size of Tiburon.

Belvedere, Kreins says, has "no serious followup or investigation because of a lack of manpower. If all a department can do is take reports, then the city should employ high school girls who can type, let them take reports and save the money they spend on a policeman."

In all, Belvedere "is fortunate to have the level of service (it now has) and it is only because of the caliber of men and not because of the number of men or the equipment available," Kreins says.

Although one of Tiburon's pledges to the residents of Strawberry and Bel Aire, currently undergoing annexation proceedings by Tiburon, is the establishment of a police substation in Strawberry, Kreins criticizes the idea.

"I would strongly urge that there only be one police facility in the (Tiburon) peninsula area," the report says. "To decentralize the department and spread out the physical facility would be a tremendous waste of money and manpower."

Kreins suggests housing the new police haadquarters either downstairs in the present city hall (now used for city council meetings) or next door in a new building being constructed.

The study suggests giving Belvedere's present police officers first consideration for positions in the new department. Belvedere Police Chief John W. Jaeger should be allowed to compete for chief in Tiburon, Kreins recommends, but recruitment for the position should be statewide and the best possible man should be picked.

If Jaeger is not selected, Kreins recommends, he should be given "serious consideration" for second in command.

If his suggestions are followed, the report says, "I know that the citizens of Belvedere and Tiburon will be extremely pleased with the improved efficiency of the police department. The crime rate will drop, crimes cleared will go up, response time will improve, service in all areas will be better and there will be greater recognition by departmental personnel as to the needs of the community."

Kreins raises the possibility that such a department may be eligible for federal assistance and suggests looking into available grants under the Omnibus Crime Control Bill of 1968.

Water Pressure Discussion Set

Plans for a survey of water and hydrant pressure in Stinson Beach will be considered by the Stinson Beach County Water District at a special meeting at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Stinson Beach Community Center, board chairman Hugh Dougherty has announced.

Also to be discussed is a state grant to help finance the proposed $8.1 million joint sewage disposal system which the district is planning to build in conjunction with the Bolinas community public utility district.

Also on the agenda is a report on the feasibility of collecting recylable items such as glass, cans and newspapers, along with regular garbage pickup.

OBITUARIES

Manuel D. Gomez, 62, Dies

Manuel D. Gomez, retired jewelry store owner and longtime Mill Valley resident, died yesterday in his home after a brief illness.

Gomez, 62, was born in Spain, but came to the United States with his family when he was 10. He moved to Mill Valley 46 years ago.

In addition to operating his firm, he was a frequent speaker at Mill Valley City Council and other public meetings for many years, and was a member of the Mill Valley Rotary Club. After retirement, he became active in developing property he owned in Mill Valley.

He is survived by his wife, Marion Jean Gomez of the family home at 311 Molino Avenue; four sons, Robert Michael, Phillip and Donald of Mill Valley, and a brother and a sister, Antonio Gomez of Seattle and Mrs. Joseph Mendez of Walnut Creek.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.. Sunday in Russel and Gooch mortuary.

MRS. GARCIA

Dolores Garcia, mother of Cecelia Hawk of Larkspur, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 74.

Mrs. Garcia, who resided in Santa Rosa for the last 24 years, came to Marin County a week ago.

She was a native of Malaga, Spain, and moved to San Francisco in 1907.

Besides her daughter here, Mrs. Garcia is survived by another daughter, Irene Smiraglia, of Daly City; a sister, Anita Caredio of Reno; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Rose Catholic Church in Santa Rosa where a Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday.

Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

The Rosary will be recited Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Daniels Mortuary, 1225 Sonoma Avenue, Santa Rosa.

The family requests memorial contributions be sent to the American Cancer Society or the Sisters of Poor Clare, Los Altos Hills, Los Altos.

TOMANO KAI

Tomano M. Kai, 83, a Petaluma resident for 53 years, died yesterday at a Sebastopol convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Kai was born and reared in Japan. She was a member of the Enmanji Buddhist Temple, Sebastopol.

She is survived by two daughters, Mary Nakagawa of Petaluma and Kimako Otani of Sacramento, and a brother in Japan.

Funeral will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Enmanji Buddhist Temple, Sebastopol, followed by inurnment at Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

EVA PHILBROOK

Funeral for Eva Ann Philbrook, 83, of 35 Grove Lane, San Anselmo, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Philbrook died Wednesday at a local rest home after a long illness. A native of England, she had lived in Marin County about 20 years.

She was the widow of Roger Philbrook, a retired maintenance mechanic for the Sohner Tree Service, San Anselmo. He died in April, 1965.

Surviving are a stepson, Roger Philbrook Jr. of San Bruno and a sister, Ada Parks of Cheshire, England.

Interment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

WASILY PERESADA

Graveside Service for Wasily (Wesley) Peresada, 86, retired Petaluma cemetery worker, was held in Petaluma.

Peresada died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was born in Russia and had lived in Petaluma for 23 years. For more than 20 years he had been employed at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

He is survived by two sons, Harry Peresada of Watertown, Conn. and Alexander Peresada of Morris, Conn.; two daughters, Amy Iorio and Augusta De Sorbo, both of Watertown, Conn.; a stepdaughter, Daisy Benito of Petaluma; and five grandchildren.

GEORGE JONES

Private funeral was held today in Petaluma for George H. Jones, 80, a retired machinist.

Jones died Wednesday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was born in Sacramento, but moved to Petaluma as a child where he was reared and educated.

Jones served in World War I and returned to open an auto repair garage at Point Reyes Station. He later worked as a machinist for 17 years at the Hunters Point shipyard and retired in 1955. He was the husband of the late Elizabeth Jones.

He is survived by a son, Jack P. Jones of Santa Rosa; two daughters, June Isermann of Petaluma and Margaret Ewan of Los Angeles; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

HOWARD HALE

Private service was held yesterday at Keaton's Mortuary for Howard L. Hale, of San Rafael, who died Wednesday at a local hospital.

Hale, 61, lived at 555 Canal Street. He had been a Marin County resident for 16 years; he was born in Oakland.

For about 20 years Hale was a railroad freight trafficker. He was also a member of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, No. 1108 of San Rafael.

Hale is survived by his wife, Alva, a daughter, Marcia Ellis of Oakland, and two grandsons, Steven and John.

Employees Reject New Wage Offer

A counter-offer to a 9.3 per cent wage and benefit boost requested by Mill Valley's striking city employees was made by the city last night but rejected by employees.

One employee said the counter-proposal was "not much of an improvement" over the city's former offer of a 6.5 per cent boost. He did not say whether employees responded with a counter-offer of their own.

Another negotiating session between the unionized city employees and the city's negotiator, Industrial Employers and Distributors Association, was to be held this morning.

The strike has idled 39 city workers since July 1. Police, firemen, supervisors and members of the building and planning department are not involved.

Pleas Entered On Pot Haul

Four persons arrested Monday in connection with a Tamalpais Valley marijuana packing operation pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Clifford Michael McClure, 24, and Linda Ann La Baum, 22, both of Tamalpais Valley, Kenneth Arthur Cole, 23, of Mill Valley, and Anthony Bonieo, 23, of no known address, are charged with possessing marijuana and possessing it for sale.

A preliminary hearing was set for them for Sept. 8.

Marin County drug abuse agents said they seized 111 kilo bricks of the weed in the raid on the residence of McClure and Miss La Baum.

Also seized, agents said, were two hand-operated machines for packing marijuana into kilo bricks.

Attorney Hits Corona Gag Rule

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Defense attorney Richard Hawk, describing mass murder suspect Juan V. Corona as "his own best salesman," objects to a judge's ruling which prevents Corona from talking to newsmen.

"If you could talk to him you would find out what a nice guy he really is," Hawk told newsmen Thursday after leaving a hearing in which Superior Court Judge John Hauck imposed a gag rule in the case.

Corona, 37, a farm labor contractor, was indicted by a county grand jury last week in the slayings of 25 itinerants whose bodies were found buried along the scenic Feather River.

In an interview with three newsmen published Tuesday, Corona said he is innocent of the killings. He said he has not lost faith in the United States because of the charges and wants his children to go to school and learn English.

Hawk, defending the interview which he arranged, said:

"As long as the sheriff can make the statement that he's got the right man, Juan certainly has the right to say he's damn wrong."

At Thursday's hearing, Hauck issued the order prohibiting the prosecution and defense from publicly discussing the case and barred from public scrutiny the 700-page grand jury transcript which resulted in the indictment against Corona.

In addition, the judge continued until Tuesday the arraignment of the gaunt-looking defendant who recently suffered a yart attack. Hawk requested the continuance to give him time to study the grand jury transcript.

Corona, wearing a green suit and black cowboy boots, sat quietly throughout the brief proceedings, speaking only twice to acknowledge he understood the Spanish translation being provided of the judge's rulings.

Later, as he was being returned to his cell in the Yuba County jail in adjoining Marysville, Corona told Dr. Thomas Leavenworth, who treated him for a heart attack, that he was feeling fine.

"How do you feel, Juan?" Leavenworth, medical director at Sutter County general hospital, asked as deputies led the suspect away.

JUAN CORONA
Mass Murder Suspect

"I feel fine," Corona replied, patting his heart with his right hand.

During the pre-arraignment hearing, Leavenworth said under questioning by the defense that interviews, provided the number of persons present is limited, could be "medically advantageous" in showing how well Corona "is able to handle gradually increased segment of stress."

Three-Point Beautification Program Set

The Marin County Club Homeowners Association has adopted a three-point program for beautification of the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates in Novato.

The program was adopted Tuesday night at the quarterly meeting of the association on the suggestion of John L. Haff, chairman of the environmental committee, according to James A. Sullivan, publicity chairman.

The beautification program calls upon individuals and the association to seed bare slopes, the association to establish an identity for the country club estates by developing an overall scheme of signing and planting and association to develop a cleanup plan with the owners of vacant and undeveloped land.

The members voted $1,200 to get the program started, Sullivan said.

Draft Bill Key: Viet Timetable

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate negotiators are confident President Nixon will accept some sort of legislated end date for U.S. combat in Vietnam as the price for resumption of the military draft.

A knowledgeable Democratic source, with contacts at the White House, says he now feels certain President Nixon and House conferees will accept some sort of timetable — perhaps even the nine-month schedule for withdrawal adopted by the Senate.

The big question was when the administration would act to end a month-long stalemate between House and Senate conferees that has left President Nixon without authority to draft since July 1.

The conferees scheduled another meeting for Monday, with no sign of a compromise in sight.

The Senate is holding out for a two-year extension of the draft that contains Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's rider establishing a national policy of withdrawal from Vietnam within nine months from enactment, House conferees are firmly opposing the amendment.

The administration is calmly waiting on the sidelines, despite Defense Department warnings that serious military manpower shortages will begin appearing in home-based units next year unless the draft is resumed in September. The hope appears to be that the Senate, once it sees that military strength will be depleted, will cave in.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird renewed his warning Friday that a continued stalemate on the draft extension could put "the trained strength of some of our divisions into a very bad position."

He told a Pentagon news conference that he would reluctantly have to start drafting thousands of men who hold student deferments if some break does not come soon. Those men are still liable under the President's authority to induct which expired June 30.

But the Senate's negotiating team so far has been firm, even though seven of its nine members voted against the Mansfield amendment on the floor. They know that if the antiwar measure is dropped they will face a certain filibuster when the draft bill is returned for final action.

The conferees have discussed the possibility of reporting the Mansfield amendment in disagreement — a process that would force the House to vote on the measure up or down — which it has not yet done.

But some Senate sources believe the Administration does not want any floor fight at this time because of its possible impact on the South Vietnamese legislative elections in August and the presidential elections in October.

Hickel To Build Alaska's Biggest Shopping Center

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Former Interior Department Secretary Walter Hickel and his brother, Vernon, have unveiled plans to build Alaska's largest shopping center.

The Hickel Investment Co. expects to open the first phase of the center here early in 1972, it was reported Thursday.

Hickel, who was fired from President Nixon's cabinet last year, said the first section of the center will cost more than $4 million. It will cover 147,000 square feet.

Uruguay's Areco Is Facing Trial

MONTEVIDEO (UPI)—Uruguay's Chamber of Deputies early today voted to try President Jorge Pacheco Areco on charges of violation of the national constitution.

Specifically, the president was accused of having violated the constitution by reinstating security measures equivalent to modified martial law less than 12 hours after the Congress had voted their repeal July 14.

Volkswagen announces a new kind of Volkswagen. Big.

Who'd ever believe it?
A Volkswagen that's big.
And looks like a regular car.
And has four big doors.
And more room and comfort than you've ever seen in a Volkswagen.
And more power and acceleration. From the most powerful air-cooled engine we've ever built.
And more features as standard equipment than you'd ever expect in a big car:
Like an automatic transmission. Radial tires. Front disc brakes. Electronic fuel injection. Rear-window defroster. And more.
So, after all these years, now you can buy a big car as good as our little car.
The new 411 Volkswagen 4-Door sedan.
Priced with our usual Volkswagen frugality.
You know what?
You just ran out of excuses for not buying a Volkswagen.

COUNTDOWN SMOOTH

Apollo 15 Crew Gets In Another Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — While the countdown clicked along without a hitch, the astronauts got in one more space flight rehearsal today and forecasters predicted good weather for Monday morning's launch of Apollo 15 to the moon.

Authorities braced for a record throng of tourists to watch David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin blast off on their 12-day lunar landing expedition. State officials estimated as many as 1.5 million people might be on hand.

Weathermen said viewing and launch conditions would be good. Partly cloudy skies, light winds and 83 degree temperatures were predicted for the 6:34 a.m. PDT flight time.

ON SCHEDULE

"The count is proceeding very well," reported space vehicle test supervisor James Harrington at a mid-morning status report from the control center. "We've had no problems to speak of."

However, a faulty lot of batteries was discovered when some were being installed during the night in the lunar module. Another set of batteries was installed and they successfully checked out.

Many of the tourists expected to watch the shot were expected to start arriving in the area this weekend.

"We are expecting a severe traffic problem," said Lt. Len Brady, district commander for the Florida Highway Patrol. "It's going to be like trying to pour two gallons of milk into a one gallon container."

The first half of the 104-hour, 30-minute series of preparations for the flight has been one of the smoothest ever.

POLISH DUTIES

Scott, Worden and Irwin wound up their regularly scheduled training Thursday, but decided to spend much of today in spacecraft trainers polishing up on the highlights of the flight.

Astronaut Chief Donald K. Slayton said today's exercise was "a final refresher for what we expect to be a normal mission." Most of the astronauts' time in recent weeks was devoted to rehearsals of emergency procedures.

The space agency expected 25,000 guests to watch the launching from special viewing grounds at the Kennedy Space Center. More than 3,600 VIPs already have accepted invitations.

Among those expected are Edward E. David, President Nixon's science adviser; Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers; singer Ethel Merman; Charles and Lynda Johnson Robb; Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes and Florida Gov. Reubin Askew.

Grand Avenue Site For Health Services Clinics

Immunization clinics and birth control prescription refill clinics, conducted by Marin County Health Services, will move next week from the Civic Center to 920 Grand Avenue in San Rafael.

Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant health officer, explained that clinic space is no longer available at the Civic Center because of the consolidation of all health and medical services into one department.

There will be no immunization clinics on Monday or Tuesday of next week, hile the clinics are being moved. The immunization clinics will resume at 920 Grand Avenue in San Rafael on Friday, July 30. They will contnue thereafter on the usual schedule of Monday, Tuesday and Friday afternoons, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The prescription refill clinics will also move to 920 Grand Avenue and resume operations next Wednesday.

Immunizations provided by county health services are for diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), polio, and smallpox. Gamma globulin is available following exposure to infectious hepatitis.

Tuberculin tests are given routinely.

The fee is $2 per family for immunizations other than for travel. Travel immunizations cost $15.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Welfare, Medi-Cal Bills Move

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Legislature reached the halfway mark today in its summer drive to reform welfare and Medi-Cal, two costly programs Gov. Ronald Reagan once described as "cancer eating at our vitals."

The Assembly completed its work on Medi-Cal and the Senate called a truce over welfare.

Reagan was not particularly happy with the welfare result, but hailed the Medi-Cal effort as "a truly hopeful sign" that "goes a long way toward answering the need for fiscal responsibility and stability in California's health care program."

A compromise version of Reagan's Medi-Cal reform plan breezed out of the Assembly on a bipartisan 66-10 vote Thursday and went to the Senate.

Reagan said he hoped "the spirit of cooperation and reasonableness" displayed by the lower house would become "contagious so that we can soon get on with solving an even bigger administrative nightmare—welfare."

The Senate later passed, 21-13, a weakened welfare reform bill sponsored by Democrats and sent it to the Assembly. Reagan attacked the measure as once "a sham" and now "a shell."

The Senate action prompted a private meeting by the Assembly Welfare Committee to discuss what to do with the Senate bill.

Chairman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who voted for the medi-cal proposal, announced a special meeting will be held Monday to consider the welfare measure and "significant amendments."

"I expect that we will come up with the millenium — something that both Democrats and the governor can agree to," Bagley said.

Legislative leaders are anxious to resolve the twin issues of welfare and Medi-Cal before both houses recess for three weeks Aug. 1. Reagan has threatened to interrupt the legislators' vacation and call them back into session if reform bills have not reached his desk by then.

The governor has warned that Californians "face tax increases year in and year out" unless welfare and Medi-Cal are overhauled.

The two public assistance programs now are costing roughly $3.5 billion annually in federal, state and local funds. There are nearly 2.5 million low-income Californians receiving free Medi-Cal health care services and all but around 200,000 also are on welfare.

Reagan says his welfare program would save the state $108 million and his Medi-Cal plan another $124 million.

The Medi-Cal bill, sponsored by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, was strongly opposed by counties who feared it would shift state costs to local property taxpayers. Campbell denied this.

The bill's major provision would encourage development of prepaid health plans for welfare recipients.

The bill also would require recipients to pay $1 per doctor visit and 50 cents per prescription. Now they pay nothing.

Dentures would be provided for persons without teeth.

The welfare bill, authored by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, was weakened so it could pass on a simple majority vote instead of two-thirds.

"I don't like the bill one bit," Beilenson confessed to his colleagues. "I'm asking for an aye vote only to speed passage of welfare reform."

The senator estimated his bill would save the state $24 million.

One key provision would require the Reagan administration to develop a plan to employ 25,000 welfare recipients at $2 per hour in special work projects. The governor strongly opposes this, contending it would cost $57 million.

The bill also would require more children to help support their aged parents, force absent fathers to support their welfare families, remove from welfare those whose outside earnings exceed 150 per cent of what the state determines they need and place a time limit on how long recipients can stay outside the state and still qualify for welfare.

Many of the bill's provisions were cribbed from Reagan's plan, but not enough to win the governor's support. Reagan's program was killed by the Senate Wednesday.

Only two Republicans joined 19 Democrats in voting for the Beilenson bill—Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter Behr of Tiburon.

BART REIN VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation has been rejected by the Assembly Transportation which required the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system to cover its entire three-county region before providing service to other areas.

The committee rejected the measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, Thursday on a split voice vote.

Nejedly said that when the voters in Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties approved formation of the district, they wanted full service to the three counties before BART was extended to other areas.

PETRIS BILL NOD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A compromise bill imposing strict exhaust emission standards on 1975 model cars has cleared the Assembly Transportation Committee.

The measure, which requires engines to be 90 per cent pure, was approved by the committee Thursday after Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, said his bill would impose stricter standards than those of the federal government.

Petris' legislation is a compromise proposal of his original bill to ban pollution-causing engines all together beginning in 1975.

The senator told the committee he was unable to gain support for his total ban so he decided to settle for the tough emission standards. The engine ban has cleared the Senate three straight years, but has failed to gain lower house approval.

DOME PROBE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A measure ordering an investigation into the safety of the 101-year-old golden-domed state Capitol in case of an earthquake was voted overwhelming approval by the Senate Thursday.

"If it's not earthquake proof, we certainly ought to make it earthquake proof," Sen. James Whetmore, R-La Habra, said of the brick and mortar west wing which houses both legislative chambers.

An independent committee of earthquake specialists recently warned that the structure has weakened substantially and might come crashing down during an earthquake.

GAS TAX VOTE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate has voted to impose a sales tax on gasoline for the first time to pay for metropolitan transit systems and rural road or recreational trail construction.

The measure by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, was approved 22-13 Thursday and sent to the Assembly.

Mills said the plan would provide cities and counties with $138 million annually in public transportation funds.

SCENIC RIVERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Natural Resources Committee has approved legislation designating the Eel, Trinity and Klamath rivers in northern California as part of a state wild and scenic rivers system.

"They (the rivers) are thus preserved in their free-flowing state and protected from dams or other man-made impoundments," said Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, whose bill was sent to the floor Thursday on a voice vote.

The bill also requests the secretary of the interior to include the three coastal rivers in the federal Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

Innocent Pleas, Record Bail In Drug Ring Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—The son of Panama's ambassador to Nationalist China and five other persons pleaded innocent Thursday to charges of conspiring to import $21 million worth of heroin.

Among those entering pleas were Jose San Martin, 45, of Argentina, who was described as a possible international fugitive. San Martin was held on a record $1 million bail because federal attorneys said he might flee the country if freed.

The other five, including Rafael Richard Jr., 23, the ambassador's son, were held under bails totalling $2.5 million.

The men were arrested July 9 following the seizure of 175 pounds of pure heroin at Kennedy Airport. Authorities said the heroin was found in Richard's travel bags.

DRAMA REVIEW

Astounding Talent In College Play

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The theatrical artistry of the College of Marin drama department is astounding.

Two weeks ago the Fine Arts Building stage was filled with warmth with a delightful revival of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Last night the chilling tragedy of the Bard's "Macbeth" was unfolded with many theatrical highs reached by the "Summer Shakespeare '71" company.

Staged simply on the Elizabethan-type stage, director James Dunn scored another triumph in his already distinguished career on the Kentfield campus.

With a cast headed by Dakin Matthews as Macbeth and Carolyn Reed-Dunn as Lady Macbeth, both appearing by special arrangement with Actors' Equity Association, Shakespeare's tale of intrigue was spellbinding.

The tragic but beautiful prose of Shakespeare sank deep within the skin.

As Macbeth intoned "Me thought I heard a voice cry 'Sleep no more/Macbeth does murder sleep.'...", the tragedy emerged as timeless as ever.

Too often Macbeth is played with lack of warmth and compassion, but Matthews tooled his Macbeth into an understandable character caught in the pitfalls of human nature. There was redemption in death I felt. From a victorious Scottish general to toy puppet king, Matthews charted a steady course in characterization.

As Lady Macbeth, Carolyn Dunn-Reed, wife of the company's director and too long absent from the Marin theatrical scene, was near perfect as the ice-water-veined wife who goaded her husband into murder for a kingdom where blood flowed freely. Her sleepwalking scene is as excellent as I have seen anywhere.

The student performers, apparently geared up by the professionalism of the visiting actors, did not waiver. Mark Rasmussen as Macduff again showed his considerable talent as well as did Gregory Norgaard as Banquo; Gregory Mehrten as Fleance; Robin Williams as Malcolm, and Todd Noris as Duncan.

Also handled expertly and believably were the three witches (Pamela Contos, Denise Orr and Judith Gordon) as well as the murderers (Alan Kernan and Daniel Long).

The duel between Macbeth and Macduff, which climaxes the tragedy, one of the shortest of Shakespeare's greater plays, was executed with expert finesse. The climactic scene sometimes can be overplayed to an extent where it touches on the comedy.

Costuming was rich, a hallmark of Alonso D. Gonzales, and the lighting by Edward K. Schoon added to the intrigue.

For patrons of the theater who like no-nonsense Shakespeare, "Macbeth" handled by Dunn's troupe is a must. It will be performed again tonight, tomorrow, Sunday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, July 31 and Aug. 1 at 8 p.m. in the college theater.

"MACBETH" — Play in two parts by William Shakespeare. College of Marin production. James Dunn, director; Alonso D. Gonzalez, settings and costumes; Edward K. Schoon. The cast: Royal Family of Scotland — Todd Norris, Duncan, King of Scotland; Robin Williams) Malcolm; Joel Blum, Donalbain, his sons; House of Macbeth — Dakin Matthews, Macbeth; Carolyn Reed-Dunn, Lady Macbeth (appearances by special arrangement with Actors' Equity Association); Barrett Nicol, Seyton; William Walsh, a doctor; Alan Kernan, wounded captain and first murderer; Daniel Long, second murderer; J. W. Harper, a porter; Abby Goldman, a gentlewoman; Robert Jones, an old man; Elwood Markham, Daniel McClellan, Thomas Spilsbury, servants; House of Macduff — Mark Rasmussen, Macduff; Alice Rorvik, Lady Macduff; Jamie Dunn, their son; Rick Casorla, Thane of Ross; Noblemen of Scotland — Gregory Norgaard, Banquo; Gregory Mehrten, Fleance; Howard McMaster, Lennox; Matthew Shippey, Menteith; Mark LeRoy Angus; Tim Shippey, Caithness; Daniel Long, Thane of Cawdor; Pamela Contos, Denise Orr, Judith Gordon, witches; Abby Goldman, Kendell Jackson, Elaine Womack, apparitions; Michael Moore, Greg Pedlar, Brian Tourigny, soldiers.

Disruption In Debate On Integration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Board of Education Thursday night decided to appeal a school integration order during a noisy meeting which saw parents opposed to the busing of children storm the auditorium stage occupied by board members.

Police had to repel one assault and the meeting was twice brought to a halt because of the din. There were no arrests.

Although the board agreed to appeal the decision of Federal Judge Stanley Weigel, members warned that the court would probably deny the appeal.

The board adopted its own "Horseshoe" integration plan should the court order the board to integrate the city's 95 elementary schools this fall.

The predominantly white audience of about 1,000 carried placards which bore messages such as "We Want Freedom, Too," "Bus Judge Weigel," "Let's Put the Board of Ed on a One-Way Ticket," "Is Judge Weigel God?" and "Education, Not Transportation."

Board chairman Dr. Zuretti Goosby, who wielded his gavel repeatedly through the stormy session at Nourse Auditorium, opened the meeting by noting that the board had previously voted to appeal Judge Weigel's preliminary order. City attorney George Krueger informed the board that the appeal was still in effect.

Krueger said he planned to file a second appeal today, but he told the board that it must choose an integration plan should the request for a stay be denied.

The first disruption occurred when busing foe Mrs. Vincent Hughes walked on stage and berated board members at close range. Dr. Goosby adjourned the meeting for 10 minutes and Mrs. Hughes voluntarily left.

After two dozen police reinforcements arrived, the meeting resumed.

Twice, spokesmen for anti-busing elements took the microphone to ask their ranks to cease the heckling. But it continued most of the night.

Testimony On Underworld High Finance Shakes Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A former financial manipulator with high mob connections has persuaded Senate investigators that organized crime's influence is so pervasive in the business world it now threatens the nation's economy.

After listening to two days of testimony about underworld high finance involving bribes to public officials and payoffs to key people in the financial community, members of the Senate investigations subcommittee Thursday somberly assessed its impact.

"If we're not able to bring this under control, it could completely undermine our whole economy," said Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"The potential impact on the society and the economy of our country could be terrific and disastrous. If this is not controlled in some way, and if we're not able to restrain it, we're in very great trouble," he said.

So great is the mob's infiltration of even legitimate business ventures, concluded Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., that it "really underpins the whole economy of the United States."

"That's exactly correct," concurred the man who prompted the assessments —a mystery witness called "George White" who chose a fictitious name because he said he feared for his life.

In eight hours on the stand before the committee, which is delving into underworld activities, White detailed his own financial schemes that spanned a 20-year period and which sometimes landed him in jail.

White, who testified under court-ordered immunity from prosecution, is serving a prison term for financial crimes.

White said there are now enormous blocks of stolen and bogus stocks in financial institutions all over the country put up as collateral for loans and money in the portfolios of investment firms and insurance companies.

He estimated that under certain circumstances there are 40 to 50 banks willing to deal with mob financiers for the right price —a payoff or a bribe.

White told how he was able to use such "friendly" banks — once getting a $300,000 loan from a Chicago bank in 15 minutes with only $9,000 in collateral.

But White said not all officials of such financial firms are crooked. Some, he said, don't even know they are being used by organized crime while others fully aware do not participate in the schemes.

Clothes Stolen

No Cause For Panic In Marin

The epidemic which is killing horses in Mexico and Texas is no cause for panic in Marin or the rest of California, a Marin County health official announced today.

Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant county health officer, said no case of Venezuelan equine encephalitis has been diagnosed in California or in the buffer states of Arizona and Nevada. It is confined to Texas, having traveled from Central America to Mexico.

The United States Department of Agriculture is providing vaccine for Texas and the buffer states of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The vaccine has not been released for public use elsewhere and is still an experimental, unlicensed vaccine, said Dr. Hicks, who stressed that there is at present no cause for alarm in California.

N.Y. Paper Asks For Times' Trial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Daily Mirror in an editorial Thursday asked Attorney General John N. Mitchell to prosecute the New York Times for stealing, possessing and selling the Pentagon papers.

"Failing to do so will be a dereliction of your duties," said the Mirror, which along with the Times is one of the city's three morning newspapers.

The editorial said in addition to publishing the papers on the news pages, the Times "had the gall to publish a paperback book in conjunction with Bantam Books" which in paperback could bring $1 million.

SAN QUENTIN'S NEW DEATH ROW

This lattice work of bars and heavy metal mesh form the "sallyport" entrance (left of San Quentin's new death row where 15 men will occupy the single cells along the corridor (right.). The burgeoning population on San Quentin's death row has necessitated opening a third unit to house the condemned men, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The new unit, on the second floor of the prison's adjustment center, was opened last week. Occupants of the new unit will be a select group of inmates who will be allowed outside exercise for the first time. Inmates in the other two death row units will be restricted to exercise within their cell blocks.

Pesty Marin Mosquitoes Up To Usual Irritation

By STEVE SWENSON

While mosquitoes are killing horses in an epidemic of encephalitis in Texas, Marin residents have been slapping away at a different kind of mosquito.

In Texas, the culex tarsalis mosquito is spreading encephalitis (sleeping sickness), a disease which inflames the brains of animals and has reportedly killed 6,000 horses in Texas and has made hundreds of humans ill.

In Marin, the tree hole mosquito has been chomping on residents, but has caused nothing more serious than minor irritation.

The tarsalis mosquito, carrier of encephalitis, does exist in Marin but researchers say the county is too cold and wet for it to spread the disease here, according to Allan D. Telford, district manager for Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

Telford said only two cases of encephalitis have been reported in Marin's history and it is doubtful these were caused by mosquitoes. He added that no other serious illness, such as malaria carried by the anopheles mosquito, is likely to be contracted in the county.

However, the tree hole mosquito has proved to be a troublesome pest this year with more of the species than usual, according to the district manager. He said the district has received in the past month 435 calls, above average.

Due to the comparitively lengthy wet and cool spring, ideal conditions for mosquito breeding, more tree hole mosquitoes have nipped people in the warm evenings at home, in the woods, on a boat or in a park.

The calls coming into the mosquito district are to be encouraged, Telford said, because the district can only spray in places where people have noted a problem.

Unlike the other 18 mosquito species in Marin, the tree hole mosquito cannot be controlled in its egg or larval stage. Since it breeds in rotting limbs and deep crevices in trees, spots virtually unreachable by the current methods of mosquito abatement, the tree hole mosquito becomes adult and looks for humans and animals to prey on.

This presents a "difficult problem" for the district, Telford said, because the district can only spray after the species attacks instead of preventing the mosquito from attacking.

He explained that other mosquito species are controlled at the egg and larval stage when the district eliminates unnatural puddles, plants mosquito fish and sprays areas where the mosquitoes breed.

The district is experimenting with a new mister, a cold fogger, to combat the tree hole mosquito. The cold fogger breaks a phosphate insecticide, a short lasting spray not harmful to larger animals like fish, into a fine mist which can penetrate into tree hole mosquito breeding grounds, Telford said.

The results of this year's experiment, carried on in Kentfield and Fairfax, are inconclusive although there has been some drop of tree hole mosquitoes in the area, according to the district manager.

Students and professors from the University of California at Berkeley are studying the tree hole mosquito problem in the county because Marin has the largest such problem in California, Telford said. "We haven't licked the problem but we are working on it," he added.

Burial Offer For Man Who Won Fame With Voice

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI)—Clifford Edwards grew up in a shack on the Mississippi River here and went on to win fame as the voice behind Jiminy Cricket in the Walt Disney classic "Pinocchio."

Now residents of Hannibal, concerned because Edwards died a lonely welfare patient in Hollywood this weekend, have offered to arrange for a burial in his hometown.

Mayor Henry Glascock told Los Angeles County officials, "If no one claims the body, we will bring him back here for a Christian burial." County officials said Thursday the body was still unclaimed.

Edwards died at the age of 76 in the Virgil Convalescent Hospital.

Lockheed Chief Warns Employes Against Threats

BURBANK (BW) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. Chairman Daniel J. Haughton said yesterday in a letter to all Lockheed employes, "There have been reports that apparently some Lockheed employes are threatening Lockheed critics in various ways during the congressional debate on the loan guarantee issue.

"It is understandable that we would become emotional about others' threats to our jobs and our futures. But is not acceptable for anyone to make threats of any type to our critics," Haughton said.

"During the next week or two, our elected representatives in Congress will determine our fate. Their debate and their voting judgments must be allowed in an atmosphere of calm deliberation and free opportunity for expressions from all sides. It is the only way the American system can continue to be the best and the fairest for all people," Haughton added.

"In spite of our strong feelings, I hope you will join me in expressing those feelings in a calm and considered manner worthy of the tradition of the men and women of Lockheed," he concluded.

Appellate Court Clears Air On Time Span For Legal Abortions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A state appellate court ruled Thursday that all abortions in California are legal if performed by a physician in a licensed hospital during the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

In a 2-1 decision, the State District Court of Appeal found most sections of the state therapeutic abortion law unconstitutional "insofar as they purport to deny or impose restrictions upon a woman's right to terminate her pregnancy."

The California law, which took effect in 1968, allows abortions in cases of rape, incest and danger to the mother's physical or mental health.

The State Department of Health reported Thursday that more than 62,000 legal abortions were performed in California last year, up from 15,339 in 1969 and 5,030 in 1968.

The appellate court said "a woman has a constitutional right to terminate a pregnancy subject to reasonably enacted legislative restrictions supporting legitimate state interests by its 'accredited' hospital provision."

But it said the therapeutic abortion act's requirement of approval of an abortion in advance by a hospital committee was "without reasonable constitutional justification."

The majority upheld portions of the law requiring legal abortions to be performed by a physician in a licensed hospital during the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

In a dissenting opinion, Justice B. Molinari said "the termination of pregnancy is not an unqualified right beyond regulation by the state but subject to reasonable limitation consonant with the state's compelling interest in the health and welfare of the prospective mother."

Georgia's peach crop is expected to be three per cent less than last year because of bad weather.

Burying Of Lines Begun By PG&E

Undergrounding utilities along Fifth Avenue from A to E Streets by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is underway in San Rafael.

The 125,000 phase of the project is scheduled for completion next January, according to Lawrence P. Biancalana, district marketing supervisor for the utility company.

The underground utility district established by the San Rafael City Council July 6, is bounded by the south side of Mission Avenue, the west side of E Street, the east side of Tamalpais Avenue and the north side of Third Street.

The utility company has carried on a program since 1968 of undergrounding the utilities in downtown San Rafael, and $55,100 was allocated for the current year.

The property owners will pay for installation of meters outside in the sidewalk and bringing the wiring into their buildings. All other expenses are paid by PG & E, Biancalana said.

Pleasure Faire Gets Black Point's Bid

The Renaissance Pleasure Faire and Ha'penny Market will be held in the Black Point area of Novato this year.

The site chosen for the Elizabethan fair is the Kenny property south of the Atherton Avenue underpass on Highway 37.

The Pleasure Faire will be held five weekends: Sept. 4-6, 11-12, 18-19, 25-26 and Oct. 2-3.

The Pleasure Faire is slated to receive a use permit from the Novato Planning Commission Monday night and a carnival license from the Novato City Council Tuesday night.

City officials have worked with Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, originators of the fair, in ironing out the details of having the fair at this site. It will probably be there only one year because the Pattersons are trying to buy a ranch in Lucas Valley west of Marinwood.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said that he could not foresee any obstacle to the planning commission issuing the use permit.

"The staff will recommend for it, but I know that there will be some opposition to it from residents of Black Point who object to the traffic which the fair will generate," Mattson said.

The Black Point Improvement Club voted 19 to 16 to oppose it at the club's last meeting.

The council is expected to approve the $1,300 carnival license Tuesday night.

The site of the fair is an oak-studded canyon approximately three-quarters of a mile long. It is adjacent to a flat area where there is unlimited parking. There will be no charge for parking this year.

The fair with authentic renaissance atmosphere will open at 10 a.m. each day and close at 6 p.m. There will be approximately 150 craftsmen and 30 to 40 booths.

At noon the traditional "Call of the Faire" procession will take place. Queen Elizabeth I will make her appearance at 3 p.m. Continuous entertainment will go on all day.

Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme said that he and the California Highway Patrol have worked out a system for handling the traffic flow from Highway 37 to the west and east and on Atherton Avenue.

From the Atherton Avenue underpass, cars must cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Tracks and a cattle guard on an unimproved road to get to the fair. These will be the biggest bottleneck in keeping traffic moving, Klemme said.

The flat area offers unlimited parking, but Klemme said that the Pattersons wanted to hold attendance down to 10,000 persons or 4,000 cars at one time.

"When it is full, we will close the entrance and place signs along the highway warning people that the fair is closed," he said. These signs will start at the Ignacio Overpass so that motorists on Highway 101 can turn around and go back, he said.

Traffic along the freeway will be handled by the highway patrol and Novato police will handle it after it leaves the freeway, Klemme said.

Hub Parks Panel Nod To Garden

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission has approved establishment of an organic garden at Robson-Harrington park.

Neighbors' concern about organic fertilizers attracting rats was resolved at Wednesday's meeting by Richard Nielson, spokesman for committee to plant the garden.

Margaret Carroll, secretary, said the commission members were very impressed with the project to be planted by the Inter-Agency Committee composed of Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, Marin Senior Coordinating Council, San Anselmo School District summer recreation program, Marin Ecology Center and private citizens.

The committee has already started clearing the beer cans, broken glass and weeds for the garden and the commission's approval means the committee can proceed with fertilizing and planting, Mrs. Carroll said.

The garden will contain organic flowers, herbs and vegetables, according to Nielsen. He added the produce will not be sold but will be given to the EOC emergency food supply and people who help plant the garden.

Commissioner Carroll Leach announced to the commission she is resigning because of other commitments. Mrs. Carroll said her announcement came as a surprise to the commission.

In other action the commission recommended the city council immediately appoint a temporary recreation director to replace Frank L. Quinn who is on sick leave and will retire Sept. 30.

The commission adjourned to Aug. 25 when it will discuss whether a permanent park and recreation director should be hired.

Pesticide Addict Is Term Applied To U.S. Farming

BERKELEY (UPI) —The world is headed toward "pesticide addiction," Dr. Burton E. Vaughan of Battelle Memorial Institute warned Thursday.

He told the sixth Berkeley Symposium on Statistics and Probability that pesticides are required in ever increasing quantities to kill pests.

He pointed to the United States, where the use of pesticides has increased 10-fold but productivity has increased only two or three times.

"The United States used 10 times as much pesticides per acre as India but only produces three times as much food per acre," said Vaughn. Battelle Memorial Institute is located at Richland, Wash.

Some 40 national and international environmental scholars attended the symposium.

San Rafael Joe's 'Regulars' Flock Back After Reopening

It is a fact that restaurateurs generally view any extended closing for vacation, remodeling, repairs or any other reason with apprehension.

They know that a large segment of the dining out public tends to establish habits or patterns of visiting certain places more than others. When these "regulars" are cut off from a favorite haunt the pattern is broken. They are obliged to look for a substitute and a new habit is easily formed which can become just as firmly established. A long closed restaurateur on reopening often finds that it is not easy to regain all his old customers.

One amazing exception to the general rule seems to be San Rafael Joe's. It would appear that most of the diners who were shut out of this popular Fourth Street dinery during the five weeks its fire damage was being repaired are already trying to make up for lost time. And when they converge on Joe's on the same night it creates something of a bar and dining room traffic problem.

The reopened restaurant is brighter and cheerier than ever. Fresh paint, carpeting and colorful uniforms on the waitresses do make a difference. And is it my imagination — or has the mood of the customers become more lighthearted?

WITH THE RETURN of organist-philosopher Larry Vannucci to the Baldwin at San Rafael Joe's, there's a slight change in the performance lineup at the new Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael, where he was playing the big Robert Morton pipe organ Thursday and Friday nights while Joe's was closed.

Now at the Robert Morton those nights is Gordon Tucker, who formerly played the Baldwin at Joe's on Monday nights. Warren Lubich is at Marin Pizza Pub's keyboard Tuesdays and Wednesdays; and Bill McCoy plays Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays.

A NEW PLACE that opened the Fourth of July holiday in Tiburon is the Butler's Pantry at 1 Juanita Lane.

This is owned and operated by Brig. Gen. Francis H. B. Ingall, who has lived in Tiburon for a number of years. He formerly owned the Bengal Lancer in San Francisco, but recently sold this.

He and his wife have modeled the Butler's Pantry after the Tuck Box in Carmel. It's very English, opens every day at 6:30 a.m. for English sytle breakfasts featuring homemade English scones and muffins, all varieties of eggs and juices — then changes over to lunches at 11 a.m. Until 3 p.m. it specializes in a variety of soups and omelets. Look also for homemade cheesecake, pies and in December — English Christmas cakes.

THE OLD VIENNA at 508 Third Street, San Rafael has added several new dinner entrees to its a la carte list which should prove popular — sauerbraten with noodles, an onion steak, parma schnitzel (veal dipped in eggs and parmesan cheese and deep-fried), chicken liver saute with mushrooms and deep fried chicken livers, and beef stroganoff. Prices are quite reasonable even when the tab is built up with soup, salad, beverage and dessert. And some new imported wines have been added.

Complete dinners at $3.50 continue, featuring wienerschnitzel, pork tenderloin Hungarian style, boneless fried chicken and gypsy goulash.

Lunch menu, too, is more extensive, with the addition of several salads, cold plates and desserts. Lunches are served Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., dinners Mondays through Saturdays from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The Old Vienna will be closed Aug. 22 through Sept. 5 so Karl and Edith Klauda can take a two-week holiday in Mexico to pursue their favorite hobby of scuba diving.

"SUMMER IS THE TIME for fresh fish," says Ursula Valan of the Grotto in San Rafael. "Sole, rex sole, ling cod, flounder, red snapper, sea bass, salmon and many others are at their best — and the catch is fresh everyday. Diners who enjoy seafood are missing the top of the line if they don't take advantage of what the season has to offer."

AND SPEAKING of fish, word from Bill Briscoe of San Rafael, who owns River's End Resort on the Sonoma coast at Jenner, reports that his managing team there, Ray and Mary McDermott, has been building up a reputation for seafood dinners in that area. More tables have had to be added.

Ray is a commercial fisherman and keeps the restaurant well supplied.

WHAT PROMISES to be an interesting entertainment feature tomorrow night — and tomorrow night only — is at Alvarado Inn in Ignacio.

Here you will find a large nine-piece group — part of the Dixieland Jazz Club of Osaka, Japan, known as Jun Kobyshi's New Orleans Rascals. Members are all Japanese businessmen, musicians by hobby, and they have been doing a lot of touring of the U.S. The clarinet player, for example, manufacturers watchbands; the piano player is an attorney; and the banjo player sells mannequins. They are part of the Alvarado Inn's dance program for tomorrow. For them it's a sort of warm-up affair for their concert appearance on Sunday at Armstrong Woods in Guerneville.

Alvarado Inn is now open seven days a week.

HOW THE RUMOR got started that Don and Betty Johnson have closed their London Arms on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile no one seems to know.

But nothing could be further from the truth — especially since they recently went to all the expense of remodeling. They're still going strong.

NOW THERE is a Little Joe's scheduled for San Rafael — but probably not much before the middle of September.

This will be at the corner of Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, where the Griddle used to be. Evan MacIlraith of Wells and Wells, Realtors has leased the place to one Tony Scancarello of San Francisco and two associates. Quite a bit of remodeling has to be done here and new equipment must be brought in.

ONE-MAN ART SHOW at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon during August is that of Eleanor Foster of Corte Madera, who is featuring a number of her Marin and San Francisco scenes.

SIMI WINERY in Healdsburg is having a grand opening of its new tasting room on Sunday. A special wine-tasting tour sponsored by the Assistance League of Sonoma County will be held from5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Regular hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

The winery has operated a tasting and retail room shaped as a giant redwood cask since 1934. The new tasting room, built of old redwood casks mixed with new redwood lumber, handles six times as many visitors.

Address is 16275 Healdsburg Avenue, between the Old Redwood Highway and 101 Freeway. Driving from the south, take the Alexander Valley off ramp.

Minarets Summit Highway Dropped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A project to build an all-weather highway through the Sierra south of Yosemite National Park has been dropped, a federal highway official said Wednesday.

But the office of Rep. B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said the Congressman has been assured by U.S. Transportation Department officials that the proposed highway over Minarets Summit has been delayed, not dropped.

John Tresidder, deputy chief of the federal highway projects division in San Francisco, told the Sacramento Union that "the project is dead."

Tressider said the defeat resulted from opposition by conservationist groups and state resources secretary Norman Livermore. The proposed highway would cut through the famed John Muir Trail. Environmentalists contend the road would violate the concept of wilderness in California.

Marin City, Mill Valley Parents Plan Preschool

A group of parents from Mill Valley and Marin City are organizing a preschool, set to begin in late September in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Registration is now open and interested persons may contact Dr. Leon Wanerman, chairman of the private school's board, 404 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley or may register at the church.

Children may attend the 9 a.m. to noon sessions two, three or four mornings a week, he said.

A director-principal is currently being sought, as are scholarship funds. According to Fred Sonenberg of Mill Valley, scholarship chairman, the funds are needed to insure "racial and economic balance" in the school.

56 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Streptococus infections, with 56 cases reported last week in Marin County, led all other communicable diseases reported last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer.

There were 35 cases of gonorrhea reported and seven of infectious hepatitis. There was one case each of mumps, tuberculosis and salmonella.

MICHAEL A. GRIDLEY
Deputy district attorney

Bruce Gets 11th Deputy For Office

Michael A. Gridley, 27, of San Francisco, has been appointed a deputy Marin County district attorney.

Gridley is a native of San Francisco and graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and Golden Gate Law School in San Francisco.

He fills an additional deputy's position approved by the board of supervisors and becomes Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales' 11th deputy.

Gridley has worked for a San Francisco law firm since taking the California state bar examination last August.

He is married and plans to move to Marin.

McCarthy In Demo Race: Supporter

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—A supporter of Eugene McCarthy said today the former Minnesota senator will seek the Democratic nomination for president starting in the primaries next year.

John Connolly, a St. Paul attorney who worked for McCarthy in 1968, attended a meeting of McCathy backers in New York this week.

He said the decision was made that McCarthy would seek the Democratic nomination rather than go the third-party route, which McCarthy had talked about.

McCarthy's official announcement will be made in October, according to Connolly.

"One of the key issues McCarthy will campaign on is the lack of credibility in government," Connolly said.

McCarthy gave up his Minnesota Senate seat in 1970 and was followed to the Senate by Hubert Humphrey.

McCarthy, whose main issue was the Vietnam War, sought the Democratic nomination in 1968, making a good showing in several primaries, but losing to Humphrey at Chicago.

Park Activists Say Plan Would Cut Quake Risk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A citizens' group mounting a drive for a 27,r00-acre park n the San Francisco Bay area asserting it is necessary for conservation purposes and to reduce earthquake hazards.

Mrs. George D. Meyer, co-chairman of People for a Golden Gate National Recreational Area, told newsmen Thursday that housing should be prohibited from the proposed park area because the San Andreas fault runs under it.

She noted that the site was an area of major activity during the 1906 earthquake.

Part of the controversy concerns the Army's Presidio of San Francisco, is earmarked in the proposed park which would stretch from south San Francisco limits along the Pacific Ocean to Olema in Marin County.

Senate Web Tightening On Lockheed Financing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield suggested today that arrangements could be made to keep Lockheed Aircraft Corp., financially afloat even if a filibuster prevented enactment of a bill to aid the firm before Congress recesses Aug. 6.

Mansfield told newsmen he supposed that "ways and means" would be found to help Lockheed should the vote be put off until September when the House and Senate return from a one-month vacation.

Mansfield, who opposes a $250 million government-backed loan to the aircraft company, conceded that there was enough support for the legislation to gain approval in the Senate.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is conducting a flibuster which threatens to delay action on the measure and came under direct criticism this morning from Daniel J. Haughton, Lockheed's board chairman.

Haughton issued a statement saying: "It seems to me that the tens of thousands of employes and stockholders—the subcontractors and suppliers, the airlines—and all those who have so much of their futures at stake at least deserve a chance for an up or down vote."

On the Senate floor, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., filed a petition this morning to stop debate on the bill. A vote— requiring a two-thirds majority to invoke cloture—will take place Monday at 3 p.m. EDT.

Tower said he would file a second petition for cloture Saturday, indicating proponents of the bill were virtually conceding they could not stop debate on the first try.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, an opponent of the legislation, also acknowledged like Mansfield that the bill had enough support to gain passage.

But while Church was saying that Lockheed was bound to win, other critics of the administration-backed bill to underwrite the loan to the ailing defense and aviation giant were less willing to concede defeat. cede defeat.

They claimed they had the votes to beat back an attempt to silence them and force the issue to a vote of the Senate after an additional 100 hours of debate —one hour per senator.

Even Lockheed's supporters admitted they lacked the required two-thirds majority to impose cloture, limiting debate, but they said they would win in a second attempt Wednesday or a third attempt on Thursday.

Haughton took note of threats against Proxmire's life and threats of violence against Henry M. Durham, a former assistant division manager at Lockheed's plant in Marietta, Ga. who accused the company of gross mismanagement.

"It is understandable that we would become emotional about others' threats to our jobs and our futures," Haughton said in a message to Lockheed's workforce. "But it is not acceptable for anyone to make threats of any type to our critics."

Proxmire brushed off charges that he was filibustering in hopes Lockheed would collapse before the Senate gets a chance to vote on the $2 billion loan guarantee measure.

But he said he had to keep talking for four or five weeks "to arouse sentiment around the country" against the bill.

Church, in a speech he distributed to reporters but failed to deliver on the Senate floor, said "big business is firmly seated in the saddle."

"So let the word go out: A Republican administration and a Democratic Congress are about to propagate a travesty. Henceforth, public credit will be available to any business big enough to pry open the doors of the federal Treasury ...

"Who would ever have thought that all the pious talk about changing priorities would turn out to mean socialism for the rich, free enterprise for the poor."

Scaled-Down Sign Wins Cotati Nod

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved a sign for a new subdivision after developers agreed to lower it from 20 to 16 feet.

The commission approved the design of the Holiday Park subdivision sign, but said it should be scaled down to be more compatible with the residential area.

Additional landscaping was also recommended along with an annual review of the sign.

The commission also recommended the city council appoint a citizens committee to prepare a city tree plan and bicycle trail plan, approved the request of Gerald G. Taylor for a combination gasoline station and car wash on Commerce Boulevard at Highway 101, and granted the request of Gladys D. Tunzi to divide her property at 8023 Gravenstein Highway into four lots.

Job Fair For Veterans Set

A job fair will be held at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco on July 29 for Marin and other Bay Area veterans interested in jobs with federal, state and local public agencies.

James V. Burdick, veterans service officer in Marin, announced that the job fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Van Ness Avenue and Mc Allister Street.

"VA officials will explain the availability of 300 federal, state, city and county jobs," said Burdick. He said representatives from the civil service commission will explain how to get civil service positions, and representatives from colleges will give advice on how to train for civil service tests.

Bicyclists Hurt In Car Collision

An auto-bike accident, yesterday, sent two San Rafael youths to Marin General Hospital, San Rafael Police reported today.

Police said David Barker Thalman, 12, of 9 Mount Tenaya Court, and Richard William Walsh, 13, of 99 Pikes Peak Drive, were traveling west on Fourth Street when their bicycles collided with a car driven by Marvin H. Dyck, 24, of 777 Kerner, Apt. 2.

Thalman was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises and Walsh for scrapes and bruises on his legs and fractured teeth.

Tampa Bay Overrun By Dead Fish

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—A new outbreak of toxic red tide sent a band of dead fish three feet wide and stretching several miles washing ashore today in the Tampa Bay area.

Gulf resort beaches appeared to have been spared, but the Courtney Campbell causeway shoreline, Tampa Bay, Old Tampa Bay and Hillsboro Bay were littered with fish, killed by the micro-organism.

"We're in bad shape," said Dick Clutter, a marine patrol officer in the Tampa Bay area.

A particularly heavy fish kill was noted south of MacDill Air Force Base, the same area where a massive kill was recorded last week.

The new kill has sent dead fish into old Tampa Bay for the first time this year and into canals along residential areas along the northernmost shoreline.

More dead fish were expected to be pushed into the area this afternoon on an incoming flood tide which will crest at 4 p.m.

Spoil islands off the Tampa peninsula were littered with dead fish.

Crews reinstalled oil containment booms around the bayous and canals along residential areas on the St. Petersburg shoreline of Tampa Bay as soon as the kill was reported.

This was the area hardest hit during the past three weeks as southeast and east winds sent wave after wave of dead fish rolling against seawalls to rot in the hot Florida sun.

Van Heflin, Top Screen, TV Character Actor, Dies At 60

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Van Heflin, who made a career of character roles in movies and television, died today at the age of 60.

Heflin, whose sparse red hair and intense delivery before the cameras were his trademarks, won an Oscar as best supporting actor in "Johnny Eager" in 1942.

He was stricken last June 6 by a heart attack while swimming in a pool at an apartment house. He was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where doctors said the actor's heart had stopped beating.

Hospital authorities placed him in the intensive care unit. He was in a coma most of the time since. Death came at 9:43 a.m. EDT today.

At the time his most recent picture, "Airport," was breaking boxoffice records. Heflin played the role of a crazed bomber aboard a passenger plane in the film which starred Burt Lancaster and Dean Martin.

A veteran of scores of motion pictures, Heflin's credits include: "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," "Saturday's Heroes," "H.M. Pulham Esq.," "Tennessee Johnson," "Green Dolphin Street" and "Possessed."

Heflin escaped Hollywood type-casting, playing villains, heroes, presidents, old men and business tycoons.

He was born Emmet Evan Heflin in Walters, Okla., in 1910, the son of a dentist who soon moved his family to Oklahoma City where the youngster attended school through the seventh grade.

The Heflins moved to Long Beach, Calif., where their son spent his summer vacations hiring on as a seaman on cargo vessels plying the Pacific.

Heflin was graduated from the University of Oklahoma and attended the Yale Dramatic School.

He spent a season in summer stock and returned to Broadway where he became a star on stage in the role of the reporter in "The Philadelphia Story" which starred Katharine Hepburn.

The successful two-year run in the play led to an MGM contract and his movie debut in "The Feminine Touch."

In May, 1942, he married actress Frances Neal. They became the parents of two daughters, Vana and Cathleen, and a son, Tracy.

The Heflins were divorced in 1967.

During World War II Heflin served with the field artillery and with the air force as a combat photographer in the European Theater of War.

Never Say Wornum Is Not Consistent

"And, unaware of proverbs,
The burnt child craves the flame."

— Christopher Morley.

On Sept. 16, 1963, reporter Bruce Coleman disclosed in this newspaper that for three years the Mill Valley City Council had been holding unannounced, closed meetings at Franklin Hospital in San Francisco to discuss and reach decisions on city matter.

Among the members of that Mill Valley City Council was Michael Wornum.

IN THE I-J of Sept. 17, 1963, reporter Coleman quoted Wornum as saying the unannounced San Francisco meetings had been "sub-committee meetings" (although many of them were attended by a quorum of the council) and "I have no objections to committee meetings in San Francisco or anywhere else."

Six days later, Wornum went farther, saying: "There have been no secret meetings to my knowledge since I have been on the council, except over the performance of personnel and the hiring and firing of the same." He acknowledged, however, attending five unannounced "subcommittee" meetings in San Francisco since he was elected to the city council in 1960.

The Mill Valley City Council was roundly excoriated for those unannounced and therefore secret meetings by citizens attending its subsequent regular meetings. Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk held that the secret meetings had been illegal. And some months later, Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, in a public statement, admitted the city council had erred grievously in holding meetings outside Mill Valley and without public announcement. It would not happen again, he vowed.

LAST SATURDAY, this newspaper disclosed that the Marin County Board of Supervisors had met at a Sausalito hotel on July 8 with a committee to screen candidates for the job of county administrator, and there had agreed to hire a consultant to assist the committee, had decided what consultant to hire, and had agreed to put a $4,000 limit on the consultant's fee — all this without prior public notice.

Among those participating in that meeting was Michael Wornum, now county supervisor from the Third District.

An I-J reporter subsequently queried Wornum about it. He replied, "If there was any meeting held for personnel, this was it." (Employment or discharge of personnel may be discussed at a closed — though not at an unannounced — meeting under California law.)

Then Wornum went farther.

"This idea of a 24-hour advance notice of closed meetings is stupid," he told the reporter.

EVERY SO OFTEN, it seems to be necessary to remind some public officials that the business they are conducting is the people's business, not their own. Some keep this in mind quite well. Others forget it occasionally unless reminded. And some bear out the truth of Christopher Morley's:

"And, unaware of proverbs,
The burnt child craves the flame."

CAPITOL REPORT

Handbook On Morality A Confession of Failure

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — The State Board of Education has given the go-ahead for a teachers' handbook to help introduce moral guidelines in our public schools. The action is an off-shoot of work done by a special state commission on moral guidelines established in 1970.

This is commendable. It is also tragic. Tragic in its implicit recognition that of late moral values have been de-emphasized.

Over the years we have properly kept church and state separate and apart in our public education system. We have also largely succeeded in separating students from moral imperatives. It may take some doing to overcome the effects of years of humanism, scientism and progressivism in the classroom. These may have expanded the system but they have shriveled the soul.

More and more of our young people are finding this out — pretty much on their own. They are beginning to shake loose from intellectual hogwash; beginning to fill vacuums; beginning to find there's more to life than cocktails, status symbols and technocracy. To be truly satisfying, life must have moral values and spiritual meaning.

ONE OF TODAY'S heartening signs is the increasing number of young people who are turning to "Jesus power," studying eastern religions, or otherwise seeking spiritual development. The fact that many of these young people have had to reach this decision on their own, or through rap sessions with their peers, is an indictment of pre-occupied parents and humanistic churches.

The tragedy is that so many children reach school without even a preliminary grounding in moral values. Parents can hardly demand of educators what they fail to provide themselves at home. If, somewhere along the line — in the home or in the church — more young people had been given training in moral and spiritual values, today's crises might have been precluded.

Morality is not something to be simply contained in a handbook, or handled separate and apart from the totality of life or the whole of education. Unless it permeates the home it loses its attraction; unless it is woven through the entire educational thrust it loses its meaning.

Young people are not alone in their search for moral values. A recent nationwide survey reported that two-thirds of all Americans fear this nation has lost its sense of values.

A FEW WEEKS AGO Drm Billy Graham addressed a joint session of the State Legislature. It was one of the most important messages delivered in the capitol in many years.

Billy Graham laid it on the line. He said California's — and America's — problems are not just economic. They're moral. The human spirit and the national ethic need repair as much as or more than the budget.

"Morals are sinking with every passing hour. If they sink much lower democracy will not survive. Without morality American will head straight into the arms of a dictator." That's what Graham said.

He made these and other remarks before lawmakers who, during the 1971 session, authored measures to legalize prostitution, legalize gambling, legalize marijuana; before a body wherein the majority thinks so little of morality and the sanctity of life that it condones virtually unrestricted therapeutic abortions.

Moral guidelines are fine. But too often they turn out to be just words and we need more than words. Moral leadership at every level — starting in the home and reaching all the way to the top — would be more to the point today.

MAN BITES DOG

"Everything will be fine by election in '72. All we have to do is stop eating until then."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Teach And Observe Rules For Bicycling

Le Roi Dowdell, you took the words right out of my mouth ("Readers Say" July 21): American bike-riders are in general, and there are many exceptions I have found after I got my own bike this spring, very inconsiderate in traffic on roads and streets. They seem to have no idea of what rules govern them to protect them and other people on the street. Having grown up in Europe, where in many countries the bike is and was a definite means of transportation, riders learned from the start as kids, in the school or through scouts or other clubs, the proper rules laid down by the police and vehicle departments for bike-riders like having the proper light on your bike for riding at night, and believe you me if you disobeyed any of the rules and were caught you received a ticket just like the motorist did.

Let us find the best way to teach youngsters how to behave safely on streets and roads on that marvelous vehicle the bicycle. I am sure the police department and others would be delighted to give a hand ... Let's go and everybody that has bikes and plan to become bike enthusiasts will have a much better time and safer too.

Could Damage Suit Work Both Ways?

On July 21 I read where Mr. (James) Ropp has initiated a $3 million damage suit against Mayfair Markets and its manager.

Since the Mayfair Market and its manager are, no doubt, covered by some form of liability insurance, the probabilities of an award being made to Mr. Ropp are very favorable. Today if a jury doesn't, the judge probably will make the award.

In view of this contingency and should it come to be that Mr. Ropp gets a settlement, I wonder if a class-action suit can be brought against him to pick up the tab for "damages" to the dead fireman, the mournful heirs, the apartment house owners who lost their business and to all the taxpayers who were charged to make repairs and to "rehabilitate" him because of the tunnel fire.

Furor Over Pentagon Papers — And Other Censorship

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

The raging storm of controversy over publication of the Pentagon papers by the New York Times and other newspapers has, if nothing else, given the American people a new insight into the clandestine workings of government.

From the outset, it should be conceded that government must of necessity work in secret with respect to diplomatic negotiations and certainly withhold information which is considered inimical to our national security.

So the question really turns upon the need for preserving confidentiality, and whether — as stated by the Justice Department — "the nation's security will suffer immediate and irreparable harm" with continuing publication...

A CASE CAN be made for the government's claim that publication endangers confidentialy of communications with other governments. To this, the Los Angeles Times offers the observation, "It would be much more a consideration if democratic governments around the world did not continually spill the diplomatic beans; and if officials of the American government, from the president down, did not tell state secrets as they saw fit and for their purposes."

As for the breach of security charge, the fact is that the McNamara study is merely a recitation of history and was directed by the former secretary of defense for precisely that purpose.

The revelations deal with the past, not with present or future operations. So one must strain the imagination to detect anything in the Pentagon documents which violates the espionage law or endangers the lives of our citizens.

IT IS INTERESTING indeed that President Nixon ... did, as a United States senator, accuse the Truman administration of holding back classified documents for political reasons.

The case involved secret talks between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Truman on Wake Island on Oct. 15, 1950. Senator Nixon declared that General MacArthur was being "smeared in the press through connivance with the administration." "Certainly," Senator Nixon said, "if classified documents are now to be made public, the committees of Congress and the American people should be entitled to see not only those documents which might reflect against MacArthur, but also those which might reflect in his favor."

When the Truman administration did eventually release the documents as requested by Nixon it, like the present administration, expressed fear of danger to the national security. In 1951, General MacArthur remarked that the six-month-old documents had "just about as much bearing on the problem of Korea as a report on the military operations of Bunker Hill."

The doughty general neatly epitomized our own thoughts on the Pentagon papers and the ridiculousness of charging that their publication is a threat to national secutiry...

HAVING SERVED in the Bureau of Censorship both at home and abroad during World War II, I can testify that the indiscriminate stamping by the military of government documents as "top secret" came to be regarded with extreme skepticism.

For here in many instances were papers having absolutely no relationship to national security, yet stamped as such according to the whims of those who were exaggerating their own importance ...

IT IS MOST important to the American public to realize — as Ben Bradlee points out — that in a totalitarian state, where the press is not free, the government uses the press as an instrument of state. Thus the press prints nothing that is not favorable and advantageous to the state.

Under a democracy such as ours, there exists a free flow of reporting and opinion — a normal, productive adversary relationship between government and the press.

If the press reported only what is advantageous to the government, where lies the protection against exploitation of the people by the government?

And yet, unhappily, a growing percentage of our citizens and especially of our youth appears to be favoring restrictions upon freedom of expression by the media.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Ellsberg A Hero Or Menace? Inconsistency In His Position

WASHINGTON — In a conversation which, with others, I recently had with Daniel Ellsberg, the man who gave the Pentagon Papers to the press, he made some revealingly inconsistent statements.

They go to the heart of whether Ellsberg should be seen as a public hero or a public menace.

The issue here is not whether the printing of the Pentagon Papers damaged the national interest. The Supreme Court said it didn't.

The issue is whether Ellsberg's act in distributing secret government documents hasn't undermined the ability of the government to protect successfully any sensitive secret information, military or diplomatic, the premature publication of which would be grievously harmful.

HERE IS WHAT Ellsberg said:

He told us he felt he was acting in the public interest in turning loose the highly classified papers; that this was "an act of conscience" which compelled him to do so.

In the next breath he told us that classification of many government documents is essential, that there are government secrets whose exposure would be damaging, and that the system to protect those secrets must be made to work.

Right. But how can crucial secret information be secure if those who are required by law and are pledged by honor to keep it secure are to be considered free to violate it at will if their conscience tells them to do so?

WILLIAM McCOMBER, deputy under secretary of state, put it this way on an NBC program:

"The government really can't run if we are going to allow a situation where a disaffected employee can go out of the government, grabbing as much highly classified material as he can, run over and start xeroxing it and then peddling it to as many papers as possible."

How can Ellsberg successfully contend that it was open to him to decide to release secret government documents, but that the system of protecting government secrets must be made effective so as to prevent other employees from doing the same?

IT ISN'T HARD to perceive grave consequences.

Suppose a disaffected U.S. delegate to the SALT talks decides American officials are selling out the security of the nation and his conscience tells him to publicize conference secrets? The SALT talks would blow up.

Suppose a disaffected employee with access to secret information on the Arab-Israeli negotiations doesn't like what is happening and his conscience tells him to break secrecy? All prospects of peace in the Middle East would blow up.

Ellsberg has set a perilous precedent and the courts will have to decide whether or not he is guilty of a crime against the state.

LET'S TURN this thing around for a moment and look at the reverse side of the coin; that is, the prospect of secret documents held by the press being purloined and given to the government.

I think Congress was right in not citing CBS for contempt for refusing to yield its unused tapes in the controversial "Selling of the Pentagon." But how can President Frank Stanton feel very secure in light of the Ellsberg precedent?

Is there not likely to be a disaffected employee in CBS who will deem it in the public interest to steal the unused tapes and turn them over to Congressman Harley Staggers — of course, as an "act of conscience"?

George Washington's Pride — A River Of Sewage

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Summertime, and the living is easy. Fish are jumping, though not very high, from the waters of the Potomac, our national river, George Washington's pride, proposed time after time as a demonstration project to show the rest of the country what an enlightened citizenry can do to clean up a stream once they decide it is worth the effort.

Day after day, while the heat curls into the 90s, people from the inner reaches of the capital make their way to the riverbank and throw in a line. Along the Georgetown Channel, in West Potomac Park and down to Hains Point, where the overnight bay boats to Norfolk used to pass, the embankment is thick with anglers.

What they pull out is mostly carp and catfish, both inelegant, but which provide a useful protein supplement to the diet. Of course, most of these fishermen are not great readers of nutrition literature, about balancing proteins and carbohydrates. They fish because the river is there and it has fish in it and fish are good to eat and there's not much else to do that's free.

IF THEY WERE great readers, they would have noticed by now the alarms being issued by national and local environmental and health authorities about the rate of pollution in our beautiful Potomac River. They would know that they are highly likely to be getting salmonella, hepatitis and typhoid with their proteins.

The Potomac begins at a spring on Backbone Mountain, where the westernmost toe of Maryland juts down into West Virginia. If the spring were a few hundred yards father west, it would flow eventually into the Mississippi, rather than the Chesapeake Bay. Up there you can step across the Potomac, and it is cold and drinkable.

On its way to sea level it is fouled by acid runoff from coal mines; by waste splashing out of the pulp plant at Luke, W. Va.; by further industrial waste at Cumberland, and by sewage from a series of small cities. Still, by modern standards in the East, it arrives in the Washington area a relatively clean river.

Here, despite the absence of heavy industry, it is so filthy it joins the dishonor roll of famous American polluted rivers — the Hudson at New York, the Patapsco at Baltimore, the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, the Cuyahoga at Cleveland, the Ohio, the Allegheny, the Delaware, the Savannah, the Merrimack — the list is long. Some communities have become concerned enough to partly resuscitate their rivers, so that now, industry or not, they are cleaner than the nonindustrial Potomac.

WHAT POLLUTES the Potomac is raw sewage. Twenty miles upstream from the capital, a Georgetown University microbiologist found it carried focal coliform bacteria at 20 times the rate considered safe for water recreation. That sounds bad, but then the measurement was taken near a suburban sewer discharge point. Here at the city, at Cabin John Bridge, the count was 200 times the safe level. To risk salmonella infection, you don't have to drink it or eat fish caught in it — all you have to do is stick your finger in it.

The booming suburban population, combined with the district's holding at a steadier level, produced more sewage than existing facilities can treat.

Some 16 million gallons of untreated sewage flows into the river at one point in wealthy Georgetown. More comes in via Rock Creek, emptying a few yards above the ultraexpensive Watergate enclave occupied by John and Martha Mitchell and others of their exalted ilk, and a few hundred yards more from the new Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. The shore there is a particular favorite spot for fisherman.

ALL THE OFFICIALS know about it. They have been talking for years about crash projects for new treatment plants. They agree on posting signs warning citizens against even getting close to the water. But they cannot agree on who should pay for the cleanup. It is the same story heard in nearly 50 states, of one locality accusing the other and vice versa, only here it is compounded by the involvement of two states and one federal district.

Not long ago "state's rights" was a euphemism used to protect a state's or community's right to discriminate against black Americans. Now it is seldom heard of, but it is still exercised — as an excuse for continuing to pollute each other's water and air without the parallel responsibility of paying for it. In fact, of course, it amounts to self-poisoning, and it is as good an argument as any against the idea of revenue sharing — the idea of sending federally collected revenues back to the localities for them to sit on while arguing and still fouling their own nests.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 23, 1961

An Eastern Air Lines plane carrying 38 persons on a Miami-Tampa run was hijacked and forced to fly to Havana, Cuba.

Adolf Eichmann completed five weeks of testimony as the sole defense witness in his trial in Jerusalem on charges of killing six million Jews during World War II.

20 YEARS AGO

July 23, 1951

Marshal Henry Philippe Petain, French hero of World War I, died at age 95 on Ile d'Yeu, France, where he had served over five years of a life sentence for treason in World War II.

A four-lane divided Highway 101 from the Richardson Bay Bridge to Almonte was proposed by the California Department of Public Works.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By PAT ANGLE

Tall Tale Of Reporter Who Lacks Sales Resistance

The current economic slump may be wiping out businesses left and right, but the Marin County door-to-door vacuum cleaner sales business received a real boost last week, thanks to the efforts of an Independent-Journal reporter and his family.

When the salesman telephoned, the reporter craftily invited him to visit, with the idea of getting his floors and rugs cleaned painlessly and free. Of course, he said smugly at the time, he had absolutely no intention of buying anything.

Today his happy family is the proud possessor of a snappy $350 vacuum cleaner, complete with hundreds of attachments, a 2½ horsepower engine, and a millenium guarantee. The thing does everything, he reports sheepishly, except recycle the dirt.

To make the most of his purchase, the reporter is seeking state legislation to permit him to drive the cleaning machine on the freeway as a second family car. Meanwhile, the impressive chrome vacuum reposes on a pedestal in the center of the living room, surrounded by flowers and dried weeds.

THIS FAMILY is the same one that recently purchased (or somehow acquired) a pedigreed pet spider and now entertains guests by taking them into the backyard to watch Blanche Bennett (the spider) perform.

Her "shows" (which consist of swinging across the webs into the trees and dropping on people) last a long, long time. And guests are encouraged to remain for the entire performance.

W. C. Fields would have loved them all.

I HAD AN experience recently which made my whole day, when I stopped for gasoline at Roy's Arco Service Station on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Being in my normal befuddled state, I discovered I didn't have any cash to pay for the fuel and offered to write a check. The station manager asked if I lived in Mill Valley and when I said yes, suggested I forget about the check and bring in the money later that day.

I had forgotten how nice it feels to be trusted by a perfect stranger. That kind of thing is getting pretty rare.

Public Utility Panel To Hold Meeting

Ways of obtaining additional supplies of water will be discussed at a special meeting of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District at 10 a.m. Saturday in the district office, 270 Elm Road, Bolinas.

Prior to the meeting the board will meet in closed session at 9:30 a.m. to consider hiring a full-time maintenance man for the district.

Reluctant Nod To Angel Island Building Fires

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials have given reluctant approval to another variance to burn old buildings on Angel Island, but warned it will be the last such permit.

The state Department of Parks and Recreation has had repeated variances since 1964 from the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to burn obsolete structures on the island park. The alternative would be to barge demolition debris to the mainland, far more expensive than burning under tight meteorological conditions.

The district's hearing board, with a new membership this year refused on Tuesday to go along with a routine one-year extension of the variance. The board instead extended it to Dec. 31, but declared no further variance will be issued.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Plenty Of Fringe Benefits For Part-Time Supervisors

Let the Pentagon have its papers. What do we care? Give us the old hometown — home grown credibility gap — Brasilia Capers. Yup, the gentlemen who gather in he throne room under the dome out there are so busy with the auxiliary or subsidiary matters that they just can't remember when, where or who decided to spend another $4,000 of your money to hire someone else to do what they themselves were elected to do: in this instance, to select another administrator. What a mess!

Here are some interesting figures on the money the supervisors get for a part-time job which has authority only in 32 per cent of the county.

THE BASE SALARY, since they gave themselves a raise of $100 a month, is $13,200 a year. Now add to each of their takes $300 for road inspection. (The big question is when and how much of this is done?) They also get other mileage.

Those who are on the Local Agency Formation Commission receive another $300. There is an extra $600 for being on the Golden Gate Bridge District board and for the one who is on the San Rafael Sanitation District board, another $600.

These several amounts come to mind at the moment. I will try to get the entire picture for you soon.

For two of the supervisors, this adds up to $14,100 a year. Pretty cushy for a part-timer, wouldn't you say? Sonoma County supervisors receive $16,800 for a fulltime job.

I THINK THIS MAY interest you: The original firm of Kroeger and Associates was employed by the county, back in the '50s, to make a survey of salaries so that we could adjust some very bad inequities.

They promised to do certain things, but never did. It was a snow job all the way. They put a young fellow in the court house to do the work. He had been with them only some three months, with no previous experience.

A year or so later a committee of the grand jury hired the firm to see if there shouldn't be an administrative type of government put into effect. Of course they said yes. This resulted in one of their men getting the job later. The screening committee held up its recommendation for some time until he could fly in from the Philippines.

The manager of the California Supervisors Association, at that time, took a very active part in all the proceedings. As a matter of fact, he tried to dictate to the counties what they should do in many matters.

(Reporter Jeff Greer adds a footnote for Fusselman's column: More than 10 years ago Contra Costa County hired the consultant firm of Griffenhagen-Kroeger —formerly Kroeger Associates — to make a managerial efficiency survey and screen candidates for county administrator. The Griffenhagen-Kroeger employee who wrote the report was James P. McBrien. He also got the job — and is still county administrator of Contra Costa County.)

Consulting Firm Employed Bruce

The consulting firm of Griffenhagen-Kroeger Inc. was erroneously identified by the Independent-Journal Wednesday as a former "employee" of fired County Administrator Alan Bruce.

The firm, hired Tuesday by county supervisors to screen applicants for Bruce's position, is a former employer of Bruce.

The firm was also erroneously identified as being headquartered in Berkeley, when, as a matter of fact, it is a San Francisco firm.

Shakespearean Play To End SSC Series

Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" will be presented by the Marin Shakespeare Festival Theatre at Sonoma State College Wednesday at 1:30 p.m.

The production in the Stevenson Quad will mark the close of the summer entertainment series sponsored jointly by the English department and office of summer sessions.

Astronauts To Eat In Moon Ride

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will have a snack to eat while they're out driving around the lunar surface in their new moon buggy.

Each moonwalker will have a 107-calorie apricot food bar mounted on the inside neck ring of their helmets and they will be able to bite it when they are hungry. It is nine inches long and is made of dried apricot suspended in gelatin and enclosed in an edible starch film.

They also will have a quart of fruit flavored beverage in their helmet.

"We think that's going to be a big help to us if we start to wear down after a long time out on the lunr surface," Irwin said.

The astronauts' three surface excursions will last six to seven hours. The longest previous walk was four hours and 47 minutes during Apollo 14.

Naval Station, Yard Accused Of Polluting Bay

OAKLAND (UPI) — Two Navy installations were ordered to stop polluting San Francisco Bay with industrial wastes Thursday by the State Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The board accused Alameda Naval Air Station of dumping 380,000 gallons a day of "extremely toxic" industrial waste through eight storm drains into the bay with only minor treatment to separate oil and sludge. The waste included steam-cleaning, degreasing, paint stripping and metal plating contaminants.

Hunters Point Naval shipyard was charged with discharging 75,000 gallons a day of industrial waste, including acidic solutions from plating and battery ships, and of passing untreated sewage into the bay during wet weather.

The board gave Alameda NAS until Jan. 1, 1973, to stop the discharge and the shipyard until March 1, 1973, to take remedial steps. The Navy had asked for more time.

Portugal Getting Ready Red Carpet For Agnew

By LAURENCE B. MEREDITH

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)— Wherever he goes, the red carpet will be rolled out for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during his three-day visit to Portugal July 26-2 winding up his round-the-world diplomatic mission for President Nixon.

The inclusion of Portugal in Agnew's itinerary has caused particular pleasure to the Portuguese government which for long has been quietly nursing a grievance—that in American global policy the United States appeared to regard Portugal as expendable.

The government regards Agnew's visit of special significance, Portuguese officials said.

Portugal regards itself as an African power as well as a European power and the officials said Premier Marcello Caetano was looking forward to hearing Agnew's reactions to his visits to the African capitals.

Agnew's comments on domestic and foreign issues in the United States always received great prominence in the Portuguese press with editorial endorsement.

Portuguese official reaction is that Agnew is a man who speaks largely the same language as themselves and they hope that the period of what they regarded as snubs from the Kennedy and Johnson administrations is now at an end, government officials said.

This view has been encouraged by the decision earlier this month by the U.S. Export-Import Bank to extend a line of credit of $22 million to Portugal's largest commercial bank, the Banco Espirito Santo E. Commercial, to finance medium-term loans for the purchase of U.S. products to be exported to Portugal.

Portugal has need for foreign capital to finance the government's program of industrial expansion. The loan was made at an extremely opportune time for the Portuguese government and it was described by Dr. Mario Amaral, the Portuguese bank's president, as "of considerable importance to Portugese economic development."

Agnew's program in Lisbon includes protocol courtesy calls on Portuguese President Adm. Americo Thomaz and Premier Caetano followed by a lunch in his honor given by Caetano.

Tentative plans have been made by U.S. Ambassador Ridgway B. Knight for Agnew to meet informally during the afternoon with members of the American Businessmen's club which also includes leading Portuguese financial and commercial leaders.

Agnew will host a dinner at the American Embassy Monday night for Portuguese government leaders.

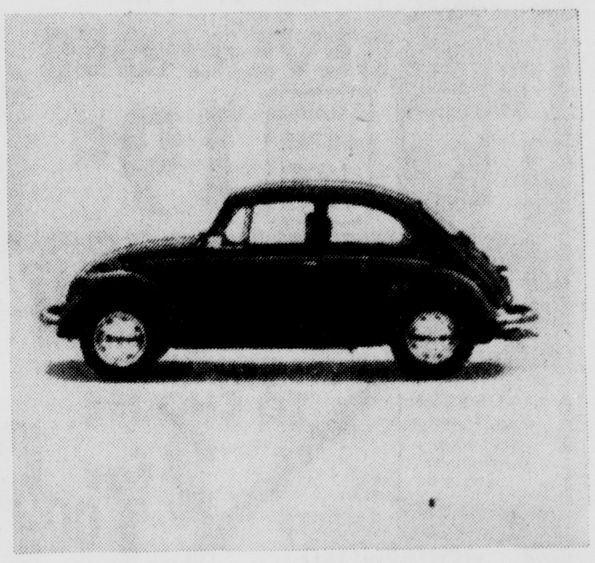
Most of Tuesday will be spent in the traditional 250-mile tour given for visiting foreign guests north of Lisbon. This includes the historic walled town of Obidos, the ancient fishing village of Nazare, settled first by Phoenician traders, the famous Gothichshrine, Batalha Abbey, built in the 15th Century to mark Portugal's victory over Spain, and the 12th Century Abbey at Alcobaca.

Agnew flies back to Washington Wednesday morning.

Villa Of Braniff President Is Hit

NICE, France (UPI)—Police said today burglars broke into the seaside villa of Harding L. Lawrence, president of Braniff International and got away with thousands of dollars worth of jewels.

Lawrence recently had rented the villa at Cap Ferrat. It had been formerly occupied by Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. The burglary was Wednesday night.



It improves with age.

A Volkswagen is like a good piece of cheese. The older it gets, the better it gets.

Because over the past 25 years we've tested and improved and changed every part of a VW. Which means the 1971 Beetle is the best one yet.

Visiting Africans Feted At Marin Couple's Home

By JOAN LISETOR

Last night the Pan African track officials and athletes who have been touring the United States since July 7 made their first visit to an American home.

A party was given honoring six of Africa's top track stars, their escorts and interpreters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Busterud in San Rafael.

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin County and the International Hospitality Center in San Francisco sponsored the party, and it was coordinated by Mrs. Arnold Bertolli of San Rafael, who had less than a week's notice to make the arrangements, which included finding a location and persons willing to donate food and wine.

AS EACH of the 60 guests arrived he was given a name tag, which also told what language he spoke. Guests were shown to the Busteruds' garden where fruit punch, non-alcoholic since some of the athletes are Moslems; sherry and hors d'eouvres, which included meat to dip in pilli pilli sauce, an African dish, were served.

The guests of honor were introduced and welcomed by John Busterud and, completing the formalities, Professor Mohammed Nur of Somali, Director General of National Sports for the African nation, gave thanks on behalf of the athletes for the first invitation to a private home in the United States. The professor spoke in Italian and his remarks were translated by his escort, Joseph Gresanzio of the U.S. Department of State.

Guests then formed semicircle and introduced themselves to the visitors.

"We wanted everything to be as informal as possible," explained Louise Bertolli, "so we could say, 'please accept us as Americans as we accept and welcome you as Africans.' "

All of the non-English speaking guests spoke either Italian or Amharic, the native language of Ethiopia. Italian was spoken by some of the Americans of Italian descent and by the residents of Somali, which was colonized by the Italians.

A SMALL group, unable to communicate verbally, gathered around a ping pong table and started a game of what one of the English-speaking guests referred to as the international ice breaker.

Next dinner was announced in English, Italian, Amharic, Somali and Swahili. Most of the food for the buffet was donated by Alfred Lovi, who owns a delicatessen in a Greenbrae market, and some came from the Marinites interested in extending hospitality to the athletes.

Dinner included African kima and rice and lasagne, which, according to Professor Nur, is very popular in Somali. Also served was mint tea, used extensively in Africa.

Following dinner a four piece combo played contemporary music, and classical music was played by Mike Pelfini of San Rafael on the piano and Paul Bertolli, also of San Rafael, on the guitar.

LATER IN the evening many of the guests walked down the street to Forest Meadows, where the athletes had their first glimpse of American theater as they watched the Marin Shakespeare Festival's performance of "Once Upon A Mattress."

The African athletes' activities since arriving in this country have included a week in Washington, D.C., three days in Durham, N.C., where they participated in a track meet, a meeting in San Mateo and a tour of San Francisco, where they will be staying until Monday. They will visit Chicago and New York before returning to Africa July 31.

All long distance runners and high jumpers, the athletes who were honored at the party are Charles Asati and Nestali Bon, both of Kenya; John Charles Akii-Buwa of Uganda; Wahib Masresha and Yohannes Muhamed, both of Ethiopia; and Abdullah Nur Wasughe of Somali. Escort-interpreter for the Ethiopians, Ato Mulegeta, a student at Howard University in Washington, D.C., also attended.

Guests included many neighbors of the Busteruds and the Bertollis, athletic directors from the College of Marin and Marin high schools, members and staff of the Volunteer Bureau and the Rev. John McManus, who spent 10 years in Nigeria, and Sister Mary Damien, O.P., who is returning next month to Malawi, where she previously taught from 1968 to 1969, training Malawi resident to be teachers.

Sister Damien, who says she is anxious to return to the African nation, recalled an African saying, "If a person comes to Africa and is refreshed by the waters he will come to drink again."

Marinites Giving Mailliards Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Rep. William S. Mailliard is coming from Washington, D.C., and will spend a busy weekend with his family at the home they have leased for the summer in San Rafael.

An outdoor buffet supper in planned for tonight for more than 100 friends from Marin, including the mayors and councilmen.

On Saturday the Mailliards will attend the wedding of his niece, Sherry, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. James Milliard of San Francisco, who will be wed to Greg Kammerer at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in San Francisco.

A smaller dinner party is planned by the Mailliards at their San Rafael home on Sunday when they will be joined by eight other couples, all close friends. Invited from Marin are Mssrs. and Mmes. Leo Ross of Belvedere, Herbert Walton of San Rafael and Stanley Powell of San Anselmo.

MRS. CHARLENE Coakley Dorst of Tiburon and James R. Harvey of Moraga were married at 7 p.m. yesterday at a quiet ceremony at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard M. Garrick in Belvedere. The only other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Webster Otis of Ross.

The marriage was performed by Judge John J. Hopkins of Mill Valley, a friend of the bridegroom. Harvey is a vice president of Trans America Corporation. The couple will move into a home they have recently acquired on Vallejo Street in San Francisco. Both have two daughters by previous marriages.

LEADING DANCER with the San Francisco Ballet, Lynda Meyer, is flying to New York tomorrow to join William Christensen's Ballet West USA for a six-week tour of Europe.

Lynda (Mrs. Tom Cronin of San Francisco) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Meyer of Corte Madera.

The tour will take the company to Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and France, where they will perform mainly at summer festivals. Lynda will dance with Tomm Ruud, Ballet West's leading male dancer and formerly with San Francisco Ballet, and Jacques D'Ambroise on loan for the tour from New York City Ballet.

Lynda expects to return the second week in September.

CHAMPAGNE AND canapes will be served at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere tonight to honor the club's long-time employee, Bill Todd, who is retiring. Todd, a resident of Tiburon, will be touring North America by camper after the send-off by club members.

MRS. FRANCES Zander of San Rafael entertained 90 guests to celebrate the first anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Danziger of Santa Barbara with cocktails in her home and then dinner at Rubini's restaurant in Fairfax.

Mr. Danziger is a former partner with the Walter Cribbins Company of San Rafael while his wife, Dr. Minna Hansen, is professor of medicine with the University of California at Santa Barbara.

THEIR GOLDEN wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stapleton of Petaluma at a reception for more than 100 guests held at the Veterans Memorial Hall in Cotati on July 12.

Their daughter, Mrs. Deloris Savoloja of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, was the hostess, assisted by the couple's five grandchildren. They also have seven great-grandchildren.

Mr. Stapleton and the former Clora Anderson were married in Crystal City, Manitoba, in 1921.

See-Through Belt

A see-through belt from the Chantal de Vassieu consists of eight huge leather circles held together with a ribbon leather closure. This belt is among new ones in a collection marking the young Parisian designer's first venture into feminine accessories. Until now, she has specialized in stunning belts for men. Most of the belts had the see-through look, achieved by linking together geometric shapes with holes in the centers.

A LUNCHEON at Sabella's Restaurant Wednesday will honor Mrs. William F. Torrance, school nurse for the San Anselmo School District who is retiring after 19 years with the district.

Mrs. Robert J. Romaneck of Kentfield is planning the luncheon. Teachers, board members, district office personnel, special services personnel and aides will attend.

Opal Torrance is the wife of William F. Torrance, proprietor of the Torrance Gallery in San Anselmo. They have two children, William F. Torrance Jr. of Berkeley and Mrs. Walter Van Gelder, who, with her husband and four children is now living in Kabul, Afghanistan. Betty Jo Van Gelder is teaching English, and her husband, architecture, on Peace Corps assignments.

Travel is in the future plans of the Torrances, too. They will leave for Europe in September.

MR. AND MRS. Louis Nave have invited more than 90 guests to attend a cocktail party at their home at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato Sunday evening.

CHARLES P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch in Novato returned home this week from a month's vacation with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Vaneps, and Michael, 15, Gail, 13, and Jeffrey, 10 years old, of Grand Rapids, Minn.

The Vaneps came to Novato and Mr. Davies joined them on an auto trip up the Oregon and Washington coast and then into Canada. They stopped at Banff, Vancouver, B.C., Lake Louise, Winnipeg and then attended the Calgary Stampede.

MR. AND MRS. Richard A. Evans of Mill Valley have received word of the birth of a daughter to M. and Mme. Andre Sirot on May 27 at their home in Laon, France.

Mme. Sirot, the former Laura Lee Evans is Richard Evans' daughter.

The baby, who has been named Anne Marie, is the great granddaughter of Mrs. Clifford Porter of San Francisco.

WILLIAM KING surprised his wife with a party Saturday night in celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary. They were married in San Francisco in 1941. The party was held in their new home in San Rafael.

Among the 50 guests were Mr. King's three sister, Mrs. Elliot Enos, Mrs. Gordon L. (Deacon) Jones of Pasadena and Mrs. Ralph Wilkinson of Burlingame.

THE WALTER L. Longs are leaving Greenbrae after many years in Marin to live in Palos Verdes. Mr. Long has been made sales manager for the 10 Western states for the Automatic Signal Company in Torrance.

The Longs' daughter Bonnie, who is in her second year at the College of Marin, is remaining in Marin. Their daughter Wendy is in Oaklahoma City and another daughter, Janet (Mrs. James Johnson) is a senior at Chico State College.

Mrs. Long, who was president of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley in 1968-69, was a lifelong resident of Mill Valley until the Longs moved to Greenbrae seven years ago. Her grandmother, Mrs. Henry S. Bridge, was a found of the club in 1902 and twice served as president.

Storage Time

Nearly all fresh vegetables can be stored in the refrigerator for two to five days and sometimes longer. Vegetables best not kept in the refrigerator are potatoes, dry onions, hard-rind squash, eggplant and turnips. These keep well in cool rather than cold storage . . . the basement, for instance.

For Freshness

Ripe peaches can be kept at room temperature for a day or so; for longer storage, keep in the refrigerator for up to 14 days. A light sprinkling of lemon or orange juice or ascorbic acid powder will keep sliced peaches from turning dark; so does honey.

CHINESE THEMES were a strong influence in this week's fashion showings in Rome. The American-run fashion houses of La Mendola and Tiziani stressed the Oriental in their collections (left). Ticiani of Texas showed an evening gown in pastel yellow, printed with dancing Mandarins (right). La Mendola of Rockford, Ill., chose an evening gown in pink, green and purple, with flowing skirt and laced bodice.

Political Overtones Seen As Chinese Visit Showing

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI)—A Rome fashion week of largely sportylooking clothes closed out with politics overshadowing tailoring as a Chinese Embassy delegation turned out for a Chinese collection shown by an American house.

To add to the international flavor, a young Turk who trained at Cardin in Paris, made his Rome debut Wednesday and received fashion writers' highest accolade—dead silence, as they hastened to make notes on every dress that was shown.

The political overtones came at La Mendola—partners Mike La Mendola of Rockford, Ill., and Jack Savage of Herminie, Pa., whose "behind the bamboo curtain" show was staged in the two-story-high ballroom of their midtown palazzo.

SAVAGE, WHO said the mainland China delegation did not include Ambassador Shen Ping, said the Chinese sat concealed on the landing of the staircase to see the show.

The La Mendola collection n colors ranging from pink and acid green through all shades of purple came in solid color wools and in prints based on the Chinese school.

Gold Chinese lion's head buckles adorned self-belts on jersey prints that came covered up with flowing skirts, or laced from throat past navel and slit up the side to the hip for the vamp look.

Right across the street and one hour beforehand, Texasorn Evan Richards—Tiziani to the fashion trade — closed his collection with a series of evening gowns with Chinese decorations. Yellow chiffon evening gowns with full skirts were printed with dancing mandarins, and a glitter embroidered Chinese dragon adorned a black velvet tunic worn with knee breeches.

TIZIANI FOLLOWED the popular sporty look for daytime, with top-of-the-knee pantskirts, very flared coats, and a woolen sashed trenchcoat lined inbrown mink.

The week's new fashion sensation was Bergin Usberk, a young Turk who spent 2 1-2 years at Cardin, ran his own house in Istanbul for five years and opened in Rome with a collection that led the veteran correspondent of a tailoring trade magazine to moan," he does things we have no name for."

What Usberk did was use skinny lines and simple but costly tailoring in gowns that call attention to the wearer rather than the dress.

His trademark this season was flat seams which joined three horizontal strips of fabric at the bust, waist and hip. seaming became vertical on the panels from hip to hem.

Fabrics, colors and cut all were ultra-refined, in a manner more familiar to Paris than Rome in these fashion days.

Workshop For Divorcees Slated Sunday At Terra Lindan's Home

In the last five years 5,714 Marin county couples have initiated legal action to terminate their marriages, according to statistics released recently by the Bureau of Vital Statistcs, California Department of Public Health.

With this act almost 11,500 Marin husbands and wives reentered the world of single people, confronting the intense emotional and practical problems involved in this transition. The changes also affect the entire family.

To assist people in these adadjustments the Transition Institute, a Berkeley-based nonprofit organization, has been giving a series of Divorced Persons Workshops throughout the Bay area. Such a workshop is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. both tomorrow and Sunday at the home of Mrs. Gloria Nardi, 632 Wake Robin Street in Terra Linda.

Co-founders of the Transition Institute are Jack Crickmore, Berkeley businessman and counselor, and Douglas Darnall, of Lafayette, who is working on his doctorate in counselling. The institute was founded six months ago and it is the hope of Crickmore that similar workshops will be started throughout the country.

Mrs. Ruth MacIver of Mill Valley, is assistant director. A divorcee, with four children, Mrs. MacIver became interested in the institute when she attended a workshop several months ago. Now she handles registrations, scheduling of workshop programs, and public relations for the institute. She is also a skilled group leader and wll assist with the weekend workshops.

Mrs. MacIver stresses that the entire weekend session must be undertaken by participants. Some 15 or 20 individuals seeking a constructive adjustment to their new status meet in an informal atmosphere. The participants are introduced to one another. "They share nonthreatening ideas in the beginning," Crickmore said, as they get to know and trust one another. Later groups of five or six are formed with leaders who gude and encourage an exchange of ideas. They gain encouragement from shared concerns, exploring various problems. One counselor, divorced himself, can talk about the problems of the man who does not have his children with him, another has no children and deals with the younger separated spouses, another leader has a large family, which she is raising alone, and her strength in meeting her problems helps others.

Soon to be initiated will be a series of workshops for children of divorce. Teenagers of divorced parents will be meeting with adult leaders to discuss their special problems with the change of family status.

In Marin people from many walks of life have attended the workshops. Among them have been a Tiburon financial advisor, a Novato administrator, a writer from Mill Valley, the former wife of a San Anselmo attorney, an electronic engineer from Kentfield, a San Rafael housewife, raising small sons alone.

The Transition Institute's founders hope to extend the seminar approach to life style readjustments to help the newly handicapped, those experiencing the death of a spouse, and others who must deal with abrupt changes of life style and personal relationships.

Daughter's Engagement Is Told At Jorgensen Party

A family dinner party at La Petite Auberge restaurant in San Rafael on Wednesday was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Lynn Jorgensen of Sleepy Hollow to Kenneth Kline of San Rafael.

Lynn is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Eugene C. Jorgensen of Sleepy Hollow. She has one brother, Bill. Lynn's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Smith of Vacaville and Mrs. Soren C. Jorgensen of Oakland.

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Kline of San Anselmo. His brothers are Larry Kline of San Anselmo and Tom Kline of Fairfax. Mrs. John Kline of San Francisco is his grandmother.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attends the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Kenneth is also a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

LYNN JORGENSEN
Engagement announced

He has returned to Marin County after three years in the Army, and is employed with the Marin County Sheriff's Department.

A November wedding is planned.

A KIMONO COAT in khaki green pure wool ratten, trimmed with printed quilting is topped by a matching quilted bonnet, like those worn in Tibet. The Asian motif outfit was shown by Jap house of fashion at the Paris showings of fall and winter styles.

'Male Chauvinist' Editor Strikes Back For The Cause Of 'Legs'

DEAR HELEN:

May a male editor present a rebuttal to the female editor who took another male to task for his "chauvinism"? The lady claimed hubby showed emotional infantilism and lack of interest in her as a person by complaining when his wife covered her legs with pantsuits.

I claim this shows a definite lack of awareness of any emotion between males and females.

The husband's appreciation for his wife's legs surely wasn't the only thing he appreciated about her. Otherwise it wouldn't be a marriage any longer, and they would have gone their separate ways. He obviously likes her companionship, probably her brains, her ability to do various and many things — even including the way she looks in pantsuits.

But when something is beautiful, it seems criminal to cover it. No one would appreciate putting linoleum over terrazzo tile, or paint over mahogany paneling, or a canvas drape over the Mona Lisa. Nor would we fence directly across a view of the ocean or a lovely mountain. It would evidence a total lack of sensitivity.

If the gal has "great legs," and her husband appreciates them, that should be enough for both, and she should, once in a while, exhibit them in the accepted fashion of the day.

There's something considerably paranoid about some of the women's lib proponents who see any reference to beauty, the body or relationships between male and female as a threat to their continued existence. And paranoia is a heck of a thing upon which to build a worthwhile case for equality. — MALE EDITOR

DEAR HELEN:

No doubt it is true that the expression "Right on!" came into current usage through the Black Panthers, but it is also a quotation from Shakespeare. In Julius Caesar, Act III, scene 2, Mark Antony says: "I only speak right on. I tell you that which you yourselves do know." — SALLY

DEAR SALLY:

Right on and on! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I went shopping with my husband, I was shocked to see my brother-in-law with another woman, acting very much like her husband.

I asked my man about it and he said it's just one of those things. He was surprised I didn't know because it had been going on a long time.

What bothers me, Helen, is that this man plans to renew his marriage vows with his wife in church, just as if everything was fine between them — and they've been living as brother and sister for several years.

These relatives go camping and fishing with us. After learning this terrible secret, I don't know whether I want to go out with them any more. How should I act? — SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Act "as was." Evidently these two have worked out their problems or they wouldn't still be together and apparently compatible. If you dropped them, the wife would have one less friendship when she needs all the morale-boosting she can get. — H.

No Cholesterol Harm Seen In Daily Egg Diet

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Based on current knowledge, there is no reason for healthy people to drop eggs from their meals simply because eggs contain some cholesterol. So says Dr. E.W. Gleaves, of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension Service.

Cholesterol is often mentioned in discussions on heart disease. But many factors are involved with heart disease and knowledge of the influence of diet still is incomplete, Dr. Gleaves says.

About eggs, he says their protein has the highest biological value of any natural protein. Two eggs per day will satisfy 25 per cent of an individual's daily protein requirement.

Even though eggs are one of the most perfect foods, he continues, Americans consume on the average more dry coffee than they do eggs—16 pounds of dry coffee are used annually compared with 12 pounds of eggs.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin Legal Secretaries Governor To Attend Convention In Tulsa

Constance Mauk of Corte Madera, governor of the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association is planning to attend the National Association of Legal Secretaries annual international convention Sunday through Thursday in Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Mauk is a nominee for the office of corresponding secretary of NALS, which has as its purpose uniting all persons engaged in work of a legal nature and encouraging them to continue their educations.

New officers will be installed the last day of the convention by the outgoing president, Helen E. Harney of Stockton.

AN ORGANIZATION has been formed to raise funds for ballet scholarships for 80 dancers from California, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. Members, called Themesetters, will raise the money by giving unusual parties.

Major Colors For Fall Suits, Coats

Colors for the new fall suits and coats break down into three major groups: the clear and vibrant, the subtle, and the neutrals. In the clear group, you'll find hot yellows, hot pinks, hot greens showing as solids or woven-in bold tweed combinations and patterns. The subtles include smoky hues of mauve, yellow, dusty pink, dusty blue, bottle and moss green, burgundy and plum. The neutrals are beige, greige (grayed beige), chamois, luggage, gray and heather tones. And watch for a big comeback for black, says the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) forecast for fall.

Party representative for Marin is Mrs. Edgar Hill of Mill Valley.

A PROGRAM on gardens around the world will be presented by the Petaluma Flower Gardeners tonight at 8 p.m. at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma.

During the public program Harold Jaroske will speak and show movies, and there will be a table of plants for sale.

THE NOVATO Hostess Club Gourmet III Section will hold a couples barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller in Novato at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Members will bring their favorite salads to be served with barbecued oast beef and corn on the cob. Planning to attend are Mmes. and Messrs. David Brooks, Leo Bechnel, Richard Browne, Walter Christensen, Steven Freeman, C.J. Goudeau, Olin Jolly, William Lemon, Dave Mullen, Wallace Peck and George Pust.

The Best Kind

Blueberries are a summer fruit staple. Look for berries with dark color and a silvery bloom. This bloom is a natural, protective waxy coating. Select berries that are plump, firm, uniform in size, dry and free from stems and leaves. Store berries unwashed and uncovered in the refrigerator until ready for use. Use within a couple of days.

Bright Colors

Bright, clear colors take the spotlight in the new fall hosiery, designed to go with hot pants, shortie skirts and culottes.

ON BEING BLACK

Mr. Know-It-All Isn't Much Help

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"You're doing that all wrong. But then you know that, huh?"

My Man, who refuses to pay a repairman for any household project—because he can do the job himself—looked dryly down at the short dark fellow who had casually strolled into the driveway and stood for a full five minutes staring up at him on the makeshift scaffold.

"There is an easier way." The man went on knowledgeably.

"Oh yeah, you a painter?" asks My Man with growing disdain.

"ALL MY life. Papa was, too. What you need is one of those little deals that fits right into the corners. Why, I could paint this whole house in one day. It's all a matter of having the right equipment and, of course, knowin' what you're doing."

My Man softens a little. Maybe this guy does know what he's talking about. One thing for sure, he wouldn't have to know much to know more than My Man knows about painting a house. Just maybe. . .

"A tool for the corners, huh? That makes sense. What's the name of that tool?"

Mr. Know-it-all shrugs, "Well, I don't know the exact name of it, but I know what it looks like. Come on, I'll go over to the hardware store with you and show it to you. You're sure lucky I came by. This just happens to be my day off."

Once inside the hardware store, Mr. Know-it-all helps My Man select the "corner thing" and several other items for house painters.

"ANOTHER THING you've got to have—got to have—is a paint cap." Mr. Know-it-all is shopping to his heart's content.

My Man shruggs his shoulders, "One paint cap. . ." he says to the cashier.

"Hey, man, you don't think I'm going to let you paint that house alone! Get me a cap, too. I dig painting' — good exercise — good release of energy. I'll take that orange one."

"Make that, umm, two paint caps, please. . ."

As My Man pays the tab, he decides that he will, indeed, let this nut help him paint the house. Why not?

Mr. Know-it-all checks himself out in the rear view mirror once inside the car. He smiles at the image of his natural mushrooming beneath his new orange painting cap.

"Painters got to look like painters," he nudges My Man with his elbow. "Put yours on."

MY MAN is beginning to have doubts.

"That's OKAY, I'll put mine on when we get back to the house."

"Yep," reiterates Mr. Know-it-all as he smiles happily, "Got to have a paint cap. Keeps the sweat out of your eyes and the paint out of your hair."

"Umm, huh." My Man is now watching Mr. Know-it-all out of the corner of his eye.

"Whew! It sure is a hot day." Mr. Know-it-all wets his lips as they pass a liquor store. "Man, am I dry. Think I'll buy a couple of six-packs. Pull over at the next liquor store, okay?"

Stop number two.

The promising painter hops out of the car and scowls as he looks inside his wallet.

"Man, you got any change? All I got is a $50 bill, and you know how they squawk about changing big bills. Be faster if I had the right change, 'cause we got to get on with this paintin' business."

MY MAN, his jaws totally rigid at this point, hands the painter-with-a-promise a five dollar bill.

With two six-packs in tow, painter and protege return to the house.

"Now, let's sit here under this tree and have a quick beer while I explain just how we're going to do this. Man, this house will be painted and sparkling in no time. The first thing to do is. . ."

Three hours and a bag of empty beer cans later, Mr. Been-paintin'-all-my-life looks at his watch and leaps to his feet.

"Man, I gotta' run! If I'm not home for dinner, my old lady will be stretched all out of shape. You know how women are. She'll swear I been out chasin' some 'skirt' — never belive I spent the day helping a neighbor paint his house. Later, brother."

My Man puts on his new paint cap and climbs back up on his scaffold.

SONOMA GROUP

Assistance League Has New Leader

Heading the Assistance League of Sonoma County is Mrs. James W. Paine of Glen Ellen.

Mrs. Paine, who has served as first vice president, has been a member of the Assistance League for four years. She transferred from the San Mateo County League two years ago and has been active with the Sonoma League since 1969.

SHE CHARACTERIZES the organization's aims as "to carry on a program of philanthropic work in the community." The current project, "Funds for Futures," provides vocational scholarships to deserving students. The program for the coming year will be highlighted by the opening of the Simi Winer in Healdsburg, Sunday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., which the Assistance League will sponsor. Other activities are a Christmas Boutique and a social event with their husbands. They are also investigating a second project to serve community needs.

Women interested in a working organization who have time and talents to give to projects of a charitable nature are welcomed to membership, according to Mrs. Paine.

A favorite interest is "watching Christmas trees grow on their 'Valley of the Moon Pines' Ranch in Glen Ellen," Mrs. Paine says. Her husband is a retired Captain in the Coast Guard. Nancy Paine is also active in the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club of San Francisco.

THE COUPLE has two grown sons, John, a resident of Texas, and Stephen, serving in the Air Force.

A graduate of San Diego State College, Nancy also studied at the New York School of Interior Design. She maintains her interest in decorating and enjoys painting in oil.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Elmo Martini, first vice president; Paul G. Hollister, second vice president; Harry Johnson, recording secretary; Thomas Iles, corresponding secretary, and Frank Lynch, treasurer.

Ping Pong Tourney Postponed To August

A charity table tennis tournament scheduled for this weekend at Kingswood Village on the North Shore of Lake Tahoe is postponed until Aug. 28 and 29.

The tournament is open to all Northern California fund raising groups. Entry blanks are available from radio station KNBR in San Francisco and GenEx Development Corporation in San Rafael, sponsors of the tournament.

Everyone Joining Antipollution Act

Just about everyone's getting into the antipollution campaign. One chain of specialty stores has added to its women's fashion line a home-care wash free of phosphates and enzymes.

The chain recommends it for either hot or cold water, for hand-washing delicate fabrics or for use in the machine. No additives are necessary for the machine wash.

NOVATO RECEPTION — Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kentoski read one of the many anniversary cards they received congratulating them on their 50 years of marriage. Rose Athmer and Lee Kentoski were married in Belleville, Ill., on July 14, 1921. They were honored at a reception at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato on Saturday.

Novato Pair In 50th Wedding Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kentoski of Novato celebrated their golden wedding anniversary when their daughter, Mrs. James Henricks of Novato was hostess at a reception Saturday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato.

Among the 50 guests attending the reception were Mr. Henricks and the Kentoski's two grandchildren, Jeff Henricks, 14, and Linda Henricks, 12 years old. They have a son, Raymond of Novato.

Mr. Kentoski was a molder for an iron company in Illinois and also worked for the Pinkerton Secret Service in Los Angeles, retiring in 1961. During World War I he was in the Signal Corps and then transferred to the Air Service.

The couple moved to Novato in 1966, and they have both been active in the VFW. Mr. Kentoski is past post commander of VFW Post 7816 in Novato and is a senior vice commander of World War I Marin Barracks 559 in San Rafael. Rose Kentoski is a member of the Marin Barracks 550.

Rose Athmer and Lee Kentoski met a picnic and were married in Belleville, Ill. on July 14, 1921.

Their son, Raymond, now 48 years old, has been an invalid since birth. He lives with his parents. "Marriage is a 50-50 proposition," they agree when speaking of their 50 years of marriage.

Stings 'Bug' Many, Even Cause Death

Scores of different insects and other pests "bug" our daily life but during the summer months, the outdoorsman is particularly vulnerable to them. Nature's many creeping, crawling and flying creatures can deliver painful and sometimes deadly stings or bites and also transmit disease, according to the California Medical Association.

Bees, wasps, ticks, chiggers and flies are usually the worst pesterers of farmers, fishermen, hunters and picknickers but — in certain areas — scorpions and poisonous spiders are also a problem.

If a honey bee stings you, you must take prompt action in order to minimize the pain. Once a bee stings, the barbed stinger and the venom-filled sac remain attached to your skin.

Even though you have brushed the bee aside, you have not disposed of the threat. The sac will continue to pump venom. Carefully examine the site of the sting with a knife or your fingernail, and scrape the stinger off immediately. Do not try to grasp the stinger with your fingers, as you are likely to squeeze more venom into your skin. For first aid, apply a paste of baking soda and water to the area of the sting. The area may also be coated with an analgesic cream which will reduce pain and relieve itching.

Hornets, yellow jackets, wasps and bumblebees do not leave their venom sacs when they sting. Consequently, they may sting more than once. These stings bring redness, pain and itching. If you are stung many times, enough venom can be absored to make you quite ill. If that happens, you need medical treatment.

Botulism Threat Cited In Canning

Each year a number of cases of botulism, the most lethal form of food poisoning, occur. Sadly, this danger lurks in an old and honored American practice — "Putting up" our own fresh fruits and vegetables — home canning, "like Grandma used to do".

The problem of botulism is prevented in commercial canning by use of equipment producing a combination of temperature and pressure capable of killing the spores so they cannot grow into bacteria to produce their toxin. However, since the botulinum bacteria can survive 20 hours of boiling at normal sea-level pressures, simple home canning methods may not succeed in getting rid of them and, during storage, there is plenty of time for the fatal toxin to be produced.

Home canning can be carried out safely if certain procedures are carefully followed. These are fully described in the pamphlets "Home Canning of Fruits" and "Home Canning of Vegetables" which are available through University of California Agricultural Extension Service in Berkeley.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, July 23, the 204th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

American actress Charlotte Cushman was born July 23, 1816.

On this day in history:

In 1829 William Burt of Mount Vernon, Mich, received a patent for his "typographer," claimed to be the first typewriter.

In 1904 the ice cream cone was born. Charles Menches of St. Louis called on a young lady carrying a bouquet of flowers and an ice cream sandwich. The young lady fashioned one sandwich layer into a vase, thus suggesting the cone type holder for ice cream.

In 1945 Marshal Henri Petain of France went on trial in Paris on charges of World War II treason.

A thought for today: British novelist Somerset Maugham said, "The tragedy of life is indifference."

New Grade System At Stanford School

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Stanford University's Graduate School of Business will give grades of honors (H), pass (P) or unsatisfactory (U) in place of the present, A, B, C, D, or F grading system.

The school's faculty has decided that the simplified grading system will go into effect with the autumn 1971 quarter and will also include plus or minus distinctions for the passing grade.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Candid Bridge Player Tells About The Big One

There are no statistics on how many fishermen play bridge, but I owe it to the public to point out that there are big differences between the two sports. A fisherman would never write a letter about the big one that got away, but a bridge player named Rodger Harbin cheerfully wrote to me about today's hand.

CHANCES IMPROVE

"Though I didn't make this contract," Harbin admits, "the opening lead gave the chance to make it. I won the first trick with the ten of hearts, and it came to me (unfortunately too late) that I could repeat the finesse and then sluff my diamond on the ace of hearts.

"Now ruff a diamond, return to dummy with the ace of clubs to ruff another diamond, and return to king of clubs to ruff a third diamond. Next lead the queen of spades.

"West wins with the king and must return his only side care, the queen of clubs, because if West continues trumps, South gets an overtrick.

SECOND END PLAY

"South ruffs the queen of clubs, and has J-9-7 of spades left, while West's last three cards are A-10-8 of spades. If South leads the jack of spades, West can win but must then lead from the 10-8 to give South a trick with the nine of spades. West gets three spade tricks, but nothing else.

"I would like to have your comments on the opening lead from the West hand."

NO COMMENT

I'm sorry to say that I cannot comment on the actual heart opening lead. I get only a few sheets of asbestos typing paper per year, and I've already used up my supply through 1975.

West should open the ace of diamonds and should probably continue with a low diamonds since South might have two diamonds and one heart instead of the reverse. South is then down one even if he plays the rest of the hand perfectly.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ - 5
♥ - 8 5 3 2
♦ - K J 10 7 4
♣ - 10 7 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. You expect partner to pass this weak response, and you expect to have a better time at two diamonds than he would have at one no-trump.

Judge Dismisses Burglary Charge

A burglary charge against Larry George Loughead, 22, of Mill Valley, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

West Marin Judicial Court Justice, David R. Baty, sitting in Municipal Court, dismissed the charge when the district attorney's office reported that the alleged burglary victim did not wish to prosecute.

Loughead was arrested June 28, when a neighbor identified him to Marin County sheriff's deputies as the man he had seen entering a window of a residence at 6 La Verne Avenue, Homestead Valley.

Astronauts Ponder Moon Landing Site

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin plan to camp for three days in a moon basin cut by a winding canyon and flanked by battered mountains.

"I expect it to be very, very impressive," Scott said. "To be in an area where you can look in one direction and see 15,000 feet of mountain and in another direction a canyon almost a mile across and a thousand feep deep, that's got to be something."

It is probably some of the most rugged terrain—or lurain as Scott calls it—men will ever explore on the moon.

The touchdown site itself, on the fringe of what is called the Marsh of Decay, is relatively smooth as seen from photographs taken by moon satellites. It resembles the cratered flatlands cisited by the Apollo 11 and 12 astronauts in 1969.

But two miles to the south is the base of the 12,000 feet high Apennine Front. Mount Hadley, one of the tallest peaks on the moon, rises 15,000 feet seven miles to the northeast. And the canyon, called Hadley Rille, is about a half mile to the west.

The Apennines, named after a mountain range in Italy, rise higher above the basin floor than the towering east face of the Sierra Nevadas in California or the Great Himalayan Front that juts above the plains of India.

Hadley Rille, like Mount Hadley and several craters in the area, was named after John Hadley, an 18th century British scientist who improved the reflector telescope design and invented an ancestor of the mariner's sextant.

The canyon, representative of several puzzling rilles on the moon, is similar in size to the Rio Grande Gorge near Taos, N.M., which Scott and Irwin have visited. Hadley Rille meanders down from an elongated depression in the Apennines and cuts the Marsh of Decay, merging with another rille 62 miles to the north.

Scientists don't know what formed the canyon, but there is some agreement that it was probably formed by volcanic action, and possibly was a lava channel. There has been speculation in the past that such rilles were formed by water because they resemble river beds on earth.

The Apennines ring the southeastern edge of the Great Sea of Rains which was blasted out by the explosive impact of an asteroid an estimated four billion years ago. Geologists believe the Apennines were lifted up by the shock of the impact and were shaped by a network of faults.

Besides the mountains and canyon, the astronauts will explore a cluster of craters apparently formed by material splattered out of the large craters Aristillus and Autolycus to the northwest and a series of hills to the north that may be volcanic domes.

The Apollo 15 landing site, named Hadley-Apennine after its most prominent features, is the most northern landing area selected in the Apollo program. It is 465 miles north of the lunar equator and 660 miles northeast of the Apollo 14 landing site.

For the first time in more than a decade, brown pelicans have been born in Louisiana, reviving hopes the bird will not become extinct.

FAMILY

"Computer Wore Tennis Shoes" — College students outsmart their elders in a rollicking Disney comedy about a student who becomes nothing less than a genius when a computer's memory bank is accidentally transferred to his brain.

"Le Mans" — Superbly photographed on actual location with 45 renowned race drivers at the wheels. Technically excellent, this spectacualr fictional film is so real that those who watch it will be transplanted to the famous race course.

"My Side of the Mountain" — A low-keyed story of a young nature-lover which will appeal mainly to children with similar interests. A beautifully entertaining film relates experiences and adventures of a 13-year-old boy and his pet raccoon trying to prove he could live alone close to nature.

"New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly. His choice is a botanist who has the social graces of a country hick. He has devious plans to get control of her money, and that is when the fun begins.

"$1,000,000 Duck" — Walt Disney comes through again with a good family comedy. Treatment is fresh and bright. Plenty of laughs for all.

"Tora-Tora-Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

"Willy Wonka" — Elaborately staged in Munich, Germany, and beautifully photographed. Relates the incredible experiences of Charlie and his grandfather when he finds the 5th winning golden ticket wrapped in a chocolate bar. This is a film classic.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Anderson Tapes" — A trio of clever gimmicks set this film apart from the routine thriller about a robbery. It has suspense, excitement and performances by Sean Connery, Dyan Cannon, Allan King, Martin Balsam. Very good. (Motion Picture Herald)

"From Russia With Love" — Rapid-fire adventure of James Bond. Good adult fun if you like perplexing action punctuated by sexy situations and spectacular refinements of death-dealing gadgets.

"The Last Run" — A former American hoodlum is persuaded to make a one-time comeback and perform a job in Spain. George C. Scott's performance gives further distinction to a thriller that is in other respects several cuts above the ordinary. (M.P. Daily)

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old-fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Play Dirty" — A bitterly savage look at men and countries at war and the dehumanizing things they are forced to do to accomplish their missions . . . practically everyone winds up senselessly and horribly dead. Action crammed, exciting film, impressive desert locations, gripping performances (Boxoffice Mag.)

"Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" — Based on the popular fictional English detective created by Sir Arthur C. Doyle. In an attempt to make a very popular mythical character into a real person, the scriptwriters have made him a drug addict and cast doubt on his masculinity.

"Ryan's Daughter" — Overlong, romantic film photographed against rugged Irish landscape . . . ageless story of unsanctioned love ending in tragedy. (Note: MPAA changed R rating to GP only after long discussion)

"Ten Rillington Place" — Chilling and true story of notorious Christie mass murders in England, for which an innocent man was hanged. An unpleasant story, leaving an unpleasant aftertaste. Not for the young or for the queasy of any age.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bananas" — A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Dr. No." — Ian Fleming's slick sensational yarn about sexy sleuth James Bond . . . wading through a welter of blood, sweat, and swamp water our hero takes sex and assassination in stride.

"Little Big Man" — A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121-year-old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Vanishing Point" — A boring and pointless film about a super anti-establishment hero who drives a race car to his destruction. Sex, nudity, violence, cursing.

"Where Eagles Dare" — Complicated plot revolves around agents and double agents who are to carry out espionage behind German lines during World War II. Filled with bloody violence that sickens.

ADULTS ONLY

"Klute" — A small town detective and big city call girl find each other while hunting a murderer. (Boxoffice Mag.)

"Stewardesses" — Glasses are provided to view this sex drama in 3D. Stewardesses on a Honolulu to L.A. flight find various sex diversions on their off time. (Boxoffice Mag.)

TREE PLANTING TIME IN LARKSPUR

John Gregorowicz of the Larkspur Public Works Department, digs a hole to plant the first of 30 trees in Piper Park. The trees, planted Wednesday, were donated by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club to the City of Larkspur. David Williams, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Kiwanis Club coordinated the project of obtaining the trees for beautification of the park. The trees, known as Myopoirum Laetum, are fast growing broadleafed evergreens that must be planted near salt water. They will form a windbreak around the edge of the Bundy ball field area in the park.

Sanitary Budget Wins Panel Nod

The Novato Sanitary District board last night adopted a preliminary budget for fiscal 1971-72 totaling $318,530 — a $30,112 increase over last year's.

According to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph, the budget is expected to drop the tax rate from last year's 71.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 40 cents this year.

That reduction, he said, is due to elimination of 35 cents from the tax rate in capital improvements.

The board also accepted easement deeds for property owned by Manuel Pacheco at the corner of Wilson Avenue and Novato Boulevard and from the Carrara Estates Subdivision.

In other action, it agreed to amend its contract with Soderblom and Co. of San Rafael for expanded accounting services.

The firm will receive $30 per hour for supervisory and investment work on bonds approved last year and will receive $10 per hour for bookkeeping. The original contract called for a flat fee of $160 per month and will remain in force.

Guard Death Is First Such Type

San Quentin Prison guards on "babysitting" duty to protect "hot" inmates never met with violence before Officer Leo G. Davis was stabbed to death Wednesday, Associate Warden James W. L. Park declared today.

Any resulting changes in prison guard routine will be announced first to the prison staff before being made public by Warden Louis Nelson, Park added.

The deadly fray was still under investigation today by prison officials and representatives of prison employee associations.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today the case had not yet been turned over to his office for preparation of any charges. Bales said he had asked the state Criminal Investigation and Identification office in Sacramento to assist prison officials on the case.

Park said, "We still have five or six inmates locked up; we're looking hard at three" in connection with the slaying of Davis in an apparent attempt to get at the inmate he was guarding in a prison hospital cell.

The intended target, Herman Earl Johnson, 25, had been moved into a more secure cell nicknamed the "green room," normally reserved for ailing Death Row inmates. There, Johnson was being "babysat by two guards," Park said today. The high-security cell was empty at the time Davis was killed, Park confirmed.

The associate warden said guards routinely watched over — or as they called it, "babysat" — inmates assaulted by unknown attackers in the hospital section rather than the "green room." "To my knowledge, there never has been an incident remotely like this," Park said.

Park said Johnson "had nothing to do with the Soledad Brothers." Johnson, a former inmate of Soledad Prison, had been scheduled to be a witness in a trial of other inmates accused of killing Soledad guard William G. Shull a year ago today. The case, however, was "thrown out of court because of perjury by witnesses," Park said, and Johnson apparently never took the witness stand.

Warden Nelson told a press conference yesterday that although "we were kind of holding our breath" after realizing that Johnson was marked for attack only routine protection procedures were used after he was stabbed Monday.

Davis's death resulted in a massive search for weapons in two main cellblocks at the prison and in one section of "Condemned Row." Park revealed today that the search turned up "three prison-made 'shanks' in the row" but only one in the North and East cellblocks.

"We're taking a look at how the weapons got to the row," Park said. He added that guards carted off a dump truck load of contraband "junk" from the main cellblocks after the search, and that the block's inmates staged "a sort of a sit-down protest" after lunch yesterday when they saw the search being made. No trouble resulted, Park said, and after the search was completed the men went quietly into their cells for lock-up, he said. Funeral for the slain guard, Davis, was to be held in Richmond this afternoon.

Quake In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) —An earthquake jarred the Tokyo-Yokohama area today but there was no report of injury or damage. The Japan Meteorological Agency said the tremor registered three on the Japanese scale of seven.

The epicenter of the quake was the Mt. Fujiyama area 50 miles west of Tokyo. Tall buildings swayed noticeably in Tokyo and lamp posts rocked from side to side.

Assessment Rate Hike: Auditor Lists Tax Windfall By Agency

If this year's tax rates remain the same as last year in all taxing agencies in Marin, the county property owners will be charged with almost $5.4 million in additional taxes, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell disclosed today.

The same tax rate will produce more revenue this year because state law requires the county assessor to assess property at 25 per cent instead of 23 per cent of full market value.

An 8.7 per cent increase in tax levy will be an automatic windfall that will accrue to each taxing agency which keeps the same tax rate as last year. Only if all taxing agencies lower the tax rates will the tax impact be the same as last year.

The 73 independent taxing entities in Marin must set their tax rates on or before Aug. 31. They will get automatic windfalls if they leave their tax rates unchanged.

"If the vast majority of taxing entities do not reduce their tax rates, I would predict that the taxpayers of Marin County will be facing the most astronomical increase in taxes which they have ever experienced," warned Mitchell.

Here is the windfall each city would get if it retained last year's tax rate:

Belvedere $22,844; Corte Madera $20,869; Fairfax $20,388; Larkspur $37,613; Mill Valley $86,858; Novato $46,165; Ross $15,721; San Anselmo $55,563; San Rafael $87,543; Sausalito $36,883; and Tiburon $15,451.

Here is a list of other taxing entities and the amount of windfall each would get if tax rates remain the same as last year:

County of Marin $1,216,463. (Since the county tax rate is projected to go up from last year's $2.575 to $2.965, an additional $2 million will be levied on top of the $1,216,463 windfall. Increase in county costs is due largely to increased cost of welfare, building security, and Davis-Magee trial.)

Structural fire $16,688.

County library $56,986.

Elementary Schools — Bolinas-Stinson $21,558; Dixie $197,526; Fairfax $55,521; Kentfield $108,490; Laguna Joint $2,342; Lagunitas $22,691; Larkspur $105,116; Lincoln $1,700; Mill Valley $188,453; Nicasio $3,796; Reed Union $165,357; Ross $34,287; San Anselmo $102,550; San Rafael $298,121; Sausalito $98,271; Union Joint $467.

Bel Marin Opts For Lagoon Lock

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District last night opted for a new and less expensive method of controlling silting in the lagoon and set up a work timetable for the $300,000 project.

The original proposal to install a navigation gate in Novato Creek channel flanked by flood gates for $610,000 was turned down by directors because of the high cost and the numerous local and county agencies that would be involved, Director James Zoeller reported.

Instead, the board unanimously accepted an alternative method from engineers John A. Blume and Associates of San Francisco that, essentially, will provide a tide control lock at the mouth of the lagoon.

The corrective project will halt silting at Bel Marin Keys, a residential community surrounding the lagoon and populated by boat owners whose leisure time activity is centered on the water. The lagoon continually is silting and is shallow in places in spite of dredging in 1969.

For several years, the district has set funds aside in a dredging fund — now at $105,000 — but Zoeller said directors agreed that a long-term bond issue would be the best method of financing.

A special election will be called as soon as possible to get the necessary voter approval to fund the project, Zoeller said.

The breakdown of the work was approved in a three-step resolution of intent:

To dredge a navigable-depth channel at least 30 feet wide and with a depth of minus six feet below mean low water on Novato Creek after implementing a joint powers agreement with Marin County Flood Control District to obtain a suitable disposal site.

To provide a tide control lock at the mouth of the lagoon to be designed by Blume and Associates.

After construction of the lock is completed, dredge the lagoon to navigable depths.

In addition, the board will ask engineers to provide a long-range plan to cover dredging and lock operation. Dredging will have to be continued every two years at a cost of $33,000 even with the tide control lock, Zoeller said.

$214,399 Capital Improvement Outlay Gets Tentative Approval

Capital improvements amounting to $214,399 were approved tentatively last night by the Mill Valley City Council out of a total of $411,592 recommended by City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

The improvements include road work, purchase of vehicles, drainage work and sewer improvements. They will be financed from the city's general fund, gas tax money, federal grants and a bond issue.

Included in the improvements, still to be ratified when the final budget is adopted, are $26,400 for sewer main replacement at three locations. The project will be financed from a $450,000 bond issue approved by voters last month.

Also included are $52,600 for catch basins, gutters, culverts and other drainage work and $21,939 as the city's share in the realignment of Miller Avenue between Reed and Willow streets. A federal grant will pay for the remainder of the $60,000 project.

Deleted from the spending program was $3,500 for resurfacing city-owned Lytton Square parking lot.

Other major appropriations approved were half the cost of a 1,250-gallons-per-minute fire pumper, $22,000 (the other half was budgeted last year); Miller Avenue Street lights, $21,000; resurfacing of Molino and Edgewood avenues from Montford Avenue to Sequoia Valley Drive, $25,000, and a retaining wall and curb and gutter to repair slide damage at Monte Vista and Hazel avenues, $16,400.

The council set another budget session for 8 p.m. Aug. 5 at city hall when Cunningham said he will present a budget total and an estimated tax rate.

Marin Artists Win At Fair

Three Marin County artists have won awards at the 1971 California State Fair Art Show in Sacramento.

Their work will be displayed in Expo Center at Cal Expo from Aug. 8 through Sept. 8.

Fred Herschleb of Kentfield won second place for his modern water color, "Turbulence." Kamma Lethraus of Kentfield took third place in handwoven textiles with one entitled "Blue Moon — Wall Hanging." Thano D. Johnson of San Rafael won honorable mention for his ceramic "Miniature Thrown Slip Glazed Porcelains."

SMU Loosens Ban

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Southern Methodist University loosened a 56-year ban on alcohol and adopted a policy to allow students over 21 to drink on campus. The ruling does not affect the 82 per cent of SMU's students who are under 21.

Sniping Breaks Out In North Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British troops traded gunfire with snipers for several hours today in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area, an army spokesman said. Two civilians were reported wounded.

One of the men admitted to Royal Victoria Hospital with a gunshot wound in the leg had been tarred and feathered.

Brown Motors would like to thank the people of Marin County for making this one of the best years ever.

In recognition of our outstanding sales record in this area, Fiat Motor company is sponsoring a trip to Italy for our sales and managerial staff. We are leaving Friday July 23 and will return Monday August 2nd.

During our absence our service department and business office will be open during their regular working hours. Our sales department will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5: p.m.

We ask all our friends and customers to bear with us during our shorter sales hours and remember our service department is still open.

Again we say Thank You!

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
ORDINANCE NO. 1837
AN ORDINANCE DECREASING PRIMA FACIE SPEED LIMIT SAN GERONIMO-NICASIO ROAD, NICASIO AREA

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 65 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portions of the local highways hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 45 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highways and is reasonable and safe.
SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be Forty-Five (45) miles per hour upon the following portions of the County of Marin:
San Geronimo-Nicasio Road (C-113) from mile post 4.77 and extending northerly 2,350 feet to mile post 5.21.
SECTION III: This ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; provided, however, that the prima facie speed limit for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of highways in the County of Marin.
The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 20th day of July, 1971, by the followng vote, to-wit:
AYES: SUPERVISORS Arnold Baptiste, John F. McInnis, Peter R. Arrigoni, Michael Wornum, L. H. Baar

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Leukemia, Solid Cancers Found Among Atomic Bomb Survivors

Since 1945 the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission has studied the health of survivors of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombings. These investigators are particularly interested in the incidence of leukemia and solid cancers among A-bomb survivors as compared with the national rate of Japan.

A RECENT REPORT concerned 20,609 persons who were less than 10 years old at the time of the bombings. Of these, 1,109 were within a mile of the explosion. They were designated as high dose survivors because they could have received 100 rays or more of radiation. Some were in concrete shelters, crowded street cars or other physical structures and shielded, to some extent, from direct radiation. But they were in an area where the air dose was high. The rest of the children were outside of this circle or "not in city" at the time but returned after the bombing. The oldest of the group is now 35 years old.

From 1950 to 1960, leukemias outnumbered other cancers, but after 1965 the situation was reversed. From 1955 to 1969, there were eight deaths from leukemia and eight from solid tumors among the high dose group. In addition, there were five carcinomas of the thyroid and six other cancers not reported on the death certificate. This makes a total of 19 malignancies and 8 leukemias among 1,109 children exposed to high radiation. This is a higher rate than might be expected among Japanese in general.

BY CONTRAST, 18 cancers occurred among the 5,010 persons who were not in the city (also abnormally high). In addition, there were only 24 cancers among the 14,398 people who were outside the mile-radius circle when the bomb exploded.

Time will tell what happens in the future. Reports of these types always stress the negative side. Among 1,109 persons there were eight cases of leukemia and 19 malignant tumors. No cancers developed among 1,082 even thought they were within a mile of the explosion.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TIC DOULOUREUX

K. Z. writes: Short of surgery, is there any new method for eradicating the pain of tic douloureux?

REPLY

Tegretol and Dilantin have given good results. You have my sympathy as tic douloureux of the face is one of the most painful of all neuralgias. I assume more conservative measures have been tried. Among these are alcohol injections to give temporary relief. Cure can be obtained by cutting the nerve, provided the person does not object to facial numbness.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

E. D. J. writes: What is physiotherapy?

REPLY

Treatment of disease, injuries or defects, with physical agents, such as light, heat, cold, water, baths or electricity. Massage, manipulation, exercise and mechanical devices also are used in physical therapy. This regimen is in contrast to psychotherapy or the use of drugs.

EAR INFECTION AFTER COLDS

S. O. writes: Why do I always get a middle ear infection after a cold?

REPLY

Because the ear is vulnerable or more susceptible to infection. Germs in the throat spread to the middle ear via the eustachian tubes.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
Case Number 60383

Superior Court of California, County of Marin.

In re the marriage of Petitioner: RUSSELL KENNETH PENDARVIS
and
Respondent: CAROL PENDARVIS

To the Respondent:

The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDINANCE NO. 1836 AN ORDINANCE DECREASING PRIMA FACIE SPEED LIMIT SAN GERONIMO-NICASIO ROAD, NICASIO AREA

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 65 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portions of the local highways hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 25 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highways and is reasonable and safe.

SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be Twenty-five (25) miles per hour upon the following portions of the local highways of the County of Marin.

San Geronimo-Nicasio Road (C-113) from mile post 4.27 and extending northerly 2,-640 feet to mile post 4.77

SECTION III: This ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; provided, however, that the prima facie speed limit for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of highways in the County of Marin.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 20th day of July, 1971, by the following vote, to-wit:

AYES: SUPERVISORS Arnold Baptiste, John F. McInnis, Peter R. Arrigoni, Michael Wornum, L. H. Baar

Fair Winners In 2 Categories Are Announced

Marin and Southern Sonoma winners in the horse show and chicken division at the Sonoma County Fair were announced yesterday by fair officials.

The fair, which is held at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds in Santa Rosa, runs through Saturday.

Monte Schneider of Mill Valley on his horse, Terry Rouge, won top award in the Western Junior Showmanship at Halter class in the show sponsored by the California State Horsemen's Association.

George Lucas of Petaluma with his horse, Paris Bobby Boy, won first place in stallions of 1969 and older class.

In poultry judging, Barry Santero won nine first place awards and Larry Hoffman won three firsts; both are from Cotati.

Bonnie Brody and Gene Garciea won three firsts each, Robert Herrerias and Wendy Skoff one first each; all are from Petaluma.

6 Months In Jail For Car Theft

William Wesley Hazelton, 20, of Belmont, has been sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail for car theft.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed Hazelton on probation for two years.

Hazelton was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Feb. 8 on Highway 101 and charged with stealing the car from a San Bruno man, as well as possessing marijuana. The marijuana charge was later dismissed.

College Campuses Face Parking Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI)—The shortage of parking spaces on college campuses is heading for the crisis stage. It is a continuous and exploding headache for campus planners.

Mrs. Norene Dann Martin, executive vice president of the National Parking Association, says if parking needs get voracious enough it could become the tail that wags the dog. "We could have drive-in lecture rooms," she said at a parking workshop sponsored by the University of California.

Firemen To Hold Rummage Sale

A 1929 Mack hook and ladder fire tractor and trailer will be among the items offered for sale Saturday at a rummage sale sponsored by the Tamalpais Volunteer Firemen's Association, according to David J. Gealey, secretary.

The sale will begin at 10 a.m. in the vacant lot adjacent to the Tamalpais Valley's Fire Station No. 1, 309 Poplar Street.

Furniture, electronics equipment and a variety of household goods and miscellaneous items will also be available.

Proceeds from the event will go to the volunteer association's community activities fund.

DEMOCRATIC FORMAT?

New Governmental Look Hinted For West Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—According to one draft constitution circulating among ranking officials in West Pakistan, the nation appears to be a little closer to democracy than when the army mounted its campaign to regain federal control of rebellious East Pakistan.

The draft is one of several that have grown out of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's announcement June 28 of a plan to transfer power to elected representatives. The plan called for Yahya to present to the National Assembly within about four months a consitution drafted by a "Committee of Experts" guided by him.

Details of the draft were made available by a source close to ranking military figures who are considered likely to play a major role in approval of the final document.

It would call for a unicameral legislature easily adopted from the National Assembly elected last December for the purpose of drafting a constitution.

In addition, there would be a "Supreme Executive" consisting of military leaders along with members of the assembly that would have power to overrule the legislature. Included in its powers would be the ability to dissolve the legislature without abrogating the Constitution.

If such a draft were adopted, it would leave the military backers of Yahya as firmly in control of the nation's destiny as they are now. It could go part way toward mollifying West Pakistani political interests, who would be the dominating force in the National Assembly.

Such a consitution, however, probably would not go far toward satisfying aid-donating nations that have been holding back on further commitments until it becomes clear what political steps the Yahya government has in mind. But some observers feel that this may make no difference even though Pakistan depends heavily on aid.

"Their image in the rest of the world is perhaps not too dominant a factor," said one foreign diplomatic source. "The lid's on here."

There have been few indications that the lid may be loosening. The membership of the constitution-drafting "committee" and any progress it is making have been kept a tightly guarded secret.

Yahya's speech said that a list would be issued of National Assembly members from East Pakistan who would not be allowed to attend because of participation in "anti-state activities" and that there would be by-elections to select replacements for them. So far the list has not appeared and there has been no word on the elections.

In West Pakistan within the last few weeks police have begun rounding up political activists in Sind Province who might make similar cries for autonomy as were heard in East Pakistan before the March 25 outbreak of civil war there.

There also are indications that the Yahya government may be facing the prospect of losing much of its foreign aid.

The government out back imports sharply and declared a unilateral six-month moratorium on repayment of foreign aid debts. It has expanded imports of textile products it formerly sold in East Pakistan in a bid to earn more foreign exchange.

Last month the Pakistan government published figures showing it held $214 million worth of foreign exchange reserves, a $44 million increase over the February figure.

How long the situation will continue is a matter of argument. Some economic sources believe it could go on indefinitely unless the government makes major purchases of sophisticated military hardware.

Others point out that the textiles Pakistan is now exporting to new markets in the Middle East are below world standard in quality and likely are a one-shot deal. They point out further that East Pakistan produced 45 per cent of the nation's foreign exchange and that the economy there is still crippled.

Despite belt-tightening by the government and continued growth of West Pakistan's economy there are indications that Pakistani officials are anxiously concerned about the future of foreign aid, particularly from the United States.

White House foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger apparently had nothing to say about future U.S. aid projects when he met with Yahya and other leaders in Islamabad early this month—just before his secret trip to Peking.

The U.S. government has announced it will go ahead with a request for an appropriation of $120 million for aid to Pakistan this fiscal year. But American officials have indicated it will be pegged to a request for changes in Pakistan's development scheme, taking into account the East Pakistan situation.

Children with vision, hearing and speech problems whose difficulties can be detected and treated before they reach school age can be spared a lot of anguish. That is the principle upon which the Marin Hearing and Speech Center is operating its mobile Project SEE program this summer. Preschool tots are afforded an unprecedented opportunity for professional screening. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about this vital program and its sponsoring agency in tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

On San Francisco Bay, they are saying, 1971 is "the year of the Knarr." Other yachtsmen nay dispute that claim. But there is no denying that it is an especially busy summer for the men and women who sail these classic 30-foot racing sloops. The pace will quicken as the dates draw near when the San Francisco Bay fleet will play host to the best skippers from the lands of the Vikings. The Marin Magazine offers you a preview tomorrow of the 1971 International Knarr Regatta and the preparations.

Loose Giants In 13-Game Candlestick Homestand

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants are loose again. They've endured the June swoon, and Thursday night as they headed home for a 13-game stand the Golden Gate must have been a pretty sight, because it looks as though the Giants have survived the July heebie-jeebies as well.

Willie Mays didn't have a thing to do with the Giants' second straight last-inning victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, but as the San Francisco club departed Three Rivers stadium it was the 40-year-old centerfielder who was leading the wisecracks.

"Man, I'm supposed to have the day off today and I'm working harder than ever, answering all these reporters' questions," Mays said. Mays has been under fire recently in the San Francisco press because of his indifferent attitude toward writers, but Thursday he was cooperative albeit sarcastic.

Rookie Jimmy Rosario, Mays' replacement in centerfield, was the man of the hour, making a sensational catch and singling home the winning run in the 10th inning of the 8-7 victory, but Mays was besieged by newsmen who wanted his opinion of his understudy's defensive gem.

"I didn't even see it," Mays said at first. "I was in the clubhouse going to the bath room. Ask Jimmy about it, he's the kid who caught it."

Finally, Mays relented. "Okay, I saw it," he said with a puckish grin. "Yeah, I thought he was going to get it, because he was playing Willie Stargell straight away. If he's playing Stargell shaded to right, it's trouble."

Rosario's pell-mell grab, with a runner on first and two out in the fifth, cost Stargell extra bases at a time when the Giants held a 6-3 lead.

The Giants took a 7-3 lead in the ninth, but the Pirates tied it with a four-run rally, the clutch blow being Roberto Clemente's two-run pinch double. Ken Henderson, tripling to start the San Francisco 10th, broke the tie by coming home on Rosario's single.

After the first two months of the season, the Giants built a big lead in the NL left, but the Los Angeles Dodgers cut the margin in half during a fearful June for San Francisco. Even with a 2-1 series victory over Pittsburgh, top club in the East, the Giants are only 10-10 in July, but they're off the road and no longer appear to be looking over their shoulders.

"There's just the right mixture on this club," San Francisco manager Charlie Fox said. "We got some age and we got some youth, and nobody ever gives up. If there was a time to give up, it would have been after the Pirates tied it up in the ninth."

Fox was asked if the three games with the Pirates would affect either team psychologically if they should meet in the league's pennant playoff.

"I don't see how they could," he said. "These were games decided by breaks. The Pirates almost came back to tie us in the 10th, but Jose Pagan's liner is right at somebody and it's a double play. Baseball's still a trial and error game. That's what this series was all about."

And the Giants, perennial second-place finishers, give signs that most of their errors are behind them.

Ali Out To Prove Himself

HOUSTON (UPI) —Muhammad Ali, prankish in public but contemplative in private, believes he will be "over the hill" if he loses to his former sparring partner, Jimmy Ellis, Monday night.

He is out to prove himself all over again since he lost his heavyweight championship fight with Joe Frazier earlier this year.

"If I lose, I'll lose my shot at Frazier, my prestige," Ali said Thursday. "I'll be over the hill. I've got to prove I can come back."

Minutes earlier the former champ had clowned with three sparring partners, falling down twice and tossing quips to the delighted crowd that follows him wherever he goes.

"I'll knock him down if you'll be the next sparring partner," he called to a spectator after he fell down sparring with Eddie Brooks. "If I hit him he'd have no more help."

Ali took another dive after dancing around Ray Martin, Houston's "Fighting Preacher." He waved Martin off and ducked into the lockerroom, where he turned more serious.

"When you reach a certain popularity, you never get where you have nothing to do," the 29-year-old fighter said. "In this age, few experience home living, the relaxation of staying at home, mowing the grass.

"I'm always traveling, visiting, in hotel lobbies. There are so many messages to answer and calls. If you can get by that, you can train. But it's not hard to get up for this fight."

Ali weighed 218 after the 60-minute workout. He wants to cut down to 213 for the 12-round fight at the Astrodome Monday.

He left the hall, pausing on his way out to taunt Ellis.

"We left you alone when you were in there (the ring)," said Angelo Dundee, Ali's former manager who now works for Ellis. "Go on."

But Ali grabbed his old friend by the collar. They exchanged insults and then Ali climbed into the ring and pushed Ellis against the wall.

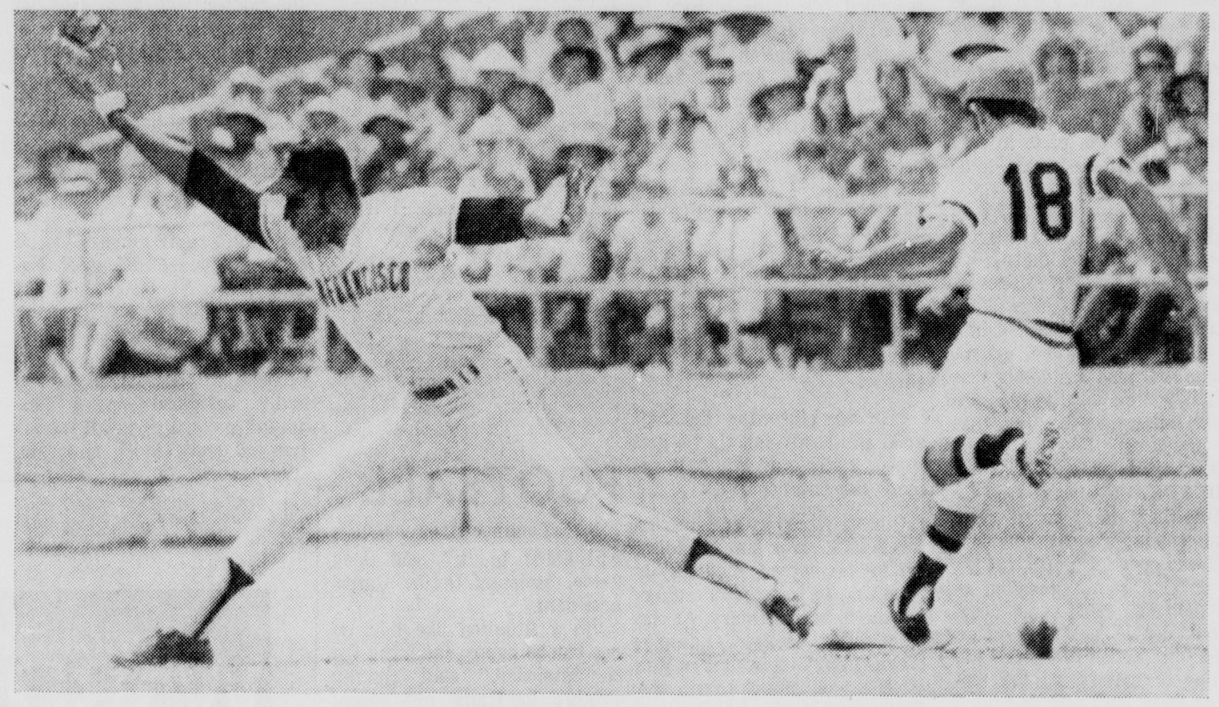
When the high-spirited Ali left the hall, the crowd dissolved. Dundee and Ellis enjoyed the horseplay, but they haven't forgotten about Monday night either.

"I know his weaknesses and his strong points," Ellis said. "He has a jab and can sneak a right hand over the jab. But he keeps his chin up and doesn't block punches.

"I've beaten everybody out there but Frazier and this is my chance to redeem myself, come into my own," Ellis said, echoing the attitude of his opponent.

Dundee said he is not impressed by Ali's listed reach of 80 inches.

Finals For Marin Junior Tennis



BIG STRETCH BY WILLIE

San Francisco Giants' first baseman Willie McCovey, who has spent much of the season on the bench with bad knees, appeared healthy yesterday as he stretched for a throw in the first inning at Pittsburgh. Vic Davililo of the Pirates raced to first after hitting the ball to Tito Fuentes. The Giants won, 8-7 in 10 innings. (UPI Telephoto)

Youths Go For Titles Today

The doubles team of Dorsey Hook and Sue Beatty stormed to victory twice, while in singles the favorites continued to roll as the 18th annual Marin Junior tennis tournament progressed through semi-final matches yesterday in San Rafael.

Finals were scheduled for today in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department-Independent Journal co-sponsored tourney, which is being played at four different sites.

Miss Hook and Miss Beatty, both of Tiburon, ripped off wins in girls 14 and 18 action to launch themselves into the finals in both classes. In the older group, they downed Leslie Caulfield and Sue McCormick, 6-1, 6-1, while in the 14's they beat Wanda Capurro and Ellen Fridegar, 6-0, 6-1.

Oddly enough, Miss Hook and Miss Beatty should have an easier time winning the 18's final than the 14's where they must play defending champions Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae and Lisa Beritzhoff of Mill Valley. These girls blanked Kathy Hanley and Andres Goldfien in their semi-final match, 6-0, 6-0.

Steve DeMartini and John Beritzhoff, brothers of the girls 14 finalists, continued to look like the favorites they are in boys 16 doubles as they defeated Matt Khourie and Collin Reeves, 6-3, 6-4. DeMartini and Beritzhoff will play in the finals against George de Urioste and Tom Jasek, who downed Pete Morse and Gary Wasley in their semi-final match, 6-0, 6-4.

In singles finals today the feature match will pit DeMartini against doubles partner Beritzhoff for the boys 16 title. DeMartini gained the finals with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Marcus Robinson, while Beritzhoff beat Grant Grinnell, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Beritzhoff and Carmelita de Urioste of Mill Valley will

Shoulder Surgery For Bart Starr

GREEN BAY (UPI)—Veteran Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr, 37, announced today he would undergo an operation on his right shoulder in the hopes it would allow him to return to active duty with the team sometime this season.

Starr's arm, which has troubled him at least part of all the last three seasons, was thought to have mended during the off-season due to a strengthening program worked out by Packer trainers and new Head Coach and General Manager Dan Devine.

But when training camp started and Starr began throwing he developed the same pain in his shoulder he has experienced the last three years. He was ordered not to throw this week and Wednesday flew to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., to check out his arm.

IN GOLF LEAD

Palmer Of Old Thrills His Army

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — It did Arnold Palmer good to get away from the competitive grind of the pro golf circuit, and Lee Trevino can't wait to try the same thing.

Palmer, who took a two-week vacation from the circuit after the Canadian open early this month, returned to the "war" Thursday like the Arnold Palmer of old as he fired an eight-under-par 64 to take the first round lead in the $250,000 Westchester classic.

The 41-year-old Palmer, once the kingpin of pro golf, played a flawless round over the 6,700-yard, part-72 Westchester Country Club course as he carded eight birdies and not a single bogey to the delight of his famed "army," which screamed and applauded ecstatically on virtually every shot.

It was the best round of golf Palmer has achieved since the greater Greensboro open in April of last year when he also fired a 64, and it gave him a one-stroke lead over Larry Wood, a virtual unknown from Boone, N.C., who is in only his second year on the tour.

"That two-week layoff definitely helped me in a lot of ways," said Palmer. "It was what I really needed to do. I should have done it earlier. I kept pushing myself this spring and I shouldn't have done it. I just can't play five, six or seven weeks in a row like I used to."

Palmer, whose putting had given him trouble since early in the year, got his touch back on the greens as he needed only 27 putts to complete his round. He had nine one-putt greens, including birdie putts of 22, 18 and 15 feet. More significant, however, was the way he attacked the course. It was just like old times as he hit 16 greens in regulation.

"I have confidence in my putting again," Palmer admitted. "That made me feel good. I had been getting down on myself because I was putting so poorly. Developing confidence in my putting has brought the old desire back."

It was a completely different story for Trevino, however. The U.S. and British open champion just couldn't get his game together and he struggled in with a lackluster 71. Trevino recorded an eagle on the 500-yard, par-5 12th hole but had three three-putt greens and blamed lack of concentration for his poor performance.

"I'm hitting the ball good, but I'm not thinking properly," said Trevino. "Things are starting to get on my nerves a little bit. I realize this is the price one pays for being on top, but I can't get a minute by myself since I've been here. It's starting to bug me.

"I think I'm playing a little too much. This is my 13th tournament in a row and I plan to take two weeks off after next week. I can't concentrate. I'm doing things on the course my wife wouldn't do, and she's a 12-handicapper."

Jack Nicklaus, co-favorite with Trevino in the tournament, also had a lot of problems in his opening round. Big Jack, bothered by some sort of allergy which casued him to have trouble seeing, needed five birdies on the last seven holes to finish at even par 72.

"I had a funny round. I was making mistakes one after another," said Nicklaus. "I had a little allergy problem, some trouble with my eyes, and I had trouble focusing. But once I knocked in a few birdies I stopped worrying about my eyes. I never had the problem before."

The most surprising round of the day was turned in by wood, a 32-year-old graduate of Southern Illinois who only started playing regularly on the tour last year. His round of 65 was the lowest he has ever achieved on the circuit.

"I missed the cut last year on this course and I never have played well here," said Wood. "I like it pretty good now. I feel I played a real solid round and I feel I can play just as good every day."

There were 58 golfers of the 150 who teed off who broke par on the first day. Defending champion Bruce Crampton and veteran Ken still were one stroke behind Wood at 66 and Gibby Gilbert was alone in fifth place with 67. Ron Cerrudo of Napa shot a 69.

49er Star Praised By Nolan

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — San Francisco 49er coach Dick Nolan Thursday had high words of priase for wide receiver Gene Washington after his team had concentrated on passing offense during training camp workouts.

"He really looked in mid-season form," Nolan said.

Washington, a third-year veteran from Stanford, proved a terror in the NFL last year when he led the league in pass reception yardage with 1,100 yards on 53 catches.

Two 49er veterans complained of minor injuries Thursday. Linebacker Dave Wilcox, who had an off-season knee operation, developed water on the knee, and No. 2 quarterback Steve Spurrier suffered what was believed to be a muscle spasm in the back. Nolan said neither injury appeared to be serious.

Although the 49ers avoided contact Thursday, Nolan planned a long scrimmage for Saturday. The team will have the day off Sunday.

Bando In High Gear For A's In Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) —The Oakland A's open a 14-game road tour tonight against Detroit with the pleasant feeling of having Sal Bando's bat in gear again.

Bando, who had been in a terrible slump, whacked a two-run homer in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the A's a 3-3 tie against Cleveland. The big third baseman then came back to drive in the winning run in the 12th inning with a sacrifice fly.

Before Wednesday's game, Bando was hitless in his last 24 games at bat.

"That's got to be one of the biggest hits I've ever gotten here," Banco said. "We've got to keep our lead in double figures, especially going into this road trip."

Oakland leads the American League West division by 10 1-2 games over second place Kansas City.

The A's Jim Hunter will be looking for his 12th win of the year tonight against Detroit. Hunter, who has lost nine times, will hurl against the Tigers' Joe Niekro (2-4).

Suyderhoud Among Stars In Ski Meet

Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo will be out to defend his title in the second annual California World Cup Invitational water ski meet this weekend at Berkeley's Aquatic Park.

More than two-dozen stars from seven nations will compete in the event which starts at 10 a.m. tomorrow and 11 a.m. Sunday.

Suyderhoud, two-time world champion is now a veteran of 21 and insists that "the kids are better than ever."

That was the same message from pretty Barbara Clack, 27-year-old airline stewardess from Miami, who will be in Berkeley to defend her women's jump honors.

"They're just getting young — and better — every year," she said of her rivals.

Wayne Grimditch is one of the teen-age phenoms who is 16. Most of the other competitors are under 20.

Three tournament events — slalom, jump and trick — will be held in both men's and women's divisions.

Already A Bad Year For Pats

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

It's a bad year for the New England Patriots already and the season doesn't open for another two months.

The Patriots, who lost defensive lineman Phil Olsen and quarterback Joe Kapp because of contract entanglements, received compensation Thursday for Olsen's loss from Pete Rozelle, the National Football League Commissioner, and they weren't a bit happy.

The Los Angeles Rams signed Olsen when the former All American from Utah State wrangled free from his contract because of a loophole concerning the option clause. The Rams, therefore, owed New England compensation. Meetings between the two clubs failed and Rozelle, called on to arbitrate the dispute, awarded New England the Rams' No. 1 draft choice next season, additional monetary compensation and decreed that the Rams must return to the Patriots all bonuses paid to Olsen.

Olsen was hurt prior to the start of the 1970 season and has yet to appear in an NFL game.

The Patriots felt they didn't receive enough for Olsen and the Rams, naturally, claim they have to give up too much.

"I am totally unhappy with the compensation and I don't agree with the decision one iota," said Upton Bell, the Pats' general manager.

"The Commissioner made the decision and while the Rams do not necessarily agree, we certainly recognize his obligation to make it and, of course,

Oliver Quits Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) —Chip Oliver has left, but Jack Tatum will be there.

Oliver, the Oakland Raider linebacker who quit football a year ago to join a commune, left the Raiders summer training camp.

"I just can't make it," Oliver said Wednesday as he packed his bags and returned to Berkeley on his Honda. "I just couldn't get my psyche up. It was different when I was a rookie. I had something to prove then."

Oliver, who reported to camp at 185 pounds and was on a vegetarian diet, had hinted earlier his reactions were dull and his legs weak.

"I don't want anybody to think that someone might have treated me bad here," Oliver said. "People bent over backwards to give me a chance."

But as Oliver left, the Raiders signed another defensive star, Jack Tatum-their top draft choice from Ohio State.

The signing of Tatum, a defensive back, was unusual since it was announced Thursday by Tatum's agent, Tony Razzano, in Chicago, where Tatum is working out for the College All Star game.

Razzano said Tatum signed a "multi-year contract" but did not disclose the terms of the pact.

Meanwhile, the Raiders went through their first day of full scale practice Thursday with Tom Maxwell, obtained in a trade with Baltimore at free safety.

Steve Stone's Unique Problem

PITTSBURGH — It was here in Pittsburgh that Steve Stone won his first major league game April 23. And it was here in Pittsburgh that the rookie righthander was sent to Phoenix last Tuesday.

Such emotional moments of elation and depression are ironical extremes in the life of a 24-year-old pitcher with a unique problem. Yes, Stone's problem is unique. He throws strikes that are too good. It didn't take enemy major league batters long to discover this. They also were quick to notice that Stone was the kind of gentlemanly pitcher who didn't knock batters down. So they dug in at the plate for lusty swings.

STONE FACED every National League team, except Cincinatti, during the 106 innings he pitched in 19 starts and one relief. First time around, the young man out of Kent State enjoyed success. He was 4-2 in his first 10 starts. His first major league win was a 2-0 shutout of the Pirates on five hits.

"A one-time elation never to be experienced again," was the way Stone put it April 23 when the Giants made their first visit of the season to Pittsburgh.

THAT INITIAL victory over the Pirates was followed with wins over Atlanta and Montreal and by the end of May Stone seemed to be on his way to a sensational season. But in June and July he was making his second appearances against batters. And they began to belt line drives off him. Between June 1 and July 18 stone made nine starts. He was the loser in eight of them. The hits finally mounted to 106, exactly the number of innings pitched by Stone.

"I've never previously had to tell a pitcher not to throw strikes," said Charlie Fox.

Did the manager of the Giants actually tell the rookie not to throw strikes?

"NOT IN THOSE words," said Fox. "After all, strikes are the secret of pitching but they must strip the plate in segments not split the middle to be effective.

"Stone is going to be all right. He'll be back with us. You can be sure of that. If we hadn't been pressed for an extra starter at the outset of the season, we could have left him at Phoenix for more experience. You must remember that this is just his third year in pro ball. And remember, too, that he did a very fine job for us during April and May."

DURING HIS stay at Phoenix Stone will work on an off-speed changeup to go with his fast vall and curve. He also will try to develop some deception in his delivery, such as an occasional double pump or some other distraction to disturb the timing of batters. At the moment there isn't any deception in Stone's motion.

But he learns fast as indicated by his swift promotions from Class A ball at Fresno in 1969 to Class AA last year at Amarillo and finally to AAA competition at Phoenix in the closing weeks of the 1970 season.

N.L. ROUNDUP

Bullet Bob Blanks Phillies

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bob Gibson, who has thrown bullets throughout most of his career, was busy throwing blanks Thursday night.

Gibson, the hard-throwing St. Louis right-hander, pitched his first shutout of the season in leading the Cardinals to an 8-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Gibson, on the 21-day disabled list earlier this season because of a muscle tear in his leg, recorded his third victory in seven starts since returning to the starting rotation. The three time Cy Young Award winner allowed only five hits in posting his seventh victory against nine defeats.

He admitted that he wasn't as sharp as he was 10 or even five years ago.

"Did I throw as well as I did 10 years ago; No. As well as I did five years ago; No. I threw as hard as I have since coming off the disabled list," said Gibson.

"He was throwing the ball good and hard. Tonight he had super stuff," added batterymate Ted Simmons.

Gibson, whose seven victories this season gives him a total of 197 for his career, gradually is returning to form after suffering the disabling injury. At one point this season, despite claims from Gibson that he was pitching well enough to win, the 35-year old Cardinal hurler lost four consecutive games for the first time since 1968. He has lost four or more in a row only five times in 13 years with his worst streak being six in 1965.

In other National League action San Francisco downed Pittsburgh 8-7, in 10 innings, New York whipped Chicago 5-1, Atlanta blanked San Diego 1-0, Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 8-4 and Houston beat Montreal 8-2.

Tom Seaver pitched a six-hitter for his first victory since June 29 to give the Mets the triumph over Chicago. Tommie Agee hit his 10th and 11th homers and scored a third run to help Seaver, who struck out 10, win his 11th game.

Jesus Alou and Denis Menke supplied all the power that Houston needed by driving in three runs each against the Expos. Alou lashed a three-run double with two out in the first inning to climax a four-run rally. Menke walked to force in a run in the first and cracked a two-run double to highlight a four-run outburst in the eighth.

Ralph Garr, pinch-hitting in the eighth inning, got the last of three singles the Braves mustered against the Padres' Tom Phoebus and sent home the game's only run to help Atlanta sweep its four-game series with San Diego.

Al Downing notched his 12th victory against six losses and finished with his ninth complete game of the year as he strengthened his claim to "Comeback Player Of The Year."

Bill Buckner hit his fourth homer of the season and Willie Crawford got three hits as the Dodgers, winners of only three of their last 15 games, tagged Jim McGlothlin with his seventh loss against five victories.

will abide by it," said Jack Teele, assistant to the Rams' president.

"In a situation like this, no one can be happy, including the commissioner," said Tommy Prothro, the Rams' new coach.

Olsen's acquisition from the Patriots took on even greater importance Thursday when Rick Cash, the leading candidate for the defensive tackle slot for the Rams, suffered a broken left leg and was declared lost for the rest of the season. Olsen now may play next to his older brother, Merlin, an All-Pro who is the Rams' regular left tackle.

"Whenever you lose someone like that, it sure is a blow," said Prothro. "But at least we have a little more depth in the defensive line than at the other positions. It will be either Olsen or Dick Evey."

Elsewhere in the training camps, Bob Jeter, a veteran cornerback for Green Bay, was traded to the Chicago Bears for running back Ross Montgomery.

Two young quarterbacks—Sam Havrilak and Karl Douglas—starred in the Baltimore camp. Havrilak, a running back the last two seasons, hit 5-for-5 and Douglas, a rookie from Texas A&I, completed 3-of-5, including a 55-yard touchdown to rookie Dan Pederson, in the Colts' workout.

Joe Namath, anxious to return to the football wars after sitting out most of last season with a broken wrist, turned in a stunning 12-for-14 passing performance in the New York Jets' camp while Chip Oliver, who retired a year ago to live in a commune, quit again after a brief comeback try with Oakland.

Linebacker Chip Healy announced his retirement at the St. Louis Cardinals' camp and two players—former All America Leroy Keyes and tight end Fred Hill—were injured in the Philadelphia Eagles' camp.

Keyes, who has yet to develop as a pro, suffered a broken collarbone while Hill sustained a torn rib cartilage.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Valuable 'Fringe Player'

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Life with the Baltimore Orioles has been filled with little but frustration for Dave Leonhard, who calls himself a "fringe player on a great team."

He had little chance of looking forward to pitching for the World Champions before the season began. He wanted to be traded, and if he wasn't traded he was going to quit.

He wasn't traded and he didn't quit, and now Dave Leonhard is a very important person with the Orioles. He is the pitcher who must pick up the extra weight while Dave McNally and Tom Dukes are on the disabled list.

On Thursday night, the 29-year-old right-hander started his first game in two years and recorded a 4-0 shutout over the Kansas City Royals with a five-hitter.

In other American League games, Chicago defeated Boston 4-2, New York beat Minnesota 13-4 and Milwaukee shut out Washington 2-0.

"This was a big game because we had been playing bad," Leonhard said. "This doesn't mean I've got it made. I'm still under the hammer to go back to Rochester when McNally and Dukes come off the disabled list. Next time I might go out and not do so well and I'd be right back where I started. You just never know when you're a fringe player like I am on a great team like this."

It was the first start for Leonhard since July 18, 1969 when he started against Boston, and last year he pitched only 28 innings for an 0-0 record.

"I had a bad year in 1970," he explained. "I was supposed to be the long man in relief. My job was to come in when McNally or Mike Cuellar got knocked out early. That never happened.

"I was hoping they would trade me but they didn't, so I went back to Rochester," he added.

With a 7-4 record at Rochester, Leonhard was called up to the Orioles on July 6 when Dukes went on the disabled list. After getting to pitch only 10 1-3 innings previously for Baltimore, Leonhard gave up only five hits to boost his record to 2-0. A leadoff double by Jerry May in the sixth was the only extra base hit he allowed, and the Royals put two men on base in only the seventh inning.

Dave Johnson and Merv Rettenmund homered and scored two runs apiece to give him the victory.

Horace Clarke got four hits, including a bases loaded triple, as the Yankees shelled five Minnesota pitchers for 16 hits. Fritz Peterson, who had lost to the Twins in 12 of the previous 15 times he faced them, had an easy time gaining the victory although he gave up 11 hits.

Skip Lockwood and Ken Sanders of Milwaukee combined on a five-hitter to end the Senators' four-game winning streak. The Brewers scored in the second inning on Ted Kubiak's triple and a sacrifice fly by Dave May and added an unearned run in the seventh when Kubiak walked, May beat out a bunt and Don Mincher made an error on a grounder by Lockwood.

Wilbur Wood and Bart Johnson scattered nine singles to give the White Sox a 4-2 victory and break Boston's string of nine victories against Chicago.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Oscar "Shotgun" Albarado, 150, Uvalde, Tex., stopped Freddie Jones, 147 1-2, Los Angeles (1).

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Richie Sue, 128, Portland, Ore., outpointed Nick Agahi, 133, San Francisco (10).

San Diego Clears Move For Warriors

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —The way apparently is clear for the San Francisco Warriors to play half their home games in the San Diego International Arena.

The City Council Thursday authorized Graymont, Ltd., to operate the International Sports Arena, which had been having financial problems under its previous owner, San Diego Sports Enterprises, Inc.

Franklin Mieuli, owner of the NBA Warriors, has not been available to answer reports that he'll play half his games here, but no team spokesman has denied it.

Mieuli reportedly Thursday agreed to give a percentage of receipts at local games to keep the city's high school sports program afloat.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks announced Thursday they acquired 6-foot-8 forward Toby Kimball from the Houston Rockets for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Kimball, a five year veteran in the National Basketball Association was a third round draft choice of the Boston Celtics in 1965 after leading college rebounds with 21 boards per game for the University of Connecticut.

Football

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Rick Cash, leading candidate to succeed the departed Diron Talbert as the Los Angeles Rams' regular right defensive tackle, was lost for the season Thursday when he suffered a broken left leg in a scrimmage with the San Diego Chargers.

Cash, a four-year veteran who missed half of last season with a broken arm, fractured a fibula and tibia on the first play of the two-hour scrimmage when his cleats caught in the grass.

Grand Slam Paces Softball Victory

Gary Swarm crashed a first inning grand slam home run and Ed Fissee pitched a three-hitter to give Perry's Delicatessen a 12-1 victory over the Doves last night in San Rafael adult softball league action.

In other games, Jacobsen Machine Shop downed the Bums, 9-1, and Hub City routed the Squids, 17-5.

Kester and Giese Team For Victory

Mrs. Harry Kester and Mrs. James Giese teamed for a 65-14½-48½ to win a Borchert Scotch Ball tournament yesterday at Las Gallinas Golf Course.

In a stroke play tourney, Mrs. Charles Stewart won with a 74-17-57.

Swim Club Gets Use Of Pool

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission last night granted the request of the Petaluma Swim Club to hold a special swim meet at the city pool on Aug. 28 and 29.

Commission secretary Phyllis Brewer said the commission agreed to close the pool for recreational swimming, but asked Recreation Director Richard W. Shollenberger to see if the Petaluma High School pool could be opened for public use.

The swim club said the Amateur Athletic Union meet would bring an expected attendance of 1,000 people and would greatly increase the normal pool revenue for the weekend.

Hub Softballers In Title Defense

Sohner Tree Service begins defense of the Tri-County (Marin, Sonoma, Mendocino) District softball championship tonight when the San Anselmo club meets Sebastopol, 2-1 winner over Healdsburg in one of the opening games.

Game time is 8:30 at Santa Rosa's Howarth Park.

The red-hot Treemen, winner of their last 15 games, drew an open round bye in the nine-team double elimination tournament.

The Sohner team, which captured the 1970 title by winning six straight in the losers' bracket and then sweeping a storybook doubleheader on the final night, is the only Marin club in the tourney.

The winner of the district championship advances to the state tournament later in Redding.

After the state tourney comes the Western Regionals in Hayward and the World Tournament in Springfield, Ill.

But before the Treemen can make any plans about a trip to Redding for their fourth State Tournament bid in the last six years, they will have to worry about winning in Santa Rosa.

In contrast to last year when Sohner was the Cinderella team, the San Anselmo club is heavily favored to win the title this season.

Herb Dower, a Northern California softball expert and a sportswriter for the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat tabs the Treemen as the team to beat.

"Sohner is probably the strongest team we've had in this area in the last 10 to 15 years," said Dower. "With their two top pitchers (Morey Swarm and Chuck Tyson) and the best defensive team I've seen in a long time, they should be highly favored to repeat."

In addition to the pitchers, Dower had particular praise for both catcher Jess Munyon and shortstop Ron Blum. "They're simply two of the best players around," Dower said.

Another big factor going for the Treemen is momentum. In addition to sweeping their last 15 games and winning through the recent 13-team Petaluma Invitational Tournament, the Sohner team has been first and second in all league and tournaments in which they have competed.

Swarm (14-3) is expected to get the starting assignment tonight. Munyon (.258) will be catching while the starting infield will be comprised of Sandy Ingersol .234) at first, Ron McCamish (.228) at second, Milt Hain (.263) at third and Blum (.259) at short.

The starting outfield will be selected from Carlo Alioto(.220), Art Donati (.258), Keith Fraser (.260), Dennis Staub (.304) and Doug Wilson (.282).

FISH AND GAME

Some Old-Timers Suddenly Turn Young

By AL GIDDINGS

This is too good not to tell you about! It all started a number of months ago when Janet Alexander of San Anselmo called me about doing an article on "ducks" for Sports Afield magazine. I gave her some local help and her completed article should be out in November.

Jan has done quite a number of magazine articles on outdoor subjects and holds some kind of woman's fishing record for a Nile River Perch that she caught a few years ago. It weighed close to two hundred pounds. But now she wanted to do an article on salmon fishing for this area. What better deal, says I, than to introduce her to the crew of the "LO-HAT." Of course that did it!

Bob Lockinauer, Pop Hansen and Sam Knoles were elated! These three old bucks, having a good looking blonde write about them, were overjoyed. The trip was set up - and away they went. I went along too - not to do a fishing story - but to record the antics of the unholy three!

We all met at 5 a.m. at the Red Kettle - San Rafael's morning breakfast club, where the good-looking waitresses even serve you in hot pants occasionally. Janet arrived on time! Everybody took a pill (for seasickness) and away we went. Jan supplied an enormous lunch of cold meats, french bread, beer, sodas, cookies, fruit, etc. She had it made! The "boys" liked that!

As we left Loch Lomond, Sam says, "Look at the beautiful morning sunrise!" Oh brother! He never said that before! So the pattern of the trip was set. "Isn't the bridge beautiful in the fog?" "It's a lovely day!" Those three old goats became the Princes' of the Sea! Lock even took issue with me stating his age as 60 in a past column. Today, he was only 59!

After a lot of this goo-la, we finally got to the fishing grounds somewhere between Duxbury and Double Point. Who caught the first fish? Janet did! Then she caught the second! Then Sam got a 36-pounder. Oh, this called for kisses and everything! All this so upset me, that everytime I got a salmon on, I lost it. That happened three times! Then I got a pat on the head and heard these uncomforting words: "Don't worry, you'll get the next one!"

I never did! Pop Hansen got a 20 pounder on, and of course, Janet was snapping pictures all the time (The sea was flat). You know what happened then? Hansen got his pants caught in the rod holder and tears them open. That was the end! If Pop's picture shows up in Sport's Afield, I don't know what people will think! How I wished that I had brought my camera along.

That was the way it went! We ended up with six salmon, two big ones and four that weighed maybe eight pounds each. For show, two legal fish (21-inchers) were thrown back! You should have seen Sam's face when this happened, but he never said a word; he just looked apopletic.

THE MELLO'S called me about Tomales. They got their first day in up there last Tuesday. It was a long slow day, but they mailed two 16-pounders. Tomales Bay is a sleeper, ready to come alive! The seas were calm there too, though afternoon winds do come up. If you are in a small boat, come in! The bar at the mouth of Tomales can be unbelievably dangerous - and in a sneaky sort of a way. A large ground swell will suddenly break with you in its crest. If you broach, you'll end up in the drink. Take life jackets everytime. Lots of people wear them there all the time!

LLOYD KAHN of Tiburon called to say that he landed a 45-pounder last Sunday off Duxberry from his boat, "The Hullo Blue". There's talk of that big fish that someone held up out there as weighing 62 pounds. I can't yet locate the angler who caught it!

Phil Simon of Corte Madera got a 25-pound bass and a six-pounder trolling the Brothers one early morn this week.

Ralston Vs. Drysdale In Key Match

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Californian Dennis Ralston, who upset fifth-seeded Marty Riessen, 6-4, 6-3, Thursday in the First National Tennis Classic, clashes with Cliff Drysdale, of South Africa today in the singles quarter-finals.

In today's other quarter-finals, Ray Ruffles, of Australia, meets Ismail El Shafei; Tom Okker of the Netherlands plays John Alexander, and veteran Roy Emerson goes against Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia, who beat top-seeded Arthur Ashe in Monday's opening round.

Ralston credited a new experimental fiber glass racket for his upset victory Thursday.

But his well-placed drop shots and concentration also figured in the victory. He caught Riessen flat-footed several times and forced him to run frequently.

Drysdale was impressive Thursday in his 7-5, 6-3 triumph over Charles Pasarell, of Puerto Rico. He came from a 4-2 deficit to take the first set.

Drysdale was able to convince the baseline judge to change one out call to "good" on a crucial point in the set with Pasarell.

"I was very pleased that he changed his mind," he said later. "I knew the shot was good."

In Thursday's other singles match, Okker ousted Andres Gimeno, of Spain, 6-2, 6-4.

Okker fell behind, 4-1, in the second set, before blasting his way through five straight games.

In doubles play Thursday, Ken Rosewall-Fred Stolle downed Torben Ulrich-Roy Barth, 6-2, 6-7; Bob Carmichael-Ruffles downed Rob Maud-Fred McMillan, 6-4, 6-3, and Rod Laver-Roy Emerson beat John Alexander-Phil Dent, 7-6, 6-3.

NBA: We Won't Raid Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association told representatives of college coaches Thursday that his league has "no desire nor intent to raid the college campuses nor to impede the orderly flow of college athletes."

During the two-hour meeting with William L. Wall, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and Bill Foster, the vice president, Kennedy said the NBA teams would forfeit their first draft choice for 1972 if they selected a "hardship" case in the first round of the supplementary draft scheduled for Sept. 10.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The position of your hand and forearm at delivery is vital. The back of the right hand and forearm should form a straight line as you hold the ball at address and throughout delivery. This is important for consistency, for if this line is maintained the ball will roll with approximately the same motion every time.

Leahy Improves, Still Serious

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy, who piloted the Fighting Irish to four national titles in 11 years, is reported making progress from his recent surgery.

A hospital spokesman said Thursday that the 62-year-old Leahy, who was listed in critical condition last week, was "still listed as serious, but he's out of intensive care and his condition continues to improve."

Leahy became ill while on a business trip and was hospitalized immediately on his return home. In recent years, Leahy has lived in Lake Oswego, Ore., and is presently an officer of the Canteen Corporation of Chicago.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Dividends Depend On Net Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have been told that regardless of the price fluctuations of a stock the dividend remains secure. Is this true? — S.D.

A. Yes, under normal conditions. Corporate profits are shared with stockholders through the payment of cash dividends. The amount is determined by net income and the individual corporation's policy of paying out a percentage of its net earnings. Some average as much as 75 per cent of earnings; some pay no dividends.

As long as net income is well maintained, the dividend is usually secure, regardless of daily price fluctuations. However, if earnings slide, the price of the stock usually declines. And, when the gap narrows between net income and the dividend payment, doubt arises as to the safety of the dividend.

If the stock continues to trade lower, the yield naturally increases until the latter many times rises above the interest rate currently being paid on savings accounts and other fixed income vehicles. When a common stock is selling to yield 8 per cent versus an average interest return of 4½ per cent, it may be a signal that the market anticipates a cut. And, chances are a subsequent dividend declaration will be lower or possibly the dividend may be eliminated completely.

Q. I invested my life's savings in National Securities Series Growth Fund. Since it is below my original purchase price, should I hold or sell ? I was thinking of adding $500 a year for the next 5 years. — C.D.

A. As I have stated here on many occasions, one's entire savings should never be invested and certainly not in any one area. Not only are you concentrating risks, but you are not allowing any capital for personal use, emergency situations, etc.

National Securities Growth should be retained. It is a sound, well-managed fund and has performed admirably over the long term. Now, however, you should concentrate on building up a like amount in a savings account, after which you can start thinking about another suitable investment area.

Issues Move Narrowly On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks traded narrowly lower through the first two hours today on the New York Stock Exchange. Turnover was moderate.

Declines led advances, 599 to 421, among the 1,369 issues traded. The Standard & Poor's 500 stock index lost 0.18 to 98.93.

The Labor Department today announced the cost of living jumped 0.6 per cent in June, the sharpest increase in 14 months.

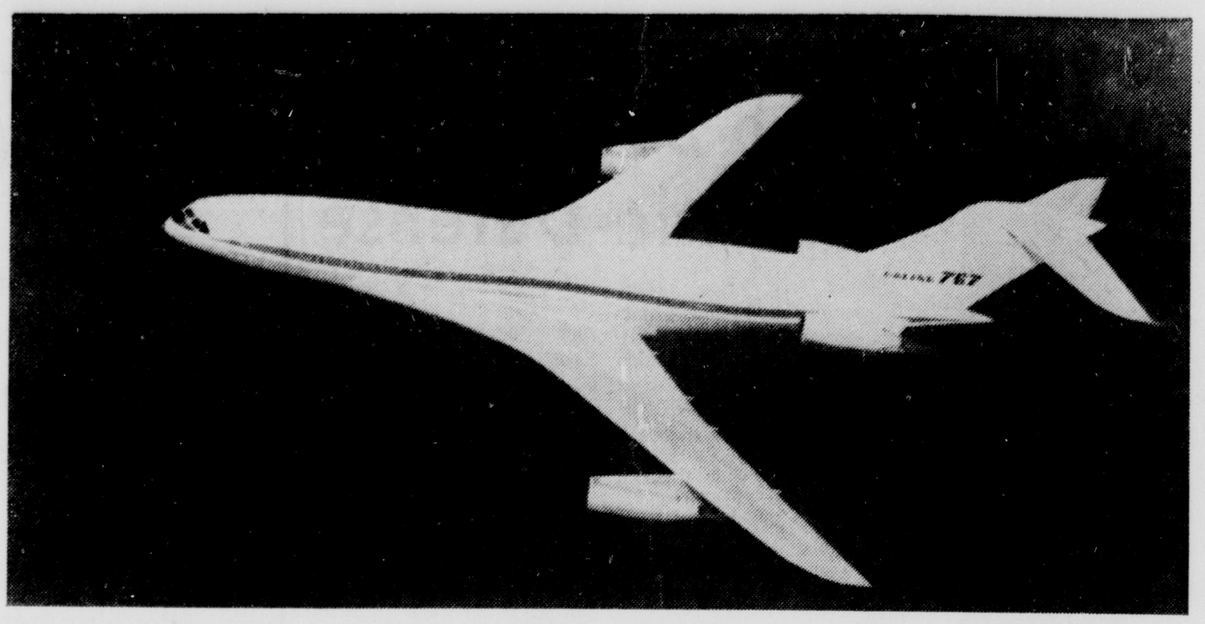
Observers said that despite the administration's claims that inflation is being controlled, the June rise indicates rising prices continued to plague the nation.

International Nickel, off 1-8, topped the active list. Second was Federated . Department Stores, unchanged. Bausch & Lomb, third, jumped 2⅝.

Issues of steel firms, which face an Aug. 1 strike deadline, moved in fractions. In the aircrafts, General Dynamics, Boeing and Lockheed each gained 1-8.

Chemicals and electronics were soft.

Instrument Systems, with about 39,000 shares traded, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were lower in moderate trading.



SLEEK, FAST BIRD OF THE FUTURE

This 200-passenger transport is one of several possible configurations being studied by the Boeing Company, Seattle, Wash., for future use in long-range air routes. The artist's concept shows the advanced technology transport with a sleek, highly swept wing, of new design, and a narrow-waisted body. The advancements with new engines would allow cruising speeds of Mach .98, more than 100 mile per hour faster than today's 707.

Working Mothers Labor Force Rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The number of children with mothers in the labor force increased sharply during the decade ending in 1970, reports the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Nearly 26 million children under 18 had mothers who were working or looking for work in March 1970, according to a bureau survey. Almost 6 million of these were under six years of age.

NEW MCPHAIL'S APPOINTEE — Paul S. Giles, newly created merchandise manager at McPhail's, Inc., will head operations of the San Rafael and Santa Rosa appliance departments and be responsible for developing a new merchandising program in all departments. He has been with Frigidaire Sales Corp. since 1958.

Gains In Sales

EL MONTE, CALIF. (BW) — Continued gains in sales of educational systems and navigation products helped lead Hoffman Electronics Corp. to a 46 per cent sales increase in the first half of 1971.

A MASSIVE RAIL DERAILMENT

Eighteen of 75 freight cars of a Burlington-Northern train are strung out on the track and along each side as the result of a crash with an earth-moving machine. Killed yesterday in the accident was Russell Antijunti, 39, of Longview, Wash. Train spokesmen said the driver apparently didn't see the train. The tracks, near Woodland, Wash., parallel new highway construction along Interstate 5. (UPI Telephoto)

Tiburon Police Unit Proposed In Report

Key Ideas: No Subunit, Contract To Belvedere

By GEORGE NEVIN

Police protection on the Tiburon Peninsula, now woefully inadequate, could be greatly improved if Tiburon forms its own police department and Belvedere contracts with it for police protection.

This is the conclusion of a two-month study of consolidation of police services in the two cities. It was conducted by former Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins, now police chief in Pleasant Hill.

If his recommendations are adopted, the entire peninsula will be served by a single police station in Tiburon and no substation would be built in Strawberry, where Tiburon officials have pledged to build such a station if annexation of the area is successful.

Under Kreins's proposal, the cost of police protection in Belvedere would drop from this year's $92,285 to $65,984. Tiburon's cost, however, would jump from $130,805 to $262,807.

Whether or not Kreins's plan is adopted, however, Tiburon faces a major increase in its police department costs beginning next year, because all parties to Tiburon's present contract for police service with the Marin County Sheriff's Department have announced the contract will not be renewed when it expires July 1.

Tiburon, therefore, would be faced with the establishment of its own police force anyway, a proposition Kreins estimates would cost $328,791 to provide protection to the entire peninsula.

"The City of Tiburon," Kreins says, "has been paying a lot less than would normally be paid for police service."

Krein's 99-page report gives choice of several variations on his primary recommendation but maintains that changes are necessary in the present setup, in which Belvedere operates its own police department and Tiburon contracts with the Marin County Sheriff's Department.

The Tiburon City Council will consider the report when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Consolidation of police services in the two communities was raised last December by Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood. A joint Belvedere-Tiburon citizens committee studied the idea and agreed it should be investigated by a consultant.

Kreins was hired to make the study. He received $2,500, with Tiburon contributing $2,000 and Belvedere $500.

Kreins says the present Belvedere force, consisting of a chief, a sergeant and three patrolmen, provides at best "only a watchman type service."

Although Kreins recognizes the importance to a small community such as Belvedere maintaining an autonomous police force, he states that "the disadvantages far outweigh the advantages of Belvedere maintaining its own police department . . . " But, of larger municipalities such as Tiburon, Kreins said, "I have never seen a contract situation that can provide a level of municipal service demanded by a municipality."

Since officials of both Marin County and Tiburon have declared the present contract for police protection by Tiburon dead after next July 1, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer has included in the current budget $61,000 in reserves to help pay for establishment of a police department for Tiburon next years.

The study recommends a department consisting of a police chief, lieutenant, three sergeants, 11 patrolmen, four dispatchers and a parking officer. Under this plan, the Belvedere City Council would decide what level of patrol service it desires and then pay Tiburon for that service.

Kreins estimates it would cost Tiburon $293,651 to run its own department beginning July 1, 1972, and $328,791 to operate a force capable of patrolling Belvedere as well.

But he recommends Belve-

Angela's Big Court Week Over

By JEFF GREER

Complicated legal wrangling over the indictment against Angela Davis droned on in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

The dry technical arguments finished out Miss Davis's most eventful week in court during the seven months she has spent thus far in Marin County Jail.

She stands charged in a Marin County Grand Jury indictment with kidnap, murder and conspiracy in connection with the Aug. 7, 1970, "insurrection" in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons were shot to death.

Howard Moore Jr., Miss Davis's chief counsel, and Albert W. Harris, the chief prosecutor, sparred in legal terminology yesterday over Moore's claims that at least the first two charges should be dismissed, if not all counts against her.

Moore argued, among other things, that Miss Davis might be placed in unconstitutional double jeopardy if a jury were unable to agree on any one specific charge and the case were retried.

Harris replied to the defense attorney from Atlanta that California's penal code made the framing of indictments and pleadings to charges much less tricky than in other states. Harris denied Moore's claims of "duplicity" in the three counts.

Judge Richard E. Arnason said he would rule later on the arguments. He ordered Miss Davis to return to court at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday for further hearings.

Only a few minor technicalities remain to be argued; if Judge Arnason rules on the matters heard this week, Miss Davis might finally reach the crucial time for entering a plea next week or in early August.

Arnason is considering a request that Miss Davis be allowed to serve as co-counsel in her own defense, a challenge claiming bias of the grand jury that indicted her, a claim that the case cannot be tried because of prejudicial publicity, and the attack on the indictment itself.

Additional press clippings involved in the publicity arguments are not expected to be ready for Arnason to read until next week, possibly delaying that ruling.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Clifford Thompson handled the rebuttal to the publicity arguments yesterday.

He said that while Miss Davis's attorneys were seeking her release on bail they presented petitions bearing signatures they claimed were "a substantial part of the community" on her behalf. "Where is that support now," Thompson asked, if the defense now claims publicity has made it impossible for Miss Davis to receive a fair trial anywhere in the U.S.

The prosecutor also read a fistful of letters and cards, some urging fair play for Miss Davis and others heaping invective on the prosecution. These, Thompson said, showed that sentiment was not all against the woman defendant. One letter branded Harris a "blood-sucking Dracula from Hell."

"On that note," Judge Arnason dryly commented, "I'm going to order a recess for lunch."

This week's hearings followed quickly on the heels of the decision Monday in which Judge Arnason granted a request separating Miss Davis's trial from that of codefendant Ruchell Magee.

Magee's strategy of attempting to have the trial moved out of Marin County and into state or federal courts had delayed for months, hearings on any of the motions submitted by Miss Davis's legal team.

Magee, a San Quentin convict serving a life term on what he claims is a fraudulent charge, told Miss Davis's attorneys Monday that they could not argue their requests while his own maneuvers waited. However, he suggested, the woman's counsels could ask separation of the cases. They quickly did so.

Magee himself will be back in Marin County Superior Court Wednesday morning. His attorney, Ernest L. Graves of Los Angeles, prosecutor Harris and Judge Arnason are expected to set hearings on some of the seven pretrial requests and challenges so far raised by Magee and his counsel.

The convict faces the same counts as Miss Davis and like her could face a death penalty if found guilty of any of the three.

Magee has two other arguments awaiting action in the U.S. Supreme Court. He may file more documents in Marin Superior Court that could delay the hearings before Judge Arnason, his attorney indicated this week.

Rail Shipments Halted To Gird For Threatened Strike At SP

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Southern Pacific stopped accepting shipments of perishables and livestock today in preparation for a possible strike tomorrow by the United Transportation Union.

A spokesman for the 13,000 member Council of California Growers said the shipment halt would cost the state $11.1 million daily.

He calculated from government and grower-shipper traffic figures that a "conservative" estimate of the average shippage from California has been 672 rail carloads a day of 13 highly perishable commodities.

"Since the Southern Pacific is not accepting any perishable shipments," said spokesman Richard Freeland, "that means the transportation is effectively denied Eastern consumers and California growers. While trucks can take up some of the slack, there is fierce competition for them —trucking companies are rapidly hiking prices."

The rail stoppage means a loss of more than $2.8 million per day and the loss to dependent business (such as manufacturers of containers) was estimated at $8.3 million each day the freight cars are idle, he said.

SP has announced it plans to "take" the strike scheduled for 6 a.m. Saturday by the United Transportation Union.

The railroad announced AMTRAK passenger trains operating over its lines would not leave unless scheduled to reach destinations prior to the strike.

The only exceptions were the Los Angeles-Oakland coast route trains in each direction. Southern Pacific's own commute service on the San Francisco Peninsula will stop running Saturday if there is a walkout.

SP said AMTRAK will halt its northbound trains from Oakland to Portland starting tonight and it will stop its southbound run from Portland on Saturday.

In the UTU related strike against Union Pacific, the railroad announced today it had lost $4.5 million revenue in Oregon and Washington out of a total loss of $14 million on the entire system in the 13 Western states.

Officials of the strikebound Unioc Pacific railroad say in Omaha almost every locality served by the line has felt the economic effects of the strike.

The railroad said Thursday its 30,000 employes have lost more than $7 million in wages while the railroad itself has lost nearly $14 million in revenues.

In Washington, the government's top labor trouble-shooter worked with railroad and union negotiators today in an effort to keep a week-old strike against two lines from spreading to four on Saturday.

Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. said he "charged both of them with their responsibility" during separate sessions with management and union teams this morning, then arranged a joint meeting for later in the day.

Settlement between the United Transportation Union (UTU) and the Chicago & North Western railway Thursday was not expected to break the deadlock that could shut down 10 railroads by next weekend.

The selective strike was scheduled to spread at 6 a.m. Saturday to the Southern Pacific and the Norfolk & Western, which account for 71,200 employes and nearly 27,000 miles of track in 17 states.

The N&W, a major coal carrier which ranks second among U.S. railroads in net earnings, made no plans to refuse shipments.

Work rules changes sought by rail management for increased efficiency and lower operating costs are at the heart of the UTU dispute, but negotiators for both sides offered little hope that the work rules formula in the tentative C&NW contract would form the basis for a national settlement.

In other labor develpments:

—United Steel Workers president I.W. Abel called a meeting of local presidents next Friday, two days before steel industry contracts expire, to determine whether to accept any tentative settlements reached by then, to recommend a strike or to extend the contract while talks continue.

Contract talks between the USW and the "big nine" producers continued under a news blackout today at the Shorham Hotel.

— In Helena, Mont., a three-week steelworkers strike against copper manufacturers appeared near settlement, with agreement reported imminent between the Union and Anaconda Copper Co.

Inflation Hike Biggest In 14 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The cost of living to Americans spurted up by 0.6 per cent in June, the sharpest increase in 14 months, the government reported today.

The rise was slightly more than the 0.5 per cent jump recorded in May and the largest since April, 1970.

Because prices usually increase fractionally from May to June, the increase on a seasonally adjusted basis was 0.5 per cent, down slightly from May's adjusted rate of 0.6 per cent.

The Labor Department figures showed that despite the Nixon administration's claims of gradual victory over inflation, rising prices continue to plague the nation.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called the report "devastating" and added: "The failure of President Nixon to respond to this clear economic danger signal can only play further havoc with the livelihoods of millions of American families."

Taking May and June together, prices rose during the two months at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 6.6 per cent, comparable to the pace in 1969 and early 1970 when the nation was in the grip of the worst inflation in 20 years.

The cost of living rose at an annual rate of 4 per cent in the first half of the year. The pace in January through April was much slower than the rate for the May and June. The rate for the full six months was down from the 4.9 per cent pace in the last half of 1970 and 6 per cent in the first half of last year.

The consumer price index in June stood at 121.5 per cent of the 1967 average. That meant it cost $12.15 last month to buy the same goods and services that could have been obtained for $12.08 May, for $11.63 a year ago and for $10 in 1967.

The June increase was led by a 0.9 per cent advance in prices for groceries. The price for a market basket of food that cost $10 in 1967 was $11.74 in June. That was 11 cents more than May, 23 cents higher than March and 34 cents more than June, 1970.

Prices for beef, poultry, fruits, vegetables, and dairy products increased in June more than normal for this time of year.

The price of all types of food —groceries and meals in restaurants—increased 0.8 per cent in June. Housing prices advanced 0.6 per cent and the cost of transportation rose 0.7 per cent. Clothing prices declined 0.1 per cent.

The sharp increase in the living cost rate in May and June is a setback for President Nixon's economic policy.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, the administration's chief economic spokesman, said last week that inflation had leveled off and that prices would soon stabilize.

Connally dismissed the 0.5 per cent increase in May as a one-month aberration. But the 0.6 jump last month adds new evidence that inflation has not been stopped.

Assembly Nod To Bill On Davis Trial Cost

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly today passed a bill requiring the state to pay approximately $850,000 in costs of the Angela Davis-Ruchell Magee murder trial in Marin County.

The bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, received only one vote more than it needed for passage to the Senate. It was approved 55-4.

GOP Committee Recommends San Diego For Parley

DENVER (UPI) — Republicans will hold their 1972 nominating convention in San Diego, Calif., authoritative sources said Friday.

The Site Selection Committee met Friday morning—apparently in the suite of the GOP National Committee chairman Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas—and decided to recommend the California city Friday afternoon.

The full committee is expected to approve the recommendation almost automatically.

One source did not completely close the door on possible selection of Miami Beach, Fla., the only other city competing for the convention, but said San Diego was at least a 95 per cent bet.

Switch Regarded As A Promotion

MOSCOW (UPI)—Gennadi I. Voronov has been transferred from the premiership of the Russian Soviet republic to inspector-general of the U.S.S.R., the Tass news agency announced today.

The formal title is chairman of the State Committee of People's Control of the Soviet Union. The switch is regarded as a promotion for Voronov, 61.

Voronov's predecessors in the job have included former Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Alexander Shelepin, president of the Soviet Trade Union Federation.

Report Says U.S. Asked Missile Halt

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department indicated Friday that the United States has proposed to the Soviet Union a mutual freeze on land-based missile and missile submarines.

The New York Times published a story to that effect in its Friday editions. Asked about it, a State Department spokesman, Charles W. Bray III, said:

"We regard that as a most unfortunate breach of security and a violation of the understanding with the Soviet Union that neither side discuss the negotiations while the talks are in progress." He referred to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) in Helsinki.

Bray said his statement was not an acknowledgement of the validity of the report, but he did not deny it.

The department's strong reaction indicated that the Times report had embarrassed the Nixon administration and that it was anxious to reassure the Soviet Union.

According to the Times, the United States' SALT negotiators made two proposals aimed at limiting strategic missile strength while working towards limitations on antiballistic missile systems of both nations.

The Times said the United States had proposed that the two nations agree to halt construction of land-based missiles and missile submarines, and permit each nation to maintain 300 ABMs.

Telephone Strike Pact Reached In Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. announced today it reached agreement with 13,000 striking women telephone operators in Los Angeles.

A PT&T spokesman said the contract with the Federation of Women Telephone Workers calls for an $18.50 increase for top operators which would boost their present $118 weekly salary to $136.50.

The federation has been on strike for a week.

The contract would be retroactive to May 5.

Meanwhile in San Francisco, about 300 Pacific Telephone Co. yellow pages directory workers remained off the job and their picket lines prevented about 10 per cent of the city's 700 operators from reporting to work.

Supervisory personnel kept the information and the long distance operators going as they had during the week-long strike by the Communications Workers of America.

Those striking now belong to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers which has rejected contracts terms similar to those offered the CWA.

Pickets appeared at 12 telephone offices in San Francisco Thursday.

The CWA has ordered its members back to work pending a national vote on whether to ratify a contract offer from American Telephone & Telegraph Co., of which PT&T is a subsidiary.

The CWA has been offered a pact that includes a first year pay increase of 13.4 per cent.

Newton Trial

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—The slugs which killed an Oakland policeman in a 1967 shootout came from his own revolver, an expert testified Thursday at Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton's manslaughter trial.

John Davis, chief criminalist for the Oakland Police Department, said bullets from a .38 caliber police special killed officer John Frey and wounded policeman Herbert Heanes.

The prosecution contends Newton first used his own gun in a shootout with the police and, when it jammed, snatched Frey's revolver to fire the death shots. Neither gun was ever found.

Davis testified that a slug taken from Frey and one taken from Heanes were identical. He said he knew they were from Frey's service revolver because the bullets matched ones the patrolman had in pouches on his belt. They were of a special type used by only a few Oakland policemen, Davis said.

A 'Slip' Denied

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., was preparing to start a news conference Thursday when his secretary handed him a note. Murphy looked at it and read it aloud.

The note said New York Mayor John V. Lindsay would resign Aug. 14 to seek the presidency.

No, no, cried his secretary. That was to be confidential.

Murphy said no more about the note, continued his tour of Miramar Naval Air Station and flew on to San Francisco. A spokesman for Lindsay said in New York the mayor had no plans to resign.

"Reports to that effect are simply silly," he said.

Another Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A congressman who accused Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu of trafficking in heroin has charged the South Vietnamese corps commander with looting two abandoned American military bases.

Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., Thursday identified the bases as the former U.S. 4th Division headquarters at An Khe, and Tuy Hoa Air Base. Both bases are in the Central Highlands region, where Dzu serves as commander.

Steele, however, refused to disclose the "hard intelligence" which he said implicates Dzu in the narcotics trade. Dzu has denied the charges, claiming they were circulated in an effort to get him removed from his command.

S. African Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., says he will introduce legislation next week to require that 65 per cent of all U.S. business holdings in South Africa be turned over to black South Africans.

Dellums said the bill would set up a reparations committee that would begin an investigation within 90 days of all American business holdings in the apartheid nation.

Under the proposed legislation, he said in a speech to a black community developers training event, the American-owned companies would have one year to give black Africans control of 65 to 75 per cent of their concerns.

Dellums said black Americans can no longer allow U.S. firms to invest in a system that enslaves blacks.

All-White Vote

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, saying exclusion of blacks is a constitutional right, voted in national convention Thursday to keep its whites-only membership requirement.

"The right of private assembly and the people with whom we associate is largely a matter of personal choice," said E. Gene Fournace of Canton, Ohio, the new grand exalted ruler of the fraternal organization.

The Madison, Wis., Elks Lodge brought the issue to a vote, asking that the word "white" be removed from the membership requirements.

But the 3,000 delegates voted by a show of hands, and outgoing ruler Glenn L. Miller said there was not a necessary two-thirds vote.

Boy, 4, Injured

Glenn Filshie, 4, of 1141 Ramona Lane, Petaluma, was reported in fair condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with head injuries suffered when he fell from a bicycle at his home yesterday at 7 p.m.

7 Hotel Deaths

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Seven persons died today in a fire at the 18-story Howard Johnson's downtown motor hotel and other guests escaped by climbing out of 12th story windows with ropes fashioned out of bedsheets.

The manager of the hotel said eight persons overcome by smoke were rescued from the building. One of the smoke victims was a young boy taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Assistant fire chief William McClausen said the fire was confined to one room on the 12th floor but toxic gases caused the fire to spread to other floors.

The identities of the victims were not released but one was apparently a hotel security guard. The others were guests.

Aide To Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The former chief administrative assistant to House Speaker John McCormack entered Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary here Thursday to begin serving a 2 1-2-year sentence for perjury.

Warden Noah Alldredge said Dr. Martn Sweig, 47, would begin processing today and then be transferred next week to the minimum security prison camp at Allenwood, 18 miles from Lewisburg, where he will serve his term.

Sweig was convicted July 9, 1970, on charges of lying to a grand jury investigating the misuse of influence in McCormack's office. He was acquitted on a conspiracy count and five other perjury charges.

23rd Rail Death

MUELLHEIM, Germany (UPI)—The number of fatalities from the derailment Wednesday of the Switzerland Express has risen to 23 with the death in hospital of a 90-year-old man, police said today.

The spokesman said 70 of the 122 persons injured in the accident remained in hospitals.

At least 10 foreigners were among the dead, including three Americans. Twenty-four of the 122 injured were Americans.

Moyers To Anchor Weekly News Show

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bill D. Moyers, former presidential press secretary and one-time publisher of the Long Island newspaper Newsday, will become anchorman for a new weekly public affairs program on the National Educational Network.

The new half-hour show, called "This Week," will premier at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday Oct. 6. It will concentrate on the single most important news story of each week, no matter what field it is in, Thursday's announcement said.

JORDAN HIT FOR GUERRILLA MOVE

Cairo Editor: Hussein Made 'Deal' With Israel, No Longer In Conflict

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

The editor of Cairo's semioffi-cial newspaper Al Ahram said today Jordanian King Hussein's defeat of the Palestinian guerrillas indicates Jordan has dropped out of the Arab-Israeli conflict. He suggested Hussein made "some sort of deal" with Israel.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, the paper's editor and a confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, said the elimination of the guerrillas in Jordan during a five-day battle ended Saturday "means that the Jordanian government does not want to have partners in the struggle (against Israel) because it has decided to opt out of its arena.

"Worse than that," Heikal wrote in his regular weekly column, "the meaning of what happened is that the eastern front has ended. Even worse, the eastern front will turn into a safety line for Israel from which it can expect no trouble."

About 3,000 guerrillas were based in Jordan, most of them in the north where they were attacked by Jordanian troops July 13, and had used that country and southern Lebanon as staging areas for attacks into Israel or Israeli-held territory.

Meanwhile, Egyptian Prosecutor-General Moustapha Abou Zeid formally charged 23 persons, including a group of ex-cabinet ministers, with treason Thursday night for their part in an attempt to overthrow Sadat in May. Conviction before the three-man revolutionary court set up by Sadat is punishable by death.

Egypt, in an atmosphere of Arab coup fever and with treason trials also looming in Rabat and Khartoum, marked the 19th anniversary today of its own coup d'etat —the revolution which toppled King Farouk.

Sadat, the late Gamal Abdel Nasser and other young army officers seized Cairo Radio July 23, 1952 and broadcast an announcement establishing the republic. Farouk was allowed to sail to exile in Europe.

Heikal labeled Hussein's move against the guerrillas a "fierce and unprecedented attack" and said, "Can the logical explanation for what happened be that some sort of deal, or perhaps agreement, has been reached between the king and Israel?"

First Big Fight In New Cambodia Push

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese Command reported today a "small-sized" armored unit crossed the border into Cambodia where 37 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in the first major fighting of the Saigon government's new operation against Communist sanctuaries.

Supported by artillery and American strikes which killed 30 of the guerrillas Thursday, the South Vietnamese lost two wounded in fighting which lasted several hours along Highway 7, spokesmen said.

A ranged battalion and a battalion of armored cavalry were involved in the battle in Kampong Chan Province nine miles northeast of Krek they said.

Two members of a six-man Communist commando team backed by mortar fire infiltrated the barbed wire of a U.S. helicopter base outside Tay Ninh city, about 40 miles south of the Cambodian operation, spokesmen said.

The spokesmen said two commandos were killed and five satchel charges were captured.

U.S. B52 bombers continued hammering at Communist positions northwest of Firebase Fuller on the northwest corner of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). There was scattered ground contact with Communists on the slopes of Dong Ha Mountain below the base, spokesmen said.

Communist troops in the Mekong Delta struck a militia outpost about 75 miles southwest of Saigon in troubled Vinh Binh Province, killing seven and wounding 10 in the camp, military spokesmen said.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the government's Cambodian operation is being conducted "generally north of Route 7" and that part of the objective was to provide security in the Saigon area during the impending National Assembly and presidential elections, scheduled Aug. 29 and Oct. 3, respectively.

On the nonwar front, official U.S. figures showed today the South Vietnamese government has made 2,785 narcotics arrests since January, but a system of giving tax-free rewards for information on drug users has been ineffective.

The statistics report also showed that the South Vietnamese government has seized 78 pounds of heroin, 40 pounds of opium and 782 pounds of marijuana during the first six months of 1971.

The figures were released in conjunction with a massive U.S.-South Vietnamese crackdown on drug distribution.

Goldwater: GOP Must Back Visit

DENVER, Colo. (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz., asked fellow Republicans today to refrain from complaining about President Nixon's visit to China and to await the results.

Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee for president, made his comments in a speech prepared for the Republican National Committee.

Goldwater's comment on the administration's China venture came in a speech saying he was frightened by Democratic alternatives to the re-election of Nixon.

The President's announcement, he said, made no immediate changes in U.S. policy and no new commitments about China. Goldwater said he still is opposed to admitting Peking to the United Nations and to China's "brutal" policies.

"But I do not oppose efforts by the Nixon administration to improve the dialogue and the channels of communication through which some of our ideas can be placed realistically before Peking's rulers," he said.

"In other words, if there is any chance that our President can persuade Peking to mend its ways and to stop exporting aggression and violence and war, I say more power to him. I have never opposed negotiations and discussion with our Cold War enemies . . .

Goldwater found nothing good to say about past Democratic administrations or its prospective future leaders. He said its "top leaders have led the parade in bringing a new and dishonorable brand of isolationism to the American people."

Death For Coup Leaders In Sudan

BEIRUT (UPI)—A military court sentenced three officers involved in the Sudan's four-day coup to death today and the official Omdurman radio said they will go before a firing squad tonight.

President Jaafar Numeiry, restored to power Thursday after four days in prison, ordered a curfew and proclaimed a state of emergency in a crackdown against pro-Communist army officers who overthrew him Monday.

Four military tribunals went to work to prepare trials for the rebels and the first three were sentenced to death later in the day.

(In London, the British foreign office announced it had reports of further firing around the presidential palace in Sudan's capital, Khartoum, this morning.)

The Sudanese government radio in Omdurman, Khartoum's twin city at the confluence of the White Nile and the Blue Nile, identified the condemned men as Lt. Col. Abdel Moneim Mohammed Ahmed, Lt. Col. Osman Hussein and Maj. Muaweyah Abdel Hai.

The first indications that people were killed during the counter-coup Thursday by Numeiry's loyalist military forces came today when Radio Omdurman broadcast excerpts from the Koran, the bible of the Moslem religion, "in mourning for the martyrs who died yesterday fighting to destroy the rebel movement."

The sudden political switch for this predominantly Arab nation of 15 million persons geographically Africa's largest, occurred within hours after a Khartoum-bound British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) Vc10 jetliner was forced by Libyan authorities to land at Benghazi's Benina Airport where leaders of Monday's coup were taken off the plane.

BOAC spokesmen in London said Lt. Col. Babakr Al Nour, president of the seven-man Revolutionary Command Council which seized power in the Sudan Monday, and council member Maj. Mohammed Ahmed Mahjoub were detained.

About the same time, the Iraq agency said a special plane carrying Iraqi Baath party leaders to Khartoum to congratulate the new regime, which Iraq had recognized diplomatically shortly after it took power Monday, had crashed during a landing approach at Saudi Arabia's Jeddah Airport, killing 10 persons, including three high-ranking Babhdad officials.

Klan Leader In Fight For Job

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—The Grand Dragon of the North Carolina Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, Harold Murray, has begun a federal court fight to regain his city job.

George S. Daily Jr., a North Carolina Civil Liberties Union lawyer, filed suit in federal district court Thursday on Murray's behalf after city officials refused to reinstate the Klan leader.

Murray, who lost both legs as a medic in the Korean War, was dismissed early this month from his "Clerk II" job after only three weeks because of his Klan affiliation.

BOAT RUNS AGROUND ON HIGHWAY

After detouring 600 miles from a 300-mile route due to highway restrictions, the hauler of the Echo IV (top) failed to negotiate a small rise in the road five miles from his destination and 'ran aground.' The 61-foot, 106 passenger aluminum craft was being hauled from San Diego to Lake Mead near Las Vegas for tourist service to Hoover Dam. The boat was freed and launched (bottom) after three hours Wednesday without damage. (UPI Telephotos)

Veto To Measures On Oil Drilling Rein

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Two bills that would have restricted oil drilling on state-owned tidelands yesterday were killed by the Senate Governmental Organization Committee.

The two bills, proposed by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, were killed by a 5-2 vote after the committee heard arguments from the State Lands Commission and a lobbyist for nine major oil companies.

One measure would have imposed a total moratorium on any drilling in state tidelands in the Santa Barbara channel. The bill was killed, however, when the lands commission said the state would lose about $258 million in revenue if the bill became law.

The second proposal would have removed the authority to issue permits for core drilling and the extraction of gas and oil from state tidelands the length of the California coast from the lands commission and given it to the state legislature.

A. J. Shultz, oil company lobbyist, argued, however, that if drilling were curtailed there would be more chance for oil spills along the coast since more foreign tankers would have to traverse coastal waters.

The two bills were supported by Lois Sidenberg of the Get Oil Out organization from Santa Barbara.

Plea Date Set In Marijuana Case

David Ray Anderson, 20, of San Rafael, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on misdemeanor charges of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia. He is to plead to the charges Aug. 4.

Anderson was arrested Wednesday when Novato police stopped his car on South Novato Boulevard on a routine traffic violation. Suspected marijuana was found in the car, police said.

Cycle-Car Crash, Fatal To Marinite

I-J Special Report

GUERNEVILLE — A 22-year-old Mill Valley man was killed in a motorcycle-car accident near Guerneville Wednesday night.

Daniel C. Schroeder of 80 Olive Street was pronounced dead at the scene at 6:25 p.m.

The California Highway Patrol said he had been a passenger on a motorcycle driven by George R. Arndt, 33, of Sausalito, which collided with a car driven by Frank P. Vitelli, 45, of San Gabriel.

Schroeder was a native of Missouri. He had been employed for the summer as a clerk at the Materials Service Co-Op near Guerneville.

He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Schroeder of Lynn, Mo.

Funeral will be held Monday at the Morton Funeral Home in Lynn, Missouri, followed by burial at St. George Cemetery.

Tideland Fill Plea Rejected

The Marin County Fill Committee yesterday turned down a request to fill 11.5 acres of tidelands on the west shore of Bolinas Lagoon.

The committee's recommendation for denial of fill will go to the Marin County Planning Commission for its decision.

Henry H. Wilkins owns the property along Bolinas-Olema Road, directly across the street from Bolinas School. Irving L. Schwartz, executive officer of the fill committee, said Wilkins did not indicate what development he planned on the filled land.

The fill committee also: denied a request by Bolinas Community Public Utility District to build a sewage pumping station adjacent to the seawall at the south end of Wharf Road in Bolinas. Committee members objected to an eight foot fence that would be built around the pumping station.

Motorcyclist Hurts Foot In Car Crash

Edward C. Crawford, 21, of 301 Price Street, Petaluma, was reported in good condition at Hillcrest Hospital with a broken left foot suffered at 1:45 p.m. yesterday when his motorcycle collided with a car on Petaluma Boulevard North near Payran Street.

Police said his motorcycle collided with a car driven by John V. Brenner, 50, of Santa Rosa.

Approval To Bill For North Coast Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Finance Committee today approved legislation to create a North Coast Area Planning and Development Commission.

The measure by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, was sent to the full Senate on a voice vote without opposition.

The commission would have the power to review planning in the area, coordinate federal planning, and prepare and maintain an overall comprehensive development program for the North Coast.

Boundaries for the area that would be under the commission's jurisdiction would be set by the Council of Intergovernmental Relations after a public hearing in the area, with the provision that no county would be divided and the region would encompass at least three counties.

The proposed agency would be financed by each county in the area according to a ratio of the valuation of the taxable property in the single county to the total valuation of taxable property in the entire area.

Reds To Publish Book Based On Pentagon Papers

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has published a book based on the Pentagon papers to "expose the lies, deceptions and hypocrisy" of U.S. policymakers, the Soviet news agency Tas said today.

"The Publishing House of Political Literature issued a great number of copies of the book, Escalation of the War and Deception," Tass said.

"Using the secret Pentagon materials about the Vietnam war that were published in the United States, Soviet journalists show how the United States aggression in Indochina was prepared and launched.

"They expose the lies, deceptions and cynical hypocrisy to which the U.S. rulers have resorted and are resorting to cover up their aggressive policy," the agency said.

Tass did not explain precisely what use would be made of the materials from the Pentagon study of the Vietnam War, which the Soviet authors presumably extracted from the excerpts and commentaries published in the U.S. newspapers that broke the story.

Sculptress Dies; Was Member Of '20s Arts Circle

OAKLAND (UPI) —Annette Rosenshine, sculptress who introduced Gertrude Stein to Alice B. Toklas, died Thursday in a nursing home. She was 91.

While studying in Paris she introduced Miss Toklas to Miss Stein, starting a lifelong friendship often discussed in literary circles.

Miss Rosenshine was a student of both Henri Matisse in Paris and psychologist Dr. Carl Gustave Jung in Zurich.

ACLU To Introduce Bill To Legalize Pot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The American Civil Liberties Union will sponsor a bill legalizing the sale and use of marijuana in the next session of the California Legislature, the ACLU's local executive director said Thursday.

Jay A. Miller said the organization also is considering whether to bring a constitutional challenge in the courts to present marijuana laws on grounds of invasion of privacy and equal protection.

Ted Fio Rito Dies —Big Band Leader

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (UPI)— Ted Fio Rito, famed big band leader of the 1930s and a composer of many popular tunes, died Thursday night at Baptist Memorial Hospital. He was 70.

Death was due to an apparent heart attack. Fio Rito, long a familiar figure in San Francisco and Los Angeles, had a home here where he lived with his second wife and two sons.

His song hits included "Toot Toot Tootsie," "No, No, Nora," "Charlie My Boy," "Laugh Clown Laugh," "Sometime," "King For A Day," "Now That You're Gone," "Boogie Woogie Lullaby," "I Never Knew," and "Three On A Match."

He was born in Newark, N.J., Dec. 20, 1900, and at an early age showed talent as a pianist. He wrote his first song at the age of 14. During the heyday of the big band era, he was on the Hollywood Hotel radio program.

He and his band were popular favorites at the "Frantic Room" in the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco during the early 1930s. One of his vocalists was a young blonde named Betty Grable, later to star in movies and a familiar figure as a pinup girl in World War II. His baritone was Leif Ericson, later television and movie actor of note. He gave June Haver, another star to be, her first singing job. Comedienne Lucille Ball also was one of his singers. His pianist was David Rose, later a famed composer and arranger.

He also played at the Aragon Ballroom, a favorite dance spot at Venice in the Los Angeles area, and at the Cocoanut Grove in the Ambassador Hotel. He and his band worked in numerous movies.

His first wife was Madelyn La Salle, a onetime Powers model. They had a son, Ted Jr., a Los Angeles resident. Their marriage ended in a 1946 divorce marked by a battle over a thoroughbred horse ranch valued at half a million dollars. She got the ranch but a court ruled he would share in the proceeds if it were sold. Acrimony over this dissipated in later years.

"He was a great man and a great composer," the first Mrs. Fio Rito said at his death.

Ferry Liked, But Not TV Film Report

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — A Mill Valley attorney, enjoying a ride on the Sausalito Fery, did not enjoy watching it later on television and has filed a $1 million claim against the Golden Gate Bridge District.

Directors today routinely rejected the claim of attorney Ronald Lovitt of 337 Magee Avenue, a member of the San Francisco law firm of Lovitt and Hannan.

Lovitt alleges that his reputation was damaged and his privacy invaded when he was filmed aboard the ferryboat on or about April 20 by KGO, Channel 7 in San Francisco. The film later was shown on the air. This, Lovitt claims, "appropriated his reputation."

Although the bridge district regularly is sued by persons involved in accidents on the Golden Gate, Thomas Jenkins, the district's attorney, saw Lovitt's suit as an unusual one.

Tamalpais LSD Budget Is Set

The Tamalpais Community Services District board last night set its budget for 1971-72 fiscal year at $125,000, a $5,000 increase over last year's figure of $86,000, plus $34,000 capital outlay.

Board president Glenn H. Lambacher said no tax rate has been set, but the rate would probably amount to 44 cents per $100 assessed valuation, a 17-cent increase.

The board also set sewer service charges at $45, a $15 increase over last year. Lambacher attributed this raise to the higher cost of waste treatment. The charge is made to home or apartment owners for a year of service.

A public hearing to discuss the sewer charge will be held Aug. 10 at 8 p.m. at 305 Bell Lane.

Burglary Case Transferred To Juvenile Court

The case of Craig Robert Anderson, 18, of Mill Valley, was transferred to Marin Juvenile Court yesterday.

Anderson is charged, along with two other men, with two counts of burglary and one count of possessing stolen property.

They were arrested July 11 leaving the Tamalpais Valley home of Marin Grand Jury Foreman Milen C. Dempster. Sheriff's deputies said the house had been ransacked.

A preliminary hearing for Anderson's two codefendants — James McGovern, 20, and James Floyd Angle, 23, both of San Francisco — has been set for Tuesday.

Horseman Still On Critical List

Leonard Strikker, a 19-year-old Mill Valley horseman, remains in critical condition at Queen of the Valley Hospital, Napa, contrary to a report in the Independent-Journal Wednesday.

Hospital officials today said they erred in their report that he had been taken off the critical list and that, in fact, he is still in a coma although he has shown signs of improvement.

Strikker, of 302 Bell Lane, was injured June 19 while he was horseback riding with friends on a Napa Valley ranch.

Hospital Nod To Hillcrest Training Aid

The Petaluma Hospital District board last night approved the purchase of a portable classroom for in-service training classes at Hillcrest Hospital.

Hillcrest administrator Joseph Horner said the building will be purchased from the Petaluma School District and will be moved from McNear School where it is no longer needed.

Horner said the building will cost $7,000 with another $2,000 to place it on a permanent foundation. In addition to classes, the building will also be used as an auditorium for meetings and special programs.

The hospital board also asked Horner to make further studies into the possibility of computerizing the hospital business office, and accepted a gift of $1,000 from the Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary to buy new furniture for the lobby.

It adjourned to Aug. 4 at noon to review growth plans for the district.

Zoners Approve Several Permits For Sonomans

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved two new businesses and four mobile homes for the Petaluma area.

The board granted the request of Herold Mahoney for an auto repair shop at 2004 Bodega Avenue and the application of Timothy R. Talamantes for a plant nursery at 1900 Petaluma Boulevard North.

Mobile homes were approved for Joe Gomes, 1274 Ely Road South; K. R. and C. A. Barrell, 5001 Lichau Road; Eugene Lemos, 2815 Skillman Lane; and Frank Conway Jr., 750 Liberty Road. The Petaluma Planning Commission had urged denials of the requests, saying it strongly opposed the placement of single mobile homes near Petaluma.

Two Boys Cited For Probation In Sun Valley Fire

Two 14-year-old San Rafael boys have been cited to the Marin County Probation Department by San Rafael Police for incendiarism in connection with a fire in Sun Valley Park Tuesday night.

According to police, Gary Lee Suhrke, of 149 Humbold Avenue and Donald Neil Pieri, 315 California Street, said they set the blaze by leaving a delayed action device composed of two taped match books and a lit cigarette in a field of grass. The blaze destroyed 10 square feet, before firemen extinguished it.

Police said they arrested the boys after receiving a tip.

Police said it did not appear that the two boys had anything to do with recent fires set near the park on Indian Trail Road.

Fund Voted For Ferry, Bus Points

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Golden Gate Bridge District directors today voted $1.6 million to buy the main ferry and bus terminals in Marin.

The ferry terminal, on 25.4 acres in Larkspur near the mouth of the Corte Madera creek, will cost $1,250,000.

The 10-acre bus maintenance facility east of the San Rafael pot office on Highway 17 will cost $350,000.

The Bridge directors had previously authorized negotiations to make the two purchases but the price had not been disclosed.

The district's attorney, Thomas M. Jenkins, reported that the option for the ferry terminal property will cost $25,000. That option, however, will expire Sept. 30, and a 90-day extension to the end of the year would cost an additional $25,000.

The directors voted unanimously to make both purchases, but to first take the short option on the ferry terminal pending federal action on the district's application for a grant for the ferry system.

The district already has qualified for a $6.1 million grant toward the bus system, thus the bus terminal cost will be reimbursed if the grant is funded.

Today's action on the terminal came after a one hour closed session to discuss Jenkins' negotiations with the property owners.

3 Militant Jews Sentended In Bomb Conspiracy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rabbi Meir Kahane and two members of his Jewish Defense League received suspended prison sentences and were placed on probation today on Federal charges of conspiring to manufacture bombs. Kahane was fined $5,000.

Judge Jack B. Weinstein gave Kahane a five-year suspended sentence and placed him on probation for five years.

Stewart Cohen, 18, was placed on probation for three years and fined $500. Chaim Bieber, 41, received a three-year suspended term and was fined $2,500. He was also placed on probation for three years.

All three pleaded guilty to the charges two weeks ago.

Weinstein ordered the three men to cease all involvement with violence, bombs and guns. He said any violation of those terms would result in imposition of the prison terms.

Plea Set On Spree At Center

Steven Gale Lockett, 19, of Novato, was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a misdemeanor charge of failing to leave a public building after it was closed.

He is to plead to the charge next Friday.

Lockett and three juvenile companions were arrested Tuesday night on a Marin Civic Center balcony. Sheriff's deputies said the four had climbed onto the balcony and apparently had gotten onto the roof of the Hall of Justice before security alarms were triggered.

2 Rabies Clinics Set Next Week

Rabies vaccination for dogs will continue next week with two clinics sponsored by the Marin County Department of Health Services.

Here is next week's schedule:

Tuesday, July 27 — Ross School on Lagunitas Road, 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Thursday, July 29 — Woodacre Firehouse, end of Railroad Avenue, 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

State law requires that all dogs in Marin four months old and over must be vaccinated against rabies. A fee of $2 per dog is charged.

dere pay $65,984 to Tiburon for a protection contract, reducing Tiburon's share to $262,807, or $31,844 less than the cost of establishing its own department.

Such new service, however, is absolutely necessary in both cities, Kreins says. To support his argument, he cites the following inadequacies:

Belvedere — "There is no direct contract with Tiburon by radio . . . no one in the office at night . . . no training, schooling, attendance at meetings . . . the city will serve only as a training ground for other departments."

Tiburon — "Very little equipment . . . all (radio) calls must be routed through the sheriff's department . . . only one man on duty between 2 and 8 a.m." He also cites a general lack of personnel (seven) for a city the size of Tiburon.

Belvedere, Kreins says, has "no serious followup or investigation because of a lack of manpower. If all a department can do is take reports, then the city should employ high school girls who can type, let them take reports and save the money they spend on a policeman."

In all, Belvedere "is fortunate to have the level of service (it now has) and it is only because of the caliber of men and not because of the number of men or the equipment available," Kreins says.

Although one of Tiburon's pledges to the residents of Strawberry and Bel Aire, currently undergoing annexation proceedings by Tiburon, is the establishment of a police substation in Strawberry, Kreins criticizes the idea.

"I would strongly urge that there only be one police facility in the (Tiburon) peninsula area," the report says. "To decentralize the department and spread out the physical facility would be a tremendous waste of money and manpower."

Kreins suggests housing the new police haadquarters either downstairs in the present city hall (now used for city council meetings) or next door in a new building being constructed.

The study suggests giving Belvedere's present police officers first consideration for positions in the new department. Belvedere Police Chief John W. Jaeger should be allowed to compete for chief in Tiburon, Kreins recommends, but recruitment for the position should be statewide and the best possible man should be picked.

If Jaeger is not selected, Kreins recommends, he should be given "serious consideration" for second in command.

If his suggestions are followed, the report says, "I know that the citizens of Belvedere and Tiburon will be extremely pleased with the improved efficiency of the police department. The crime rate will drop, crimes cleared will go up, response time will improve, service in all areas will be better and there will be greater recognition by departmental personnel as to the needs of the community."

Kreins raises the possibility that such a department may be eligible for federal assistance and suggests looking into available grants under the Omnibus Crime Control Bill of 1968.

Water Pressure Discussion Set

Plans for a survey of water and hydrant pressure in Stinson Beach will be considered by the Stinson Beach County Water District at a special meeting at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow in the Stinson Beach Community Center, board chairman Hugh Dougherty has announced.

Also to be discussed is a state grant to help finance the proposed $8.1 million joint sewage disposal system which the district is planning to build in conjunction with the Bolinas community public utility district.

Also on the agenda is a report on the feasibility of collecting recylable items such as glass, cans and newspapers, along with regular garbage pickup.

OBITUARIES

Manuel D. Gomez, 62, Dies

Manuel D. Gomez, retired jewelry store owner and longtime Mill Valley resident, died yesterday in his home after a brief illness.

Gomez, 62, was born in Spain, but came to the United States with his family when he was 10. He moved to Mill Valley 46 years ago.

In addition to operating his firm, he was a frequent speaker at Mill Valley City Council and other public meetings for many years, and was a member of the Mill Valley Rotary Club. After retirement, he became active in developing property he owned in Mill Valley.

He is survived by his wife, Marion Jean Gomez of the family home at 311 Molino Avenue; four sons, Robert Michael, Phillip and Donald of Mill Valley, and a brother and a sister, Antonio Gomez of Seattle and Mrs. Joseph Mendez of Walnut Creek.

A Mass of the Resurrection will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic Church, Mill Valley. The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.. Sunday in Russel and Gooch mortuary.

Employees Reject New Wage Offer

A counter-offer to a 9.3 per cent wage and benefit boost requested by Mill Valley's striking city employees was made by the city last night but rejected by employees.

One employee said the counter-proposal was "not much of an improvement" over the city's former offer of a 6.5 per cent boost. He did not say whether employees responded with a counter-offer of their own.

Another negotiating session between the unionized city employees and the city's negotiator, Industrial Employers and Distributors Association, was to be held this morning.

The strike has idled 39 city workers since July 1. Police, firemen, supervisors and members of the building and planning department are not involved.

Pleas Entered On Pot Haul

Four persons arrested Monday in connection with a Tamalpais Valley marijuana packing operation pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Clifford Michael McClure, 24, and Linda Ann La Baum, 22, both of Tamalpais Valley, Kenneth Arthur Cole, 23, of Mill Valley, and Anthony Bonieo, 23, of no known address, are charged with possessing marijuana and possessing it for sale.

A preliminary hearing was set for them for Sept. 8.

Marin County drug abuse agents said they seized 111 kilo bricks of the weed in the raid on the residence of McClure and Miss La Baum.

Also seized, agents said, were two hand-operated machines for packing marijuana into kilo bricks.

Agnew Prepares To Leave Spain

SOTOGRANDE, Spain (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew enjoyed the last full day of his vacation in southern Spain today and prepared to leave for an abbreviated visit to Morocco.

Agnew will depart Saturday for Rabat, Morocco and talks with King Hassan II, who narrowly avoided being overthrown by army generals almost two weeks ago.

MRS. GARCIA

Dolores Garcia, mother of Cecelia Hawk of Larkspur, died yesterday at a local hospital after a long illness. She was 74.

Mrs. Garcia, who resided in Santa Rosa for the last 24 years, came to Marin County a week ago.

She was a native of Malaga, Spain, and moved to San Francisco in 1907.

Besides her daughter here, Mrs. Garcia is survived by another daughter, Irene Smiraglia, of Daly City; a sister, Anita Caredio of Reno; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Rose Catholic Church in Santa Rosa where a Requiem Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday.

Burial will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

The Rosary will be recited Sunday at 7 p.m. at the Daniels Mortuary, 1225 Sonoma Avenue, Santa Rosa.

The family requests memorial contributions be sent to the American Cancer Society or the Sisters of Poor Clare, Los Altos Hills, Los Altos.

TOMANO KAI

Tomano M. Kai, 83, a Petaluma resident for 53 years, died yesterday at a Sebastopol convalescent hospital after a long illness.

Mrs. Kai was born and reared in Japan. She was a member of the Enmanji Buddhist Temple, Sebastopol.

She is survived by two daughters, Mary Nakagawa of Petaluma and Kimako Otani of Sacramento, and a brother in Japan.

Funeral will be held Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Enmanji Buddhist Temple, Sebastopol, followed by inurnment at Cypress Hill Memorial Park, Petaluma.

EVA PHILBROOK

Funeral for Eva Ann Philbrook, 83, of 35 Grove Lane, San Anselmo, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Philbrook died Wednesday at a local rest home after a long illness. A native of England, she had lived in Marin County about 20 years.

She was the widow of Roger Philbrook, a retired maintenance mechanic for the Sohner Tree Service, San Anselmo. He died in April, 1965.

Surviving are a stepson, Roger Philbrook Jr. of San Bruno and a sister, Ada Parks of Cheshire, England.

Interment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery, San Rafael.

WASILY PERESADA

Graveside Service for Wasily (Wesley) Peresada, 86, retired Petaluma cemetery worker, was held in Petaluma.

Peresada died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. He was born in Russia and had lived in Petaluma for 23 years. For more than 20 years he had been employed at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

He is survived by two sons, Harry Peresada of Watertown, Conn. and Alexander Peresada of Morris, Conn.; two daughters, Amy Iorio and Augusta De Sorbo, both of Watertown, Conn.; a stepdaughter, Daisy Benito of Petaluma; and five grandchildren.

GEORGE JONES

Private funeral was held today in Petaluma for George H. Jones, 80, a retired machinist.

Jones died Wednesday at a local hospital after a long illness. He was born in Sacramento, but moved to Petaluma as a child where he was reared and educated.

Jones served in World War I and returned to open an auto repair garage at Point Reyes Station. He later worked as a machinist for 17 years at the Hunters Point shipyard and retired in 1955. He was the husband of the late Elizabeth Jones.

He is survived by a son, Jack P. Jones of Santa Rosa; two daughters, June Isermann of Petaluma and Margaret Ewan of Los Angeles; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Burial was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

HOWARD HALE

Private service was held yesterday at Keaton's Mortuary for Howard L. Hale, of San Rafael, who died Wednesday at a local hospital.

Hale, 61, lived at 555 Canal Street. He had been a Marin County resident for 16 years; he was born in Oakland.

For about 20 years Hale was a railroad freight trafficker. He was also a member of Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, No. 1108 of San Rafael.

Hale is survived by his wife, Alva, a daughter, Marcia Ellis of Oakland, and two grandsons, Steven and John.

Attorney Hits Corona Gag Rule

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Defense attorney Richard Hawk, describing mass murder suspect Juan V. Corona as "his own best salesman," objects to a judge's ruling which prevents Corona from talking to newsmen.

"If you could talk to him you would find out what a nice guy he really is," Hawk told newsmen Thursday after leaving a hearing in which Superior Court Judge John Hauck imposed a gag rule in the case.

Corona, 37, a farm labor contractor, was indicted by a county grand jury last week in the slayings of 25 itinerants whose bodies were found buried along the scenic Feather River.

In an interview with three newsmen published Tuesday, Corona said he is innocent of the killings. He said he has not lost faith in the United States because of the charges and wants his children to go to school and learn English.

Hawk, defending the interview which he arranged, said:

"As long as the sheriff can make the statement that he's got the right man, Juan certainly has the right to say he's damn wrong."

At Thursday's hearing, Hauck issued the order prohibiting the prosecution and defense from publicly discussing the case and barred from public scrutiny the 700-page grand jury transcript which resulted in the indictment against Corona.

In addition, the judge continued until Tuesday the arraignment of the gaunt-looking defendant who recently suffered a yart attack. Hawk requested the continuance to give him time to study the grand jury transcript.

Corona, wearing a green suit and black cowboy boots, sat quietly throughout the brief proceedings, speaking only twice to acknowledge he understood the Spanish translation being provided of the judge's rulings.

Later, as he was being returned to his cell in the Yuba County jail in adjoining Marysville, Corona told Dr. Thomas Leavenworth, who treated him for a heart attack, that he was feeling fine.

"How do you feel, Juan?" Leavenworth, medical director at Sutter County general hospital, asked as deputies led the suspect away.

JUAN CORONA
Mass Murder Suspect

"I feel fine," Corona replied, patting his heart with his right hand.

During the pre-arraignment hearing, Leavenworth said under questioning by the defense that interviews, provided the number of persons present is limited, could be "medically advantageous" in showing how well Corona "is able to handle gradually increased segment of stress."

Three-Point Beautification Program Set

The Marin County Club Homeowners Association has adopted a three-point program for beautification of the Marin Golf and Country Club Estates in Novato.

The program was adopted Tuesday night at the quarterly meeting of the association on the suggestion of John L. Haff, chairman of the environmental committee, according to James A. Sullivan, publicity chairman.

The beautification program calls upon individuals and the association to seed bare slopes, the association to establish an identity for the country club estates by developing an overall scheme of signing and planting and association to develop a cleanup plan with the owners of vacant and undeveloped land.

The members voted $1,200 to get the program started, Sullivan said.

Draft Bill Key: Viet Timetable

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate negotiators are confident President Nixon will accept some sort of legislated end date for U.S. combat in Vietnam as the price for resumption of the military draft.

A knowledgeable Democratic source, with contacts at the White House, says he now feels certain President Nixon and House conferees will accept some sort of timetable — perhaps even the nine-month schedule for withdrawal adopted by the Senate.

The big question was when the administration would act to end a month-long stalemate between House and Senate conferees that has left President Nixon without authority to draft since July 1.

The conferees scheduled another meeting for Monday, with no sign of a compromise in sight.

The Senate is holding out for a two-year extension of the draft that contains Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's rider establishing a national policy of withdrawal from Vietnam within nine months from enactment, House conferees are firmly opposing the amendment.

The administration is calmly waiting on the sidelines, despite Defense Department warnings that serious military manpower shortages will begin appearing in home-based units next year unless the draft is resumed in September. The hope appears to be that the Senate, once it sees that military strength will be depleted, will cave in.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird renewed his warning Friday that a continued stalemate on the draft extension could put "the trained strength of some of our divisions into a very bad position."

He told a Pentagon news conference that he would reluctantly have to start drafting thousands of men who hold student deferments if some break does not come soon. Those men are still liable under the President's authority to induct which expired June 30.

But the Senate's negotiating team so far has been firm, even though seven of its nine members voted against the Mansfield amendment on the floor. They know that if the antiwar measure is dropped they will face a certain filibuster when the draft bill is returned for final action.

The conferees have discussed the possibility of reporting the Mansfield amendment in disagreement — a process that would force the House to vote on the measure up or down — which it has not yet done.

But some Senate sources believe the Administration does not want any floor fight at this time because of its possible impact on the South Vietnamese legislative elections in August and the presidential elections in October.

Hickel To Build Alaska's Biggest Shopping Center

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Former Interior Department Secretary Walter Hickel and his brother, Vernon, have unveiled plans to build Alaska's largest shopping center.

The Hickel Investment Co. expects to open the first phase of the center here early in 1972, it was reported Thursday.

Hickel, who was fired from President Nixon's cabinet last year, said the first section of the center will cost more than $4 million. It will cover 147,000 square feet.

Uruguay's Areco Is Facing Trial

MONTEVIDEO (UPI)—Uruguay's Chamber of Deputies early today voted to try President Jorge Pacheco Areco on charges of violation of the national constitution.

Specifically, the president was accused of having violated the constitution by reinstating security measures equivalent to modified martial law less than 12 hours after the Congress had voted their repeal July 14.

Volkswagen announces a new kind of Volkswagen. Big.

Who'd ever believe it?
A Volkswagen that's big.
And looks like a regular car.
And has four big doors.
And more room and comfort than you've ever seen in a Volkswagen.
And more power and acceleration. From the most powerful air-cooled engine we've ever built.
And more features as standard equipment than you'd ever expect in a big car.
Like an automatic transmission. Radial tires. Front disc brakes. Electronic fuel injection. Rear-window defroster. And more.
So, after all these years, now you can buy a big car as good as our little car.
The new 411 Volkswagen 4-Door sedan.
Priced with our usual Volkswagen frugality.
You know what?
You just ran out of excuses for not buying a Volkswagen.

COUNTDOWN SMOOTH

Apollo 15 Crew Gets In Another Rehearsal

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — While the countdown clicked along without a hitch, the astronauts got in one more space flight rehearsal today and forecasters predicted good weather for Monday morning's launch of Apollo 15 to the moon.

Authorities braced for a record throng of tourists to watch David R. Scott, Alfred M. Worden and James B. Irwin blast off on their 12-day lunar landing expedition. State officials estimated as many as 1.5 million people might be on hand.

Weathermen said viewing and launch conditions would be good. Partly cloudy skies, light winds and 83 degree temperatures were predicted for the 6:34 a.m. PDT flight time.

ON SCHEDULE

"The count is proceeding very well," reported space vehicle test supervisor James Harrington at a mid-morning status report from the control center. "We've had no problems to speak of."

However, a faulty lot of batteries was discovered when some were being installed during the night in the lunar module. Another set of batteries was installed and they successfully checked out.

Many of the tourists expected to watch the shot were expected to start arriving in the area this weekend.

"We are expecting a severe traffic problem," said Lt. Len Brady, district commander for the Florida Highway Patrol. "It's going to be like trying to pour two gallons of milk into a one gallon container."

The first half of the 104-hour, 30-minute series of preparations for the flight has been one of the smoothest ever.

POLISH DUTIES

Scott, Worden and Irwin wound up their regularly scheduled training Thursday, but decided to spend much of today in spacecraft trainers polishing up on the highlights of the flight.

Astronaut Chief Donald K. Slayton said today's exercise was "a final refresher for what we expect to be a normal mission." Most of the astronauts' time in recent weeks was devoted to rehearsals of emergency procedures.

The space agency expected 25,000 guests to watch the launching from special viewing grounds at the Kennedy Space Center. More than 3,600 VIPs already have accepted invitations.

Among those expected are Edward E. David, President Nixon's science adviser; Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers; singer Ethel Merman; Charles and Lynda Johnson Robb; Cleveland Mayor Carl Stokes and Florida Gov. Reubin Askew.

Grand Avenue Site For Health Services Clinics

Immunization clinics and birth control prescription refill clinics, conducted by Marin County Health Services, will move next week from the Civic Center to 920 Grand Avenue in San Rafael.

Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant health officer, explained that clinic space is no longer available at the Civic Center because of the consolidation of all health and medical services into one department.

There will be no immunization clinics on Monday or Tuesday of next week, hile the clinics are being moved. The immunization clinics will resume at 920 Grand Avenue in San Rafael on Friday, July 30. They will contnue thereafter on the usual schedule of Monday, Tuesday and Friday afternoons, from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

The prescription refill clinics will also move to 920 Grand Avenue and resume operations next Wednesday.

Immunizations provided by county health services are for diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), polio, and smallpox. Gamma globulin is available following exposure to infectious hepatitis.

Tuberculin tests are given routinely.

The fee is $2 per family for immunizations other than for travel. Travel immunizations cost $15.

The United States declared war on Germany April 6, 1917.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Welfare, Medi-Cal Bills Move

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Legislature reached the halfway mark today in its summer drive to reform welfare and Medi-Cal, two costly programs Gov. Ronald Reagan once described as "cancer eating at our vitals."

The Assembly completed its work on Medi-Cal and the Senate called a truce over welfare.

Reagan was not particularly happy with the welfare result, but hailed the Medi-Cal effort as "a truly hopeful sign" that "goes a long way toward answering the need for fiscal responsibility and stability in California's health care program."

A compromise version of Reagan's Medi-Cal reform plan breezed out of the Assembly on a bipartisan 66-10 vote Thursday and went to the Senate.

Reagan said he hoped "the spirit of cooperation and reasonableness" displayed by the lower house would become "contagious so that we can soon get on with solving an even bigger administrative nightmare—welfare."

The Senate later passed, 21-13, a weakened welfare reform bill sponsored by Democrats and sent it to the Assembly. Reagan attacked the measure as once "a sham" and now "a shell."

The Senate action prompted a private meeting by the Assembly Welfare Committee to discuss what to do with the Senate bill.

Chairman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who voted for the medi-cal proposal, announced a special meeting will be held Monday to consider the welfare measure and "significant amendments."

"I expect that we will come up with the millenium — something that both Democrats and the governor can agree to," Bagley said.

Legislative leaders are anxious to resolve the twin issues of welfare and Medi-Cal before both houses recess for three weeks Aug. 1. Reagan has threatened to interrupt the legislators' vacation and call them back into session if reform bills have not reached his desk by then.

The governor has warned that Californians "face tax increases year in and year out" unless welfare and Medi-Cal are overhauled.

The two public assistance programs now are costing roughly $3.5 billion annually in federal, state and local funds. There are nearly 2.5 million low-income Californians receiving free Medi-Cal health care services and all but around 200,000 also are on welfare.

Reagan says his welfare program would save the state $108 million and his Medi-Cal plan another $124 million.

The Medi-Cal bill, sponsored by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, was strongly opposed by counties who feared it would shift state costs to local property taxpayers. Campbell denied this.

The bill's major provision would encourage development of prepaid health plans for welfare recipients.

The bill also would require recipients to pay $1 per doctor visit and 50 cents per prescription. Now they pay nothing.

Dentures would be provided for persons without teeth.

The welfare bill, authored by Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, was weakened so it could pass on a simple majority vote instead of two-thirds.

"I don't like the bill one bit," Beilenson confessed to his colleagues. "I'm asking for an aye vote only to speed passage of welfare reform."

The senator estimated his bill would save the state $24 million.

One key provision would require the Reagan administration to develop a plan to employ 25,000 welfare recipients at $2 per hour in special work projects. The governor strongly opposes this, contending it would cost $57 million.

The bill also would require more children to help support their aged parents, force absent fathers to support their welfare families, remove from welfare those whose outside earnings exceed 150 per cent of what the state determines they need and place a time limit on how long recipients can stay outside the state and still qualify for welfare.

Many of the bill's provisions were cribbed from Reagan's plan, but not enough to win the governor's support. Reagan's program was killed by the Senate Wednesday.

Only two Republicans joined 19 Democrats in voting for the Beilenson bill—Milton Marks of San Francisco and Peter Behr of Tiburon.

Innocent Pleas, Record Bail In Drug Ring Case

NEW YORK (UPI)—The son of Panama's ambassador to Nationalist China and five other persons pleaded innocent Thursday to charges of conspiring to import $21 million worth of heroin.

Among those entering pleas were Jose San Martin, 45, of Argentina, who was described as a possible international fugitive. San Martin was held on a record $1 million bail because federal attorneys said he might flee the country if freed.

The other five, including Rafael Richard Jr., 23, the ambassador's son, were held under bails totalling $2.5 million.

The men were arrested July 9 following the seizure of 175 pounds of pure heroin at Kennedy Airport. Authorities said the heroin was found in Richard's travel bags.

BART REIN VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation has been rejected by the Assembly Transportation which required the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system to cover its entire three-county region before providing service to other areas.

The committee rejected the measure by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, Thursday on a split voice vote.

Nejedly said that when the voters in Contra Costa, Alameda and San Francisco counties approved formation of the district, they wanted full service to the three counties before BART was extended to other areas.

PETRIS BILL NOD

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A compromise bill imposing strict exhaust emission standards on 1975 model cars has cleared the Assembly Transportation Committee.

The measure, which requires engines to be 90 per cent pure, was approved by the committee Thursday after Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, said his bill would impose stricter standards than those of the federal government.

Petris' legislation is a compromise proposal of his original bill to ban pollution-causing engines all together beginning in 1975.

The senator told the committee he was unable to gain support for his total ban so he decided to settle for the tough emission standards. The engine ban has cleared the Senate three straight years, but has failed to gain lower house approval.

DOME PROBE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A measure ordering an investigation into the safety of the 101-year-old golden-domed state Capitol in case of an earthquake was voted overwhelming approval by the Senate Thursday.

"If it's not earthquake proof, we certainly ought to make it earthquake proof," Sen. James Whetmore, R-La Habra, said of the brick and mortar west wing which houses both legislative chambers.

An independent committee of earthquake specialists recently warned that the structure has weakened substantially and might come crashing down during an earthquake.

GAS TAX VOTE

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate has voted to impose a sales tax on gasoline for the first time to pay for metropolitan transit systems and rural road or recreational trail construction.

The measure by Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego, was approved 22-13 Thursday and sent to the Assembly.

Mills said the plan would provide cities and counties with $138 million annually in public transportation funds.

SCENIC RIVERS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Natural Resources Committee has approved legislation designating the Eel, Trinity and Klamath rivers in northern California as part of a state wild and scenic rivers system.

"They (the rivers) are thus preserved in their free-flowing state and protected from dams or other man-made impoundments," said Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco, whose bill was sent to the floor Thursday on a voice vote.

The bill also requests the secretary of the interior to include the three coastal rivers in the federal Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

DRAMA REVIEW

Astounding Talent In College Play

By JAMES E. WILLIAMS

The theatrical artistry of the College of Marin drama department is astounding.

Two weeks ago the Fine Arts Building stage was filled with warmth with a delightful revival of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Last night the chilling tragedy of the Bard's "Macbeth" was unfolded with many theatrical highs reached by the "Summer Shakespeare '71" company.

Staged simply on the Elizabethan-type stage, director James Dunn scored another triumph in his already distinguished career on the Kentfield campus.

With a cast headed by Dakin Matthews as Macbeth and Carolyn Reed-Dunn as Lady Macbeth, both appearing by special arrangement with Actors' Equity Association, Shakespeare's tale of intrigue was spellbinding.

The tragic but beautiful prose of Shakespeare sank deep within the skin.

As Macbeth intoned "Me thought I heard a voice cry 'Sleep no more/Macbeth does murder sleep.'...", the tragedy emerged as timeless as ever.

Too often Macbeth is played with lack of warmth and compassion, but Matthews tooled his Macbeth into an understandable character caught in the pitfalls of human nature. There was redemption in death I felt. From a victorious Scottish general to toy puppet king, Matthews charted a steady course in characterization.

As Lady Macbeth, Carolyn Dunn-Reed, wife of the company's director and too long absent from the Marin theatrical scene, was near perfect as the ice-water-veined wife who goaded her husband into murder for a kingdom where blood flowed freely. Her sleepwalking scene is as excellent as I have seen anywhere.

The student performers, apparently geared up by the professionalism of the visiting actors, did not waiver. Mark Rasmussen as Macduff again showed his considerable talent as well as did Gregory Norgaard as Banquo; Gregory Mehrten as Fleance; Robin Williams as Malcolm, and Todd Noris as Duncan.

Also handled expertly and believably were the three witches (Pamela Contos, Denise Orr and Judith Gordon) as well as the murderers (Alan Kernan and Daniel Long).

The duel between Macbeth and Macduff, which climaxes the tragedy, one of the shortest of Shakespeare's greater plays, was executed with expert finesse. The climactic scene sometimes can be overplayed to an extent where it touches on the comedy.

Costuming was rich, a hallmark of Alonso D. Gonzales, and the lighting by Edward K. Schoon added to the intrigue.

For patrons of the theater who like no-nonsense Shakespeare, "Macbeth" handled by Dunn's troupe is a must. It will be performed again tonight, tomorrow, Sunday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, July 31 and Aug. 1 at 8 p.m. in the college theater.

"MACBETH" — Play in two parts by William Shakespeare. College of Marin production. James Dunn, director; Alonso D. Gonzalez, settings and costumes; Edward K. Schoon. The cast: Royal Family of Scotland — Todd Norris, Duncan, King of Scotland; Robin Williams) Malcolm; Joel Blum, Donalbain, his sons; House of Macbeth — Dakin Matthews, Macbeth; Carolyn Reed-Dunn, Lady Macbeth (appearances by special arrangement with Actors' Equity Association); Barrett Nicol, Seyton; William Walsh, a doctor; Alan Kernan, wounded captain and first murderer; Daniel Long, second murderer; J. W. Harper, a porter; Abby Goldman, a gentlewoman; Robert Jones, an old man; Elwood Markham, Daniel McClellan, Thomas Spilsbury, servants; House of Macduff — Mark Rasmussen, Macduff; Alice Rorvik, Lady Macduff; Jamie Dunn, their son; Rick Casorla, Thane of Ross; Noblemen of Scotland — Gregory Norgaard, Banquo; Gregory Mehrten, Fleance; Howard McMaster, Lennox; Matthew Shippey, Menteith; Mark LeRoy Angus; Tim Shippey, Caithness; Daniel Long, Thane of Cawdor; Pamela Contos, Denise Orr, Judith Gordon, witches; Abby Goldman, Kendell Jackson, Elaine Womack, apparitions; Michael Moore, Greg Pedlar, Brian Tourigny, soldiers.

Disruption In Debate On Integration

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Board of Education Thursday night decided to appeal a school integration order during a noisy meeting which saw parents opposed to the busing of children storm the auditorium stage occupied by board members.

Police had to repel one assault and the meeting was twice brought to a halt because of the din. There were no arrests.

Although the board agreed to appeal the decision of Federal Judge Stanley Weigel, members warned that the court would probably deny the appeal.

The board adopted its own "Horseshoe" integration plan should the court order the board to integrate the city's 95 elementary schools this fall.

The predominantly white audience of about 1,000 carried placards which bore messages such as "We Want Freedom, Too," "Bus Judge Weigel," "Let's Put the Board of Ed on a One-Way Ticket," "Is Judge Weigel God?" and "Education, Not Transportation."

Board chairman Dr. Zuretti Goosby, who wielded his gavel repeatedly through the stormy session at Nourse Auditorium, opened the meeting by noting that the board had previously voted to appeal Judge Weigel's preliminary order. City attorney George Krueger informed the board that the appeal was still in effect.

Krueger said he planned to file a second appeal today, but he told the board that it must choose an integration plan should the request for a stay be denied.

The first disruption occurred when busing foe Mrs. Vincent Hughes walked on stage and berated board members at close range. Dr. Goosby adjourned the meeting for 10 minutes and Mrs. Hughes voluntarily left.

After two dozen police reinforcements arrived, the meeting resumed.

Twice, spokesmen for anti-busing elements took the microphone to ask their ranks to cease the heckling. But it continued most of the night.

Testimony On Underworld High Finance Shakes Senate Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A former financial manipulator with high mob connections has persuaded Senate investigators that organized crime's influence is so pervasive in the business world it now threatens the nation's economy.

After listening to two days of testimony about underworld high finance involving bribes to public officials and payoffs to key people in the financial community, members of the Senate investigations subcommittee Thursday somberly assessed its impact.

"If we're not able to bring this under control, it could completely undermine our whole economy," said Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"The potential impact on the society and the economy of our country could be terrific and disastrous. If this is not controlled in some way, and if we're not able to restrain it, we're in very great trouble," he said.

So great is the mob's infiltration of even legitimate business ventures, concluded Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., that it "really underpins the whole economy of the United States."

"That's exactly correct," concurred the man who prompted the assessments —a mystery witness called "George White" who chose a fictitious name because he said he feared for his life.

In eight hours on the stand before the committee, which is delving into underworld activities, White detailed his own financial schemes that spanned a 20-year period and which sometimes landed him in jail.

White, who testified under court-ordered immunity from prosecution, is serving a prison term for financial crimes.

White said there are now enormous blocks of stolen and bogus stocks in financial institutions all over the country put up as collateral for loans and money in the portfolios of investment firms and insurance companies.

He estimated that under certain circumstances there are 40 to 50 banks willing to deal with mob financiers for the right price —a payoff or a bribe.

White told how he was able to use such "friendly" banks — once getting a $300,000 loan from a Chicago bank in 15 minutes with only $9,000 in collateral.

But White said not all officials of such financial firms are crooked. Some, he said, don't even know they are being used by organized crime while others fully aware do not participate in the schemes.

Clothes Stolen

Barbara L. Dyer, 2265 Parkland Way, Petaluma, told police yesterday that clothes valued at $199 were stolen from a washing machine at the Highland Wash Center, Petaluma Plaza.

No Cause For Panic In Marin

The epidemic which is killing horses in Mexico and Texas is no cause for panic in Marin or the rest of California, a Marin County health official announced today.

Dr. Marilyn F. Hicks, assistant county health officer, said no case of Venezuelan equine encephalitis has been diagnosed in California or in the buffer states of Arizona and Nevada. It is confined to Texas, having traveled from Central America to Mexico.

The United States Department of Agriculture is providing vaccine for Texas and the buffer states of New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana. The vaccine has not been released for public use elsewhere and is still an experimental, unlicensed vaccine, said Dr. Hicks, who stressed that there is at present no cause for alarm in California.

N.Y. Paper Asks For Times' Trial

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Daily Mirror in an editorial Thursday asked Attorney General John N. Mitchell to prosecute the New York Times for stealing, possessing and selling the Pentagon papers.

"Failing to do so will be a dereliction of your duties," said the Mirror, which along with the Times is one of the city's three morning newspapers.

The editorial said in addition to publishing the papers on the news pages, the Times "had the gall to publish a paperback book in conjunction with Bantam Books" which in paperback could bring $1 million.

SAN QUENTIN'S NEW DEATH ROW

This lattice work of bars and heavy metal mesh form the "sallyport" entrance (left of San Quentin's new death row where 15 men will occupy the single cells along the corridor (right.). The burgeoning population on San Quentin's death row has necessitated opening a third unit to house the condemned men, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park. The new unit, on the second floor of the prison's adjustment center, was opened last week. Occupants of the new unit will be a select group of inmates who will be allowed outside exercise for the first time. Inmates in the other two death row units will be restricted to exercise within their cell blocks.

Pesty Marin Mosquitoes Up To Usual Irritation

By STEVE SWENSON

While mosquitoes are killing horses in an epidemic of encephalitis in Texas, Marin residents have been slapping away at a different kind of mosquito.

In Texas, the culex tarsalis mosquito is spreading encephalitis (sleeping sickness), a disease which inflames the brains of animals and has reportedly killed 6,000 horses in Texas and has made hundreds of humans ill.

In Marin, the tree hole mosquito has been chomping on residents, but has caused nothing more serious than minor irritation.

The tarsalis mosquito, carrier of encephalitis, does exist in Marin but researchers say the county is too cold and wet for it to spread the disease here, according to Allan D. Telford, district manager for Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

Telford said only two cases of encephalitis have been reported in Marin's history and it is doubtful these were caused by mosquitoes. He added that no other serious illness, such as malaria carried by the anopheles mosquito, is likely to be contracted in the county.

However, the tree hole mosquito has proved to be a troublesome pest this year with more of the species than usual, according to the district manager. He said the district has received in the past month 435 calls, above average.

Due to the comparitively lengthy wet and cool spring, ideal conditions for mosquito breeding, more tree hole mosquitoes have nipped people in the warm evenings at home, in the woods, on a boat or in a park.

The calls coming into the mosquito district are to be encouraged, Telford said, because the district can only spray in places where people have noted a problem.

Unlike the other 18 mosquito species in Marin, the tree hole mosquito cannot be controlled in its egg or larval stage. Since it breeds in rotting limbs and deep crevices in trees, spots virtually unreachable by the current methods of mosquito abatement, the tree hole mosquito becomes adult and looks for humans and animals to prey on.

This presents a "difficult problem" for the district, Telford said, because the district can only spray after the species attacks instead of preventing the mosquito from attacking.

He explained that other mosquito species are controlled at the egg and larval stage when the district eliminates unnatural puddles, plants mosquito fish and sprays areas where the mosquitoes breed.

The district is experimenting with a new mister, a cold fogger, to combat the tree hole mosquito. The cold fogger breaks a phosphate insecticide, a short lasting spray not harmful to larger animals like fish, into a fine mist which can penetrate into tree hole mosquito breeding grounds, Telford said.

The results of this year's experiment, carried on in Kentfield and Fairfax, are inconclusive although there has been some drop of tree hole mosquitoes in the area, according to the district manager.

Students and professors from the University of California at Berkeley are studying the tree hole mosquito problem in the county because Marin has the largest such problem in California, Telford said. "We haven't licked the problem but we are working on it," he added.

Burial Offer For Man Who Won Fame With Voice

HANNIBAL, Mo. (UPI)—Clifford Edwards grew up in a shack on the Mississippi River here and went on to win fame as the voice behind Jiminy Cricket in the Walt Disney classic "Pinocchio."

Now residents of Hannibal, concerned because Edwards died a lonely welfare patient in Hollywood this weekend, have offered to arrange for a burial in his hometown.

Mayor Henry Glascock told Los Angeles County officials, "If no one claims the body, we will bring him back here for a Christian burial." County officials said Thursday the body was still unclaimed.

Edwards died at the age of 76 in the Virgil Convalescent Hospital.

Lockheed Chief Warns Employes Against Threats

BURBANK (BW) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. Chairman Daniel J. Haughton said yesterday in a letter to all Lockheed employes, "There have been reports that apparently some Lockheed employes are threatening Lockheed critics in various ways during the congressional debate on the loan guarantee issue.

"It is understandable that we would become emotional about others' threats to our jobs and our futures. But is not acceptable for anyone to make threats of any type to our critics," Haughton said.

"During the next week or two, our elected representatives in Congress will determine our fate. Their debate and their voting judgments must be allowed in an atmosphere of calm deliberation and free opportunity for expressions from all sides. It is the only way the American system can continue to be the best and the fairest for all people," Haughton added.

"In spite of our strong feelings, I hope you will join me in expressing those feelings in a calm and considered manner worthy of the tradition of the men and women of Lockheed," he concluded.

Appellate Court Clears Air On Time Span For Legal Abortions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A state appellate court ruled Thursday that all abortions in California are legal if performed by a physician in a licensed hospital during the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

In a 2-1 decision, the State District Court of Appeal found most sections of the state therapeutic abortion law unconstitutional 'insofar as they purport to deny or impose restrictions upon a woman's right to terminate her pregnancy."

The California law, which took effect in 1968, allows abortions in cases of rape, incest and danger to the mother's physical or mental health.

The State Department of Health reported Thursday that more than 62,000 legal abortions were performed in California last year, up from 15,339 in 1969 and 5,030 in 1968.

The appellate court said "a woman has a constitutional right to terminate a pregnancy subject to reasonably enacted legislative restrictions supporting legitimate state interests by its 'accredited' hospital provision."

But it said the therapeutic abortion act's requirement of approval of an abortion in advance by a hospital committee was "without reasonable constitutional justification."

The majority upheld portions of the law requiring legal abortions to be performed by a physician in a licensed hospital during the first 20 weeks of pregnancy.

In a dissenting opinion, Justice B. Molinari said "th termination of pregnancy is n an unqualified right beyor regulation by the state b subject to reasonable limitatio consonant with the state compelling interest in th health and welfare of th prospective mother."

Georgia's peach crop is ex pected to be three per cent les than last year because of ba weather.

Burying Of Lines Begun By PG&E

Undergrounding utilities along Fifth Avenue from A to E Streets by Pacific Gas and Electric Co. is underway in San Rafael.

The 125,000 phase of the project is scheduled for completion next January, according to Lawrence P. Biancalana, district marketing supervisor for the utility company.

The underground utility district established by the San Rafael City Council July 6, is bounded by the south side of Mission Avenue, the west side of E Street, the east side of Tamalpais Avenue and the north side of Third Street.

The utility company has carried on a program since 1968 of undergrounding the utilities in downtown San Rafael, and $55,100 was allocated for the current year.

The property owners will pay for installation of meters outside in the sidewalk and bringing the wiring into their buildings. All other expenses are paid by PG & E, Biancalana said.

Pleasure Faire Gets Black Point's Bid

The Renaissance Pleasure Faire and Ha'penny Market will be held in the Black Point area of Novato this year.

The site chosen for the Elizabethan fair is the Kenny property south of the Atherton Avenue underpass on Highway 37.

The Pleasure Faire will be held five weekends: Sept. 4-6, 11-12, 18-19, 25-26 and Oct. 2-3.

The Pleasure Faire is slated to receive a use permit from the Novato Planning Commission Monday night and a carnival license from the Novato City Council Tuesday night.

City officials have worked with Ronald and Phyllis Patterson, originators of the fair, in ironing out the details of having the fair at this site. It will probably be there only one year because the Pattersons are trying to buy a ranch in Lucas Valley west of Marinwood.

Planning Director Brian W. Mattson said that he could not foresee any obstacle to the planning commission issuing the use permit.

"The staff will recommend for it, but I know that there will be some opposition to it from residents of Black Point who object to the traffic which the fair will generate," Mattson said.

The Black Point Improvement Club voted 19 to 16 to oppose it at the club's last meeting.

The council is expected to approve the $1,300 carnival license Tuesday night.

The site of the fair is an oak-studded canyon approximately three-quarters of a mile long. It is adjacent to a flat area where there is unlimited parking. There will be no charge for parking this year.

The fair with authentic renaissance atmosphere will open at 10 a.m. each day and close at 6 p.m. There will be approximately 150 craftsmen and 30 to 40 booths.

At noon the traditional "Call of the Faire" procession will take place. Queen Elizabeth I will make her appearance at 3 p.m. Continuous entertainment will go on all day.

Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme said that he and the California Highway Patrol have worked out a system for handling the traffic flow from Highway 37 to the west and east and on Atherton Avenue.

From the Atherton Avenue underpass, cars must cross the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Tracks and a cattle guard on an unimproved road to get to the fair. These will be the biggest bottleneck in keeping traffic moving, Klemme said.

The flat area offers unlimited parking, but Klemme said that the Pattersons wanted to hold attendance down to 10,000 persons or 4,000 cars at one time.

"When it is full, we will close the entrance and place signs along the highway warning people that the fair is closed," he said. These signs will start at the Ignacio Overpass so that motorists on Highway 101 can turn around and go back, he said.

Traffic along the freeway will be handled by the highway patrol and Novato police will handle it after it leaves the freeway, Klemme said.

Hub Parks Panel Nod To Garden

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission has approved establishment of an organic garden at Robson-Harrington park.

Neighbors' concern about organic fertilizers attracting rats was resolved at Wednesday's meeting by Richard Nielson, spokesman for committee to plant the garden.

Margaret Carroll, secretary, said the commission members were very impressed with the project to be planted by the Inter-Agency Committee composed of Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, Marin Senior Coordinating Council, San Anselmo School District summer recreation program, Marin Ecology Center and private citizens.

The committee has already started clearing the beer cans, broken glass and weeds for the garden and the commission's approval means the committee can proceed with fertilizing and planting, Mrs. Carroll said.

The garden will contain organic flowers, herbs and vegetables, according to Nielsen. He added the produce will not be sold but will be given to the EOC emergency food supply and people who help plant the garden.

Commissioner Carroll Leach announced to the commission she is resigning because of other commitments. Mrs. Carroll said her announcement came as a surprise to the commission.

In other action the commission recommended the city council immediately appoint a temporary recreation director to replace Frank L. Quinn who is on sick leave and will retire Sept. 30.

The commission adjourned to Aug. 25 when it will discuss whether a permanent park and recreation director should be hired.

Pesticide Addict Is Term Applied To U.S. Farming

BERKELEY (UPI) —The world is headed toward "pesticide addiction," Dr. Burton E. Vaughan of Battelle Memorial Institute warned Thursday.

He told the sixth Berkeley Symposium on Statistics and Probability that pesticides are required in ever increasing quantities to kill pests.

He pointed to the United States, where the use of pesticides has increased 10-fold but productivity has increased only two or three times.

"The United States used 10 times as much pesticides per acre as India but only produces three times as much food per acre," said Vaughn. Battelle Memorial Institute is located at Richland, Wash.

Some 40 national and international environmental scholars attended the symposium.

Author Discharged From Reno Hospital

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Novelist Walter Van Tilburg Clark, author of "The Ox-Bow Incident" and "Track of the Cat," was discharged Thursday from a Reno hospital.

Clark, 61, writer in residence at the University of Nevada in Reno, had been hospitalized for tests following a lengthy illness.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

San Rafael Joe's 'Regulars' Flock Back After Reopening

It is a fact that restaurateurs generally view any extended closing for vacation, remodeling, repairs or any other reason with apprehension.

They know that a large segment of the dining out public tends to establish habits or patterns of visiting certain places more than others. When these "regulars" are cut off from a favorite haunt the pattern is broken. They are obliged to look for a substitute and a new habit is easily formed which can become just as firmly established. A long closed restaurateur on reopening often finds that it is not easy to regain all his old customers.

One amazing exception to the general rule seems to be San Rafael Joe's. It would appear that most of the diners who were shut out of this popular Fourth Street dinery during the five weeks its fire damage was being repaired are already trying to make up for lost time. And when they converge on Joe's on the same night it creates something of a bar and dining room traffic problem.

The reopened restaurant is brighter and cheerier than ever. Fresh paint, carpeting and colorful uniforms on the waitresses do make a difference. And is it my imagination — or has the mood of the customers become more lighthearted?

WITH THE RETURN of organist-philosopher Larry Vannucci to the Baldwin at San Rafael Joe's, there's a slight change in the performance lineup at the new Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael, where he was playing the big Robert Morton pipe organ Thursday and Friday nights while Joe's was closed.

Now at the Robert Morton those nights is Gordon Tucker, who formerly played the Baldwin at Joe's on Monday nights. Warren Lubich is at Marin Pizza Pub's keyboard Tuesdays and Wednesdays; and Bill McCoy plays Saturdays, Sundays and Mondays.

A NEW PLACE that opened the Fourth of July holiday in Tiburon is the Butler's Pantry at 1 Juanita Lane.

This is owned and operated by Brig. Gen. Francis H. B. Ingall, who has lived in Tiburon for a number of years. He formerly owned the Bengal Lancer in San Francisco, but recently sold this.

He and his wife have modeled the Butler's Pantry after the Tuck Box in Carmel. It's very English, opens every day at 6:30 a.m. for English sytle breakfasts featuring homemade English scones and muffins, all varieties of eggs and juices — then changes over to lunches at 11 a.m. Until 3 p.m. it specializes in a variety of soups and omelets. Look also for homemade cheesecake, pies and in December — English Christmas cakes.

THE OLD VIENNA at 508 Third Street, San Rafael has added several new dinner entrees to its a la carte list which should prove popular — sauerbraten with noodles, an onion steak, parma schnitzel (veal dipped in eggs and parmesan cheese and deep-fried), chicken liver saute with mushrooms and deep fried chicken livers, and beef stroganoff. Prices are quite reasonable even when the tab is built up with soup, salad, beverage and dessert. And some new imported wines have been added.

Complete dinners at $3.50 continue, featuring wienerschnitzel, pork tenderloin Hungarian style, boneless fried chicken and gypsy goulash.

Lunch menu, too, is more extensive, with the addition of several salads, cold plates and desserts. Lunches are served Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., dinners Mondays through Saturdays from 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The Old Vienna will be closed Aug. 22 through Sept. 5 so Karl and Edith Klauda can take a two-week holiday in Mexico to pursue their favorite hobby of scuba diving.

"SUMMER IS THE TIME for fresh fish," says Ursula Valan of the Grotto in San Rafael. "Sole, rex sole, ling cod, flounder, red snapper, sea bass, salmon and many others are at their best — and the catch is fresh everyday. Diners who enjoy seafood are missing the top of the line if they don't take advantage of what the season has to offer."

AND SPEAKING of fish, word from Bill Briscoe of San Rafael, who owns River's End Resort on the Sonoma coast at Jenner, reports that his managing team there, Ray and Mary McDermott, has been building up a reputation for seafood dinners in that area. More tables have had to be added.

Ray is a commercial fisherman and keeps the restaurant well supplied.

WHAT PROMISES to be an interesting entertainment feature tomorrow night — and tomorrow night only — is at Alvarado Inn in Ignacio.

Here you will find a large nine-piece group — part of the Dixieland Jazz Club of Osaka, Japan, known as Jun Kobyshi's New Orleans Rascals. Members are all Japanese businessmen, musicians by hobby, and they have been doing a lot of touring of the U.S. The clarinet player, for example, manufacturers watchbands; the piano player is an attorney; and the banjo player sells mannequins. They are part of the Alvarado Inn's dance program for tomorrow. For them it's a sort of warm-up affair for their concert appearance on Sunday at Armstrong Woods in Guerneville.

Alvarado Inn is now open seven days a week.

HOW THE RUMOR got started that Don and Betty Johnson have closed their London Arms on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile no one seems to know.

But nothing could be further from the truth — especially since they recently went to all the expense of remodeling. They're still going strong.

NOW THERE is a Little Joe's scheduled for San Rafael — but probably not much before the middle of September.

This will be at the corner of Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, where the Griddle used to be. Evan MacIlraith of Wells and Wells, Realtors has leased the place to one Tony Scancarello of San Francisco and two associates. Quite a bit of remodeling has to be done here and new equipment must be brought in.

ONE-MAN ART SHOW at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon during August is that of Eleanor Foster of Corte Madera, who is featuring a number of her Marin and San Francisco scenes.

SIMI WINERY in Healdsburg is having a grand opening of its new tasting room on Sunday. A special wine-tasting tour sponsored by the Assistance League of Sonoma County will be held from5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Regular hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

The winery has operated a tasting and retail room shaped as a giant redwood cask since 1934. The new tasting room, built of old redwood casks mixed with new redwood lumber, handles six times as many visitors.

Address is 16275 Healdsburg Avenue, between the Old Redwood Highway and 101 Freeway. Driving from the south, take the Alexander Valley off ramp.

Minarets Summit Highway Dropped

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A project to build an all-weather highway through the Sierra south of Yosemite National Park has been dropped, a federal highway official said Wednesday.

But the office of Rep. B.F. Sisk, D-Calif., said the Congressman has been assured by U.S. Transportation Department officials that the proposed highway over Minarets Summit has been delayed, not dropped.

John Tresidder, deputy chief of the federal highway projects division in San Francisco, told the Sacramento Union that "the project is dead."

Tressider said the defeat resulted from opposition by conservationist groups and state resources secretary Norman Livermore. The proposed highway would cut through the famed John Muir Trail. Environmentalists contend the road would violate the concept of wilderness in California.

Marin Dining And Wining

Marin City, Mill Valley Parents Plan Preschool

A group of parents from Mill Valley and Marin City are organizing a preschool, set to begin in late September in St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Registration is now open and interested persons may contact Dr. Leon Wanerman, chairman of the private school's board, 404 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley or may register at the church.

Children may attend the 9 a.m. to noon sessions two, three or four mornings a week, he said.

A director-principal is currently being sought, as are scholarship funds. According to Fred Sonenberg of Mill Valley, scholarship chairman, the funds are needed to insure "racial and economic balance" in the school.

56 Strep Cases Reported Last Week

Streptococus infections, with 56 cases reported last week in Marin County, led all other communicable diseases reported last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, Marin County health officer.

There were 35 cases of gonorrhea reported and seven of infectious hepatitis. There was one case each of mumps, tuberculosis and salmonella.

MICHAEL A. GRIDLEY
Deputy district attorney

Bruce Gets 11th Deputy For Office

Michael A. Gridley, 27, of San Francisco, has been appointed a deputy Marin County district attorney.

Gridley is a native of San Francisco and graduate of the University of California at Berkeley and Golden Gate Law School in San Francisco.

He fills an additional deputy's position approved by the board of supervisors and becomes Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales' 11th deputy.

Gridley has worked for a San Francisco law firm since taking the California state bar examination last August.

He is married and plans to move to Marin.

McCarthy In Demo Race: Supporter

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—A supporter of Eugene McCarthy said today the former Minnesota senator will seek the Democratic nomination for president starting in the primaries next year.

John Connolly, a St. Paul attorney who worked for McCarthy in 1968, attended a meeting of McCathy backers in New York this week.

He said the decision was made that McCarthy would seek the Democratic nomination rather than go the third-party route, which McCarthy had talked about.

McCarthy's official announcement will be made in October, according to Connolly.

"One of the key issues McCarthy will campaign on is the lack of credibility in government," Connolly said.

McCarthy gave up his Minnesota Senate seat in 1970 and was followed to the Senate by Hubert Humphrey.

McCarthy, whose main issue was the Vietnam War, sought the Democratic nomination in 1968, making a good showing in several primaries, but losing to Humphrey at Chicago.

Park Activists Say Plan Would Cut Quake Risk

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A citizens' group mounting a drive for a 27,r00-acre park n the San Francisco Bay area asserting it is necessary for conservation purposes and to reduce earthquake hazards.

Mrs. George D. Meyer, co-chairman of People for a Golden Gate National Recreational Area, told newsmen Thursday that housing should be prohibited from the proposed park area because the San Andreas fault runs under it.

She noted that the site was an area of major activity during the 1906 earthquake.

Part of the controversy concerns the Army's Presidio of San Francisco, is earmarked in the proposed park which would stretch from south San Francisco limits along the Pacific Ocean to Olema in Marin County.

Senate Web Tightening On Lockheed Financing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield suggested today that arrangements could be made to keep Lockheed Aircraft Corp., financially afloat even if a filibuster prevented enactment of a bill to aid the firm before Congress recesses Aug. 6.

Mansfield told newsmen he supposed that "ways and means" would be found to help Lockheed should the vote be put off until September when the House and Senate return from a one-month vacation.

Mansfield, who opposes a $250 million government-backed loan to the aircraft company, conceded that there was enough support for the legislation to gain approval in the Senate.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is conducting a flibuster which threatens to delay action on the measure and came under direct criticism this morning from Daniel J. Haughton, Lockheed's board chairman.

Haughton issued a statement saying: "It seems to me that the tens of thousands of employes and stockholders—the subcontractors and suppliers, the airlines—and all those who have so much of their futures at stake at least deserve a chance for an up or down vote."

On the Senate floor, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., filed a petition this morning to stop debate on the bill. A vote— requiring a two-thirds majority to invoke cloture—will take place Monday at 3 p.m. EDT.

Tower said he would file a second petition for cloture Saturday, indicating proponents of the bill were virtually conceding they could not stop debate on the first try.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, an opponent of the legislation, also acknowledged like Mansfield that the bill had enough support to gain passage.

But while Church was saying that Lockheed was bound to win, other critics of the administration-backed bill to underwrite the loan to the ailing defense and aviation giant were less willing to concede defeat.

They claimed they had the votes to beat back an attempt to silence them and force the issue to a vote of the Senate after an additional 100 hours of debate —one hour per senator.

Even Lockheed's supporters admitted they lacked the required two-thirds majority to impose cloture, limiting debate, but they said they would win in a second attempt Wednesday or a third attempt on Thursday.

Haughton took note of threats against Proxmire's life and threats of violence against Henry M. Durham, a former assistant division manager at Lockheed's plant in Marietta, Ga. who accused the company of gross mismanagement.

"It is understandable that we would become emotional about others' threats to our jobs and our futures," Haughton said in a message to Lockheed's workforce. "But it is not acceptable for anyone to make threats of any type to our critics."

Proxmire brushed off charges that he was filibustering in hopes Lockheed would collapse before the Senate gets a chance to vote on the $2 billion loan guarantee measure.

But he said he had to keep talking for four or five weeks "to arouse sentiment around the country" against the bill.

Church, in a speech he distributed to reporters but failed to deliver on the Senate floor, said "big business is firmly seated in the saddle."

"So let the word go out: A Republican administration and a Democratic Congress are about to propagate a travesty. Henceforth, public credit will be available to any business big enough to pry open the doors of the federal Treasury ...

"Who would ever have thought that all the pious talk about changing priorities would turn out to mean socialism for the rich, free enterprise for the poor."

Scaled-Down Sign Wins Cotati Nod

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved a sign for a new subdivision after developers agreed to lower it from 20 to 16 feet.

The commission approved the design of the Holiday Park subdivision sign, but said it should be scaled down to be more compatible with the residential area.

Additional landscaping was also recommended along with an annual review of the sign.

The commission also recommended the city council appoint a citizens committee to prepare a city tree plan and bicycle trail plan, approved the request of Gerald G. Taylor for a combination gasoline station and car wash on Commerce Boulevard at Highway 101, and granted the request of Gladys D. Tunzi to divide her property at 8023 Gravenstein Highway into four lots.

Job Fair For Veterans Set

A job fair will be held at the Veterans Memorial Auditorium in San Francisco on July 29 for Marin and other Bay Area veterans interested in jobs with federal, state and local public agencies.

James V. Burdick, veterans service officer in Marin, announced that the job fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Van Ness Avenue and Mc Allister Street.

"VA officials will explain the availability of 300 federal, state, city and county jobs," said Burdick. He said representatives from the civil service commission will explain how to get civil service positions, and representatives from colleges will give advice on how to train for civil service tests.

Bicyclists Hurt In Car Collision

An auto-bike accident, yesterday, sent two San Rafael youths to Marin General Hospital, San Rafael Police reported today.

Police said David Barker Thalman, 12, of 9 Mount Tenaya Court, and Richard William Walsh, 13, of 99 Pikes Peak Drive, were traveling west on Fourth Street when their bicycles collided with a car driven by Marvin H. Dyck, 24, of 777 Kerner, Apt. 2.

Thalman was treated for multiple scrapes and bruises and Walsh for scrapes and bruises on his legs and fractured teeth.

Tampa Bay Overrun By Dead Fish

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI)—A new outbreak of toxic red tide sent a band of dead fish three feet wide and stretching several miles washing ashore today in the Tampa Bay area.

Gulf resort beaches appeared to have been spared, but the Courtney Campbell causeway shoreline, Tampa Bay, Old Tampa Bay and Hillsboro Bay were littered with fish, killed by the micro-organism.

"We're in bad shape," said Dick Clutter, a marine patrol officer in the Tampa Bay area.

A particularly heavy fish kill was noted south of MacDill Air Force Base, the same area where a massive kill was recorded last week.

The new kill has sent dead fish into old Tampa Bay for the first time this year and into canals along residential areas along the northernmost shoreline.

More dead fish were expected to be pushed into the area this afternoon on an incoming flood tide which will crest at 4 p.m.

Spoil islands off the Tampa peninsula were littered with dead fish.

Crews reinstalled oil containment booms around the bayous and canals along residential areas on the St. Petersburg shoreline of Tampa Bay as soon as the kill was reported.

This was the area hardest hit during the past three weeks as southeast and east winds sent wave after wave of dead fish rolling against seawalls to rot in the hot Florida sun.

Van Heflin, Top Screen, TV Character Actor, Dies At 60

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Van Heflin, who made a career of character roles in movies and television, died today at the age of 60.

Heflin, whose sparse red hair and intense delivery before the cameras were his trademarks, won an Oscar as best supporting actor in "Johnny Eager" in 1942.

He was stricken last June 6 by a heart attack while swimming in a pool at an apartment house. He was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where doctors said the actor's heart had stopped beating.

Hospital authorities placed him in the intensive care unit. He was in a coma most of the time since. Death came at 9:43 a.m. EDT today.

At the time his most recent picture, "Airport," was breaking boxoffice records. Heflin played the role of a crazed bomber aboard a passenger plane in the film which starred Burt Lancaster and Dean Martin.

A veteran of scores of motion pictures, Heflin's credits include: "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," "Saturday's Heroes," "H.M. Pulham Esq.," "Tennessee Johnson," "Green Dolphin Street" and "Possessed."

Heflin escaped Hollywood type-casting, playing villains, heroes, presidents, old men and business tycoons.

He was born Emmet Evan Heflin in Walters, Okla., in 1910, the son of a dentist who soon moved his family to Oklahoma City where the youngster attended school through the seventh grade.

The Heflins moved to Long Beach, Calif., where their son spent his summer vacations hiring on as a seaman on cargo vessels plying the Pacific.

Heflin was graduated from the University of Oklahoma and attended the Yale Dramatic School.

He spent a season in summer stock and returned to Broadway where he became a star on stage in the role of the reporter in "The Philadelphia Story" which starred Katharine Hepburn.

The successful two-year run in the play led to an MGM contract and his movie debut in "The Feminine Touch."

In May, 1942, he married actress Frances Neal. They became the parents of two daughters, Vana and Cathleen, and a son, Tracy.

The Heflins were divorced in 1967.

During World War II Heflin served with the field artillery and with the air force as a combat photographer in the European Theater of War.

Never Say Wornum Is Not Consistent

"And, unaware of proverbs,
The burnt child craves the flame."

— Christopher Morley.

On Sept. 16, 1963, reporter Bruce Coleman disclosed in this newspaper that for three years the Mill Valley City Council had been holding unannounced, closed meetings at Franklin Hospital in San Francisco to discuss and reach decisions on city matter.

Among the members of that Mill Valley City Council was Michael Wornum.

IN THE I-J of Sept. 17, 1963, reporter Coleman quoted Wornum as saying the unannounced San Francisco meetings had been "sub-committee meetings" (although many of them were attended by a quorum of the council) and "I have no objections to committee meetings in San Francisco or anywhere else."

Six days later, Wornum went farther, saying: "There have been no secret meetings to my knowledge since I have been on the council, except over the performance of personnel and the hiring and firing of the same." He acknowledged, however, attending five unannounced "subcommittee" meetings in San Francisco since he was elected to the city council in 1960.

The Mill Valley City Council was roundly excoriated for those unannounced and therefore secret meetings by citizens attending its subsequent regular meetings. Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk held that the secret meetings had been illegal. And some months later, Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, in a public statement, admitted the city council had erred grievously in holding meetings outside Mill Valley and without public announcement. It would not happen again, he vowed.

LAST SATURDAY, this newspaper disclosed that the Marin County Board of Supervisors had met at a Sausalito hotel on July 8 with a committee to screen candidates for the job of county administrator, and there had agreed to hire a consultant to assist the committee, had decided what consultant to hire, and had agreed to put a $4,000 limit on the consultant's fee — all this without prior public notice.

Among those participating in that meeting was Michael Wornum, now county supervisor from the Third District.

An I-J reporter subsequently queried Wornum about it. He replied, "If there was any meeting held for personnel, this was it." (Employment or discharge of personnel may be discussed at a closed — though not at an unannounced — meeting under California law.)

Then Wornum went farther.

"This idea of a 24-hour advance notice of closed meetings is stupid," he told the reporter.

EVERY SO OFTEN, it seems to be necessary to remind some public officials that the business they are conducting is the people's business, not their own. Some keep this in mind quite well. Others forget it occasionally unless reminded. And some bear out the truth of Christopher Morley's:

"And, unaware of proverbs,
The burnt child craves the flame."

CAPITOL REPORT

Handbook On Morality A Confession of Failure

By RUS WALTON

SACRAMENTO — The State Board of Education has given the go-ahead for a teachers' handbook to help introduce moral guidelines in our public schools. The action is an off-shoot of work done by a special state commission on moral guidelines established in 1970.

This is commendable. It is also tragic. Tragic in its implicit recognition that of late moral values have been de-emphasized.

Over the years we have properly kept church and state separate and apart in our public education system. We have also largely succeeded in separating students from moral imperatives. It may take some doing to overcome the effects of years of humanism, scientism and progressivism in the classroom. These may have expanded the system but they have shriveled the soul.

More and more of our young people are finding this out — pretty much on their own. They are beginning to shake loose from intellectual hogwash; beginning to fill vacuums; beginning to find there's more to life than cocktails, status symbols and technocracy. To be truly satisfying, life must have moral values and spiritual meaning.

ONE OF TODAY'S heartening signs is the increasing number of young people who are turning to "Jesus power," studying eastern religions, or otherwise seeking spiritual development. The fact that many of these young people have had to reach this decision on their own, or through rap sessions with their peers, is an indictment of pre-occupied parents and humanistic churches.

The tragedy is that so many children reach school without even a preliminary grounding in moral values. Parents can hardly demand of educators what they fail to provide themselves at home. If, somewhere along the line — in the home or in the church — more young people had been given training in moral and spiritual values, today's crises might have been precluded.

Morality is not something to be simply contained in a handbook, or handled separate and apart from the totality of life or the whole of education. Unless it permeates the home it loses its attraction; unless it is woven through the entire educational thrust it loses its meaning.

Young people are not alone in their search for moral values. A recent nationwide survey reported that two-thirds of all Americans fear this nation has lost its sense of values.

A FEW WEEKS AGO Drm Billy Graham addressed a joint session of the State Legislature. It was one of the most important messages delivered in the capitol in many years.

Billy Graham laid it on the line. He said California's — and America's — problems are not just economic. They're moral. The human spirit and the national ethic need repair as much as or more than the budget.

"Morals are sinking with every passing hour. If they sink much lower democracy will not survive. Without morality American will head straight into the arms of a dictator." That's what Graham said.

He made these and other remarks before lawmakers who, during the 1971 session, authored measures to legalize prostitution, legalize gambling, legalize marijuana; before a body wherein the majority thinks so little of morality and the sanctity of life that it condones virtually unrestricted therapeutic abortions.

Moral guidelines are fine. But too often they turn out to be just words and we need more than words. Moral leadership at every level — starting in the home and reaching all the way to the top — would be more to the point today.

Teach And Observe Rules For Bicycling

Le Roi Dowdell, you took the words right out of my mouth ("Readers Say" July 21): American bike-riders are in general, and there are many exceptions I have found after I got my own bike this spring, very inconsiderate in traffic on roads and streets. They seem to have no idea of what rules govern them to protect them and other people on the street. Having grown up in Europe, where in many countries the bike is and was a definite means of transportation, riders learned from the start as kids, in the school or through scouts or other clubs, the proper rules laid down by the police and vehicle departments for bike-riders like having the proper light on your bike for riding at night, and believe you me if you disobeyed any of the rules and were caught you received a ticket just like the motorist did.

Let us find the best way to teach youngsters how to behave safely on streets and roads on that marvelous vehicle the bicycle. I am sure the police department and others would be delighted to give a hand ... Let's go and everybody that has bikes and plan to become bike enthusiasts will have a much better time and safer too.

Could Damage Suit Work Both Ways?

On July 21 I read where Mr. (James) Ropp has initiated a $3 million damage suit against Mayfair Markets and its manager.

Since the Mayfair Market and its manager are, no doubt, covered by some form of liability insurance, the probabilities of an award being made to Mr. Ropp are very favorable. Today if a jury doesn't, the judge probably will make the award.

In view of this contingency and should it come to be that Mr. Ropp gets a settlement, I wonder if a class-action suit can be brought against him to pick up the tab for "damages" to the dead fireman, the mournful heirs, the apartment house owners who lost their business and to all the taxpayers who were charged to make repairs and to "rehabilitate" him because of the tunnel fire.

Furor Over Pentagon Papers — And Other Censorship

(John S. Knight in Detroit Free Press)

The raging storm of controversy over publication of the Pentagon papers by the New York Times and other newspapers has, if nothing else, given the American people a new insight into the clandestine workings of government.

From the outset, it should be conceded that government must of necessity work in secret with respect to diplomatic negotiations and certainly withhold information which is considered inimical to our national security.

So the question really turns upon the need for preserving confidentiality, and whether — as stated by the Justice Department — "the nation's security will suffer immediate and irreparable harm" with continuing publication. . .

A CASE CAN be made for the government's claim that publication endangers confidentialy of communications with other governments. To this, the Los Angeles Times offers the observation, "It would be much more a consideration if democratic governments around the world did not continually spill the diplomatic beans; and if officials of the American government, from the president down, did not tell state secrets as they saw fit and for their purposes."

As for the breach of security charge, the fact is that the McNamara study is merely a recitation of history and was directed by the former secretary of defense for precisely that purpose.

The revelations deal with the past, not with present or future operations. So one must strain the imagination to detect anything in the Pentagon documents which violates the espionage law or endangers the lives of our citizens.

IT IS INTERESTING indeed that President Nixon . . . did, as a United States senator, accuse the Truman administration of holding back classified documents for political reasons.

The case involved secret talks between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and President Truman on Wake Island on Oct. 15, 1950. Senator Nixon declared that General MacArthur was being "smeared in the press through connivance with the administration." "Certainly," Senator Nixon said, "if classified documents are now to be made public, the committees of Congress and the American people should be entitled to see not only those documents which might reflect against MacArthur, but also those which might reflect in his favor."

When the Truman administration did eventually release the documents as requested by Nixon it, like the present administration, expressed fear of danger to the national security. In 1951, General MacArthur remarked that the six-month-old documents had "just about as much bearing on the problem of Korea as a report on the military operations of Bunker Hill."

The doughty general neatly epitomized our own thoughts on the Pentagon papers and the ridiculousness of charging that their publication is a threat to national secutiry. . .

HAVING SERVED in the Bureau of Censorship both at home and abroad during World War II, I can testify that the indiscriminate stamping by the military of government documents as "top secret" came to be regarded with extreme skepticism.

For here in many instances were papers having absolutely no relationship to national security, yet stamped as such according to the whims of those who were exaggerating their own importance . . .

IT IS MOST important to the American public to realize — as Ben Bradlee points out — that in a totalitarian state, where the press is not free, the government uses the press as an instrument of state. Thus the press prints nothing that is not favorable and advantageous to the state.

Under a democracy such as ours, there exists a free flow of reporting and opinion — a normal, productive adversary relationship between government and the press.

If the press reported only what is advantageous to the government, where lies the protection against exploitation of the people by the government?

And yet, unhappily, a growing percentage of our citizens and especially of our youth appears to be favoring restrictions upon freedom of expression by the media.

Ellsberg A Hero Or Menace? Inconsistency In His Position

WASHINGTON — In a conversation which, with others, I recently had with Daniel Ellsberg, the man who gave the Pentagon Papers to the press, he made some revealingly inconsistent statements.

They go to the heart of whether Ellsberg should be seen as a public hero or a public menace.

The issue here is not whether the printing of the Pentagon Papers damaged the national interest. The Supreme Court said it didn't.

The issue is whether Ellsberg's act in distributing secret government documents hasn't undermined the ability of the government to protect successfully any sensitive secret information, military or diplomatic, the premature publication of which would be grievously harmful.

HERE IS WHAT Ellsberg said:

He told us he felt he was acting in the public interest in turning loose the highly classified papers; that this was "an act of conscience" which compelled him to do so.

In the next breath he told us that classification of many government documents is essential, that there are government secrets whose exposure would be damaging, and that the system to protect those secrets must be made to work.

Right. But how can crucial secret information be secure if those who are required by law and are pledged by honor to keep it secure are to be considered free to violate it at will if their conscience tells them to do so?

WILLIAM McCOMBER, deputy under secretary of state, put it this way on an NBC program:

"The government really can't run if we are going to allow a situation where a disaffected employee can go out of the government, grabbing as much highly classified material as he can, run over and start xeroxing it and then peddling it to as many papers as possible."

How can Ellsberg successfully contend that it was open to him to decide to release secret government documents, but that the system of protecting government secrets must be made effective so as to prevent other employees from doing the same?

IT ISN'T HARD to perceive grave consequences.

Suppose a disaffected U.S. delegate to the SALT talks decides American officials are selling out the security of the nation and his conscience tells him to publicize conference secrets? The SALT talks would blow up.

Suppose a disaffected employee with access to secret information on the Arab-Israeli negotiations doesn't like what is happening and his conscience tells him to break secrecy? All prospects of peace in the Middle East would blow up.

Ellsberg has set a perilous precedent and the courts will have to decide whether or not he is guilty of a crime against the state.

LET'S TURN this thing around for a moment and look at the reverse side of the coin; that is, the prospect of secret documents held by the press being purloined and given to the government.

I think Congress was right in not citing CBS for contempt for refusing to yield its unused tapes in the controversial "Selling of the Pentagon." But how can President Frank Stanton feel very secure in light of the Ellsberg precedent?

Is there not likely to be a disaffected employee in CBS who will deem it in the public interest to steal the unused tapes and turn them over to Congressman Harley Staggers — of course, as an "act of conscience"?

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

George Washington's Pride — A River Of Sewage

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Summertime, and the living is easy. Fish are jumping, though not very high, from the waters of the Potomac, our national river, George Washington's pride, proposed time after time as a demonstration project to show the rest of the country what an enlightened citizenry can do to clean up a stream once they decide it is worth the effort.

Day after day, while the heat curls into the 90s, people from the inner reaches of the capital make their way to the riverbank and throw in a line. Along the Georgetown Channel, in West Potomac Park and down to Hains Point, where the overnight bay boats to Norfolk used to pass, the embankment is thick with anglers.

What they pull out is mostly carp and catfish, both inelegant, but which provide a useful protein supplement to the diet. Of course, most of these fishermen are not great readers of nutrition literature, about balancing proteins and carbohydrates. They fish because the river is there and it has fish in it and fish are good to eat and there's not much else to do that's free.

IF THEY WERE great readers, they would have noticed by now the alarms being issued by national and local environmental and health authorities about the rate of pollution in our beautiful Potomac River. They would know that they are highly likely to be getting salmonella, hepatitis and typhoid with their proteins.

The Potomac begins at a spring on Backbone Mountain, where the westernmost toe of Maryland juts down into West Virginia. If the spring were a few hundred yards father west, it would flow eventually into the Mississippi, rather than the Chesapeake Bay. Up there you can step across the Potomac, and it is cold and drinkable.

On its way to sea level it is fouled by acid runoff from coal mines; by waste splashing out of the pulp plant at Luke, W. Va.; by further industrial waste at Cumberland, and by sewage from a series of small cities. Still, by modern standards in the East, it arrives in the Washington area a relatively clean river.

Here, despite the absence of heavy industry, it is so filthy it joins the dishonor roll of famous American polluted rivers — the Hudson at New York, the Patapsco at Baltimore, the Schuylkill at Philadelphia, the Cuyahoga at Cleveland, the Ohio, the Allegheny, the Delaware, the Savannah, the Merrimack — the list is long. Some communities have become concerned enough to partly resuscitate their rivers, so that now, industry or not, they are cleaner than the nonindustrial Potomac.

WHAT POLLUTES the Potomac is raw sewage. Twenty miles upstream from the capital, a Georgetown University microbiologist found it carried focal coliform bacteria at 20 times the rate considered safe for water recreation. That sounds bad, but then the measurement was taken near a suburban sewer discharge point. Here at the city, at Cabin John Bridge, the count was 200 times the safe level. To risk salmonella infection, you don't have to drink it or eat fish caught in it — all you have to do is stick your finger in it.

The booming suburban population, combined with the district's holding at a steadier level, produced more sewage than existing facilities can treat.

Some 16 million gallons of untreated sewage flows into the river at one point in wealthy Georgetown. More comes in via Rock Creek, emptying a few yards above the ultraexpensive Watergate enclave occupied by John and Martha Mitchell and others of their exalted ilk, and a few hundred yards more from the new Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. The shore there is a particular favorite spot for fisherman.

ALL THE OFFICIALS know about it. They have been talking for years about crash projects for new treatment plants. They agree on posting signs warning citizens against even getting close to the water. But they cannot agree on who should pay for the cleanup. It is the same story heard in nearly 50 states, of one locality accusing the other and vice versa, only here it is compounded by the involvement of two states and one federal district.

Not long ago "state's rights" was a euphemism used to protect a state's or community's right to discriminate against black Americans. Now it is seldom heard of, but it is still exercised — as an excuse for continuing to pollute each other's water and air without the parallel responsibility of paying for it. In fact, of course, it amounts to self-poisoning, and it is as good an argument as any against the idea of revenue sharing — the idea of sending federally collected revenues back to the localities for them to sit on while arguing and still fouling their own nests.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

July 23, 1961

An Eastern Air Lines plane carrying 38 persons on a Miami-Tampa run was hijacked and forced to fly to Havana, Cuba.

Adolf Eichmann completed five weeks of testimony as the sole defense witness in his trial in Jerusalem on charges of killing six million Jews during World War II.

20 YEARS AGO

July 23, 1951

Marshal Henry Philippe Petain, French hero of World War I, died at age 95 on Ile d'Yeu, France, where he had served over five years of a life sentence for treason in World War II.

A four-lane divided Highway 101 from the Richardson Bay Bridge to Almonte was proposed by the California Department of Public Works.

Tall Tale Of Reporter Who Lacks Sales Resistance

The current economic slump may be wiping out businesses left and right, but the Marin County door-to-door vacuum cleaner sales business received a real boost last week, thanks to the efforts of an Independent-Journal reporter and his family.

When the salesman telephoned, the reporter craftily invited him to visit, with the idea of getting his floors and rugs cleaned painlessly and free. Of course, he said smugly at the time, he had absolutely no intention of buying anything.

Today his happy family is the proud possessor of a snappy $350 vacuum cleaner, complete with hundreds of attachments, a 2½ horsepower engine, and a millenium guarantee. The thing does everything, he reports sheepishly, except recycle the dirt.

To make the most of his purchase, the reporter is seeking state legislation to permit him to drive the cleaning machine on the freeway as a second family car. Meanwhile, the impressive chrome vacuum reposes on a pedestal in the center of the living room, surrounded by flowers and dried weeds.

THIS FAMILY is the same one that recently purchased (or somehow acquired) a pedigreed pet spider and now entertains guests by taking them into the backyard to watch Blanche Bennett (the spider) perform.

Her "shows" (which consist of swinging across the webs into the trees and dropping on people) last a long, long time. And guests are encouraged to remain for the entire performance.

W. C. Fields would have loved them all.

I HAD AN experience recently which made my whole day, when I stopped for gasoline at Roy's Arco Service Station on Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Being in my normal befuddled state, I discovered I didn't have any cash to pay for the fuel and offered to write a check. The station manager asked if I lived in Mill Valley and when I said yes, suggested I forget about the check and bring in the money later that day.

I had forgotten how nice it feels to be trusted by a perfect stranger. That kind of thing is getting pretty rare.

Public Utility Panel To Hold Meeting

Ways of obtaining additional supplies of water will be discussed at a special meeting of the Bolinas Community Public Utility District at 10 a.m. Saturday in the district office, 270 Elm Road, Bolinas.

Prior to the meeting the board will meet in closed session at 9:30 a.m. to consider hiring a full-time maintenance man for the district.

Reluctant Nod To Angel Island Building Fires

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Bay Area smog officials have given reluctant approval to another variance to burn old buildings on Angel Island, but warned it will be the last such permit.

The state Department of Parks and Recreation has had repeated variances since 1964 from the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District to burn obsolete structures on the island park. The alternative would be to barge demolition debris to the mainland, far more expensive than burning under tight meteorological conditions.

The district's hearing board, with a new membership this year refused on Tuesday to go along with a routine one-year extension of the variance. The board instead extended it to Dec. 31, but declared no further variance will be issued.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Plenty Of Fringe Benefits For Part-Time Supervisors

Let the Pentagon have its papers. What do we care? Give us the old hometown — home grown credibility gap — Brasilia Capers. Yup, the gentlemen who gather in he throne room under the dome out there are so busy with the auxiliary or subsidiary matters that they just can't remember when, where or who decided to spend another $4,000 of your money to hire someone else to do what they themselves were elected to do: in this instance, to select another administrator. What a mess!

Here are some interesting figures on the money the supervisors get for a part-time job which has authority only in 32 per cent of the county.

THE BASE SALARY, since they gave themselves a raise of $100 a month, is $13,200 a year. Now add to each of their takes $300 for road inspection. (The big question is when and how much of this is done?) They also get other mileage.

Those who are on the Local Agency Formation Commission receive another $300. There is an extra $600 for being on the Golden Gate Bridge District board and for the one who is on the San Rafael Sanitation District board, another $600.

These several amounts come to mind at the moment. I will try to get the entire picture for you soon.

For two of the supervisors, this adds up to $14,100 a year. Pretty cushy for a part-timer, wouldn't you say? Sonoma County supervisors receive $16,800 for a fulltime job.

I THINK THIS MAY interest you: The original firm of Kroeger and Associates was employed by the county, back in the '50s, to make a survey of salaries so that we could adjust some very bad inequities.

They promised to do certain things, but never did. It was a snow job all the way. They put a young fellow in the court house to do the work. He had been with them only some three months, with no previous experience.

A year or so later a committee of the grand jury hired the firm to see if there shouldn't be an administrative type of government put into effect. Of course they said yes. This resulted in one of their men getting the job later. The screening committee held up its recommendation for some time until he could fly in from the Philippines.

The manager of the California Supervisors Association, at that time, took a very active part in all the proceedings. As a matter of fact, he tried to dictate to the counties what they should do in many matters.

(Reporter Jeff Greer adds a footnote for Fusselman's column: More than 10 years ago Contra Costa County hired the consultant firm of Griffenhagen-Kroeger —formerly Kroeger Associates — to make a managerial efficiency survey and screen candidates for county administrator. The Griffenhagen-Kroeger employee who wrote the report was James P. McBrien. He also got the job — and is still county administrator of Contra Costa County.)

Consulting Firm Employed Bruce

The consulting firm of Griffenhagen-Kroeger Inc. was erroneously identified by the Independent-Journal Wednesday as a former "employee" of fired County Administrator Alan Bruce.

The firm, hired Tuesday by county supervisors to screen applicants for Bruce's position, is a former employer of Bruce.

The firm was also erroneously identified as being headquartered in Berkeley, when, as a matter of fact, it is a San Francisco firm.

Shakespearean Play To End SSC Series

The production in the Stevenson Quad will mark the close of the summer entertainment series sponsored jointly by the English department and office of summer sessions.

Astronauts To Eat In Moon Ride

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will have a snack to eat while they're out driving around the lunar surface in their new moon buggy.

Each moonwalker will have a 107-calorie apricot food bar mounted on the inside neck ring of their helmets and they will be able to bite it when they are hungry. It is nine inches long and is made of dried apricot suspended in gelatin and enclosed in an edible starch film.

They also will have a quart of fruit flavored beverage in their helmet.

"We think that's going to be a big help to us if we start to wear down after a long time out on the lunr surface," Irwin said.

The astronauts' three surface excursions will last six to seven hours. The longest previous walk was four hours and 47 minutes during Apollo 14.

Naval Station, Yard Accused Of Polluting Bay

OAKLAND (UPI) — Two Navy installations were ordered to stop polluting San Francisco Bay with industrial wastes Thursday by the State Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The board accused Alameda Naval Air Station of dumping 380,000 gallons a day of "extremely toxic" industrial waste through eight storm drains into the bay with only minor treatment to separate oil and sludge. The waste included steam-cleaning, degreasing, paint stripping and metal plating contaminants.

Hunters Point Naval shipyard was charged with discharging 75,000 gallons a day of industrial waste, including acidic solutions from plating and battery ships, and of passing untreated sewage into the bay during wet weather.

The board gave Alameda NAS until Jan. 1, 1973, to stop the discharge and the shipyard until March 1, 1973, to take remedial steps. The Navy had asked for more time.

Villa Of Braniff President Is Hit

NICE, France (UPI)—Police said today burglars broke into the seaside villa of Harding L. Lawrence, president of Braniff International and got away with thousands of dollars worth of jewels.

Lawrence recently had rented the villa at Cap Ferrat. It had been formerly occupied by Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton. The burglary was Wednesday night.

Portugal Getting Ready Red Carpet For Agnew

By LAURENCE B. MEREDITH

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Wherever he goes, the red carpet will be rolled out for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew during his three-day visit to Portugal July 26-2 winding up his round-the-world diplomatic mission for President Nixon.

The inclusion of Portugal in Agnew's itinerary has caused particular pleasure to the Portuguese government which for long has been quietly nursing a grievance—that in American global policy the United States appeared to regard Portugal as expendable.

The government regards Agnew's visit of special significance, Portuguese officials said.

Portugal regards itself as an African power as well as a European power and the officials said Premier Marcello Caetano was looking forward to hearing Agnew's reactions to his visits to the African capitals.

Agnew's comments on domestic and foreign issues in the United States always received great prominence in the Portuguese press with editorial endorsement.

Portuguese official reaction is that Agnew is a man who speaks largely the same language as themselves and they hope that the period of what they regarded as snubs from the Kennedy and Johnson administrations is now at an end, government officials said.

This view has been encouraged by the decision earlier this month by the U.S. Export-Import Bank to extend a line of credit of $22 million to Portugal's largest commercial bank, the Banco Espirito Santo E. Commercial, to finance medium-term loans for the purchase of U.S. products to be exported to Portugal.

Portugal has need for foreign capital to finance the government's program of industrial expansion. The loan was made at an extremely opportune time for the Portuguese government and it was described by Dr. Mario Amaral, the Portuguese bank's president, as "of considerable importance to Portugese economic development."

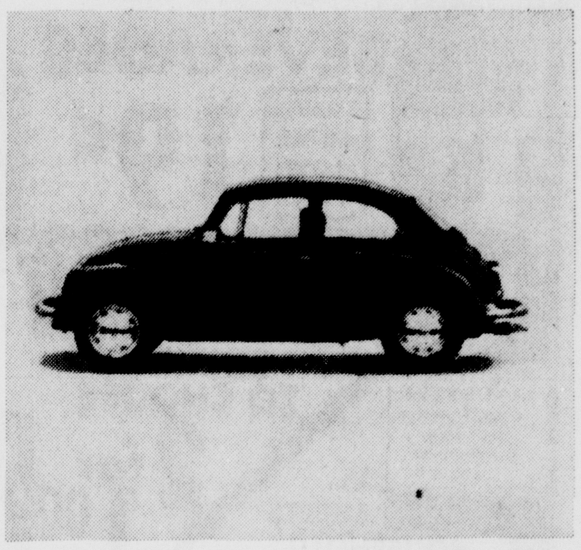
Agnew's program in Lisbon includes protocol courtesy calls on Portuguese President Adm. Americo Thomaz and Premier Caetano followed by a lunch in his honor given by Caetano.

Tentative plans have been made by U.S. Ambassador Ridgway B. Knight for Agnew to meet informally during the afternoon with members of the American Businessmen's club which also includes leading Portuguese financial and commercial leaders.

Agnew will host a dinner at the American Embassy Monday night for Portuguese government leaders.

Most of Tuesday will be spent in the traditional 250-mile tour given for visiting foreign guests north of Lisbon. This includes the historic walled town of Obidos, the ancient fishing village of Nazare, settled first by Phoenician traders, the famous Gothichshrine, Batalha Abbey, built in the 15th Century to mark Portugal's victory over Spain, and the 12th Century Abbey at Alcobaca.

Agnew flies back to Washington Wednesday morning.



It improves with age.

A Volkswagen is like a good piece of cheese. The older it gets, the better it gets.

Because over the past 25 years we've tested and improved and changed every part of a VW. Which means the 1971 Beetle is the best one yet.

Marin Women

Visiting Africans Feted At Marin Couple's Home

By JOAN LISETOR

Last night the Pan African track officials and athletes who have been touring the United States since July 7 made their first visit to an American home.

A party was given honoring six of Africa's top track stars, their escorts and interpreters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Busterud in San Rafael.

The Volunteer Bureau of Marin County and the International Hospitality Center in San Francisco sponsored the party, and it was coordinated by Mrs. Arnold Bertolli of San Rafael, who had less than a week's notice to make the arrangements, which included finding a location and persons willing to donate food and wine.

AS EACH of the 60 guests arrived he was given a name tag, which also told what language he spoke. Guests were shown to the Busteruds' garden where fruit punch, non-alcoholic since some of the athletes are Moslems; sherry and hors d'eouvres, which included meat to dip in pilli pilli sauce, an African dish, were served.

The guests of honor were introduced and welcomed by John Busterud and, completing the formalities, Professor Mohammed Nur of Somali, Director General of National Sports for the African nation, gave thanks on behalf of the athletes for the first invitation to a private home in the United States. The professor spoke in Italian and his remarks were translated by his escort, Joseph Gresanzio of the U.S. Department of State.

Guests then formed semicircle and introduced themselves to the visitors.

"We wanted everything to be as informal as possible," explained Louise Bertolli, "so we could say, 'please accept us as Americans as we accept and welcome you as Africans.' "

All of the non-English speaking guests spoke either Italian or Amharic, the native language of Ethiopia. Italian was spoken by some of the Americans of Italian descent and by the residents of Somali, which was colonized by the Italians.

A SMALL group, unable to communicate verbally, gathered around a ping pong table and started a game of what one of the English-speaking guests referred to as the international ice breaker.

Next dinner was announced in English, Italian, Amharic, Somali and Swahili. Most of the food for the buffet was donated by Alfred Lovi, who owns a delicatessen in a Greenbrae market, and some came from the Marinites interested in extending hospitality to the athletes.

Dinner included African kima and rice and lasagne, which, according to Professor Nur, is very popular in Somali. Also served was mint tea, used extensively in Africa.

Following dinner a four piece combo played contemporary music, and classical music was played by Mike Pelfini of San Rafael on the piano and Paul Bertolli, also of San Rafael, on the guitar.

LATER IN the evening many of the guests walked down the street to Forest Meadows, where the athletes had their first glimpse of American theater as they watched the Marin Shakespeare Festival's performance of "Once Upon A Mattress."

The African athletes' activities since arriving in this country have included a week in Washington, D.C., three days in Durham, N.C., where they participated in a track meet, a meeting in San Mateo and a tour of San Francisco, where they will be staying until Monday. They will visit Chicago and New York before returning to Africa July 31.

All long distance runners and high jumpers, the athletes who were honored at the party are Charles Asati and Nestali Bon, both of Kenya; John Charles Akii-Buwa of Uganda; Wahib Masresha and Yohannes Muhamed, both of Ethiopia; and Abdullah Nur Wasughe of Somali. Escort-interpreter for the Ethiopians, Ato Mulegeta, a student at Howard University in Washington, D.C., also attended.

Guests included many neighbors of the Busteruds and the Bertollis, athletic directors from the College of Marin and Marin high schools, members and staff of the Volunteer Bureau and the Rev. John McManus, who spent 10 years in Nigeria, and Sister Mary Damien, O.P., who is returning next month to Malawi, where she previously taught from 1968 to 1969, training Malawi resident to be teachers.

Sister Damien, who says she is anxious to return to the African nation, recalled an African saying, "If a person comes to Africa and is refreshed by the waters he will come to drink again."

Workshop For Divorcees Slated Sunday At Terra Lindan's Home

In the last five years 5,714 Marin county couples have initiated legal action to terminate their marriages, according to statistics released recently by the Bureau of Vital Statistcs, California Department of Public Health.

With this act almost 11,500 Marin husbands and wives reentered the world of single people, confronting the intense emotional and practical problems involved in this transition. The changes also affect the entire family.

To assist people in these adadjustments,he Transition Institute, a Berkeley-based nonprofit organization, has been giving a series of Divorced Persons Workshops throughout the Bay area. Such a workshop is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. both tomorrow and Sunday at the home of Mrs. Gloria Nardi, 632 Wake Robin Street in Terra Linda.

Co-founders of the Transition Institute are Jack Crickmore, Berkeley businessman and counselor, and Douglas Darnall, of Lafayette, who is working on his doctorate in counselling. The institute was founded six months ago and it is the hope of Crickmore that similar workshops will be started throughout the country.

Mrs. Ruth MacIver of Mill Valley, is assistant director. A divorcee, with four children, Mrs. MacIver became interested in the institute when she attended a workshop several months ago. Now she handles registrations, scheduling of workshop programs, and public relations for the institute. She is also a skilled group leader and wll assist with the weekend workshops.

Mrs. MacIver stresses that the entire weekend session must be undertaken by participants. Some 15 or 20 individuals seeking a constructive adjustment to their new status meet in an informal atmosphere. The participants are introduced to one another. "They share nonthreatening ideas in the beginning," Crickmore said, as they get to know and trust one another. Later groups of five or six are formed with leaders who gude and encourage an exchange of ideas. They gain encouragement from shared concerns, exploring various problems. One counselor, divorced himself, can talk about the problems of the man who does not have his children with him, another has no children and deals with the younger separated spouses, another leader has a large family, which she is raising alone, and her strength in meeting her problems helps others.

Soon to be initiated will be a series of workshops for children of divorce. Teenagers of divorced parents will be meeting with adult leaders to discuss their special problems with the change of family status.

In Marin people from many walks of life have attended the workshops. Among them have been a Tiburon financial advisor, a Novato administrator, a writer from Mill Valley, the former wife of a San Anselmo attorney, an electronic engineer from Kentfield, a San Rafael housewife, raising small sons alone.

The Transition Institute's founders hope to extend the seminar approach to life style readjustments to help the newly handicapped, those experiencing the death of a spouse, and others who must deal with abrupt changes of life style and personal relationships.

Daughter's Engagement Is Told At Jorgensen Party

A family dinner party at La Petite Auberge restaurant in San Rafael on Wednesday was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Lynn Jorgensen of Sleepy Hollow to Kenneth Kline of San Rafael.

Lynn is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Eugene C. Jorgensen of Sleepy Hollow. She has one brother, Bill. Lynn's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William O. Smith of Vacaville and Mrs. Soren C. Jorgensen of Oakland.

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Kline of San Anselmo. His brothers are Larry Kline of San Anselmo and Tom Kline of Fairfax. Mrs. John Kline of San Francisco is his grandmother.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School and attends the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Kenneth is also a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

LYNN JORGENSEN
Engagement announced

He has returned to Marin County after three years in the Army, and is employed with the Marin County Sheriff's Department.

A November wedding is planned.

A KIMONO COAT in khaki green pure wool ratten, trimmed with printed quilting is topped by a matching quilted bonnet, like those worn in Tibet. The Asian motif outfit was shown by Jap house of fashion at the Paris showings of fall and winter styles.

Marinites Giving Mailliards Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Rep. William S. Mailliard is coming from Washington, D.C., and will spend a busy weekend with his family at the home they have leased for the summer in San Rafael.

An outdoor buffet supper in planned for tonight for more than 100 friends from Marin, including the mayors and councilmen.

On Saturday the Mailliards will attend the wedding of his niece, Sherry, daughter of Supervisor and Mrs. James Milliard of San Francisco, who will be wed to Greg Kammerer at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in San Francisco.

A smaller dinner party is planned by the Mailliards at their San Rafael home on Sunday when they will be joined by eight other couples, all close friends. Invited from Marin are Mssrs. and Mmes. Leo Ross of Belvedere, Herbert Walton of San Rafael and Stanley Powell of San Anselmo.

MRS. CHARLENE Coakley Dorst of Tiburon and James R. Harvey of Moraga were married at 7 p.m. yesterday at a quiet ceremony at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard M. Garrick in Belvedere. The only other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Webster Otis of Ross.

The marriage was performed by Judge John J. Hopkins of Mill Valley, a friend of the bridegroom. Harvey is a vice president of Trans America Corporation. The couple will move into a home they have recently acquired on Vallejo Street in San Francisco. Both have two daughters by previous marriages.

LEADING DANCER with the San Francisco Ballet, Lynda Meyer, is flying to New York tomorrow to join William Christensen's Ballet West USA for a six-week tour of Europe.

Lynda (Mrs. Tom Cronin of San Francisco) is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Meyer of Corte Madera.

The tour will take the company to Greece, Yugoslavia, Italy, Spain, Switzerland and France, where they will perform mainly at summer festivals. Lynda will dance with Tomm Ruud, Ballet West's leading male dancer and formerly with San Francisco Ballet, and Jacques D'Ambroise on loan for the tour from New York City Ballet.

Lynda expects to return the second week in September.

CHAMPAGNE AND canapes will be served at San Francisco Yacht Club, Belvedere tonight to honor the club's long-time employee, Bill Todd, who is retiring. Todd, a resident of Tiburon, will be touring North America by camper after the send-off by club members.

MRS. FRANCES Zander of San Rafael entertained 90 guests to celebrate the first anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Danziger of Santa Barbara with cocktails in her home and then dinner at Rubini's restaurant in Fairfax.

Mr. Danziger is a former partner with the Walter Cribbins Company of San Rafael while his wife, Dr. Minna Hansen, is professor of medicine with the University of California at Santa Barbara.

THEIR GOLDEN wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Stapleton of Petaluma at a reception for more than 100 guests held at the Veterans Memorial Hall in Cotati on July 12.

Their daughter, Mrs. Deloris Savoloja of Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada, was the hostess, assisted by the couple's five grandchildren. They also have seven great-grandchildren.

Mr. Stapleton and the former Clora Anderson were married in Crystal City, Manitoba, in 1921.

See-Through Belt

A see-through belt from the Chantal de Vassieu consists of eight huge leather circles held together with a ribbon leather closure. This belt is among new ones in a collection marking the young Parisian designer's first venture into feminine accessories. Until now, she has specialized in stunning belts for men. Most of the belts had the see-through look, achieved by linking together geometric shapes with holes in the centers.

A LUNCHEON at Sabella's Restaurant Wednesday will honor Mrs. William F. Torrance, school nurse for the San Anselmo School District who is retiring after 19 years with the district.

Mrs. Robert J. Romaneck of Kentfield is planning the luncheon. Teachers, board members, district office personnel, special services personnel and aides will attend.

Opal Torrance is the wife of William F. Torrance, proprietor of the Torrance Gallery in San Anselmo. They have two children, William F. Torrance Jr. of Berkeley and Mrs. Walter Van Gelder, who, with her husband and four children is now living in Kabul, Afghanistan. Betty Jo Van Gelder is teaching English, and her husband, architecture, on Peace Corps assignments.

Travel is in the future plans of the Torrances, too. They will leave for Europe in September.

MR. AND MRS. Louis Nave have invited more than 90 guests to attend a cocktail party at their home at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato Sunday evening.

CHARLES P. Davies of Indian Valley Ranch in Novato returned home this week from a month's vacation with his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Vaneps, and Michael, 15, Gail, 13, and Jeffrey, 10 years old, of Grand Rapids, Minn.

The Vaneps came to Novato and Mr. Davies joined them on an auto trip up the Oregon and Washington coast and then into Canada. They stopped at Banff, Vancouver, B.C., Lake Louise, Winnipeg and then attended the Calgary Stampede.

MR. AND MRS. Richard A. Evans of Mill Valley have received word of the birth of a daughter to M. and Mme. Andre Sirot on May 27 at their home in Laon, France.

Mme. Sirot, the former Laura Lee Evans is Richard Evans' daughter.

The baby, who has been named Anne Marie, is the great granddaughter of Mrs. Clifford Porter of San Francisco.

WILLIAM KING surprised his wife with a party Saturday night in celebration of their 30th wedding anniversary. They were married in San Francisco in 1941. The party was held in their new home in San Rafael.

Among the 50 guests were Mr. King's three sister, Mrs. Elliot Enos, Mrs. Gordon L. (Deacon) Jones of Pasadena and Mrs. Raiph Wilkinson of Burlingame.

THE WALTER L. Longs are leaving Greenbrae after many years in Marin to live in Palos Verdes. Mr. Long has been made sales manager for the 10 Western states for the Automatic Signal Company in Torrance.

The Longs' daughter Bonnie, who is in her second year at the College of Marin, is remaining in Marin. Their daughter Wendy is in Oaklahoma City and another daughter, Janet (Mrs. James Johnson) is a senior at Chico State College.

Mrs. Long, who was president of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley in 1968-69, was a lifelong resident of Mill Valley until the Longs moved to Greenbrae seven years ago. Her grandmother, Mrs. Henry S. Bridge, was a found of the club in 1902 and twice served as president.

Storage Time

Nearly all fresh vegetables can be stored in the refrigerator for two to five days and sometimes longer. Vegetables best not kept in the refrigerator are potatoes, dry onions, hard-rind squash, eggplant and turnips. These keep well in cool rather than cold storage . . . the basement, for instance.

For Freshness

Ripe peaches can be kept at room temperature for a day or so; for longer storage, keep in the refrigerator for up to 14 days. A light sprinkling of lemon or orange juice or ascorbic acid powder will keep sliced peaches from turning dark; so does honey.

CHINESE THEMES were a strong influence in this week's fashion showings in Rome. The American-run fashion houses of La Mendola and Tiziani stressed the Oriental in their collections (left). Ticiani of Texas showed an evening gown in pastel yellow, printed with dancing Mandarins (right). La Mendola of Rockford, Ill., chose an evening gown in pink, green and purple, with flowing skirt and laced bodice.

Political Overtones Seen As Chinese Visit Showing

By BRENDA W. ROTZOLL

ROME (UPI)—A Rome fashion week of largely sportylooking clothes closed out with politics overshadowing tailoring as a Chinese Embassy delegation turned out for a Chinese collection shown by an American house.

To add to the international flavor, a young Turk who trained at Cardin in Paris, made his Rome debut Wednesday and received fashion writers' highest accolade—dead silence, as they hastened to make notes on every dress that was shown.

The political overtones came at La Mendola—partners Mike La Mendola of Rockford, Ill., and Jack Savage of Herminie, Pa., whose "behind the bamboo curtain" show was staged in the two-story-high ballroom of their midtown palazzo.

SAVAGE, WHO said the mainland China delegation did not include Ambassador Shen Ping, said the Chinese sat concealed on the landing of the staircase to see the show.

The La Mendola collection n colors ranging from pink and acid green through all shades of purple came in solid color wools and in prints based on the Chinese school.

Gold Chinese lion's head buckles adorned self-belts on jersey prints that came covered up with flowing skirts, or laced from throat past navel and slit up the side to the hip for the vamp look.

Right across the street and one hour beforehand, Texasorn Evan Richards—Tiziani to the fashion trade — closed his collection with a series of evening gowns with Chinese decorations. Yellow chiffon evening gowns with full skirts were printed with dancing mandarins, and a glitter embroidered Chinese dragon adorned a black velvet tunic worn with knee breeches.

TIZIANI FOLLOWED the popular sporty look for daytime, with top-of-the-knee pantskirts, very flared coats, and a woolen sashed trenchcoat lined inbrown mink.

The week's new fashion sensation was Bergin Usberk, a young Turk who spent 2 1-2 years at Cardin, ran his own house in Istanbul for five years and opened in Rome with a collection that led the veteran correspondent of a tailoring trade magazine to moan," he does things we have no name for."

What Usberk did was use skinny lines and simple but costly tailoring in gowns that call attention to the wearer rather than the dress.

His trademark this season was flat seams which joined three horizontal strips of fabric at the bust, waist and hip, seaming became vertical on the panels from hip to hem.

Fabrics, colors and cut all were ultra-refined, in a manner more familiar to Paris than Rome in these fashion days.

'Male Chauvinist' Editor Strikes Back For The Cause Of 'Legs'

DEAR HELEN:

May a male editor present a rebuttal to the female editor who took another male to task for his "chauvinism"? The lady claimed hubby showed emotional infantilism and lack of interest in her as a person by complaining when his wife covered her legs with pantsuits.

I claim this shows a definite lack of awareness of any emotion between males and females.

The husband's appreciation for his wife's legs surely wasn't the only thing he appreciated about her. Otherwise it wouldn't be a marriage any longer, and they would have gone their separate ways. He obviously likes her companionship, probably her brains, her ability to do various and many things — even including the way she looks in pantsuits.

But when something is beautiful, it seems criminal to cover it. No one would appreciate putting linoleum over terrazzo tile, or paint over mahogany paneling, or a canvas drape over the Mona Lisa. Nor would we fence directly across a view of the ocean or a lovely mountain. It would evidence a total lack of sensitivity.

If the gal has "great legs," and her husband appreciates them, that should be enough for both, and she should, once in a while, exhibit them in the accepted fashion of the day.

There's something considerably paranoid about some of the women's lib proponents who see any reference to beauty, the body or relationships between male and female as a threat to their continued existence. And paranoia is a heck of a thing upon which to build a worthwhile case for equality. — MALE EDITOR

DEAR HELEN:

No doubt it is true that the expression "Right on!" came into current usage through the Black Panthers, but it is also a quotation from Shakespeare. In Julius Caesar, Act III, scene 2, Mark Antony says: "I only speak right on. I tell you that which you yourselves do know." — SALLY

DEAR SALLY:

Right on and on! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When I went shopping with my husband, I was shocked to see my brother-in-law with another woman, acting very much like her husband.

I asked my man about it and he said it's just one of those things. He was surprised I didn't know because it had been going on a long time.

What bothers me, Helen, is that this man plans to renew his marriage vows with his wife in church, just as if everything was fine between them — and they've been living as brother and sister for several years.

These relatives go camping and fishing with us. After learning this terrible secret, I don't know whether I want to go out with them any more. How should I act? — SHOCKED

DEAR SHOCKED:

Act "as was." Evidently these two have worked out their problems or they wouldn't still be together and apparently compatible. If you dropped them, the wife would have one less friendship when she needs all the morale-boosting she can get. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

No Cholesterol Harm Seen In Daily Egg Diet

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Based on current knowledge, there is no reason for healthy people to drop eggs from their meals simply because eggs contain some cholesterol. So says Dr. E.W. Gleaves, of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln extension Service.

Cholesterol is often mentioned in discussions on heart disease. But many factors are involved with heart disease and knowledge of the influence of diet still is incomplete, Dr. Gleaves says.

About eggs, he says their protein has the highest biological value of any natural protein. Two eggs per day will satisfy 25 per cent of an individual's daily protein requirement.

Even though eggs are one of the most perfect foods, he continues, Americans consume on the average more dry coffee than they do eggs—16 pounds of dry coffee are used annually compared with 12 pounds of eggs.

ON THE AGENDA

Marin Legal Secretaries Governor To Attend Convention In Tulsa

Constance Mauk of Corte Madera, governor of the Marin County Legal Secretaries Association is planning to attend the National Association of Legal Secretaries annual international convention Sunday through Thursday in Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. Mauk is a nominee for the office of corresponding secretary of NALS, which has as its purpose uniting all persons engaged in work of a legal nature and encouraging them to continue their educations.

New officers will be installed the last day of the convention by the outgoing president, Helen E. Harney of Stockton.

AN ORGANIZATION has been formed to raise funds for ballet scholarships for 80 dancers from California, Oregon, Washington and Alaska. Members, called Themesetters, will raise the money by giving unusual parties.

Major Colors For Fall Suits, Coats

Colors for the new fall suits and coats break down into three major groups: the clear and vibrant, the subtle, and the neutrals. In the clear group, you'll find hot yellows, hot pinks, hot greens showing as solids or woven-in bold tweed combinations and patterns. The subtles include smoky hues of mauve, yellow, dusty pink, dusty blue, bottle and moss green, burgundy and plum. The neutrals are beige, greige (grayed beige), chamois, luggage, gray and heather tones. And watch for a big comeback for black, says the International Ladies Garment Workers Union (ILGWU) forecast for fall.

Party representative for Marin is Mrs. Edgar Hill of Mill Valley.

A PROGRAM on gardens around the world will be presented by the Petaluma Flower Gardeners tonight at 8 p.m. at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma.

During the public program Harold Jaroske will speak and show movies, and there will be a table of plants for sale.

THE NOVATO Hostess Club Gourmet III Section will hold a couples barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller in Novato at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

Members will bring their favorite salads to be served with barbecued oast beef and corn on the cob. Planning to attend are Mmes. and Messrs. David Brooks, Leo Bechnel, Richard Browne, Walter Christensen, Steven Freeman, C.J. Goudeau, Olin Jolly, William Lemon, Dave Mullen, Wallace Peck and George Pust.

The Best Kind

Blueberries are a summer fruit staple. Look for berries with dark color and a silvery bloom. This bloom is a natural, protective waxy coating. Select berries that are plump, firm, uniform in size, dry and free from stems and leaves. Store berries unwashed and uncovered in the refrigerator until ready for use. Use within a couple of days.

Bright Colors

Bright, clear colors take the spotlight in the new fall hosiery, designed to go with hot pants, shortie skirts and culottes.

Mr. Know-It-All Isn't Much Help

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"You're doing that all wrong. But then you know that, huh?"

My Man, who refuses to pay a repairman for any household project—because he can do the job himself—looked dryly down at the short dark fellow who had casually strolled into the driveway and stood for a full five minutes staring up at him on the makeshift scaffold.

"There is an easier way." The man went on knowledgeably.

"Oh yeah, you a painter?" asks My Man with growing disdain.

"ALL MY life. Papa was, too. What you need is one of those little deals that fits right into the corners. Why, I could paint this whole house in one day. It's all a matter of having the right equipment and, of course, knowin' what you're doing."

My Man softens a little. Maybe this guy does know what he's talking about. One thing for sure, he wouldn't have to know much to know more than My Man knows about painting a house. Just maybe. . .

"A tool for the corners, huh? That makes sense. What's the name of that tool?"

Mr. Know-it-all shrugs, "Well, I don't know the exact name of it, but I know what it looks like. Come on, I'll go over to the hardware store with you and show it to you. You're sure lucky I came by. This just happens to be my day off."

Once inside the hardware store, Mr. Know-it-all helps My Man select the "corner thing" and several other items for house painters.

"ANOTHER THING you've got to have—got to have—is a paint cap." Mr. Know-it-all is shopping to his heart's content.

My Man shruggs his shoulders, "One paint cap. . ." he says to the cashier.

"Hey, man, you don't think I'm going to let you paint that house alone! Get me a cap, too. I dig painting' — good exercise — good release of energy. I'll take that orange one."

"Make that, umm, two paint caps, please. . ."

As My Man pays the tab, he decides that he will, indeed, let this nut help him paint the house. Why not?

Mr. Know-it-all checks himself out in the rear view mirror once inside the car. He smiles at the image of his natural mushrooming beneath his new orange painting cap.

"Painters got to look like painters," he nudges My Man with his elbow. "Put yours on."

MY MAN is beginning to have doubts.

"That's OKAY, I'll put mine on when we get back to the house."

"Yep," reiterates Mr. Know-it-all as he smiles happily, "Got to have a paint cap. Keeps the sweat out of your eyes and the paint out of your hair."

"Umm, huh." My Man is now watching Mr. Know-it-all out of the corner of his eye.

"Whew! It sure is a hot day." Mr. Know-it-all wets his lips as they pass a liquor store. "Man, am I dry. Think I'll buy a couple of six-packs. Pull over at the next liquor store, okay?"

Stop number two.

The promising painter hops out of the car and scowls as he looks inside his wallet.

"Man, you got any change? All I got is a $50 bill, and you know how they squawk about changing big bills. Be faster if I had the right change, 'cause we got to get on with this paintin' business."

MY MAN, his jaws totally rigid at this point, hands the painter-with-a-promise a five dollar bill.

With two six-packs in tow, painter and protege return to the house.

"Now, let's sit here under this tree and have a quick beer while I explain just how we're going to do this. Man, this house will be painted and sparkling in no time. The first thing to do is. . ."

Three hours and a bag of empty beer cans later, Mr. Been-paintin'-all-my-life looks at his watch and leaps to his feet.

"Man, I gotta' run! If I'm not home for dinner, my old lady will be stretched all out of shape. You know how women are. She'll swear I been out chasin' some 'skirt' — never belive I spent the day helping a neighbor paint his house. Later, brother."

My Man puts on his new paint cap and climbs back up on his scaffold.

SONOMA GROUP

Assistance League Has New Leader

Heading the Assistance League of Sonoma County is Mrs. James W. Paine of Glen Ellen.

Mrs. Paine, who has served as first vice president, has been a member of the Assistance League for four years. She transferred from the San Mateo County League two years ago and has been active with the Sonoma League since 1969.

SHE CHARACTERIZES the organization's aims as "to carry on a program of philanthropic work in the community." The current project, "Funds for Futures," provides vocational scholarships to deserving students. The program for the coming year will be highlighted by the opening of the Simi Winer in Healdsburg, Sunday from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., which the Assistance League will sponsor. Other activities are a Christmas Boutique and a social event with their husbands. They are also investigating a second project to serve community needs.

Women interested in a working organization who have time and talents to give to projects of a charitable nature are welcomed to membership, according to Mrs. Paine.

A favorite interest is "watching Christmas trees grow on their 'Valley of the Moon Pines' Ranch in Glen Ellen," Mrs. Paine says. Her husband is a retired Captain in the Coast Guard. Nancy Paine is also active in the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club of San Francisco.

THE COUPLE has two grown sons, John, a resident of Texas, and Stephen, serving in the Air Force.

A graduate of San Diego State College, Nancy also studied at the New York School of Interior Design. She maintains her interest in decorating and enjoys painting in oil.

Other incoming officers are Mmes. Elmo Martini, first vice president; Paul G. Hollister, second vice president; Harry Johnson, recording secretary; Thomas Iles, corresponding secretary, and Frank Lynch, treasurer.

Ping Pong Tourney Postponed To August

A charity table tennis tournament scheduled for this weekend at Kingswood Village on the North Shore of Lake Tahoe is postponed until Aug. 28 and 29.

The tournament is open to all Northern California fund raising groups. Entry blanks are available from radio station KNBR in San Francisco and GenEx Development Corporation in San Rafael, sponsors of the tournament.

Everyone Joining Antipollution Act

Just about everyone's getting into the antipollution campaign. One chain of specialty stores has added to its women's fashion line a home-care wash free of phosphates and enzymes.

The chain recommends it for either hot or cold water, for hand-washing delicate fabrics or for use in the machine. No additives are necessary for the machine wash.

NOVATO RECEPTION — Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kentoski read one of the many anniversary cards they received congratulating them on their 50 years of marriage. Rose Athmer and Lee Kentoski were married in Belleville, Ill., on July 14, 1921. They were honored at a reception at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato on Saturday.

Novato Pair In 50th Wedding Celebration

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kentoski of Novato celebrated their golden wedding anniversary when their daughter, Mrs. James Henricks of Novato was hostess at a reception Saturday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall in Novato.

Among the 50 guests attending the reception were Mr. Henricks and the Kentoski's two grandchildren, Jeff Henricks, 14, and Linda Henricks, 12 years old. They have a son, Raymond of Novato.

Mr. Kentoski was a molder for an iron company in Illinois and also worked for the Pinkerton Secret Service in Los Angeles, retiring in 1961. During World War I he was in the Signal Corps and then transferred to the Air Service.

The couple moved to Novato in 1966, and they have both been active in the VFW. Mr. Kentoski is past post commander of VFW Post 7816 in Novato and is a senior vice commander of World War I Marin Barracks 559 in San Rafael. Rose Kentoski is a member of the Marin Barracks 550.

Rose Athmer and Lee Kentoski met a picnic and were married in Belleville, Ill. on July 14, 1921.

Their son, Raymond, now 48 years old, has been an invalid since birth. He lives with his parents. "Marriage is a 50-50 proposition," they agree when speaking of their 50 years of marriage.

Stings 'Bug' Many, Even Cause Death

Scores of different insects and other pests "bug" our daily life but during the summer months, the outdoorsman is particularly vulnerable to them. Nature's many creeping, crawling and flying creatures can deliver painful and sometimes deadly stings or bites and also transmit disease, according to the California Medical Association.

Bees, wasps, ticks, chiggers and flies are usually the worst pesterers of farmers, fishermen, hunters and picknickers but — in certain areas — scorpions and poisonous spiders are also a problem.

If a honey bee stings you, you must take prompt action in order to minimize the pain. Once a bee stings, the barbed stinger and the venom-filled sac remain attached to your skin.

Even though you have brushed the bee aside, you have not disposed of the threat. The sac will continue to pump venom. Carefully examine the site of the sting with a knife or your fingernail, and scrape the stinger off immediately. Do not try to grasp the stinger with your fingers, as you are likely to squeeze more venom into your skin. For first aid, apply a paste of baking soda and water to the area of the sting. The area may also be coated with an analgesic cream which will reduce pain and relieve itching.

Hornets, yellow jackets, wasps and bumblebees do not leave their venom sacs when they sting. Consequently, they may sting more than once. These stings bring redness, pain and itching. If you are stung many times, enough venom can be absored to make you quite ill. If that happens, you need medical treatment.

Botulism Threat Cited In Canning

Each year a number of cases of botulism, the most lethal form of food poisoning, occur. Sadly, this danger lurks in an old and honored American practice — "Putting up" our own fresh fruits and vegetables — home canning, "like Grandma used to do".

The problem of botulism is prevented in commercial canning by use of equipment producing a combination of temperature and pressure capable of killing the spores so they cannot grow into bacteria to produce their toxin. However, since the botulinum bacteria can survive 20 hours of boiling at normal sea-level pressures, simple home canning methods may not succeed in getting rid of them and, during storage, there is plenty of time for the fatal toxin to be produced.

Home canning can be carried out safely if certain procedures are carefully followed. These are fully described in the pamphlets "Home Canning of Fruits" and "Home Canning of Vegetables" which are available through University of California Agricultural Extension Service in Berkeley.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, July 23, the 204th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Leo.

American actress Charlotte Cushman was born July 23, 1816.

On this day in history:

In 1829 William Burt of Mount Vernon, Mich, received a patent for his "typographer," claimed to be the first typewriter.

In 1904 the ice cream cone was born. Charles Menches of St. Louis called on a young lady carrying a bouquet of flowers and an ice cream sandwich. The young lady fashioned one sandwich layer into a vase, thus suggesting the cone type holder for ice cream.

In 1945 Marshal Henri Petain of France went on trial in Paris on charges of World War II treason.

A thought for today: British novelist Somerset Maugham said, "The tragedy of life is indifference."

New Grade System At Stanford School

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Stanford University's Graduate School of Business will give grades of honors (H), pass (P) or unsatisfactory (U) in place of the present, A, B, C, D, or F grading system.

The school's faculty has decided that the simplified grading system will go into effect with the autumn 1971 quarter and will also include plus or minus distinctions for the passing grade.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Candid Bridge Player Tells About The Big One

There are no statistics on how many fishermen play bridge, but I owe it to the public to point out that there are big differences between the two sports. A fisherman would never write a letter about the big one that got away, but a bridge player named Rodger Harbin cheerfully wrote to me about today's hand.

CHANCES IMPROVE

"Though I didn't make this contract," Harbin admits, "the opening lead gave the chance to make it. I won the first trick with the ten of hearts, and it came to me (unfortunately too late) that I could repeat the finesse and then sluff my diamond on the ace of hearts.

"Now ruff a diamond, return to dummy with the ace of clubs to ruff another diamond, and return to king of clubs to ruff a third diamond. Next lead the queen of spades.

"West wins with the king and must return his only side care, the queen of clubs, because if West continues trumps, South gets an overtrick.

SECOND END PLAY

"South ruffs the queen of clubs, and has J-9-7 of spades left, while West's last three cards are A-10-8 of spades. If South leads the jack of spades, West can win but must then lead from the 10-8 to give South a trick with the nine of spades. West gets three spade tricks, but nothing else.

"I would like to have your comments on the opening lead from the West hand."

NO COMMENT

I'm sorry to say that I cannot comment on the actual heart opening lead. I get only a few sheets of asbestos typing paper per year, and I've already used up my supply through 1975.

West should open the ace of diamonds and should probably continue with a low diamonds since South might have two diamonds and one heart instead of the reverse. South is then down one even if he plays the rest of the hand perfectly.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ - 5
♥ - 8 5 3 2
♦ - K J 10 7 4
♣ - 10 7 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two diamonds. You expect partner to pass this weak response, and you expect to have a better time at two diamonds than he would have at one no-trump.

Judge Dismisses Burglary Charge

A burglary charge against Larry George Loughead, 22, of Mill Valley, has been dismissed in Marin Municipal Court.

West Marin Judicial Court Justice, David R. Baty, sitting in Municipal Court, dismissed the charge when the district attorney's office reported that the alleged burglary victim did not wish to prosecute.

Loughead was arrested June 28, when a neighbor identified him to Marin County sheriff's deputies as the man he had seen entering a window of a residence at 6 La Verne Avenue, Homestead Valley.

Astronauts Ponder Moon Landing Site

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)— Apollo 15 astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin plan to camp for three days in a moon basin cut by a winding canyon and flanked by battered mountains.

"I expect it to be very, very impressive," Scott said. "To be in an area where you can look in one direction and see 15,000 feet of mountain and in another direction a canyon almost a mile across and a thousand feep deep, that's got to be something."

It is probably some of the most rugged terrain—or lurain as Scott calls it—men will ever explore on the moon.

The touchdown site itself, on the fringe of what is called the Marsh of Decay, is relatively smooth as seen from photographs taken by moon satellites. It resembles the cratered flatlands cisited by the Apollo 11 and 12 astronauts in 1969.

But two miles to the south is the base of the 12,000 feet high Apennine Front. Mount Hadley, one of the tallest peaks on the moon, rises 15,000 feet seven miles to the northeast. And the canyon, called Hadley Rille, is about a half mile to the west.

The Apennines, named after a mountain range in Italy, rise higher above the basin floor than the towering east face of the Sierra Nevadas in California or the Great Himalayan Front that juts above the plains of India.

Hadley Rille, like Mount Hadley and several craters in the area, was named after John Hadley, an 18th century British scientist who improved the reflector telescope design and invented an ancestor of the mariner's sextant.

The canyon, representative of several puzzling rilles on the moon, is similar in size to the Rio Grande Gorge near Taos, N.M., which Scott and Irwin have visited. Hadley Rille meanders down from an elongated depression in the Apennines and cuts the Marsh of Decay, merging with another rille 62 miles to the north.

Scientists don't know what formed the canyon, but there is some agreement that it was probably formed by volcanic action, and possibly was a lava channel. There has been speculation in the past that such rilles were formed by water because they resemble river beds on earth.

The Apennines ring the southeastern edge of the Great Sea of Rains which was blasted out by the explosive impact of an asteroid an estimated four billion years ago. Geologists believe the Apennines were lifted up by the shock of the impact and were shaped by a network of faults.

Besides the mountains and canyon, the astronauts will explore a cluster of craters apparently formed by material splattered out of the large craters Aristillus and Autolycus to the northwest and a series of hills to the north that may be volcanic domes.

The Apollo 15 landing site, named Hadley-Apennine after its most prominent features, is the most northern landing area selected in the Apollo program. It is 465 miles north of the lunar equator and 660 miles northeast of the Apollo 14 landing site.

For the first time in more than a decade, brown pelicans have been born in Louisiana, reviving hopes the bird will not become extinct.

FAMILY

"Computer Wore Tennis Shoes" — College students outsmart their elders in a rollicking Disney comedy about a student who becomes nothing less than a genius when a computer's memory bank is accidentally transferred to his brain.

"Le Mans" — Superbly photographed on actual location with 45 renowned race drivers at the wheels. Technically excellent, this spectacualr fictional film is so real that those who watch it will be transplanted to the famous race course.

"My Side of the Mountain" — A low-keyed story of a young nature-lover which will appeal mainly to children with similar interests. A beautifully entertaining film relates experiences and adventures of a 13-year-old boy and his pet raccoon trying to prove he could live alone close to nature.

"New Leaf" — A delightful comedy about a penniless middleaged playboy who is forced to acquire a rich wife quickly. His choice is a botanist who has the social graces of a country hick. He has devious plans to get control of her money, and that is when the fun begins.

"$1,000,000 Duck" — Walt Disney comes through again with a good family comedy. Treatment is fresh and bright. Plenty of laughs for all.

"Tora-Tora-Tora" — Impressive dramatization of the attack on Pearl Harbor, seen from both the American and Japanese point of view. Excellent cast, amazing photography, well worth seeing.

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

"Willy Wonka" — Elaborately staged in Munich, Germany, and beautifully photographed. Relates the incredible experiences of Charlie and his grandfather when he finds the 5th winning golden ticket wrapped in a chocolate bar. This is a film classic.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Anderson Tapes" — A trio of clever gimmicks set this film apart from the routine thriller about a robbery. It has suspense, excitement and performances by Sean Connery, Dyan Cannon, Allan King, Martin Balsam. Very good. (Motion Picture Herald)

"From Russia With Love" — Rapid-fire adventure of James Bond. Good adult fun if you like perplexing action punctuated by sexy situations and spectacular refinements of death-dealing gadgets.

"The Last Run" — A former American hoodlum is persuaded to make a one-time comeback and perform a job in Spain. George C. Scott's performance gives further distinction to a thriller that is in other respects several cuts above the ordinary. (M.P. Daily)

"Love Story" — Film is pure romantic escapism and an old-fashioned simple love story. Acting is exceptional and some tasteless language mars an otherwise beautiful portrayal.

"Play Dirty" — A bitterly savage look at men and countries at war and the dehumanizing things they are forced to do to accomplish their missions . . . practically everyone winds up senselessly and horribly dead. Action crammed, exciting film, impressive desert locations, gripping performances (Boxoffice Mag.)

"Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" — Based on the popular fictional English detective created by Sir Arthur C. Doyle. In an attempt to make a very popular mythical character into a real person, the scriptwriters have made him a drug addict and cast doubt on his masculinity.

"Ryan's Daughter" — Overlong, romantic film photographed against rugged Irish landscape . . . ageless story of unsanctioned love ending in tragedy. (Note: MPAA changed R rating to GP only after long discussion)

"Ten Rillington Place" — Chilling and true story of notorious Christie mass murders in England, for which an innocent man was hanged. An unpleasant story, leaving an unpleasant aftertaste. Not for the young or for the queasy of any age.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Bananas" — A raw, raucous satire on subjects formerly held sacred or taboo. Woody Allen plays his usual character except this time he is involved in a South American revolution.

"Dr. No." — Ian Fleming's slick sensational yarn about sexy sleuth James Bond . . . wading through a welter of blood, sweat, and swamp water our hero takes sex and assassination in stride.

"Little Big Man" — A very violent tragic-comic history of Indian-white relations as recalled by 121-year-old ex-gun fighter. Very thought provoking, bloody, with some sex scenes.

"Vanishing Point" — A boring and pointless film about a super anti-establishment hero who drives a race car to his destruction. Sex, nudity, violence, cursing.

"Where Eagles Dare" — Complicated plot revolves around agents and double agents who are to carry out espionage behind German lines during World War II. Filled with bloody violence that sickens.

ADULTS ONLY

"Klute" — A small town detective and big city call girl find each other while hunting a murderer. (Boxoffice Mag.)

"Stewardesses" — Glasses are provided to view this sex drama in 3D. Stewardesses on a Honolulu to L.A. flight find various sex diversions on their off time. (Boxoffice Mag.)

TREE PLANTING TIME IN LARKSPUR

John Gregorowicz of the Larkspur Public Works Department, digs a hole to plant the first of 30 trees in Piper Park. The trees, planted Wednesday, were donated by the Ross Valley Kiwanis Club to the City of Larkspur. David Williams, chairman of the agricultural committee of the Kiwanis Club coordinated the project of obtaining the trees for beautification of the park. The trees, known as Myopoirum Laetum, are fast growing broadleafed evergreens that must be planted near salt water. They will form a windbreak around the edge of the Bundy ball field area in the park.

Sanitary Budget Wins Panel Nod

The Novato Sanitary District board last night adopted a preliminary budget for fiscal 1971-72 totaling $318,530 — a $30,112 increase over last year's.

According to Dist. Mgr. Charles A. Joseph, the budget is expected to drop the tax rate from last year's 71.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation to 40 cents this year.

That reduction, he said, is due to elimination of 35 cents from the tax rate in capital improvements.

The board also accepted easement deeds for property owned by Manuel Pacheco at the corner of Wilson Avenue and Novato Boulevard and from the Carrara Estates Subdivision.

In other action, it agreed to amend its contract with Soderblom and Co. of San Rafael for expanded accounting services.

The firm will receive $30 per hour for supervisory and investment work on bonds approved last year and will receive $10 per hour for bookkeeping. The original contract called for a flat fee of $160 per month and will remain in force.

Quake In Tokyo

TOKYO (UPI) —An earthquake jarred the Tokyo-Yokohama area today but there was no report of injury or damage. The Japan Meteorological Agency said the tremor registered three on the Japanese scale of seven.

The epicenter of the quake was the Mt. Fujiyama area 50 miles west of Tokyo. Tall buildings swayed noticeably in Tokyo and lamp posts rocked from side to side.

Guard Death Is First Such Type

San Quentin Prison guards on "babysitting" duty to protect "hot" inmates never met with violence before Officer Leo G. Davis was stabbed to death Wednesday, Associate Warden James W. L. Park declared today.

Any resulting changes in prison guard routine will be announced first to the prison staff before being made public by Warden Louis Nelson, Park added.

The deadly fray was still under investigation today by prison officials and representatives of prison employee associations.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said today the case had not yet been turned over to his office for preparation of any charges. Bales said he had asked the state Criminal Investigation and Identification office in Sacramento to assist prison officials on the case.

Park said, "We still have five or six inmates locked up; we're looking hard at three" in connection with the slaying of Davis in an apparent attempt to get at the inmate he was guarding in a prison hospital cell.

The intended target, Herman Earl Johnson, 25, had been moved into a more secure cell nicknamed the "green room," normally reserved for ailing Death Row inmates. There, Johnson was being "babysat by two guards," Park said today. The high-security cell was empty at the time Davis was killed, Park confirmed.

The associate warden said guards routinely watched over — or as they called it, "babysat" — inmates assaulted by unknown attackers in the hospital section rather than the "green room." "To my knowledge, there never has been an incident remotely like this," Park said.

Park said Johnson "had nothing to do with the Soledad Brothers." Johnson, a former inmate of Soledad Prison, had been scheduled to be a witness in a trial of other inmates accused of killing Soledad guard William G. Shull a year ago today. The case, however, was "thrown out of court because of perjury by witnesses," Park said, and Johnson apparently never took the witness stand.

Warden Nelson told a press conference yesterday that although "we were kind of holding our breath" after realizing that Johnson was marked for attack only routine protection procedures were used after he was stabbed Monday.

Davis's death resulted in a massive search for weapons in two main cellblocks at the prison and in one section of "Condemned Row." Park revealed today that the search turned up "three prison-made 'shanks' in the row" but only one in the North and East cellblocks.

"We're taking a look at how the weapons got to the row," Park said. He added that guards carted off a dump truck load of contraband "junk" from the main cellblocks after the search, and that the block's inmates staged "a sort of a sit-down protest" after lunch yesterday when they saw the search being made. No trouble resulted, Park said, and after the search was completed the men went quietly into their cells for lock-up, he said. Funeral for the slain guard, Davis, was to be held in Richmond this afternoon.

Assessment Rate Hike: Auditor Lists Tax Windfall By Agency

If this year's tax rates remain the same as last year in all taxing agencies in Marin, the county property owners will be charged with almost $5.4 million in additional taxes, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell disclosed today.

The same tax rate will produce more revenue this year because state law requires the county assessor to assess property at 25 per cent instead of 23 per cent of full market value.

An 8.7 per cent increase in tax levy will be an automatic windfall that will accrue to each taxing agency which keeps the same tax rate as last year. Only if all taxing agencies lower the tax rates will the tax impact be the same as last year.

The 73 independent taxing entities in Marin must set their tax rates on or before Aug. 31. They will get automatic windfalls if they leave their tax rates unchanged.

"If the vast majority of taxing entities do not reduce their tax rates, I would predict that the taxpayers of Marin County will be facing the most astronomical increase in taxes which they have ever experienced," warned Mitchell.

Here is the windfall each city would get if it retained last year's tax rate:

Belvedere $22,844; Corte Madera $20,869; Fairfax $20,388; Larkspur $37,613; Mill Valley $86,858; Novato $46,165; Ross $15,721; San Anselmo $55,563; San Rafael $87,543; Sausalito $36,883; and Tiburon $15,451.

Here is a list of other taxing entities and the amount of windfall each would get if tax rates remain the same as last year:

County of Marin $1,216,463. (Since the county tax rate is projected to go up from last year's $2.575 to $2.965, an additional $2 million will be levied on top of the $1,216,463 windfall. Increase in county costs is due largely to increased cost of welfare, building security, and Davis-Magee trial.)

Structural fire $16,688.

County library $56,986.

Elementary Schools — Bolinas-Stinson $21,558; Dixie $197,526; Fairfax $55,521; Kentfield $108,490; Laguna Joint $2,342; Lagunitas $22,691; Larkspur $105,116; Lincoln $1,700; Mill Valley $188,453; Nicasio $3,796; Reed Union $165,357; Ross $34,287; San Anselmo $102,550; San Rafael $298,121; Sausalito $98,271; Union Joint $467.

Bel Marin Opts For Lagoon Lock

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District last night opted for a new and less expensive method of controlling silting in the lagoon and set up a work timetable for the $300,000 project.

The original proposal to install a navigation gate in Novato Creek channel flanked by flood gates for $610,000 was turned down by directors because of the high cost and the numerous local and county agencies that would be involved, Director James Zoeller reported.

Instead, the board unanimously accepted an alternative method from engineers John A. Blume and Associates of San Francisco that, essentially, will provide a tide control lock at the mouth of the lagoon.

The corrective project will halt silting at Bel Marin Keys, a residential community surrounding the lagoon and populated by boat owners whose leisure time activity is centered on the water. The lagoon continually is silting and is shallow in places in spite of dredging in 1969.

For several years, the district has set funds aside in a dredging fund — now at $105,000 — but Zoeller said directors agreed that a long-term bond issue would be the best method of financing.

A special election will be called as soon as possible to get the necessary voter approval to fund the project, Zoeller said.

The breakdown of the work was approved in a three-step resolution of intent:

To dredge a navigable-depth channel at least 30 feet wide and with a depth of minus six feet below mean low water on Novato Creek after implementing a joint powers agreement with Marin County Flood Control District to obtain a suitable disposal site.

To provide a tide control lock at the mouth of the lagoon to be designed by Blume and Associates.

After construction of the lock is completed, dredge the lagoon to navigable depths.

In addition, the board will ask engineers to provide a long-range plan to cover dredging and lock operation. Dredging will have to be continued every two years at a cost of $33,000 even with the tide control lock, Zoeller said.

$214,399 Capital Improvement Outlay Gets Tentative Approval

Capital improvements amounting to $214,399 were approved tentatively last night by the Mill Valley City Council out of a total of $411,592 recommended by City Mgr. William H. Cunningham.

The improvements include road work, purchase of vehicles, drainage work and sewer improvements. They will be financed from the city's general fund, gas tax money, federal grants and a bond issue.

Included in the improvements, still to be ratified when the final budget is adopted, are $26,400 for sewer main replacement at three locations. The project will be financed from a $450,000 bond issue approved by voters last month.

Also included are $52,600 for catch basins, gutters, culverts and other drainage work and $21,939 as the city's share in the realignment of Miller Avenue between Reed and Willow streets. A federal grant will pay for the remainder of the $60,000 project.

Deleted from the spending program was $3,500 for resurfacing city-owned Lytton Square parking lot.

Other major appropriations approved were half the cost of a 1,250-gallons-per-minute fire pumper, $22,000 (the other half was budgeted last year); Miller Avenue Street lights, $21,000; resurfacing of Molino and Edgewood avenues from Montford Avenue to Sequoia Valley Drive, $25,000, and a retaining wall and curb and gutter to repair slide damage at Monte Vista and Hazel avenues, $16,400.

The council set another budget session for 8 p.m. Aug. 5 at city hall when Cunningham said he will present a budget total and an estimated tax rate.

Marin Artists Win At Fair

Three Marin County artists have won awards at the 1971 California State Fair Art Show in Sacramento.

Their work will be displayed in Expo Center at Cal Expo from Aug. 8 through Sept. 8.

Fred Herschleb of Kentfield won second place for his modern water color, "Turbulence." Kamma Lethraus of Kentfield took third place in handwoven textiles with one entitled "Blue Moon — Wall Hanging." Thano D. Johnson of San Rafael won honorable mention for his ceramic "Miniature Thrown Slip Glazed Porcelains."

SMU Loosens Ban

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Southern Methodist University loosened a 56-year ban on alcohol and adopted a policy to allow students over 21 to drink on campus. The ruling does not affect the 82 per cent of SMU's students who are under 21.

Sniping Breaks Out In North Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—British troops traded gunfire with snipers for several hours today in the Roman Catholic Falls Road area, an army spokesman said. Two civilians were reported wounded.

One of the men admitted to Royal Victoria Hospital with a gunshot wound in the leg had been tarred and feathered.

Brown Motors would like to thank the people of Marin County for making this one of the best years ever.

In recognition of our outstanding sales record in this area, Fiat Motor company is sponsoring a trip to Italy for our sales and managerial staff. We are leaving Friday July 23 and will return Monday August 2nd.

During our absence our service department and business office will be open during their regular working hours. Our sales department will be open from 9:00 a.m. to 5: p.m.

We ask all our friends and customers to bear with us during our shorter sales hours and remember our service department is still open.

Again we say Thank You!

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
ORDINANCE NO. 1837
AN ORDINANCE DECREASING PRIMA FACIE SPEED LIMIT SAN GERONIMO-NICASIO ROAD, NICASIO AREA

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 65 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portions of the local highways hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 45 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highways and is reasonable and safe.

SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be Forty-Five (45) miles per hour upon the following portions of the local highways of the County of Marin:

San Geronimo-Nicasio Road (C-113) from mile post 4.77 and extending northerly 2,350 feet to mile post 5.21.

SECTION III: This ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; provided, however, that the prima facie speed limit for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of highways in the County of Marin.

The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 20th day of July, 1971, by the followng vote, to-wit:

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Leukemia, Solid Cancers Found Among Atomic Bomb Survivors

Since 1945 the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission has studied the health of survivors of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombings. These investigators are particularly interested in the incidence of leukemia and solid cancers among A-bomb survivors as compared with the national rate of Japan.

A RECENT REPORT concerned 20,609 persons who were less than 10 years old at the time of the bombings. Of these, 1,109 were within a mile of the explosion. They were designated as high dose survivors because they could have received 100 rays or more of radiation. Some were in concrete shelters, crowded street cars or other physical structures and shielded, to some extent, from direct radiation. But they were in an area where the air dose was high. The rest of the children were outside of this circle or "not in city" at the time but returned after the bombing. The oldest of the group is now 35 years old.

From 1950 to 1960, leukemias outnumbered other cancers, but after 1965 the situation was reversed. From 1955 to 1969, there were eight deaths from leukemia and eight from solid tumors among the high dose group. In addition, there were five carcinomas of the thyroid and six other cancers not reported on the death certificate. This makes a total of 19 malignancies and 8 leukemias among 1,109 children exposed to high radiation. This is a higher rate than might be expected among Japanese in general.

BY CONTRAST, 18 cancers occurred among the 5,010 persons who were not in the city (also abnormally high). In addition, there were only 24 cancers among the 14,398 people who were outside the mile-radius circle when the bomb exploded.

Time will tell what happens in the future. Reports of these types always stress the negative side. Among 1,109 persons there were eight cases of leukemia and 19 malignant tumors. No cancers developed among 1,082 even thought they were within a mile of the explosion.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TIC DOULOUREUX

K. Z. writes: Short of surgery, is there any new method for eradicating the pain of tic douloureux?

REPLY

Tegretol and Dilantin have given good results. You have my sympathy as tic douloureux of the face is one of the most painful of all neuralgias. I assume more conservative measures have been tried. Among these are alcohol injections to give temporary relief. Cure can be obtained by cutting the nerve, provided the person does not object to facial numbness.

PHYSICAL THERAPY

E. D. J. writes: What is physiotherapy?

REPLY

Treatment of disease, injuries or defects, with physical agents, such as light, heat, cold, water, baths or electricity. Massage, manipulation, exercise and mechanical devices also are used in physical therapy. This regimen is in contrast to psychotherapy or the use of drugs.

EAR INFECTION AFTER COLDS

S. O. writes: Why do I always get a middle ear infection after a cold?

REPLY

Because the ear is vulnerable or more susceptible to infection. Germs in the throat spread to the middle ear via the eustachian tubes.

SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)
Case Number 60383

Superior Court of California, County of Marin.
In re the marriage of
Petitioner: RUSSELL KENNETH PENDARVIS
and
Respondent: CAROL PENDARVIS
To the Respondent:
The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other orders concerning division of property, spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs, and such other relief as may be granted by the court.
If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN ORDINANCE NO. 1836
AN ORDINANCE DECREASING PRIMA FACIE SPEED LIMIT SAN GERONIMO-NICASIO ROAD, NICASIO AREA

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION I: It is hereby determined, declared and found upon the basis of an engineering and traffic survey that the prima facie speed limit of 65 miles per hour which is applicable under the Vehicle Code of the State of California is more than is reasonable or safe upon the portions of the local highways hereinafter referred to and that a prima facie speed limit of 25 miles per hour is most appropriate to facilitate the orderly movement of traffic upon said portion of local highways and is reasonable and safe.
SECTION II: It is hereby determined and declared that the prima facie speed limit shall be Twenty-five (25) miles per hour upon the following portions of the local highways of the County of Marin.
San Geronimo-Nicasio Road (C-113) from mile post 4.27 and extending northerly 2,-640 feet to mile post 4.77
SECTION III: This ordinance is to take effect and be in full force and effect at the expiration of thirty (30) days from and after its passage; and before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after the passage of this ordinance the same shall be published with the names of the members voting for and against the same, at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published in said County of Marin; provided, however, that the prima facie speed limit for which provision is made herein shall not be effective until appropriate signs giving notice thereof are erected upon the foregoing portions of highways in the County of Marin.
The foregoing ordinance was passed and adopted at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, on the 20th day of July, 1971, by the following vote, to-wit:
AYES: SUPERVISORS Arnold Baptiste, John F. McInnis, Peter R. Arrigoni, Michael Wornum, L. H. Baar

Firemen To Hold Rummage Sale

A 1929 Mack hook and ladder fire tractor and trailer will be among the items offered for sale Saturday at a rummage sale sponsored by the Tamalpais Volunteer Firemen's Association, according to David J. Gealey, secretary.

The sale will begin at 10 a.m. in the vacant lot adjacent to the Tamalpais Valley's Fire Station No. 1, 309 Poplar Street.

Furniture, electronics equipment and a variety of household goods and miscellaneous items will also be available.

Proceeds from the event will go to the volunteer association's community activities fund.

6 Months In Jail For Car Theft

William Wesley Hazelton, 20, of Belmont, has been sentenced to six months in Marin County Jail for car theft.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed Hazelton on probation for two years.

Hazelton was arrested by the California Highway Patrol Feb. 8 on Highway 101 and charged with stealing the car from a San Bruno man, as well as possessing marijuana. The marijuana charge was later dismissed.

Marin and Southern Sonoma winners in the horse show and chicken division at the Sonoma County Fair were announced yesterday by fair officials.

The fair, which is held at the Sonoma County Fairgrounds in Santa Rosa, runs through Saturday.

Monte Schneider of Mill Valley on his horse, Terry Rouge, won top award in the Western Junior Showmanship at Halter class in the show sponsored by the California State Horsemen's Association.

George Lucas of Petaluma with his horse, Paris Bobby Boy, won first place in stallions of 1969 and older class.

In poultry judging, Barry Santero won nine first place awards and Larry Hoffman won three firsts; both are from Cotati.

Bonnie Brody and Gene Garciea won three firsts each, Robert Herrerias and Wendy Skoff one first each; all are from Petaluma.

College Campuses Face Parking Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI)—The shortage of parking spaces on college campuses is heading for the crisis stage. It is a continuous and exploding headache for campus planners.

Mrs. Norene Dann Martin, executive vice president of the National Parking Association, says if parking needs get voracious enough it could become the tail that wags the dog. "We could have drive-in lecture rooms," she said at a parking workshop sponsored by the University of California.

DEMOCRATIC FORMAT?

New Governmental Look Hinted For West Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI)—According to one draft constitution circulating among ranking officials in West Pakistan, the nation appears to be a little closer to democracy than when the army mounted its campaign to regain federal control of rebellious East Pakistan.

The draft is one of several that have grown out of President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan's announcement June 28 of a plan to transfer power to elected representatives. The plan called for Yahya to present to the National Assembly within about four months a consitution drafted by a "Committee of Experts" guided by him.

Details of the draft were made available by a source close to ranking military figures who are considered likely to play a major role in approval of the final document.

It would call for a unicameral legislature easily adopted from the National Assembly elected last December for the purpose of drafting a constitution.

In addition, there would be a "Supreme Executive" consisting of military leaders along with members of the assembly that would have power to overrule the legislature. Included in its powers would be the ability to dissolve the legislature without abrogating the Constitution.

If such a draft were adopted, it would leave the military backers of Yahya as firmly in control of the nation's destiny as they are now. It could go part way toward mollifying West Pakistani political interests, who would be the dominating force in the National Assembly.

Such a consitution, however, probably would not go far toward satisfying aid-donating nations that have been holding back on further commitments until it becomes clear what political steps the Yahya government has in mind. But some observers feel that this may make no difference even though Pakistan depends heavily on aid.

"Their image in the rest of the world is perhaps not too dominant a factor," said one foreign diplomatic source. "The lid's on here."

There have been few indications that the lid may be loosening. The membership of the constitution-drafting "committee" and any progress it is making have been kept a tightly guarded secret.

Yahya's speech said that a list would be issued of National Assembly members from East Pakistan who would not be allowed to attend because of participation in "anti-state activities" and that there would be by-elections to select replacements for them. So far the list has not appeared and there has been no word on the elections.

In West Pakistan within the last few weeks police have begun rounding up political activists in Sind Province who might make similar cries for autonomy as were heard in East Pakistan before the March 25 outbreak of civil war there.

There also are indications that the Yahya government may be facing the prospect of losing much of its foreign aid.

The government out back imports sharply and declared a unilateral six-month moratorium on repayment of foreign aid debts. It has expanded imports of textile products it formerly sold in East Pakistan in a bid to earn more foreign exchange.

Last month the Pakistan government published figures showing it held $214 million worth of foreign exchange reserves, a $44 million increase over the February figure.

How long the situation will continue is a matter of argument. Some economic sources believe it could go on indefinitely unless the government makes major purchases of sophisticated military hardware.

Others point out that the textiles Pakistan is now exporting to new markets in the Middle East are below world standard in quality and likely are a one-shot deal. They point out further that East Pakistan produced 45 per cent of the nation's foreign exchange and that the economy there is still crippled.

Despite belt-tightening by the government and continued growth of West Pakistan's economy there are indications that Pakistani officials are anxiously concerned about the future of foreign aid, particularly from the United States.

White House foreign policy adviser Henry Kissinger apparently had nothing to say about future U.S. aid projects when he met with Yahya and other leaders in Islamabad early this month—just before his secret trip to Peking.

The U.S. government has announced it will go ahead with a request for an appropriation of $120 million for aid to Pakistan this fiscal year. But American officials have indicated it will be pegged to a request for changes in Pakistan's development scheme, taking into account the East Pakistan situation.

Special features you'll enjoy:

Children with vision, hearing and speech problems whose difficulties can be detected and treated before they reach school age can be spared a lot of anguish. That is the principle upon which the Marin Hearing and Speech Center is operating its mobile Project SEE program this summer. Preschool tots are afforded an unprecedented opportunity for professional screening. Marin Magazine editor Don Keown writes about this vital program and its sponsoring agency in tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement.

On San Francisco Bay, they are saying, 1971 is "the year of the Knarr." Other yachtsmen nay dispute that claim. But there is no denying that it is an especially busy summer for the men and women who sail these classic 30-foot racing sloops. The pace will quicken as the dates draw near when the San Francisco Bay fleet will play host to the best skippers from the lands of the Vikings. The Marin Magazine offers you a preview tomorrow of the 1971 International Knarr Regatta and the preparations.

Loose Giants In 13-Game Candlestick Homestand

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants are loose again. They've endured the June swoon, and Thursday night as they headed home for a 13-game stand the Golden Gate must have been a pretty sight, because it looks as though the Giants have survived the July heebie-jeebies as well.

Willie Mays didn't have a thing to do with the Giants' second straight last-inning victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, but as the San Francisco club departed Three Rivers stadium it was the 40-year-old centerfielder who was leading the wisecracks.

"Man, I'm supposed to have the day off today and I'm working harder than ever, answering all these reporters' questions," Mays said. Mays has been under fire recently in the San Francisco press because of his indifferent attitude toward writers, but Thursday he was cooperative albeit sarcastic.

Rookie Jimmy Rosario, Mays' replacement in centerfield, was the man of the hour, making a sensational catch and singling home the winning run in the 10th inning of the 8-7 victory, but Mays was besieged by newsmen who wanted his opinion of his understudy's defensive gem.

"I didn't even see it," Mays said at first. "I was in the clubhouse going to the bath room. Ask Jimmy about it, he's the kid who caught it."

Finally, Mays relented. "Okay, I saw it," he said with a puckish grin. "Yeah, I thought he was going to get it, because he was playing Willie Stargell straight away. If he's playing Stargell shaded to right, it's trouble."

Rosario's pell-mell grab, with a runner on first and two out in the fifth, cost Stargell extra bases at a time when the Giants held a 6-3 lead.

The Giants took a 7-3 lead in the ninth, but the Pirates tied it with a four-run rally, the clutch blow being Roberto Clemente's two-run pinch double. Ken Henderson, tripling to start the San Francisco 10th, broke the tie by coming home on Rosario's single.

After the first two months of the season, the Giants built a big lead in the NL left, but the Los Angeles Dodgers cut the margin in half during a fearful June for San Francisco. Even with a 2-1 series victory over Pittsburgh, top club in the East, the Giants are only 10-10 in July, but they're off the road and no longer appear to be looking over their shoulders.

"There's just the right mixture on this club," San Francisco manager Charlie Fox said. "We got some age and we got some youth, and nobody ever gives up. If there was a time to give up, it would have been after the Pirates tied it up in the ninth."

Fox was asked if the three games with the Pirates would affect either team psychologically if they should meet in the league's pennant playoff.

"I don't see how they could," he said. "These were games decided by breaks. The Pirates almost came back to tie us in the 10th, but Jose Pagan's liner is right at somebody and it's a double play. Baseball's still a trial and error game. That's what this series was all about."

And the Giants, perennial second-place finishers, give signs that most of their errors are behind them.

Ali Out To Prove Himself

HOUSTON (UPI) —Muhammad Ali, prankish in public but contemplative in private, believes he will be "over the hill" if he loses to his former sparring partner, Jimmy Ellis, Monday night.

He is out to prove himself all over again since he lost his heavyweight championship fight with Joe Frazier earlier this year.

"If I lose, I'll lose my shot at Frazier, my prestige," Ali said Thursday. "I'll be over the hill. I've got to prove I can come back."

Minutes earlier the former champ had clowned with three sparring partners, falling down twice and tossing quips to the delighted crowd that follows him wherever he goes.

"I'll knock him down if you'll be the next sparring partner," he called to a spectator after he fell down sparring with Eddie Brooks. "If I hit him he'd have no more help."

Ali took another dive after dancing around Ray Martin, Houston's "Fighting Preacher." He waved Martin off and ducked into the lockerroom, where he turned more serious.

"When you reach a certain popularity, you never get where you have nothing to do," the 29-year-old fighter said. "In this age, few experience home living, the relaxation of staying at home, mowing the grass.

"I'm always traveling, visiting, in hotel lobbies. There are so many messages to answer and calls. If you can get by that, you can train. But it's not hard to get up for this fight."

Ali weighed 218 after the 60-minute workout. He wants to cut down to 213 for the 12-round fight at the Astrodome Monday.

He left the hall, pausing on his way out to taunt Ellis.

"We left you alone when you were in there (the ring)," said Angelo Dundee, Ali's former manager who now works for Ellis. "Go on."

But Ali grabbed his old friend by the collar. They exchanged insults and then Ali climbed into the ring and pushed Ellis against the wall.

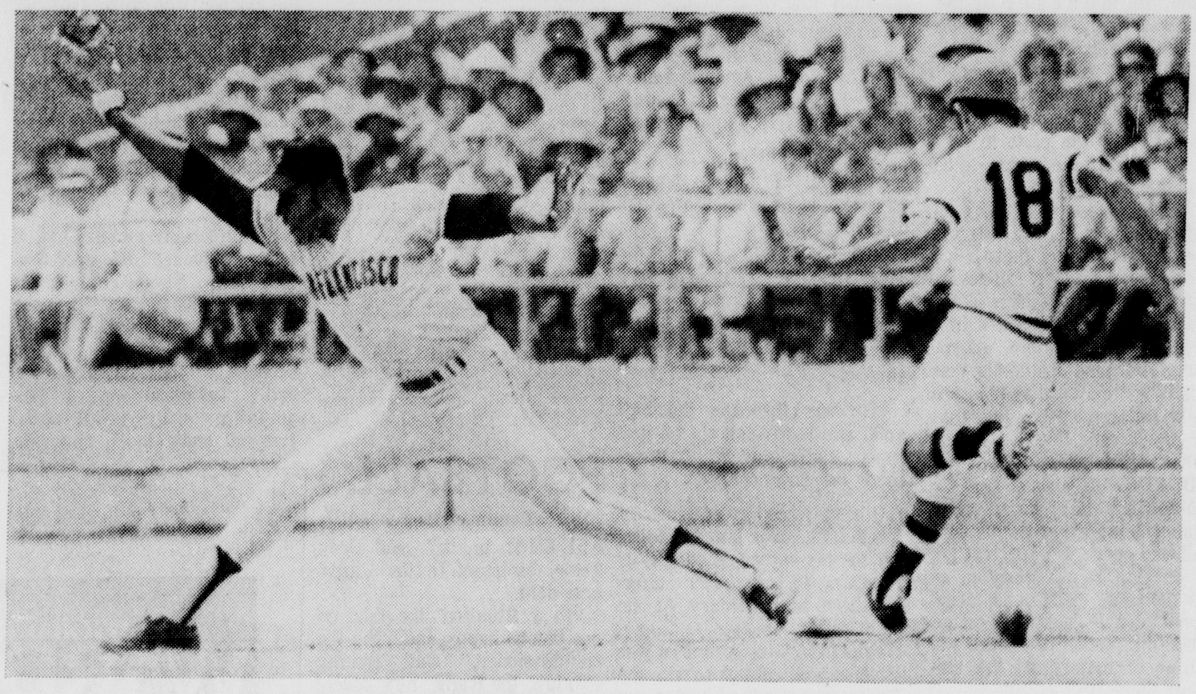
When the high-spirited Ali left the hall, the crowd dissolved. Dundee and Ellis enjoyed the horseplay, but they haven't forgotten about Monday night either.

"I know his weaknesses and his strong points," Ellis said. "He has a jab and can sneak a right hand over the jab. But he keeps his chin up and doesn't block punches.

"I've beaten everybody out there but Frazier and this is my chance to redeem myself, come into my own," Ellis said, echoing the attitude of his opponent.

Dundee said he is not impressed by Ali's listed reach of 80 inches.

Finals For Marin Junior Tennis



BIG STRETCH BY WILLIE

San Francisco Giants' first baseman Willie McCovey, who has spent much of the season on the bench with bad knees, appeared healthy yesterday as he stretched for a throw in the first inning at Pittsburgh. Vic Davilillo of the Pirates raced to first after hitting the ball to Tito Fuentes. The Giants won, 8-7 in 10 innings. (UPI Telephoto)

Youths Go For Titles Today

The doubles team of Dorsey Hook and Sue Beatty stormed to victory twice, while in singles the favorites continued to roll as the 18th annual Marin Junior tennis tournament progressed through semi-final matches yesterday in San Rafael.

Finals were scheduled for today in the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department-Independent Journal co-sponsored tourney, which is being played at four different sites.

Miss Hook and Miss Beatty, both of Tiburon, ripped off wins in girls 14 and 18 action to launch themselves into the finals in both classes. In the older group, they downed Leslie Caulfield and Sue McCormick, 6-1, 6-1, while in the 14's they beat Wanda Capurro and Ellen Fridegar, 6-0, 6-1.

Oddly enough, Miss Hook and Miss Beatty should have an easier time winning the 18's final than the 14's where they must play defending champions Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae and Lisa Beritzhoff of Mill Valley. These girls blanked Kathy Hanley and Andres Goldfien in their semi-final match, 6-0, 6-0.

Steve DeMartini and John Beritzhoff, brothers of the girls 14 finalists, continued to look like the favorites they are in boys 16 doubles as they defeated Matt Khourie and Collin Reeves, 6-3, 6-4. DeMartini and Beritzhoff will play in the finals against George de Urioste and Tom Jasek, who downed Pete Morse and Gary Wasley in their semi-final match, 6-0, 6-4.

In singles finals today the feature match will pit DeMartini against doubles partner Beritzhoff for the boys 16 title. DeMartini gained the finals with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Marcus Robinson, while Beritzhoff beat Grant Grinnell, 6-3, 6-2.

Shoulder Surgery For Bart Starr

GREEN BAY (UPI)—Veteran Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr, 37, announced today he would undergo an operation on his right shoulder in the hopes it would allow him to return to active duty with the team sometime this season.

Starr's arm, which has troubled him at least part of all the last three seasons, was thought to have mended during the off-season due to a strengthening program worked out by Packer trainers and new Head Coach and General Manager Dan Devine.

But when training camp started and Starr began throwing he developed the same pain in his shoulder he has experienced the last three years. He was ordered not to throw this week and Wednesday flew to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., to check out his arm.

49er Star Praised By Nolan

GOLETA, Calif. (UPI) — San Francisco 49er coach Dick Nolan Thursday had high words of priase for wide receiver Gene Washington after his team had concentrated on passing offense during training camp workouts.

"He really looked in mid-season form," Nolan said.

Washington, a third-year veteran from Stanford, proved a terror in the NFL last year when he led the league in pass reception yardage with 1,100 yards on 53 catches.

Two 49er veterans complained of minor injuries Thursday. Linebacker Dave Wilcox, who had an off-season knee operation, developed water on the knee, and No. 2 quarterback Steve Spurrier suffered what was believed to be a muscle spasm in the back. Nolan said neither injury appeared to be serious.

Although the 49ers avoided contact Thursday, Nolan planned a long scrimmage for Saturday. The team will have the day off Sunday.

Bando In High Gear For A's In Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) —The Oakland A's open a 14-game road tour tonight against Detroit with the pleasant feeling of having Sal Bando's bat in gear again.

Bando, who had been in a terrible slump, whacked a two-run homer in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the A's a 3-3 tie against Cleveland. The big third baseman then came back to drive in the winning run in the 12th inning with a sacrifice fly.

Before Wednesday's game, Bando was hitless in his last 24 games at bat.

"That's got to be one of the biggest hits I've ever gotten here," Banco said. "We've got to keep our lead in double figures, especially going into this road trip."

Oakland leads the American League West division by 10 1-2 games over second place Kansas City.

The A's Jim Hunter will be looking for his 12th win of the year tonight against Detroit. Hunter, who has lost nine times, will hurl against the Tigers' Joe Niekro (2-4).

Oliver Quits Raiders

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI) —Chip Oliver has left, but Jack Tatum will be there.

Oliver, the Oakland Raider linebacker who quit football a year ago to join a commune, left the Raiders summer training camp.

"I just can't make it," Oliver said Wednesday as he packed his bags and returned to Berkeley on his Honda. "I just couldn't get my psyche up. It was different when I was a rookie. I had something to prove then."

Oliver, who reported to camp at 185 pounds and was on a vegetarian diet, had hinted earlier his reactions were dull and his legs weak.

"I don't want anybody to think that someone might have treated me bad here," Oliver said. "People bent over backwards to give me a chance."

But as Oliver left, the Raiders signed another defensive star, Jack Tatum-their top draft choice from Ohio State.

The signing of Tatum, a defensive back, was unusual since it was announced Thursday by Tatum's agent, Tony Razzano, in Chicago, where Tatum is working out for the College All Star game.

Razzano said Tatum signed a "multi-year contract" but did not disclose the terms of the pact.

Meanwhile, the Raiders went through their first day of full scale practice Thursday with Tom Maxwell, obtained in a trade with Baltimore at free safety.

IN GOLF LEAD

Palmer Of Old Thrills His Army

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — It did Arnold Palmer good to get away from the competitive grind of the pro golf circuit, and Lee Trevino can't wait to try the same thing.

Palmer, who took a two-week vacation from the circuit after the Canadian open early this month, returned to the "war" Thursday like the Arnold Palmer of old as he fired an eight-under-par 64 to take the first round lead in the $250,000 Westchester classic.

The 41-year-old Palmer, once the kingpin of pro golf, played a flawless round over the 6,700-yard, part-72 Westchester Country Club course as he carded eight birdies and not a single bogey to the delight of his famed "army," which screamed and applauded ecstatically on virtually every shot.

It was the best round of golf Palmer has achieved since the greater Greensboro open in April of last year when he also fired a 64, and it gave him a one-stroke lead over Larry Wood, a virtual unknown from Boone, N.C., who is in only his second year on the tour.

"That two-week layoff definitely helped me in a lot of ways," said Palmer. "It was what I really needed to do. I should have done it earlier. I kept pushing myself this spring and I shouldn't have done it. I just can't play five, six or seven weeks in a row like I used to."

Palmer, whose putting had given him trouble since early in the year, got his touch back on the greens as he needed only 27 putts to complete his round. He had nine one-putt greens, including birdie putts of 22, 18 and 15 feet. More significant, however, was the way he attacked the course. It was just like old times as he hit 16 greens in regulation.

"I have confidence in my putting again," Palmer admitted. "That made me feel good. I had been getting down on myself because I was putting so poorly. Developing confidence in my putting has brought the old desire back."

It was a completely different story for Trevino, however. The U.S. and British open champion just couldn't get his game together and he struggled in with a lackluster 71. Trevino recorded an eagle on the 500-yard, par-5 12th hole but had three three-putt greens and blamed lack of concentration for his poor performance.

"I'm hitting the ball good, but I'm not thinking properly," said Trevino. "Things are starting to get on my nerves a little bit. I realize this is the price one pays for being on top, but I can't get a minute by myself since I've been here. It's starting to bug me.

"I think I'm playing a little too much. This is my 13th tournament in a row and I plan to take two weeks off after next week. I can't concentrate. I'm doing things on the course my wife wouldn't do, and she's a 12-handicapper."

Jack Nicklaus, co-favorite with Trevino in the tournament, also had a lot of problems in his opening round. Big Jack, bothered by some sort of allergy which casued him to have trouble seeing, needed five birdies on the last seven holes to finish at even par 72.

"I had a funny round. I was making mistakes one after another," said Nicklaus. "I had a little allergy problem, some trouble with my eyes, and I had trouble focusing. But once I knocked in a few birdies I stopped worrying about my eyes. I never had the problem before."

The most surprising round of the day was turned in by wood, a 32-year-old graduate of Southern Illinois who only started playing regularly on the tour last year. His round of 65 was the lowest he has ever achieved on the circuit.

"I missed the cut last year on this course and I never have played well here," said Wood. "I like it pretty good now. I feel I played a real solid round and I feel I can play just as good every day."

There were 58 golfers of the 150 who teed off who broke par on the first day. Defending champion Bruce Crampton and veteran Ken still were one stroke behind Wood at 66 and Gibby Gilbert was alone in fifth place with 67. Ron Cerrudo of Napa shot a 69.

Suyderhoud Among Stars In Ski Meet

Mike Suyderhoud of San Anselmo will be out to defend his title in the second annual California World Cup Invitational water ski meet this weekend at Berkeley's Aquatic Park.

More than two-dozen stars from seven nations will compete in the event which starts at 10 a.m. tomorrow and 11 a.m. Sunday.

Suyderhoud, two-time world champion is now a veteran of 21 and insists that "the kids are better than ever."

That was the same message from pretty Barbara Clack, 27-year-old airline stewardess from Miami, who will be in Berkeley to defend her women's jump honors.

"They're just getting young — and better — every year," she said of her rivals.

Wayne Grimditch is one of the teen-age phenoms who is 16. Most of the other competitors are under 20.

Three tournament events — slalom, jump and trick — will be held in both men's and women's divisions.

Already A Bad Year For Pats

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

It's a bad year for the New England Patriots already and the season doesn't open for another two months.

The Patriots, who lost defensive lineman Phil Olsen and quarterback Joe Kapp because of contract entanglements, received compensation Thursday for Olsen's loss from Pete Rozelle, the National Football League Commissioner, and they weren't a bit happy.

The Los Angeles Rams signed Olsen when the former All American from Utah State wrangled free from his contract because of a loophole concerning the option clause. The Rams, therefore, owed New England compensation. Meetings between the two clubs failed and Rozelle, called on to arbitrate the dispute, awarded New England the Rams' No. 1 draft choice next season, additional monetary compensation and decreed that the Rams must return to the Patriots all bonuses paid to Olsen.

Olsen was hurt prior to the start of the 1970 season and has yet to appear in an NFL game.

The Patriots felt they didn't receive enough for Olsen and the Rams, naturally, claim they have to give up too much.

"I am totally unhappy with the compensation and I don't agree with the decision one iota," said Upton Bell, the Pats' general manager.

"The Commissioner made the decision and while the Rams do not necessarily agree, we certainly recognize his obligation to make it and, of course,

JACK HANLEY

Steve Stone's Unique Problem

PITTSBURGH — It was here in Pittsburgh that Steve Stone won his first major league game April 23. And it was here in Pittsburgh that the rookie righthander was sent to Phoenix last Tuesday.

Such emotional moments of elation and depression are ironical extremes in the life of a 24-year-old pitcher with a unique problem. Yes, Stone's problem is unique. He throws strikes that are too good. It didn't take enemy major league batters long to discover this. They also were quick to notice that Stone was the kind of gentlemanly pitcher who didn't knock batters down. So they dug in at the plate for lusty swings.

STONE FACED every National League team, except Cincinatti, during the 106 innings he pitched in 19 starts and one relief. First time around, the young man out of Kent State enjoyed success. He was 4-2 in his first 10 starts. His first major league win was a 2-0 shutout of the Pirates on five hits.

"A one-time elation never to be experienced again," was the way Stone put it April 23 when the Giants made their first visit of the season to Pittsburgh.

THAT INITIAL victory over the Pirates was followed with wins over Atlanta and Montreal and by the end of May Stone seemed to be on his way to a sensational season. But in June and July he was making his second appearances against batters. And they began to belt line drives off him. Between June 1 and July 18 stone made nine starts. He was the loser in eight of them. The hits finally mounted to 106, exactly the number of innings pitched by Stone.

"I've never previously had to tell a pitcher not to throw strikes," said Charlie Fox.

Did the manager of the Giants actually tell the rookie not to throw strikes?

"NOT IN THOSE words," said Fox. "After all, strikes are the secret of pitching but they must strip the plate in segments not split the middle to be effective.

"Stone is going to be all right. He'll be back with us. You can be sure of that. If we hadn't been pressed for an extra starter at the outset of the season, we could have left him at Phoenix for more experience. You must remember that this is just his third year in pro ball. And remember, too, that he did a very fine job for us during April and May."

DURING HIS stay at Phoenix Stone will work on an off-speed changeup to go with his fast vall and curve. He also will try to develop some deception in his delivery, such as an occasional double pump or some other distraction to disturb the timing of batters. At the moment there isn't any deception in Stone's motion.

But he learns fast as indicated by his swift promotions from Class A ball at Fresno in 1969 to Class AA last year at Amarillo and finally to AAA competition at Phoenix in the closing weeks of the 1970 season.

N.L. ROUNDUP

Bullet Bob Blanks Phillies

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bob Gibson, who has thrown bullets throughout most of his career, was busy throwing blanks Thursday night.

Gibson, the hard-throwing St. Louis right-hander, pitched his first shutout of the season in leading the Cardinals to an 8-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Gibson, on the 21-day disabled list earlier this season because of a muscle tear in his leg, recorded his third victory in seven starts since returning to the starting rotation. The three time Cy Young Award winner allowed only five hits in posting his seventh victory against nine defeats.

He admitted that he wasn't as sharp as he was 10 or even five years ago.

"Did I throw as well as I did 10 years ago; No. As well as I did five years ago; No. I threw as hard as I have since coming off the disabled list," said Gibson.

"He was throwing the ball good and hard. Tonight he had super stuff," added batterymate Ted Simmons.

Gibson, whose seven victories this season gives him a total of 197 for his career, gradually is returning to form after suffering the disabling injury. At one point this season, despite claims from Gibson that he was pitching well enough to win, the 35-year old Cardinal hurler lost four consecutive games for the first time since 1968. He has lost four or more in a row only five times in 13 years with his worst streak being six in 1965.

In other National League action San Francisco downed Pittsburgh 8-7, in 10 innings, New York whipped Chicago 5-1, Atlanta blanked San Diego 1-0, Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 8-4 and Houston beat Montreal 8-2.

Tom Seaver pitched a six-hitter for his first victory since June 29 to give the Mets the triumph over Chicago. Tommie Agee hit his 10th and 11th homers and scored a third run to help Seaver, who struck out 10, win his 11th game.

Jesus Alou and Denis Menke supplied all the power that Houston needed by driving in three runs each against the Expos. Alou lashed a three-run double with two out in the first inning to climax a four-run rally. Menke walked to force in a run in the first and cracked a two-run double to highlight a four-run outburst in the eighth.

Ralph Garr, pinch-hitting in the eighth inning, got the last of three singles the Braves mustered against the Padres' Tom Phoebus and sent home the game's only run to help Atlanta sweep its four-game series with San Diego.

Al Downing notched his 12th victory against six losses and finished with his ninth complete game of the year as he strengthened his claim to "Comeback Player Of The Year."

Bill Buckner hit his fourth homer of the season and Willie Crawford got three hits as the Dodgers, winners of only three of their last 15 games, tagged Jim McGlothlin with his seventh loss against five victories.

will abide by it," said Jack Teele, assistant to the Rams' president.

"In a situation like this, no one can be happy, including the commissioner," said Tommy Prothro, the Rams' new coach.

Olsen's acquisition from the Patriots took on even greater importance Thursday when Rick Cash, the leading candidate for the defensive tackle slot for the Rams, suffered a broken left leg and was declared lost for the rest of the season. Olsen now may play next to his older brother, Merlin, an All-Pro who is the Rams' regular left tackle.

"Whenever you lose someone like that, it sure is a blow," said Prothro. "But at least we have a little more depth in the defensive line than at the other positions. It will be either Olsen or Dick Evey."

Elsewhere in the training camps, Bob Jeter, a veteran cornerback for Green Bay, was traded to the Chicago Bears for running back Ross Montgomery.

Two young quarterbacks—Sam Havrilak and Karl Douglas—starred in the Baltimore camp. Havrilak, a running back the last two seasons, hit 5-for-5 and Douglas, a rookie from Texas A&I, completed 3-of-5, including a 55-yard touchdown to rookie Dan Pederson, in the Colts' workout.

Joe Namath, anxious to return to the football wars after sitting out most of last season with a broken wrist, turned in a stunning 12-for-14 passing performance in the New York Jets' camp while Chip Oliver, who retired a year ago to live in a commune, quit again after a brief comeback try with Oakland.

Linebacker Chip Healy announced his retirement at the St. Louis Cardinals' camp and two players—former All America Leroy Keyes and tight end Fred Hill—were injured in the Philadelphia Eagles' camp.

Keyes, who has yet to develop as a pro, suffered a broken collarbone while Hill sustained a torn rib cartilage.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Valuable 'Fringe Player'

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Life with the Baltimore Orioles has been filled with little but frustration for Dave Leonhard, who calls himself a "fringe player on a great team."

He had little chance of looking forward to pitching for the World Champions before the season began. He wanted to be traded, and if he wasn't traded he was going to quit.

He wasn't traded and he didn't quit, and now Dave Leonhard is a very important person with the Orioles. He is the pitcher who must pick up the extra weight while Dave McNally and Tom Dukes are on the disabled list.

On Thursday night, the 29-year-old right-hander started his first game in two years and recorded a 4-0 shutout over the Kansas City Royals with a five-hitter.

In other American League games, Chicago defeated Boston 4-2, New York beat Minnesota 13-4 and Milwaukee shut out Washington 2-0.

"This was a big game because we had been playing bad," Leonhard said. "This doesn't mean I've got it made. I'm still under the hammer to go back to Rochester when McNally and Dukes come off the disabled list. Next time I might go out and not do so well and I'd be right back where I started. You just never know when you're a fringe player like I am on a great team like this."

It was the first start for Leonhard since July 18, 1969 when he started against Boston, and last year he pitched only 28 innings for an 0-0 record.

"I had a bad year in 1970," he explained. "I was supposed to be the long man in relief. My job was to come in when McNally or Mike Cuellar got knocked out early. That never happened.

"I was hoping they would trade me but they didn't, so I went back to Rochester," he added.

With a 7-4 record at Rochester, Leonhard was called up to the Orioles on July 6 when Dukes went on the disabled list. After getting to pitch only 10 1-3 innings previously for Baltimore, Leonhard gave up only five hits to boost his record to 2-0. A leadoff double by Jerry May in the sixth was the only extra base hit he allowed, and the Royals put two men on base in only the seventh inning.

Dave Johnson and Merv Rettenmund homered and scored two runs apiece to give him the victory.

Horace Clarke got four hits, including a bases loaded triple, as the Yankees shelled five Minnesota pitchers for 16 hits. Fritz Peterson, who had lost to the Twins in 12 of the previous 15 times he faced them, had an easy time gaining the victory although he gave up 11 hits.

Skip Lockwood and Ken Sanders of Milwaukee combined on a five-hitter to end the Senators' four-game winning streak. The Brewers scored in the second inning on Ted Kubiak's triple and a sacrifice fly by Dave May and added an unearned run in the seventh when Kubiak walked, May beat out a bunt and Don Mincher made an error on a grounder by Lockwood.

Wilbur Wood and Bart Johnson scattered nine singles to give the White Sox a 4-2 victory and break Boston's string of nine victories against Chicago.

San Diego Clears Move For Warriors

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —The way apparently is clear for the San Francisco Warriors to play half their home games in the San Diego International Arena.

The City Council Thursday authorized Graymont, Ltd., to operate the International Sports Arena, which had been having financial problems under its previous owner, San Diego Sports Enterprises, Inc.

Franklin Mieuli, owner of the NBA Warriors, has not been available to answer reports that he'll play half his games here, but no team spokesman has denied it.

Mieuli reportedly Thursday agreed to give a percentage of receipts at local games to keep the city's high school sports program afloat.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—The Milwaukee Bucks announced Thursday they acquired 6-foot-8 forward Toby Kimball from the Houston Rockets for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Kimball, a five year veteran in the National Basketball Association was a third round draft choice of the Boston Celtics in 1965 after leading college rebounds with 21 boards per game for the University of Connecticut.

Football

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Rick Cash, leading candidate to succeed the departed Diron Talbert as the Los Angeles Rams' regular right defensive tackle, was lost for the season Thursday when he suffered a broken left leg in a scrimmage with the San Diego Chargers.

Cash, a four-year veteran who missed half of last season with a broken arm, fractured a fibula and tibia on the first play of the two-hour scrimmage when his cleats caught in the grass.

Grand Slam Paces Softball Victory

Gary Swarm crashed a first inning grand slam home run and Ed Fissee pitched a three-hitter to give Perry's Delicatessen a 12-1 victory over the Doves last night in San Rafael adult softball league action.

In other games, Jacobsen Machine Shop downed the Bums, 9-1, and Hub City routed the Squids, 17-5.

Kester and Giese Team For Victory

Mrs. Harry Kester and Mrs. James Giese teamed for a 65-14½-48½ to win a Borchert Scotch Ball tournament yesterday at Las Gallinas Golf Course.

In a stroke play tourney, Mrs. Charles Stewart won with a 74-17-57.

Swim Club Gets Use Of Pool

The Petaluma Recreation, Music and Parks Commission last night granted the request of the Petaluma Swim Club to hold a special swim meet at the city pool on Aug. 28 and 29.

Commission secretary Phyllis Brewer said the commission agreed to close the pool for recreational swimming, but asked Recreation Director Richard W. Shollenberger to see if the Petaluma High School pool could be opened for public use.

The swim club said the Amateur Athletic Union meet would bring an expected attendance of 1,000 people and would greatly increase the normal pool revenue for the weekend.

Hub Softballers In Title Defense

Sohner Tree Service begins defense of the Tri-County (Marin, Sonoma, Mendocino) District softball championship tonight when the San Anselmo club meets Sebastopol, 2-1 winner over Healdsburg in one of the opening games.

Game time is 8:30 at Santa Rosa's Howarth Park.

The red-hot Treemen, winner of their last 15 games, drew an open round bye in the nine-team double elimination tournament.

The Sohner team, which captured the 1970 title by winning six straight in the losers' bracket and then sweeping a storybook doubleheader on the final night, is the only Marin club in the tourney.

The winner of the district championship advances to the state tournament later in Redding.

After the state tourney comes the Western Regionals in Hayward and the World Tournament in Springfield, Ill.

But before the Treemen can make any plans about a trip to Redding for their fourth State Tournament bid in the last six years, they will have to worry about winning in Santa Rosa.

In contrast to last year when Sohner was the Cinderella team, the San Anselmo club is heavily favored to win the title this season.

Herb Dower, a Northern California softball expert and a sportswriter for the Santa Rosa Press-Democrat tabs the Treemen as the team to beat.

"Sohner is probably the strongest team we've had in this area in the last 10 to 15 years," said Dower. "With their two top pitchers (Morey Swarm and Chuck Tyson) and the best defensive team I've seen in a long time, they should be highly favored to repeat."

In addition to the pitchers, Dower had particular praise for both catcher Jess Munyon and shortstop Ron Blum. "They're simply two of the best players around," Dower said.

Another big factor going for the Treemen is momentum. In addition to sweeping their last 15 games and winning through the recent 13-team Petaluma Invitational Tournament, the Sohner team has been first and second in all league and tournaments in which they have competed.

Swarm (14-3) is expected to get the starting assignment tonight. Munyon (.258) will be catching while the starting infield will be comprised of Sandy Ingersol .234) at first, Ron McCamish (.228) at second, Milt Hain (.263) at third and Blum (.259) at short.

The starting outfield will be selected from Carlo Alioto(.220), Art Donati (.258), Keith Fraser (.260), Dennis Staub (.304) and Doug Wilson (.282).

FISH AND GAME

Some Old-Timers Suddenly Turn Young

By AL GIDDINGS

This is too good not to tell you about! It all started a number of months ago when Janet Alexander of San Anselmo called me about doing an article on "ducks" for Sports Afield magazine. I gave her some local help and her completed article should be out in November.

Jan has done quite a number of magazine articles on outdoor subjects and holds some kind of woman's fishing record for a Nile River Perch that she caught a few years ago. It weighed close to two hundred pounds. But now she wanted to do an article on salmon fishing for this area. What better deal, says I, than to introduce her to the crew of the "LO-HAT." Of course that did it!

Bob Lockinauer, Pop Hansen and Sam Knoles were elated! These three old bucks, having a good looking blonde write about them, were overjoyed. The trip was set up - and away they went. I went along too - not to do a fishing story - but to record the antics of the unholy three!

We all met at 5 a.m. at the Red Kettle - San Rafael's morning breakfast club, where the good-looking waitresses even serve you in hot pants occasionally. Janet arrived on time! Everybody took a pill (for seasickness) and away we went. Jan supplied an enormous lunch of cold meats, french bread, beer, sodas, cookies, fruit, etc. She had it made! The "boys" liked that!

As we left Loch Lomond, Sam says, "Look at the beautiful morning sunrise!" Oh brother! He never said that before! So the pattern of the trip was set. "Isn't the bridge beautiful in the fog?" "It's a lovely day!" Those three old goats became the Princes' of the Sea! Lock even took issue with me stating his age as 60 in a past column. Today, he was only 59!

After a lot of this goo-la, we finally got to the fishing grounds somewhere between Duxbury and Double Point. Who caught the first fish? Janet did! Then she caught the second! Then Sam got a 36-pounder. Oh, this called for kisses and everything! All this so upset me, that everytime I got a salmon on, I lost it. That happened three times! Then I got a pat on the head and heard these uncomforting words: "Don't worry, you'll get the next one!"

I never did! Pop Hansen got a 20 pounder on, and of course, Janet was snapping pictures all the time (The sea was flat). You know what happened then? Hansen got his pants caught in the rod holder and tears them open. That was the end! If Pop's picture shows up in Sport's Afield, I don't know what people will think! How I wished that I had brought my camera along.

That was the way it went! We ended up with six salmon, two big ones and four that weighed maybe eight pounds each. For show, two legal fish (21-inchers) were thrown back! You should have seen Sam's face when this happened, but he never said a word; he just looked apopletic.

THE MELLO'S called me about Tomales. They got their first day in up there last Tuesday. It was a long slow day, but they mailed two 16-pounders. Tomales Bay is a sleeper, ready to come alive! The seas were calm there too, though afternoon winds do come up. If you are in a small boat, come in! The bar at the mouth of Tomales can be unbelievably dangerous - and in a sneaky sort of a way. A large ground swell will suddenly break with you in its crest. If you broach, you'll end up in the drink. Take life jackets everytime. Lots of people wear them there all the time!

LLOYD KAHN of Tiburon called to say that he landed a 45-pounder last Sunday off Duxberry from his boat, "The Hullo Blue". There's talk of that big fish that someone held up out there as weighing 62 pounds. I can't yet locate the angler who caught it!

Phil Simon of Corte Madera got a 25-pound bass and a six-pounder trolling the Brothers one early morn this week.

Ralston Vs. Drysdale In Key Match

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Californian Dennis Ralston, who upset fifth-seeded Marty Riessen, 6-4, 6-3, Thursday in the First National Tennis Classic, clashes with Cliff Drysdale, of South Africa today in the singles quarter-finals.

In today's other quarter-finals, Ray Ruffles, of Australia, meets Ismail El Shafei; Tom Okker of the Netherlands plays John Alexander, and veteran Roy Emerson goes against Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia, who beat top-seeded Arthur Ashe in Monday's opening round.

Ralston credited a new experimental fiber glass racket for his upset victory Thursday.

But his well-placed drop shots and concentration also figured in the victory. He caught Riessen flat-footed several times and forced him to run frequently.

Drysdale was impressive Thursday in his 7-5, 6-3 triumph over Charles Pasarell, of Puerto Rico. He came from a 4-2 deficit to take the first set.

Drysdale was able to convince the baseline judge to change one out call to "good" on a crucial point in the set with Pasarell.

"I was very pleased that he changed his mind," he said later. "I knew the shot was good."

In Thursday's other singles match, Okker ousted Andres Gimeno, of Spain, 6-2, 6-4.

Okker fell behind, 4-1, in the second set, before blasting his way through five straight games.

In doubles play Thursday, Ken Rosewall-Fred Stolle downed Torben Ulrich-Roy Barth, 6-2, 6-7; Bob Carmichael-Ruffles downed Rob Maud-Fred McMillan, 6-4, 6-3, and Rod Laver-Roy Emerson beat John Alexander-Phil Dent, 7-6, 6-3.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

The position of your hand and forearm at delivery is vital. The back of the right hand and forearm should form a straight line as you hold the ball at address and throughout delivery. This is important for consistency, for if this line is maintained the ball will roll with approximately the same motion every time.

Leahy Improves, Still Serious

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy, who piloted the Fighting Irish to four national titles in 11 years, is reported making progress from his recent surgery.

A hospital spokesman said Thursday that the 62-year-old Leahy, who was listed in critical condition last week, was "still listed as serious, but he's out of intensive care and his condition continues to improve."

Leahy became ill while on a business trip and was hospitalized immediately on his return home. In recent years, Leahy has lived in Lake Oswego, Ore., and is presently an officer of the Canteen Corporation of Chicago.

NBA: We Won't Raid Colleges

NEW YORK (UPI) — Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the National Basketball Association told representatives of college coaches Thursday that his league has "no desire nor intent to raid the college campuses nor to impede the orderly flow of college athletes."

During the two-hour meeting with William L. Wall, president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, and Bill Foster, the vice president, Kennedy said the NBA teams would forfeit their first draft choice for 1972 if they selected a "hardship" case in the first round of the supplementary draft scheduled for Sept. 10.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Dividends Depend On Net Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I have been told that regardless of the price fluctuations of a stock the dividend remains secure. Is this true? — S.D.

A. Yes, under normal conditions. Corporate profits are shared with stockholders through the payment of cash dividends. The amount is determined by net income and the individual corporation's policy of paying out a percentage of its net earnings. Some average as much as 75 per cent of earnings; some pay no dividends.

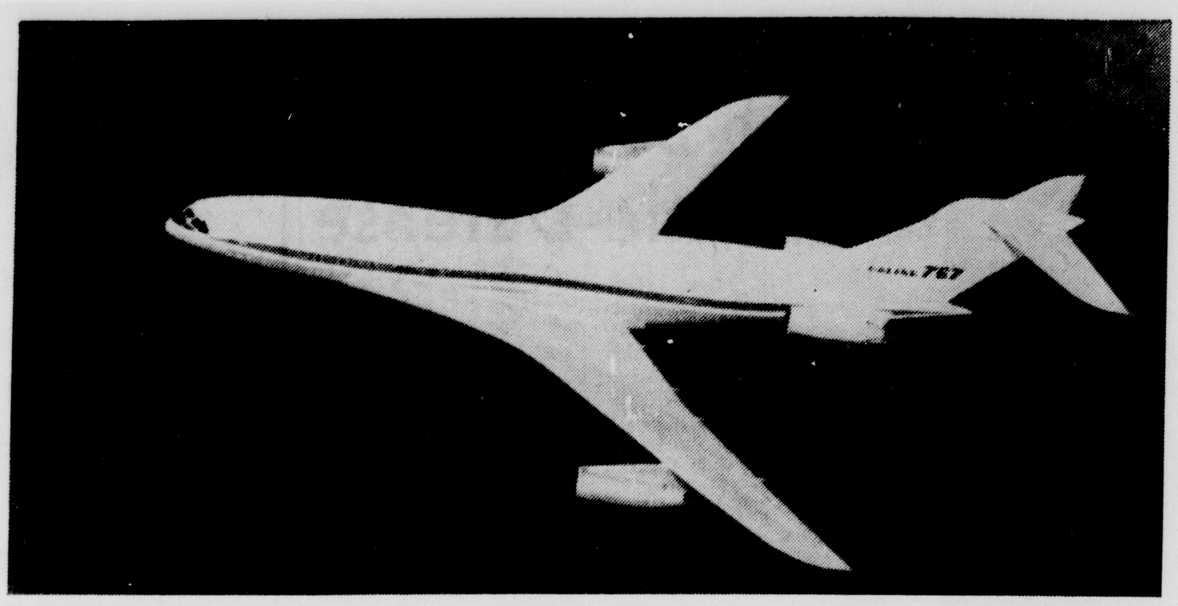
As long as net income is well maintained, the dividend is usually secure, regardless of daily price fluctuations. However, if earnings slide, the price of the stock usually declines. And, when the gap narrows between net income and the dividend payment, doubt arises as to the safety of the dividend.

If the stock continues to trade lower, the yield naturally increases until the latter many times rises above the interest rate currently being paid on savings accounts and other fixed income vehicles. When a common stock is selling to yield 8 per cent versus an average interest return of 4½ per cent, it may be a signal that the market anticipates a cut. And, chances are a subsequent dividend declaration will be lower or possibly the dividend may be eliminated completely.

Q. I invested my life's savings in National Securities Series Growth Fund. Since it is below my original purchase price, should I hold or sell ? I was thinking of adding $500 a year for the next 5 years. — C.D.

A. As I have stated here on many occasions, one's entire savings should never be invested and certainly not in any one area. Not only are you concentrating risks, but you are not allowing any capital for personal use, emergency situations, etc.

National Securities Growth should be retained. It is a sound, well-managed fund and has performed admirably over the long term. Now, however, you should concentrate on building up a like amount in a savings account, after which you can start thinking about another suitable investment area.



SLEEK, FAST BIRD OF THE FUTURE

This 200-passenger transport is one of several possible configurations being studied by the Boeing Company, Seattle, Wash., for future use in long-range air routes. The artist's concept shows the advanced technology transport with a sleek, highly swept wing, of new design, and a narrow-waisted body. The advancements with new engines would allow cruising speeds of Mach .98, more than 100 mile per hour faster than today's 707.

Issues Move Narrowly On Exchange

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks traded narrowly lower through the first two hours today on the New York Stock Exchange. Turnover was moderate.

Declines led advances, 599 to 421, among the 1,369 issues traded. The Standard & Poor's 500 stock index lost 0.18 to 98.93.

The Labor Department today announced the cost of living jumped 0.6 per cent in June, the sharpest increase in 14 months.

Observers said that despite the administration's claims that inflation is being controlled, the June rise indicates rising prices continued to plague the nation.

International Nickel, off 1-8, topped the active list. Second was Federated . Department Stores, unchanged. Bausch & Lomb, third, jumped 2⅝.

Issues of steel firms, which face an Aug. 1 strike deadline, moved in fractions. In the aircrafts, General Dynamics, Boeing and Lockheed each gained 1-8.

Chemicals and electronics were soft.

Instrument Systems, with about 39,000 shares traded, was an active issue on the American Stock Exchange. Prices on the Amex were lower in moderate trading.

MADE PRESIDENT — Morton Rothman of San Rafael has moved up from secretary-treasurer to the presidency of Rough Rider, Inc. of Napa, succeeding Julian Weidler, who is now chairman of the board. Rough Rider was founded by Rothman's father Nat more than 53 years ago. The company operates plants in both Napa and San Francisco.

Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The office of secretary of state has announced issuance of a notary public commission to: Leonard W. Keller of 40 De La Guerra Road, San Rafael.

Working Mothers Labor Force Rises

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The number of children with mothers in the labor force increased sharply during the decade ending in 1970, reports the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Nearly 26 million children under 18 had mothers who were working or looking for work in March 1970, according to a bureau survey. Almost 6 million of these were under six years of age.

NEW MCPHAIL'S APPOINTEE — Paul S. Giles, newly created merchandise manager at McPhail's, Inc., will head operations of the San Rafael and Santa Rosa appliance departments and be responsible for developing a new merchandising program in all departments. He has been with Frigidaire Sales Corp. since 1958.

Gains In Sales

EL MONTE, CALIF. (BW) — Continued gains in sales of educational systems and navigation products helped lead Hoffman Electronics Corp. to a 46 per cent sales increase in the first half of 1971.
